RE OF FAKE ADVERTISEMENTS

In the advertising columns of many papers, especially the cheap monthlies, which appeal to young people who desire to make some money without working for it. They generally profess to have some business, or some recipe to sell, by which you can make "Five dollars a day," any large sum. You are told them 25c or 50c and your fortune is made. When you get the money you get but an old recipe of some thing worthless, and thats all you get it. The post office department catches them once in a while, but they generally manage to keep within the law. So, unless you want to get stung pay no attention to advertisements which claim that you can make big money by working at home on their scheme by starting a "Mail Order Business" of your own. They are frauds, or at best you can make anything out of them by defrauding some one else. There is very little in that you are willing to do yourself by entering into it. A man in Montgomery is sending out circulars around here to sell a book which he claims will set you up in the "Mail Order business." It is not worth a cent. It is a lot of useless recipes and plans of advertisements calculated to deceive. It is got up by "suckers." Don't be a sucker and them.

INAUGURATION TO BE SIMPLE AFFAIR

Washington, Dec. 26—Jeffersonian simplicity is to mark the coming inauguration of President-elect Wilson. There will probably be the greatest outpouring of people that has ever marked the inauguration of any President, but, according to Chairman William C. Eustis, of the committee, there will be no ostentation. He contends that true democracy demands that there be no display and he is upheld by Thomas Nelson Page, who is quoted as saying:

"President Jefferson's act of riding up Pennsylvania avenue on horseback has been derided, but the people who have studied history have realized that he did it in a dignified manner, and that his inauguration had at least as much real dignity and true simplicity as that of any President."

The contributions to the $150,000 fund for the inaugural affair is growing fast, notwithstanding the Christmas season. It undoubtedly will be over-subscribed.

ever the season, and is becoming more a staple crop on Oklahoma farms.

Fields began first by convincing bankers that for every $100 loaned to a farmer the latter should be required to plant a certain number of acres of kafir corn, so that the farmer might have money with which to pay his note if other crops should fail. The plan was taken up by bankers throughout the state, and this year the acreage of kafir in Oklahoma was equal io the entire acreage in the United States in 1909.

The yield will amount to 30,000,000 bushels.

The planting of kafir corn in Oklahoma in 1913 will be enormous in acreage. Industrial agents of railroads and of the state board of agriculture are urging the farmers how to plant, cultivate and market the corn.

The cultivation of this new crop in Oklahoma will be an addition to the local agricultural output. The growing of kafir corn that has been grown, in that way a small part of the returns for the Home [illegible] of live stock, [illegible] opia.

TOO MUCH INDIVIDUALISM

Individualism is a most excellent thing, but it is possible for a people to have a surfeit of it. This is the case in our country. It is difficult to hold men together in a common cause. So much of their time and thought is given to their own business and to personal matters that little is left for community interest. Innate selfishness has grown to the extent that it is a great handicap to progress and public improvement.

The community means co-operation if it means anything. There is no advantage of having neighbors, in fact, they are distinct disadvantages, unless there is some co-operation. Twenty farmers can build the five miles of road to town where it would be impossible for one of them to do it. Again they can unite to have a school and a church. These are only a few illustrations of co-operation. There are dozens of other opportunities for united effort to achieve a common end.

Community life is superior to isolated life because of the mutual helpfulness of neighbors working together. Co-operation is the principle, however, on which the success of community life depends. A crossing of purposes brings unhappiness as well as poor results from a business standpoint. The only way for the neighborhood to be successful is for it to work as a unit. The individual must lose sight of personal interests for the good of the whole group. In the long run this will prove to be to the advantage of all. The time will come frequently when self-interest must give place to community interest, but the final results will always justify the sacrifice. —Southern Agriculturist.

TALLAPOOSA ALL RIGHT.

From the Dadeville Spot Cash.

The close of this year finds the people of Tallapoosa county in a very prosperous and happy condition. The crops of this year have been more bountiful than usual and have brought a good price to our farmers, and the farm being the basis of prosperity, makes its influence felt everywhere. With hearts full of thankfulness we may now turn to the labors of another year looking for greater success than we have yet experienced,

RETURN THE FAVOR.

From the Dothan Eagle.

Democratic congressman are now being put on their metle to provide offices for the hungry office seekers who have horned off from the feed box so long. The great responsibility is to be put up to them, but that is a part of the job, and they should remember that before they announced for office. The republicans are having a rest, and are probably enjoying it.

DESTROY THE BUZZARD THEY SPREAD DISEASE

One of the most important measures that should be brought before the legislature of the various Southern States is one that will provide for the extermination of that filthy bird, the buzzard. No time should be lost in the presentation of such a law as will insure the extinction of the scavenger, and the rural districts [illegible] vation sh[illegible] so [illegible] it [illegible] t[illegible]

CHILTON ROADS

The Montgomery Advertiser, with kindly intent, butts in to the Chilton good roads question, taking as its text Mr. F. A. Gulledge's recent assertion that if the people of Chilton don't do something promptly towards bettering the roads he will agitate a bond issue as the solution.

Now, as the future prosperity of the county depends largely on an improvement of the road system, we welcome all unselfish agitation and good advice, and especially information that will throw light on the subject.

Will the advocates of a bond issue mention some counties where the bond issue built roads have served the general needs of the county.

From what we can learn, the money has been spent in building some "highways" connecting limited neighborhoods, and leaving the rest of the county as bad off as before: the county is bonded to the legal limit: the money all expended, principal and interest to be paid, and no money for the rest of the [illegible]nnot be so "cock sure" [illegible]dvertiser is when it says [illegible]qualification the "bond [illegible] the "real solution of the [illegible]estion in the counties."

PRESENTED WITH SILVER CUP

[illegible]der City, Dec. 27.—The [illegible]er cup which was re- [illegible]arded J. A. Wade of [illegible]r City by the American [illegible]position, held in New [illegible] the finest short staple [illegible]own in America, and [illegible]s been held in custody [illegible]mmercial club of Alex- [illegible]ty, was today, in the [illegible] of a large mass meeting [illegible]rs and business men, presented to him by the [illegible]labama. WORKING CONVICTS

The Montgomery Advertiser writing on the subject of the present convict system in Alabama and the change from the lease system, which is objectionable, to working the convicts in other ways, notably in road working in the counties, asks for information which we sincerely hope it will secure. The big dailies have facilities for securing information which the country papers do not have, and the Advertiser would confer a public benefit by getting up the facts concerning, particularly, the working of convicts on the roads.

We, personally, have not had much chance for observation, but we have spent some time in a Georgia county—Muscogee, in which is Columbus—famous for its complete system of good roads all through the county. There they have no bond issue, no debt and we heard no complaint of high taxation. They work convicts on the roads, and we were told it proved effective and inexpensive labor. We visited one camp and found conditions vastly better for the convicts than at the mines and sawmills.

The Advertiser will work a benefit to the state if it will pitch in and GET the information it asks for, especially as to the road working question.

PARTY TO INSPECT WORK AT LOCK 12, COOSA RIVER

Twenty-five persons will leave Montgomery Friday, January 3, for lock 12, on the Coosa river, to inspect the progress of the work done at that point by the Alabama Power Company, the invitations having been extended by W. W. Freeman, vice-president and general manager of the corporation. The party will be composed of public officials, business men and representatives of the press, and will leave this city at 7 o'clock Friday. From Ocampo on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, the party will make the trip to the river on the private railroad of the company, which is twenty-one miles long and has just been completed.

Lunch will be served at the camp of the company and an inspection of the work on the dam will be made. After the inspection the party will return to Ocampo, where the train to Montgomery will be boarded.

The Alabama Power Company is spending several million dollars in Alabama at present, among its undertakings being the construction of a dam across the Coosa at lock 12, where it is planned to establish a gigantic power plant.—Montgomery Advertiser

L. & N. PREVENTED FROM REMOVING TELEGRAPH POLES.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 28—Application for an injunction by the Western Union Telegraph Company to prevent the L. & N. Railroad Company from removing the telegraph company's equipment from the road, was granted here today in the Federal Court. The injunction applies to the wires along the entire system. The telegraph company will now push its suit to condemn a right-of-way along the railroad.

The contract between the telegraph company and the railroad expired last August and the road has been seeking for several months to have the Western Union remove its wires and poles.

Senator Johnson announces that he will be a candidate to succeed himself in the Senate.

PARCELS POST

PARCELS POST.

Well, the parcel's post is here and the stores in the cities are already advertising for the trade they expect to reach by its means.

Now it's up to the local merchants to head them off and save the trade. In many, if not most cases, they can sell as cheap as the big town stores, but they have got to let the people know it, and that they can be served more quickly than from the big stores.

The Union and Banner goes into every part of the county and into a majority of the families. If the merchants of the towns want to keep their trade they will find there an excellent way of letting the people know it.

HONESTY AND RELIGION.

At this time our country needs a religion that will make a man pay his debts. Shouting don't settle the old notes and accounts with God and man cash up. We want to bounce right on a fellow and put him out of the church if he goes to a ball, or a theatre, or gets on a drunk, but never say a word to the pious scamp who never pays his debts. Preachers and people who never pay their debts are doing the church more harm than dancers and drunkards—there are more of them in the church. Reader, am I getting close to you? Then lay down the paper and go and pay up, and then you can read on with ease.

And don't stop payng because the statute of limitation excuses the open account you made for your bread and meat; God's law knows no such statute. You pay it in cash. God knows no such law as homestead exemption. You pay it in cash or God will make you pay it in fire and brimstone. You raise thatexcuse to keep from paying your debts and you can stop singing. When I Can Read My Titles Clear to Mansions in the Skies'—you've got none up there Yon may say, I would pay if I could. How hard have you tried? If trying at this movement, could you say; I have done all in my power? Have you tried to save a little each week or month for debts? Are you spendicg money for things to eat and wear that you could not do without? How much do you spend per year for cigars and tobacco? Make your calculation. Put the amount to your debts. Do you eat danties and luxuries? Plainer diet would keep you from making doctor bills that you wont pay, and bring up a bank account. Do you strut about with an umbrella over your head while your creditor walks in the broiling sunj Don't you cut shines in hired turnouts (may be that ihey are not paid for) where you might walk and use the money to make creditors smile. A plainer suit would be more becoming' till you can pay for those worn out last season.

When the expenses not necessary for the feeding and clothing of the body are cut off and applied to the payment of debts, then you will grow in favor with God. The great necessity of the present time is confidence among the people. Let the church demand and command her membership to live up to their promises and contracts, and soon present financial darkness will give way to a brighter morn of prosperity to all business circles. Keep the amen corners and front seats clear of members who can and wont pay their debts (the pulpit) and the word preached will reach sinners. May God give increase to these words which are written for the promotion of His Kingdom in the pr[illegible]

Write it '13, and good luck.

1913 is a year before you free from all blemishes. See that you keep it so.

Let us hope that it will be a progressive year—progress along all lines. Let us hope that next year will find us with better schools, better crop methods and better roads. That it will find us a people united for good government and fair dealing, man with man. Let us strive to make it a year of orderliness, free from "rioting and drunkenness." It rests with you, reader, to do your share toward this end.

We print on the first page an article from the Goodwater Enterprise on "Honesty and Religion," to which we say "Amen." A man's religion has no substantial value if it does not make him honest, and the evading of debt paying is the lowest form of dishonesty. How a man, or woman, and women are fully the equals of men in this respect, can reconcile their consciences to supplying themselves with luxuries while their debts are unpaid, is beyond our philosophy.

It's a comfortable feeling, when you know you don't owe anybody a cent.

The Montgomery Journal asserts that a constitutional convention is talked of among some of the political leaders, as being needed to remedy the ring methods by which the state is heavily burdened by unwise appropriations and unnecessary offices.

It is announced that a syndicate of Hollanders have offered to buy from the State of Florida all of the Everglade over-flowed lands, for eight million dollars. As the Hollanders made such a success in reclaiming their own land from overflow it might be well to let them have it. Especially so if they will people it, as they make a fine class of citizens.

In the "dynamite case" as the trial of certain Union labor leaders at Indianapolis is called, wherein the men were charged with conspiracy to cause dynamite explosions in different parts of the country in order to terrorize the opponents of union labor, thirty-eight of the men were found guilty by the jury. The trial lasted three months. The men will probably receive sentences varying from one to thirty-nine years.

The proven action of these men was a great blow to the union labor cause, but their conviction will prove a clearing away of that dangerous element in the labor cause and in the end prove beneficial. The evils which these men were fighting were real, but their methods were essentially wrong and brought disaster to the cause.

SANE CHRISTMASES.

Montgomery, Birmingham and Selma report the most quiet and "sane" Christmas tide known in these cities since the war. Montgomery even reports the revival of the old English custom of singing carols on the streets Christmas night, a beautiful custom and more in keeping with the sacred nature of the truth commemorated than the heathern banging of fire crackers. Atlanta had an old time orgie, with the result that all the hospitals were filled to overflowing with accident cases.

It was not so bad in Clanton, but still there was enough of the nuisance to make it worth while for the town council to take such action as will lessen the nuisance next Christmas.

WEST CHILTON.

We now come to the parting of the ways with 1912, and the so called unlucky 13 is before us.

The holidays passed off very quietly here, indeed extremely so. What a blessing to have the time of the mistletoe and holly so quiet. We have heard of but very little effects of tangle foot in this part, some made their orders for "yuletide" stimulation but from some cause it failed to show up on time, but they are none the worse off for that.

Some of our beautiful young ladies attended the Christmas tree at Pate's school house.

Thomas Waldrup of Marvel visited the home folks Christmas accompanied by his friend Mr. McDonald.

Work on the new union church is making nice progress.

Mrs. Van Lightsey of Vick visited at her father's Christmas.

1912 has brought many blessings to Chilton county people as well as other parts of the world, with these blessings have come scenes of unparalled sadness, viz the sinking of the great Titantic with its burden of humanity, the disastrous floods on the Mississippi, the horrors of war between the Balkans and Turks and while the victims of the ill fated Titantic were sinking and corpse were floating in the chilly waters, the glittering stars were quietly shining on the awful scene, and in the blood shed with the Balkans and Turks nature remained undisturbed, at the same time some secure person may have be[illegible] away in same lonely grave u[illegible] honored and unsung, and as sa[illegible] by the poet, "And in some lo[illegible] some place to rot, and by th[illegible] living be forgot." With suc[illegible] radical changes and heart ren[illegible] ing scenes before us, is enoug[illegible] to almost stop the wheels of na[illegible] ture in their course, yet the gre[illegible] eternal onward moves in th[illegible] order of his plan, that plan is fas[illegible] reaching maturity and is no[illegible] changed by the sinking Titanic[illegible] floods, earthquakes, wars, o[illegible] the death of those in obscurity[illegible] that plan is one of wondrou[illegible] beauty, full of gladness for the[illegible] groaning creation.

"Pilgrim in that golden city

Zion's King arrayed in beauty,
Reigns in peace from Zone to Zone.

During 1912 a great political upheaval has caused the American people to sit up and take notice, nothing like it before, the great progressive movement led by the undaunted Roosevelt, 1912, who can predict what it will bring? Surely Gov. Wilson has before him a work of awful responsibility; will he be equal to the task? his only hope is with the people regardless of party.

Students of Bible chronology seem to see that we are nearing the time of unparalleled trouble but just beyond shines the golden light of earth's great jubilee.

Some of West Chilton's pretty girls attended the Christmas tree at Randolph, there in view of the blazing lights of that Christmas tree lay a young man in the road considered almost dead, he had come in to town, but those lights music etc. of that tree were unknown to him why? the reader can guess.

So again we plead for the children, because the fatal cigarette and kindred habits with that of intemperance are taught to the children by older people.

This locality is good because of the good people, just try them in time of distress or sickness and their generosity knows no bounds, they care not for frills and nonsensical ceremonies, but they just abound in true kindness. At this writing James Atchison has a sick child.

PULLING TOGETHER IS BEST

Wisconsin Industries Awakening to Advantages of Co-Operation—Building Many Elevators.

Wisconsin has been advancing very rapidly during the past four or five years in the organization of buying and selling associations, forming cow-testing associations, starting co-operative creameries and cheese factories, and building warehouses, says the Wisconsin Agriculturist. These industries are all of the same spirit and show that we are fast awakening to the advantages of pulling together, building up business and unitedly instead of patching up and tearing down separately.

Farmers of this state have made surprising progress lately in the erection of potato and tobacco warehouses. No state agency has lent any aid, nor has such aid been asked, but more than a score of such warehouses have been recently built, and others are being planned. When one community is shown to be successful under such a system, neighboring townships are ready to follow the example set. Some of the most successful of these warehouse associations in operation in the following Wisconsin towns:: Waupaca, Rosholt, Stevens Point, Necedah, Coloma, Independence, River Falls, Wausau, Coloma, Stanton, Stoughton (tobacco), Prescott, Hulbert, Chetek, Ellsworth, Westby, Almond, Ashland, Green Bay, Bayfield, Sparta, Wonewoc, Edgarsburg and La Velle.

There are also about 40 co-operative creameries located in various parts of Wisconsin, nearly all of which have been built during the last few years. Those which pay current rates on the outstanding preferred stock and turn the rest of the profits already to the patrons of the creamery have had a successful career. Non-voting share holders. LAUDS FARMERS' UNION PLAN

Only Institution or Organization That Can Hold Cotton Without Refraction of Law.

The farmers' union is the only institution or organization that can hold cotton without a refraction of the Sherman anti-trust law, such as would be subject to prosecution, said Peter Radford, president of the Farmers' union of Texas. Mr. Radford made this statement in reference to the case on trial before the federal Supreme court, in which James Patton, Eugene Scales, Frank B. Hayne and William P. Brown are charged with a conspiracy to run a $10,000,000 corner on the market, says the Texas Stockman and Farmer.

Mr. Radford says there are numerous brokerage concerns and individuals handling cotton in violation of the anti-trust law, owing to the fact that they hold cotton for the expressed purpose of running the market up by limiting the supply so that spinners will be compelled to pay the price necessary to bring the product on the market. This makes the price of the manufactured products cost the consumer more without the benefits going where it belongs, to the producer of the raw material, but instead the broker is the man who reaps the harvest.

The Farmers' union plan of holding cotton contemplates entirely another purpose. We hold our product in order that there will not be an oversupply thrust upon the market and that it may be supplied as the demand justifies. Under the warehouse plan of the Farmers' union each man is privileged to sell whenever he pleases to do so, or hold his cotton until he gets his price. The organization has no voice in his placing his cotton on the market, but at the same time makes it possible for him to hold it as long as he desires to do so, by enabling him to procure a loan on it at a low rate of interest in the event he needs money to meet his demands before the market goes to where he cares to sell. Or if he does not need the money our local warehouse system provides him with a desirable place to store his cotton as long as he desires to hold it.

Many of our farmers made a mistake by selling their cotton early in the season. This was done mainly by those who were not able to hold, and at the same time did not care to pay the six per cent. on the money to be had as a loan on the cotton when handled through our warehouses. The mistake made in early selling is very evident, taking as a basis for consideration the market conditions of last year. In August, 1911, cotton sold at 10¼c, dropping to 9c in October as a result of the reaction caused by the early marketing in the spring of 1912 the price again went up, reaching as the highest point 13½c.

This year 1911 and August market was 11⅝c at the time most of the crop was marketed and dropped to the present price, 11c for middling, which is 2c above the October price last year. Taking into consideration the extent to which prices have held up as compared with 1911, I am confident that those who hold till next spring will realize 15c, which would well justify them to pay the 6 per cent. on money if necessary to enable them to hold. A further reason in connection with these comparative figures for expecting cotton to go even higher next spring than last, is in the fact that the total crop will not exceed that of last year. While it is true that the foreign crop is heavier, the American crop is about 1,000,000 bales short of last year, taking the country in its entirety.

BLAME MIDDLEMEN FOR COST

Long Island Gardener Says Yachts, Motors and Big Homes Cause of Boost in Prices.

"The reason for the high cost of living today is the private yachts, automobiles and country and city homes for members of the produce exchange for which the consumer and the producer pay," declared H. B. Fullerton, a Long Island gardener, to a conference of producers and consumers at the New York board of trade and transportation the other day. His hearers applauded as he ascribed the troubles of both city dweller and farmer to the middleman.

"If we want to get a square deal for the farmer and another for the consumer," continued Mr. Fullerton, "we must eliminate the system which now prevails of letting a middleman skim all the cream off the produce. Over on Long Island this last season our boys got 45 cents a barrel for cauliflower. I followed that same cauliflower right down to Washington market and saw them selling it in the stalls there at 25 cents a head."

Another grower told of selling beans for 30 cents a bushel and tracing them to a city market, where they were sold at 15 cents a quart, or at the rate of $4.80 a bushel.

Gangrene of the Udder.

The preventing of gangrene of the udder is of great importance. Thoroughly disinfect all floors, sides of stalls and bedding which infected animals have come in contact with. This precaution is with the hope of preventing the spread of the disease. If the cow has met with an accident and one teat is lacerated it should receive antiseptic treatment at once.

As an application, tincture of iodine, or bathing it frequently in a solution of 1 to 1,000 bichloride of mercury to prevent infection reaching the end of the teat.

President and Mrs. Taft, Col George W. Virginia welcomed home Gov. Woodrow Wilson, the eighth of her native sons to be chosen president of the United States. "It's fine to be back again," exclaimed the president-elect as he stepped indoors. Staunton was not alone in celebrating the arrival in Virginia of the distinguished visitor. Bonfires blazed the way, fireworks shot across the skies and red lights threw a festive glare at all stations along the route, though the train glided by most of them without stopping.

A complete confession of how she had forced Nick Wilburn to murder her husband, Jim King, in cold blood in order that she might collect $2,000 insurance on his life, was made by Mrs. King in Macon, Ga., following her arrest. The story of the deliberate plot to remove the husband is one of the most graphic that has ever been revealed. The woman leaves nothing untold. The woman says she first tried to poison her husband by putting strychnine in his whiskey, but, when he came home sick, she relented, and gave him something to make him vomit, but the murder was finally committed by Wilburn while King was hunting in the woods near his home.

"You are not dead!" After saying this Joseph Howell, aged 12, who had been playing "Indian and Cowboy," with a harmless air rifle, picked up a shotgun and shot and killed his brother, Henry, aged 5, in the front yard of their residence, 3011 Annunciation street, New Orleans. Neighbors hurrying up found Joseph sobbing: "I killed my brother and I want to be punished for it. Call a policeman."

The dynamiting of three buildings in Fairburn, Ga., by unknowns not only created serious damage, but caused the citizens of the town to spend a Christmas that was far from peaceful. Explosions that wrecked the town calaboose, shattered the front of the home of the town marshal and blew out the front of the office of Attorney Parker have created a feeling of terror that could not be subdued by the holiday spirit. No one was hurt, however. The town is using all efforts to capture the culprits.

A Berlin dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company reports the discovery of the greatest espionage conspiracy known for years. Thirty men and women, including Germans and Russians, have been arrested, charged with spying in behalf of Russia. The German authorities decline to give out any particulars.

An epidemic of bold robberies and safe crackings in the Bronx borough, apparently the work of an organized bands of criminals who are estimated to have realized something like $100,000 in loot from their operations, has been ended, the police believe, by the arrest of five men and two women. A chance pick-up by a policeman of a suspicious character who gave his name as Harry Gillar and upon whom were found skeleton keys, sage drills, led to a raid on an apartment and the other arrests.

The political deadlock of the Conservative and Democrats of Portugal is developing rapidly. The Conservatives predominate in the cabinet, while near half the members of the Portuguese parliament are Democrats. Both parties are endeavoring to organize a coup d'etat. The government, alarmed at the possibility of trouble, turned out all available police and troops. As soon as the steamer of which the Conservative chief was aboard was docked, there was tremendous uproar of cheers and groans, and the Democrats made a determined rush, with the object of capturing the leader of the rival party. The Conservative chief had been in Switzerland.

New York.—Dun's review of trade says:

The notable developments at close of the year is the tremend the expansion in exports which are bre ous ing all previous records, the mov k- ment from the port of New York fo the latest week amounting to $26,376,- 000, $4,136,000 larger than in 1911. There is some slowing down of domestic operations in the closing weeks of the year as is usual, yet the current statistics of business continue almost as noteworthy as those of foreign commerce. Bank clearings (about the best measure of activity available) increased this week 11.9 per cent as compared with 1911 and railroad gross earnings for the first half of December gained 3.8 per cent.

Retail holiday trade was of imposing proportions and this has a favorable effect on wholesale trade and on industrial lines. In the iron and steel trade, the chief feature is the continued heavy purchases by the railroads. There are shorter holiday suspensions of work this year than usual, owing to the insistence of demand. The grain and cotton markets show continued large domestic movements and exports. Interest in the financial markets is still keen, as to the result of the Balkan peace negotiations in London but a holiday quietness generally prevails.

LATE ALABAMA NEWS

Selma.—The lecture of Dr. W. E. Hinds, state entomologist, delivered to the farmers of Dallas county at the court house upon the boll weevil was attended by a large number of the rural residents from the territory adjacent to Selma.

Dr. Hinds' visit here was in response to an invitation extended by the Selma Chamber of Commerce, to deliver an address to the farmers of Dallas county, on that all important subject, the boll weevil.

The farmers of this section of the state will have to fight the boll weevil during the coming summer and the address made by Dr. Hinds will prove, it is believed, most beneficial to them.

Many other boys were members of the club but bad weather prevented them going through with the contest.

CELEBRATION HONORING WADE.

Alexander City.—A celebration in honor of J. A. Wade, a farmer, living near here, who received the Carnegie cup for the best cotton grown in the south this season, was held here. The cup was awarded recently through the New York Agricultural Exposition, and the honor is accorded a marked one. Capt. Reuben F. Kolb, state commissioner of agriculture, attended the celebration and made an address on the occasion. The cup is valued at $1000 and had already been presented to Mr. Wade.

Wanted Slaves for Missouri.

On January 27, 1778, Don Bernardo de Galvez, governor of the Spanish province of Louisiana, which included Missouri, petitioned the king of Spain for aid for the settlers along the Missouri river and Mississippi river in Missouri. "The said inhabitants," he wrote, "in order to promote the culture of these plants (flax and hemp), would desire that the compassion of the king should deign to provide them with negro slaves on credit, for whom they may pay with the crops aforesaid."

STEADY HAND.

A Surgeon's Hand Should Be the Firmest of All.

"For fifteen years I have suffered from insomnia, indigestion and nervousness as a result of coffee drinking," said a surgeon the other day. (Tea is equally injurious because it contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee).

"The dyspepsia became so bad that I had to limit myself to one cup for breakfast. Even this caused me to lose my food soon after I ate it.

"All the attendant symptoms of indigestion, such as heart burn, palpitation, water brash, wakefulness or disturbed sleep, bad taste in the mouth, nervousness, etc., were present to such a degree as to incapacitate me for my practice as a surgeon.

"The result of leaving off coffee and drinking Postum was simply marvelous. The change was wrought forthwith, my hand steadied and my normal condition of health was restored." Name given upon request. Read the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Postum now comes in concentrated, powder form, called Instant Postum. It is prepared by stirring a level teaspoonful in a cup of hot water, adding sugar to taste, and enough cream to bring the color to golden brown.

...women who desire to marry pur... the hapless objects of their affec... and is there anything wrong in the situation, if true? That is the question now agitating London high-brows. Many and fervid have been the recent arguments and debates on that always absorbing subject, but in no case has any convincing conclusion been reached. Some regard the question as a joke, others look upon it as something of terrifically serious import, while still others claim that the mere suggestion is a libel on feminine modesty and is not worthy of even passing comment.

One prominent English actor, numbered among those who take the idea seriously, maintains that only custom has made it improper for a woman to deliberately and frankly seek out, court and propose marriage to the one particular man for whom she cares most. "Not being allowed to follow this course," says the actor, "she resorts to wiles which, in the end, accomplish exactly the desired results. Is every man pursued at some time or other? Well, you have only to review the experience of your friends to calculate for yourself how usual a situation it is. There is one thing that can be counted on almost certainly: that if the man is not attached to some one else and is not tied down with a mother and sisters to support, the woman will get him if she goes after him.

"When women get suffrage, as they are sure to do, they will become gradually more the companions of men, meeting them on a plane of mental equality. Women have brilliant minds, but there are whole realms of mental activity on which they never turn their attention. Their new privileges will open up new fields of thought and will slowly work toward a new and better mental relationship between men and women. Maybe it will some day come to be considered not indelicate but a sensible, normal thing for a woman to hold out for the man that she prefers to live with and to have for the father of her children."

Stole Emperor's Breakfast.

A chimney sweep of Budapest, Hungary, had the unique distinction, the other day, of stealing Emperor Francis Joseph's breakfast. The Austrian emperor is a very early riser and is always ready for his simple, cold breakfast at half past four in the morning. The other day the attendant found that the larder had been cleaned out. There were marks of soot about the ice box and this started a suspicion that a chimney sweep, who was employed about the palace, might know something about the king's breakfast. Detectives who got on the trail found the sweep at his own home enjoying the king's meal.

Training in Handwriting.

If we inspect the "copper plate" calligraphy of our forefathers, we cannot doubt that handwriting has sensibly deteriorated. But the old style took up much time, and involved a cramped, unnatural position of the body, which frequently resulted in "scholar's elbow." The exigencies of the modern timetable limit the time that can be given to writing, and commonsense demands a rational, easy posture. Writing must now be taught as a means to an end, not as an end in itself. A plain, serviceable style should be aimed at from the first. If a child has been made to write large "round-hand," with a fine-pointed pen a feat difficult for an adult—he will, the age of emancipation from pri... subject, adopt the "J" nib and ...hand." The previous training has been so much time wasted.—Headmaster University College School.

GUARD STANDARD OIL OFFICE

It Has Become a Question as to Whether or Not Mr. Rockefeller Is Bigger Than the Government.

New York.—Burns detectives, backed by the authority of the United States government, laid siege to the residence of William Rockefeller to prevent him escaping subpoena service from the money trust investigating committee.

About the Rockefeller residence and around the residences of Marcellus Hartley Dodge, adjoining, and of Dr. David Hunter McAlpin, both of which homes of his sons-in-law are known to be connected with the Rockefeller establishment by private passage way, a cordon was thrown, and instructions were given at the same time to keep a sharp eye as well on the other mansions of Mr. Rockefeller's friends in the immediate vicinity.

Similarly, another detail of Burns men began picketing the William Rockefeller estate at Tarrytown. A decision has been reached to guard in a like manner every place where there is a reasonable suspicion that the brother of the Standard Oil king may be lurking.

In this manner has issue been joined between Mr. Rockefeller and the government of the United States. It is to be a nation-wide search if necessary, and a war to the finish to decide whether one man of great wealth is bigger than the government and can set at defiance its plans and purposes.

Mr. Rockefeller is wanted to give the Pujo committee the benefit of his information and experience in the operation of the present financial system. J. Cuban Government Appoints Special Court to Investigate.

Havana.—The negro conspiracy discovered at Santiago, is believed to be a far-reaching plot with negro branches in all of the provinces. It is declared that a jail delivery of the 2,000 negroes jailed in connection with the uprising in May had been planned.

That the government regards the situation as serious is indicated by the appointment of a special court to investigate and determine the extent of the plot. It is believed that the smuggling of arms into the country, several instances of which have been discovered, is a part of the conspiracy.

Sues Mother-in-Law.

New York.—Walter Morgan Russell filed in the supreme court an action for $50,000 damages against his mother-in-law, Mrs. Aimee Crocker Gourand, for the alleged alienation of her daughter's affections. Russell charges his mother-in-law with persuading her daughter, who is Russell's wife, to transfer her affections to one Austentaga.

Remarkable Counterfeit.

Washington.—Alarm seized officials of the United States treasury upon the discovery of a remarkable counterfeit $5 silver certificate, the most dangerous imitation of American currency since the famous "Monroe Head" $100 bill, which was suppressed in 1908.

Probe Telephone and Telegraph.

Washington.—The Interstate Commerce Commission will issue an order for a thorough probing of the telephone and telegraph companies of the country, excluding only the strictly local concerns.

Frisco Joins Movement.

San Francisco, Cal.—The California branch of the Housewives' League announced a plan to lower the cost of living. Taking advantage of the new parcels post system, which goes into effect January 1, the housewives will buy their eggs and garden truck direct from the farm, thus eliminating the profit of the middleman. Lists of farmers and gardeners in all parts of the state have been compiled and assurances received that they are willing to ship their products by parcels po...

JAPAN, NOT RUSSIA, APPEALED FOR PEACE

EX-PRESIDENT'S AUTOBIOGRAPHY WILL BE INTERESTING.

PUBLISH MIKADO'S LETTER

Mikado Asked Roosevelt to Open a Way for Peace Negotiations—Publication of Letter Will Create Sensation in Japan.

Washington.—New light of a surprising kind will be thrown on the negotiations preceding the close of the Russo-Japaneses war in a series of papers now in preparation by ex-President Theodore Roosevelt. The papers, which will be published in a magazine, will be in the form of an autobiography. Naturally this will be devoted in large measure to things about the Portsmouth peace conference between the Russian and Japanese diplomats.

It has long been known that the war brought Japan almost to the verge of bankruptcy, but the general opinion has prevailed that after the severe defeats at Port Arthur and along the Yalu river it was the Russians who sued for peace. But, as Col. Roosevelt will tell the story, it was the victorious Japanese who took the first step to end the war. The offer of this government to assist in terminating hostilities came not on the suggestion of Russia, but at the direct request of Japan.

Col. Roosevelt has at his disposal documentary proof of his account of the peace negotiations. Most striking of the papers that he will bring forward is a personal letter from the late mikado to President Roosevelt asking him to open a way for peace negotiations. The text of this letter will be printed in the Portsmouth chapter, and is expected to produce a sensation in Japan.

WE MUST BE READY FOR WAR

Roosevelt Flays High Army and Navy Officers.

Boston.—A warning that the United States must be prepared for immediate war and far better prepared than the country has been for past wars, was the feature of a remarkable address made by Theodore Roosevelt at a conference of the Military Historical Society of Massachusetts.

Col. Roosevelt severely arraigned the war officials of the Spanish war as well as the high officials of the army and navy in general. At times the colonel was satirical in recounting his own experience during that war with higher authorities and "red tape."

Artist Mac Cameron Dies.

New York.—Robert Lee Mac Cameron, American painter, who recently returned to the United States after a long residence abroad, and who a few months ago was made a chevalier of the Legion of Honor, died in his apartments here, in his forty-seventh year. Well known people whose portraits he painted in recent years are President Taft, Mrs. Edward H. Harriman, and Rodin, the French sculptor. He also made portraits of President McKinley and Justices Harlan and Brewer.

Vocational Education for Filipinos.

Washington.—Approval of the extension of vocational education in the Philippines and American citizenship to those Porto Ricans desiring it constitute the principal features in the report of Brig.-Gen. McIntyre, chief of the bureau of insular affairs. In his annual report, Gen. McIntyre renews the recommendation for the congressional action looking to the inspection of the insular possessions by a board of visitors made up of representatives of the executive and legislative branches of the government.

Dynamiters Convicted.

Indianapolis, Ind.—The 38 labor union officials, convicted of conspiracy and of promoting the McNamara dynamite plots throughout the country, will receive prison terms ranging from any minimum to a possible maximum of 39 1-2 years.

Woman Slays Babes.

Fort Smith, Ark.—Mrs. Dena Redfern killed her children, Clem, aged three years, and Leonard, a babe of four months, with an axe, and then committed suicide by slashing her throat with her husband's razor.

VIRGINIA WELCOMES WOODROW WILSON

DOES HONOR TO EIGHTH SON CHOSEN PRESIDENT.

IN HOME WHERE HE WAS BORN

Celebrates 56th Anniversary of His Birth —Bonfires Blazed the Way as Train Passed.

Staunton, Va.—Virginia welcomed home Gov. Woodrow Wilson, the eighth of her native sons to be chosen president of the United States.

From the moment the president-elect crossed the state line at Alexandria until he reached the little parsonage here where he was born 56 years ago, the reception given him was one of great enthusiasm, noisy demonstration and spectacular display. Escorted by troops of cavalry, military companies and a torchlight procession in which practically the whole town participated, the governor and Mrs. Wilson motored through the streets of Staunton to the home of the Rev. Dr. A. N. Frazer, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, where the Rev. Jos. R. Wilson, father of the president-elect, lived in 1856.

With Mrs. Wilson, the president-elect paused for a minute on the illuminated portico of the house and greeted Dr. Frazer. The band struck up "Dixie."

"It's fine to be back again," exclaimed the president-elect as he stepped indoors. Suffering still from the effect of his cold, he retired immediately to the room in which he was born, where the chief program of the jubilee was carried out.

Outside the crowds surged the streets, which were alive with color and flags and electrical display. From far and wide, native children of Staunton had come to greet their fellow-townsman. Except for an informal visit a year ago, Mr. Wilson had not been here since he was three years old.

Staunton was not alone in celebrating the arrival in Virginia of the distinguished visitor. Bonfires blazed the way, fireworks shot across the skies and red lights threw a festive glare at all stations along the route, though the train glided by most of them without stopping.

SAID WIFE WAS EXTRAGANT

Husband Stabbed Her to Death for Buying Christmas Present.

Chicago.—Mrs. Ella Montague was stabbed to death by her husband, Pasquale Montague, in the presence of their 19-year-old son, after he had upbraided her for being extravagant. On Christmas Day Mrs. Montague presented her husband with a small remembrance and he scolded her then for spending all of their money for luxuries. Friday night she served a beef steak for dinner, and after resuming the quarrel he drew a stiletto and killed her.

JAIL TWO SENATORS.

Columbus, Ohio.—To serve terms of three years and nine months, respectively, State Senators Isaac E. Huffman and LaForrest R. Andrews entered the penitentiary here. Both are lawyers. Andrews is a Republican and Huffman a Democrat.

Steamship Line Fails.

Philadelphia.—The United States court appointed Samuel P. Wetherill receiver of the Philadelphia and Gulf Steamship Company, which operates a line of freight steamers between Philadelphia and New Orleans. The company was organized in 1908 with a capitalization of $1,000,000.

Wilson on Philippines.

Staunton, Va.—President-Elect Wilson favors a provisional government for the Philippines for eight years and independence thereafter, according to Representative William A. Jones.

Made Hired Man Kill Husband.

Macon, Ga.—James King, widow of the Round Oak, Ga., planter, who was killed near here, confessed that she plotted with Nicholas Winburn, a farmhand, to kill her husband so that she might marry Winburn and secure $2,000 life insurance carried by her husband. The widow of the dead man was arrested today after Winburn had confessed to the police he had shot and killed King because Mrs. King offered him $600 to commit the crime, and promised to marry him.

CORN FLAKES COMPANY ATTACKED

GOVERNMENT CLAIMS IT IS VIOLATING SHERMAN LAW.

FIXES PRICES FOR RETAILERS

Government Charges That Use of Patented Carton Is "Mere Subterfuge and Device" to Escape Law.

Detroit.—The Kellogg Toasted Corn Flake Company is alleged to be violating the Sherman law in a petition filed in the United States district court here by order of Attorney-General Wickersham to settle for all time the extent to which a manufacturer may control retail prices. The company and its officers engaged in the manufacture of Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes are charged with fixing prices at which the flakes are sold to retailer and consumer, preventing competition which would reduce the price to the public and creating a monopoly by concentrating the entire interstate traffic in this commodity in the hands of jobbers and retailers who abide by price agreements exacted by the defendants.

It is alleged that the defendants have invoked the patent laws through the use of a patented carton in which the flakes are packed as a "mere subterfuge and device" to escape the provisions of the Sherman law. The government asks for injunctions to prevent the company, its officers and agents from controlling the price of the breakfast food after it leaves the hands of the manufacturer.

The petition is regarded by the government as of vast importance because of its bearing upon the right of a manufacturer to control prices to the consumer.

It is alleged that the company sells only to jobbers refusing absolutely to deal directly with consumers or with the retail trade. The commodity, according to the petition, is sold to jobbers at a uniform price under an agreement that the jobbers will sell to retailers at a price fixed by the defendants.

PLANNING FOR INAUGURAL

Will Give Civic, Naval and Military Demonstration.

Washington.—Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of the staff of tht army, who has just been named as chief marshal of the approaching inaugural parade, has begun to outline his plans for a military, naval and civic demonstration.

The selection of Gen. Wood to undertake this task is in line with precedents which, for the last several administrations, has led to the selection of the senior army officer on the active list in Washington, regardless of political affiliation.

Gen. Wood's purpose is to make the Wilson inaugural parade as well balanced as possible in the matter of representation of the cavalry, infantry and artillery of the army, the bluejackets and marines and navy and adequate and liberal representation of the national guard and a well proportioned civic display.

New York in Blizzard.

New York.—The eastern section of the United States, from Maine to the Carolines and as far inland as western Pennsylvania, experienced a storm of blizzard proportions for twenty-four hours that cost several lives, injured many people, sent vesels ashore, hampered all means of transportation and communication, delayed the arrival in the port of New York of thousands of home-comers for the holidays and caused delay in the delivery of huge consignments of matter intended as Christmas gifts.

Indians Neglected.

Washington.—Most of the fullblood Indians among the five civilized tribes of Oklahoma live in the most primitive condition, poorly clad and still more poorly fed, and it is the exception rather than the rule that their children go to school at all, says Dana H. Kelsey, United States Indian superintendent in Oklahoma, in an annual report to Secretary of the Interior Fisher.

Gov. Wilson at Home.

Princeton, N. J.—With a miniature ship of state in one hand and a basket of Virginia apples in the other, President-elect Wilson came home from Staunton, Va., his birthplace. As a parting gift the people of his native town gave him a ship of flowers and amid cheering bade him Godspeed.

Died to Save Husband.

Newport, R. I.—Trying in vain to save her invalid husband from being burned to death in a fire that did a quarter of a million dollars damage here, Mrs. Frank S. Heath met death in the flames. The bodies were found near an open window, where the wife had dragged her husband in a desperate effort to attract attention.

Will Deport Castro.

Washington.—Cipriano Castro, former president of Venezuela, will not be permitted to land at New York. Positive announcement of this fact was made by acting Secretary of State Huntington Wilson. The State Department has issued orders that Castro is to be deported if he tries to land. The United States will use as an excuse the fact that the revolutionist has been guilty of a number of crimes and his physical condition is such as to bar him from the country.

UNCLE SAM HAS TIDY BALANCE

DEFICIT HALF YEAR WILL NOT BE OVER THREE BILLION DOLLARS.

THE NATION IS PROSPEROUS

Due to Remarkable Increase in Customers and Internal Revenue Receipts.

Washington.—Uncle Sam closed his accounts for the year 1912 with plenty of money in his vaults and a balance sheet of receipts and expenditures that bespoke the prosperity of the nation.

For the first half of the current fiscal year, disbursements exceeded receipts by $2,000,000 to $3,000,000, according to estimates of treasury officials, the exact figures for December 31, not being available. The deficit a year ago, on the other hand, was over $21,397,000.

This improvement over last year is due to the remarkable increase in customs and internal revenue receipts during the past six months. Receipts from all sources from July to December were approximately $353,000,00, or more than $23,000,000 greater than during the corresponding period of 1911.

The aggregate expenditures for the six months were about $356,000,000. This was nearly $5,000,000 greater than for the same period last year, the increases being due mainly to large expenditures for the army and the increased pension payments as a result of the pension leislation of the last Congress.

The general fund of the government contained upwards of $40,000,000, while a year ago it held only $126,926,000. The working balance of the treasury, which is the actual cash in Uncle Sam's pocket book, amounted to abou... $88,000,000. The year 1911 closed wit... a balance of $71,475,000. The treasur... holds about $1,253,665,000 in gold. Thi... includes $150,000,000 in the reserv... fund, the greater part of the remain... der being represented by gold certificates in circulation.

R. R. OFFICIALS INDICTED

Indictment Is Result of Wrecks Involuntary Manslaughter Charged.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Six officials and directors of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad and two trainmen have been indicted on charges of involuntary manslaughter by the Marion county grand jury in connection with its investigation of the wreck on that road in a suburb on November 13. Sixteen persons were killed when a passenger train ran into an open switch and collided with a freight train.

Those indicted are Daniel Willard, president; George F. Randolph, vice president, and George M. Schrive, second vice president, Baltimore; W. C. Leree, Cincinnati, general manager; H. B. I. O. O. F. INSTALLATION.

On Saturday night, January 11, 1913, the newly elected officers of Clanton Lodge No. 304, I. O. O. F. will be duly installed for the ensuing term at the Lodge room on 6th street. After the installation ceremonies refaeshments will be served in the Hall. The committee who will have charge of the refreshments will leave nothing undone to insure all a good time, and all members are urged to be present. Visiting Brothers from other Lodges also have a cordial invitation to attend.

HINTS FOR HOUSE-KEEPERS

Keep Foley's Honey and Tar Compound always on hand, and you can quickly head off a cold by its prompt use. It contains no opiates, heals and soothes the inflamed air passages, stops the cough, and may save a big doctor's bill. In the yellow package. Upchurch Drug Co.

STANDS A CHANCE OF GOING TO WEST POINT.

Prof. J. J. Pickens, Clanton, Ala.,

Wire me if you desire I name as first alternate to West Point young man you spoke about a few days ago.

FRED L. BLACKMON.

Hon. Fred L. Blackmon,
Washington, D. C.,

I desire you name Burnie Thompson as first alternate to West Point. Thank you.

J. J. PICKENS.

These two telegrams show that Burnie Thompson, a young man 19 years old, attending the Clanton High School will have a possible chance at the appointment. If the first nominee fails in his examination, or in his physical qualifications, as sometimes happens, the first alternate is examined and if he passes is appointed. Wishing no bad luck to the first nominee, Clanton would be proud to have one of her sons honored.

PARCELS POST AND THE RURAL ROUTES

What can the city man, and the farmer in the district near a city, do with this parcel post? How can they get together to use it? And will it benefit them?

The new parcel post is primarily intended to do just that thing put the farmer and the city man in close touch, cutting out commission men and other profit taking folks between them.

If you live in a city from which start rural routes, or on such a route, you are almost sure to benefit at once by parcel post. The new law hitches up every city with its rural routes.

Goods sent from such a rural route into the city (or vice versa) get a much lower rate than the general rate for the "first zone" —the 50 mile circle around your postoffice.

The rural routes average about 20 miles in distance. This means that for about 20 miles out in the country around such a city its people may secure farm products at a low rate.

The rate for goods coming into the city is called the "local rate." Not the first zone rate, but the local rate. This is 5 cents for the first pound, and one cent for every additional pound up to 11 pounds, making 11 pounds 15c. This is much better than the express companies do over similar distances. The express rate would be 25c for anything up to 5 pounds, and 30c up to 11 pounds.

As a matter of fact this will be mostly business which the express companies have never had. It will be newly developed business.

The regulations permit the carrying of eggs, butter, vegetables, dressed fowl, fruits and similar products, properly packed.

It is up to the city consumer and the farmer to get acquainted, and try sending farming products by parcel post. The farmer ought to try putting little advertisements in the city newspaper as the English farmers do in the London papers, and the city man with something to sell ought to try advertising in the country paper and farm journal.

In England you may pick up any newspaper and find little advertisements offering for sale through parcel post fish, chickens, apples, apple products, milk, cream, butter, new laid eggs, country hens, bacon, roots, bulbs, flowers, cider, oysters, asparagus vegetables and fruit.

Eventually the department will probably work out a system of C. O. D. shipping, by which a farmer could send his product to his city customer and have the government collect the payment for it, just as the express companies do now. The farmer would insert a small advertisement in the city paper, reading "Fine fresh eggs sent C. O. D. parcel post at blank cents a dozen. Address J. J. Jones, R. F. D. No. 6."

Or city man could drop a postal card to Mr. Farmer, saying: "Send me four pounds of your ffne fall sausage," the sending of which will cost only 8 cents. Perhaps the farmer has some good fat chickens. Two of them weigh seven pounds. The cost of sending them will be 11 cents. This would probably be less than the charge added to the chickens by letting them go through the commission house and grocery store. Therefore, it would actually help reduce the cost of living.

But remember the C. O. D. feature is not yet worked.—Ledger.

DISCUSSION

The discussion of public questions is essential to public progress. Discussion stimulates thought, and when people think satisfactory results will follow, though mistakes may be made in the process.

Most of the mistakes are due to the ignorant, or to the untruthful, or to the selfish, agitator; the individual seeking personal advancement at the expense of public sacrifice. He is untrue to the people.

No honest public servant, such as the L. & N., objects to a discussion of public questions. But it is necessary that the discussion be conducted in the right spirit. And the right spirit is not a spirit of hostility.

The L. & N. encourages—welcomes—a discussion of its relations towards the people of Alabama. We realize that the more men think the more intelligent they become; the more intelligent they become the more capable of right action they become. But the L. & N. does object if it, a public service organization, is attacked as a public enemy. It resents, and will exert its every effort to refute, any unfair, untruthful assertions purporting to be facts which are detrimental to the esteem in which the L. & N. is held by the people.

The L. & N. has faith in the people to whom it supplies satisfactory freight and passenger service at reasonable rates. If the people have just cause for complaint, and will co-operate with the L. & N. to correct the error, the error will not only be promptly corrected, but the L. & N. will be appreciative to the public for suggesting the increased efficiency.

The road-bed of the L. & N. is second to none in the country. Its rolling stock (passenger and freight cars, engines, etc.) are the best that trained mechanics can devise and money buy. These things make for economy in operation and increased ability to render satisfactory service.

We state these self-evident facts to a fair minded people who realize that any unfair attack on the L. & N. is detrimental to the best interests of the general public.

For Hay Fever and Rose Cold Try Ely's Cream Balm. It Gives Instant Relief

"Balm" is just the word for this soothing, healing, antiseptic Cream. Its effects in cases of Hay Fever and Rose Colds are almost magical. You just grease the nostrils with a little of the Cream, inhale the pleasant, aromatic fumes; and in a few minutes your head begins to clear, the soreness is relieved, and the sneezing, sniffling and weeping stopped. People who have suffered for years with Hay Fever and Rose Cold can be free from all the distressing symptoms by simply using Ely's Cream Balm morning and night during the Hay Fever Season.

Hay Fever is due to an irritated, inflamed condition of the mucous membrane (inside skin) of the nose and throat. Strong powders, snuffs and sprays simply aggravate the trouble, but Ely's Cream Balm soothes, heals and strengthens the raw, sore membranes, and in this way not only relieves the trouble but prevents its return.

All druggists sell and recommend it. Get a fifty cent bottle to-day—use it according to directions—get your money back if you are not satisfied.

Cloth Made From Seaweed.

By a process recently developed in England a very desirable cloth is made from the fiber of posidonia australis, a species of seaweed found in the southern seas. Experiments made at Manchester university show that the fiber, after treatment, is soft, pliable, strong, much like wool in its disposition to curl and twist, and easy to spin in its raw state. It takes dye well, except green.

CHAPTER I.

In Which Keziah Hears Two Proposals and the Beginning of a Third.

Trumet in a fog; a fog blown in during the night by the wind from the wide Atlantic. So wet and heavy that one might taste the salt in it. So thick that houses along the main road were but dim shapes behind its gray drapery, and only the gates and fences of the front yards were plainly in evidence to the passers-by. The beach plum and bayberry bushes on the dunes were spangled with beady drops. The pole on Cannon Hill, where the beacon was hoisted when the packet from Boston dropped anchor in the bay, was shiny and slippery. The new weathervane, a gilded whale, presented to the "Regular" church by Captain Zebediah Mayo, retired whaler, swam in a sea of cloud. The lichened eaves of the little "Come-Outer" chapel dripped at sedate intervals. The brick walk leading to the door of Captain Elkanah Daniels's fine residence held undignified puddles in its hollows. And, through the damp stillness, the muttered growl of the surf, three miles away at the foot of the sandy bluffs by the lighthouse, sounded ominously.

Directly opposite Captain Elkanah's front gate, on the other side of the main road, stood the little story-and-a-half house, also the captain's property, which for fourteen years had been tenanted by Mrs. Keziah Coffin and her brother, Solomon Hall, the shoemaker. But Solomon had, the month before, given up his fight with debt and illness and was sleeping quietly down in Trumet's most populous center, the graveyard. And Keziah, left alone, had decided that the rent and living expenses were more than her precarious earnings as a seamstress would warrant, and, having bargained with the furniture dealer in Wellmouth for the sale of her household effects, was now busy getting them ready for the morrow when the dealer's wagon was to call. She was going to Boston, where a distant and condescending rich relative had interested himself to the extent of finding her a place as sewing woman in a large tailoring establishment.

The fog hung like a wet blanket over the house and its small yard, where a few venerable pear trees, too conservative in their old age to venture a bud even though it was almost May, stood bare and forlorn. The day was dismal. The dismantled dining room, its tables and chairs pushed into a corner, and its faded ingrain carpet partially stripped from the floor, was dismal, likewise. Considering all things, one might have expected Keziah herself to be even more dismal. But, to all outward appearances, she was not. A large portion of her thirty-nine years of life had been passed under a wet blanket, so to speak, and she had not permitted the depressing covering to shut out more sunshine than was absolutely necessary. "If you can't get cream, you might as well learn to love your sasser of skim milk," said practical Keziah.

She was on her knees, her calico dress sleeves, patched and darned, but absolutely clean, rolled back, uncovering a pair of plump, strong arms, a saucer of tacks before her, and a tack hammer with a claw head in her hand. She was taking up the carpet. Grace Van Horne, Captain Eben Hammond's ward, who had called to see if there was anything she might do to help, was removing towels, tablecloths, and the like from the drawers in a tall "high-boy," folding them and placing them in an old and battered trunk. The pair had been discussing the subject which all Trumet had discussed for three weeks, namely, the "calling" to the pastorate of the "Regular" church of the Rev. John Ellery, the young divinity student, who was to take the place of old Parson Langley, minister in the parish for over thirty years. Discussion in the village had now reached a critical point, for the Reverend John was expected by almost any coach. In those days the days of the late fifties, the railroad down the Cape extended only as far as Sandwich; passengers made the rest of their journey by stage. Many came direct from the city by the packet, the little schooner, but Mr. Ellery had written that he should probably come on the coach.

"They say he's very nice-looking," remarked Miss Van Horne soberly, but with a mischievous glance under her dark lashes at Keziah. The lady addressed paused long enough to transfer several tacks from the floor to the saucer, and then made answer.

"Humph!" she observed. "A good many years ago I saw a theater show up to Boston. Don't be shocked; those circumstances we hear so much tell of—the kind you can't control—have kept me from goin' to theaters much, even if I wanted to. But I did see this entertainment, and a fool one 'twas, too, all singin' instead of talkin'—opera, I believe they called it. Well, as I started to say, one of the leadin' folks in it was the Old Harry himself, and he was pretty good-lookin'."

Grace laughed, even though she had been somewhat shocked.

"Why, Aunt Keziah!" she exclaimed—those who knew Keziah Coffin best usually called her aunt, though real nephews and nieces she had none—"why, Aunt Keziah! What do you mean by comparing the—the person you just mentioned with a minister!"

"Oh, I wasn't comparin' 'em; I'll leave that for you Come-Outers to do. Drat this carpet! Seems's if I never saw such long tacks; I do believe whoever put 'em down drove 'em clean through the center of the earth and let the Chinymen clinch 'em on t'other side. I haul up a chunk of the cellar floor with every one. Ah, hum!" with a sigh, "I cal'late they ain't any more anxious to leave home than I am. But, far's the minister's concerned, didn't I hear of your Uncle Eben sayin' in prayer meetin' only a fortnit or so ago that all hands who wa'n't Come-Outers were own children to Satan? Mr. Ellery must take after his father some. Surprisin', ain't it, what a family the old critter's got."

The girl laughed again. For one brought up, since her seventh year, in the strictest of Come-Outer families, she laughed a good deal. Many Come-Outers considered it wicked to laugh. Yet Grace did it, and hers was a laugh pleasant to hear and distinctly pleasant to see.

"Aunt Keziah," she said, "why do you go away? What makes you? Is it absolutely necessary?"

"Why do I go? Why, for the same reason that the feller that was hove overboard left the ship—'cause I can't stay."

"I don't care!" The girl's dark eyes flashed indignantly. "I think it's too bad of Cap'n Elkanah to turn you out when—"

"Don't talk that way. He ain't turnin' me out. He ain't lettin' houses for his health and he'll need the money to buy his daughter's summer rigs. She ain't had a new dress for a month, pretty near, and here's a young and good-lookin' parson heavin' in sight. Maybe Cap'n Elkanah would think a minister was high-toned enough even for Annabel to marry."

"He's only twenty-three, they say," remarked Grace, a trifle maliciously. "Perhaps she'll adopt him."

Annabel was the only child of Captain Elkanah Daniels, who owned the finest house in town. She was the belle of Trumet, and had been for a good many years.

Grace smiled, but quickly grew grave.

"Now, Auntie," she said, "please listen. I'm in earnest. It seems to me that you might do quite well at dressmaking here in town, if you had a little—well, ready money to help you at the start. I've got a few hundred dollars in the bank, presents from uncle, and my father's insurance money. I should love to lend it to you, and I know uncle would—"

Mrs. Coffin interrupted her.

"Cat's foot!" she exclaimed. "I hope I haven't got where I need to borrow money yet a while. Thank you just as much, deary, but long's I've got two hands and a mouth, I'll make the two keep t'other reasonably full, I wouldn't wonder. No, I shan't think of it, so don't say another word. No."

The negative was so decided that Grace was silenced. Her disappointment showed in her face, however, and

She Broke Into a Smothered Laugh.

Keziah hastened to change the subject.

"How do you know," she observed, "but what my goin' to Boston may be the best thing that ever happened to me? You can't tell. No use despairin', Annabel ain't given up hope yet; why should I? Hey? Ain't that somebody comin'?"

Her companion sprang to her feet and ran to the window. Then she broke into a smothered laugh.

"Why, it's Kyan Pepper!" she exclaimed. "He must be coming to see you, Aunt Keziah. And he's got on his very best Sunday clothes. Gracious! I must be going. I didn't know you expected callers."

Keziah dropped the tack hammer and stood up.

"Kyan!" she repeated. "What in the world is that old idiot comin' here for? To talk about the minister, I s'pose. How on earth did Laviny ever come to let him out alone?"

Mr. Pepper, Mr. Abishai Pepper, locally called "Kyan" (Cayenne) Pepper because of his red hair and thin red side whiskers, was one of Trumet's "characters," and in his case the character was weak. He was born in the village and, when a yougster, had, like every other boy of good family in the community, cherished ambitions for a seafaring life. His sister, Lavinia, ten years older than he, who, after the death of their parents, had undertaken the job of "bringing up" her brother, did not sympathize with these ambitions. Consequently, when Kyan ran away she followed him to Boston, stalked aboard the vessel where he had shipped, and collared him, literally and figuratively. One of the mates venturing to offer objection, Lavinia turned upon him and gave him a piece of her mind, to the immense delight of the crew and the loungers on the wharf. Then she returned with the vagrant to Trumet.

That was Kyan's sole venture, so far as sailoring was concerned, but he ran away again when he was twenty-five. This time he returned of his own accord, bringing a wife with him, one Evelyn Gott of Ostable. Evelyn could talk a bit herself, and her first interview with Lavinia ended with the latter's leaving the house in a rage, swearing never to set foot in it again. This oath she broke the day of her sister-in-law's funeral. Then she appeared, after the ceremony, her baggage on the wagon with her. The bereaved one, who was sitting on the front stoop of his dwelling with, so people say, a most resigned expression on his meek countenance, looked up and saw her.

"My land! Laviny," he exclaimed, turning pale. "Where'd you come from?"

"Never mind where I come from," observed his sister promptly. "You just be thankful I've come. If ever a body needed some one to take care of 'em, it's you. You can tote my things right in," she added, turning to her grinning driver, "and you, 'Bishy, go right in with 'em. The idea of your settin' outside takin' it easy when your poor wife ain't been buried more'n an hour!"

"But—but—Laviny," protested poor Kyan, speaking the truth unwittingly, "I couldn't take it easy afore she was buried, could I?"

"Go right in," was the answer. "March!"

Abishai marched, and had marched under his sister's orders ever since. She kept house for him, and did it well, but her one fear was that some female might again capture him, and she watched him with an eagle eye. He was the town assessor and tax collector, but when he visited dwellings containing single women or widows, Lavinia always accompanied him, "to help him in his figgerin'," she said.

Consequently, when he appeared, unchaperoned, on the walk leading to the side door of the Coffin homestead, Keziah and her friend were surprised.

"He's dressed to kill," whispered Grace, at the window. "Even his tall hat; and in this fog! I do believe he's coming courting, Aunt Keziah."

Mr. Pepper entered diffidently.

"I—I—" he began. "Well, the fact is, I came out by myself. You see, Laviny's gone up to Sarah B.'s to talk church doin's. I—I—well, I kind of wanted to speak with you about somethin', Keziah, so— Oh! I didn't see you, Gracie. Good mornin'."

He didn't seem overjoyed to see Miss Van Horne, as it was. In fact, he reddened perceptibly and backed toward the door. The girl, her eyes twinkling, took up her jacket and hat.

"Oh! I'm not going to stop, Mr. Pepper," she said. "I was only helping Aunt Keziah a little, that's all. I must run on now."

"Run on—nonsense!" declared Keziah decisively. "You're goin' to stay right here and help us get that stovepipe down. And 'Bishy'll help, too. Won't you, 'Bish?"

The stovepipe was attached to the "air-tight" in the dining room. It—the pipe—rose perpendicularly for a few feet and then extended horizontally, over the high-boy, until it entered the wall. Kyan looked at it and then at his "Sunday clothes."

"Why, I'd be glad to, of course," he declared with dubious enthusiasm. "But I don't know's I'll have time. Perhaps I'd better come later and do it. Laviny, she—"

"Oh, Laviny can spare you for a few minutes, I guess; 'specially as she don't know you're out. Better take your coat off, hadn't you? Grace, fetch one of those chairs for Ky—for Bishy to stand on."

Grace obediently brought the chair. It happened to be the one with a rickety leg, but its owner was helping the reluctant Abishai remove the long-tailed blue coat which had been his wedding garment and had adorned his person on occasions of ceremony ever since. She did not notice the chair.

"It's real good of you to offer to help," she said. "Grace and I didn't hardly dast to try it alone. That pipe's been up so long that I wouldn't wonder if 'twas chock-full of soot. If you're careful, though, I don't believe you'll get any on you. Never mind the floor; I'm goin' to wash that before I leave."

Reluctantly, slowly, the unwilling Mr. Pepper suffered himself to be led to the chair. He mounted it and gingerly took hold of the pipe.

"Better loosen it at the stove hole first," advised Keziah. "What was it you wanted to see me about, 'Bish?"

"Oh nothin', nothin'," was the hasty response. "Nothin' of any account—that is to say—"

He turned redder than ever and wrenched at the pipe. It loosened at its lower end and the wires holding it in suspension shook.

"I guess," observed the lady of the house, "that you'd better move that chest of drawers out so's you can get behind it. Grace, you help me. There! that's better. Now move your chair."

Kyan stepped from the chair and moved the latter to a position between the high-boy and the wall. Then he remounted and gripped the pipe in the middle of its horizontal section.

"Don't be in such a hurry," interrupted Keziah. "Does stick in the chimney, don't it? Tell you what you can do, Grace; you can go in the woodshed and fetch the hammer that's in the table drawer. Hurry up, that's a good girl."

Kyan protested that he did not need the hammer, but his protest was unheeded. With one more glance at the couple, Grace departed from the kitchen, biting her lips. She shut the door carefully behind her. Mr. Pepper labored frantically with the pipe.

"No use to shake it any more till you get the hammer," advised Keziah. "Might's well talk while you're waitin? What was it you wanted to tell me?"

"Keziah, you're a single woman."

His companion let go of the chair, which she had been holding in place, and stepped back.

"He is loony!" she exclaimed under her breath. "I—"

"No, no! I ain't loony. I want to make a proposal to you. I want to see if you won't marry me. I'm sick of Laviny. Let's you and me settle down together. I could have some peace then. And I think a whole lot of you, too," he added, apparently as an afterthought. "Don't stop to argue, Keziah. I've got 'most fifteen hundred dollars in the bank. Laviny keeps the pass book in her bureau, but you could get it from her. I own my house. I'm a man of good character. You're poor, but I don't let that stand in the way.

"Get Down Off That Chair!"

Anyhow, you're a first-rate housekeeper. And I really do think an awful lot of you."

Mrs. Coffin stepped no farther in the direction of the kitchen. Instead, she strode toward the rickety chair and its occupant. Kyan grasped the pipe with both hands.

"You poor—miserable—impudent—" began the lady.

"Why, Keziah, don't you want to?" He spoke as if the possibility of a refusal had never entered his mind. "I cal'lated you'd be glad. You wouldn't have to go away then, nor— My soul and body! some one's knockin' at the door! And this dummed pipe's fetched loose!"

The last sentence was a smothered shriek. Keziah heeded not. Neither did she heed the knock at the door. Her hands were opening and closing convulsively.

"Be glad!" she repeated. "Glad to marry a good-for-nothin' sand-peep like you! You sassy— Get down off that chair and out of this house! Get down this minute!"

"I can't! This stovepipe's loose, I tell you. Be reason'ble, Keziah. Do—don't you touch me! I'll fall if you do. Pl-e-as-e, Keziah!— O Lordy! I knew it. Laviny!"

The door opened. On the threshold, arms akimbo and lips set tight, stood Lavinia Pepper. Her brother's knees gave way; in their collapse they struck the chair back; the rickety leg wabbled. Kyan grasped at the pipe to save himself and, the next moment, chair, sections of stovepipe, and Mr. Pepper disappeared with a mighty crash behind the high-boy. A cloud of soot arose and obscured the view.

Keziah, too indignant even to laugh, glared at the wreck. In the doorway of the kitchen Grace Van Horne, hammer in hand, leaned against the jamb, her handkerchief at her mouth and tears in her eyes. Lavinia, majestic and rigid, dominated the scene. From behind the high-boy came coughs, sneezes and emphatic ejaculations.

Miss Pepper was the first to speak.

"Abishai Pepper," she commanded "come out of that this minute."

History of the Pipe.

The history of the development of pipes is fascinating and forms an important part in the history of censers. It is believed that the pipe ante-dates the use of narcotic herbs, such as tobacco, although the importance of smoke appears to have been chiefly, if not wholly, due to its supposed medical properties. The offering of incense made by the Aztecs to the Spanish conquerors resembles in many respects the familiar peace pipe customs of the American Indians, and the pipes themselves are similar to those found everywhere between southern Mexico and Canada. The custom of smoking probably did not originate through the enjoyment of the taste of the smoke, but arose in connection with the development of the fire cult in which it had a sacred significance.

WELCOME THE PASTOR

The new pastor of the Methodist church, Rev. L. H. S. Chapman, held his first service here Sunday morning. He preached a good, sound solid sermon, pressing the old truths in an effective manner. He is a preacher of long experience and high reputation and will be an important factor in the religious and moral life of the town.

Expecting the family Friday night the congregation had prepared at the parsonage a comfortable supper and a well filled larder to welcome them, but on account of delayed trains they did not reach here until Saturday.

Sunday morning while the truck load of express was waiting to be rolled to the office some one discovered that a jug was leaking rapidly and would soon be empty. A quick witted darkey jerked off his derby hat, placed it under the run and soon marched off triumphantly with a hat full of booze. Very likely having his hat full he proceeded to put it under his vest also.

W. R. Fox, 195 W. Old dangerous, salivating calomel is out of a job and in its place comes CARSWELL'S LIVER-AID, the pleasant tasting, sure acting discovery that banishes constipation, puts energy, strength and hustle into your tired, overworked liver and gently but surely drives out poisonous gasses and foul secretions from every part of the bowels.

It's a wonderful liver remedy that has freed thousands from the habit of taking calomel and brought health and happiness to scores of homes in this vicinity,

CARSWELL'S LIVER-AID is a remarkably efficient remedy compounded of purely vegetable ingredients. It is pleasant to take and harmless. Children can take it freely. It is sold by Upchurch Drug Co. at 50 cents a generous bottle, rigidly guaranteed to please every purchaser or money back.

Take it for constipation, indigestion, upset stomach, dizziness, biliousness, sick headache, malaria, kidney troubles and as a tonic to put health and strength into the entire system. A few doses will make you feel fine and vigorous.

Man the Only Reasoning Animal.

Men act according to knowledge and reasoning ability. Other animals act by instinct born with them, and upon which they never improve. Birds build the same kind of nests right along. Men are always using their ability to improve their houses. Instinct is the name for the inferior kind of knowledge the lower orders of creation naturally possess. In some cases, as with dogs, horses, etc., this can be increased by careful training, or even by imitation.

All in the Make-Up.

"You can be young, if you make up your mind to," says a beauty hinter. And, according to some, you can look young if you make up your face to.

Cost of Ocean Cables.

The average cost of ocean telegraph cables is about $2,000 a mile.

Country Without Manufactures.

Panama has practically no manufactures. The principal exports are bananas, cocoanuts, hides and skins, ivory, nuts, rubber and hardwood, of which the United States receives the greater portion. More than half of the imports are furnished by the United States and consist chiefly of foodstuffs, textiles and hardware.

Take C e woman's tonic. Cardui is made from purely ve ingredients. It acts gently on the womanly organs, and them to do their proper work. It relieves pain and s health, in a natural manner, by going to the sou trouble and building up the bodily strength.

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Fortner, of Man, W. Va., took Cardui. This is she says about it: "I was so weak and nervous, I not bear to have anyone near me. I had fainting spells and I lost flesh every day. The first dose of Cardui helped me. Now, I am entirely cured of the fainting spells. I cannot say enough for Cardui, for I know it saved my life." It is the best tonic for women.

Do you suffer from any of the pains peculiar to women? Take Cardui. It will help you. Ask your druggist.

Love Element in Writer's Lives.

Alfred de Musset's love for irresponsive George Sand gave his thoughts such an extraordinary elevation that he wrote many brilliant poems in consequence. Chaucer sang the praises of many queens, but his one great love was Philippa Picard de Rouet, the Lady-in-Waiting to Queen Anne of Bohemia. He waited nine years to marry her, but made it a matter of complaint in several poems.

Why cough? Stop it!

Stop coughing! Coughing rasps and tears. Stop it! Coughing prepares the throat and lungs for more trouble. Stop it! There is nothing so bad for a cough as coughing. Stop it! Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is a medicine for coughs and colds, a regular doctor's medicine. Sold for seventy years. Use it! Ask your doctor if this is not good advice.

Unless there is daily action of the bowels, poisonous products are absorbed, causing headache, biliousness, nausea, dyspepsia. We wish you would ask your doctor about correcting your constipation by taking laxative doses of Ayer's Pills.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS
AND LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

MOUNT PLEASANT.

Our school is progressing nicely, but our Sundayschool has gone into winter quarters.

The new year has found the people of this section very busy turning land for this year's crop.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Deason spent Sunday at Mr. R. M. Butlers.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Vickers and his mother Mrs. Nancy Vickers, were visitors at Mr. B. M. Dukes Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wiley Foshee were visitors at Mr. S. A. Eiland Sunday.

There seems to be quite a lot of moving now.

Mr. Edgar Littlejohn taught several days last week while Prof. Duffey was sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Harris are visiting at Mr. R. M. Sims this week.

Mr. Jim Evans and family spend Sundry with his father-in-law Mr. J. H. Blankenship.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Riggins and Mr and Mrs. Lonnie Price spent Sunday at G. W. Meltons.

Little Aaron and Stillman Massey were recent visitors at Weoguf:ee.

Mr. Henry Martin and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Martin.

Dr. Willis Massey, of Birmingham, recently visited his brother G. H. Massey.

Little Viewers.

BLOCTON

A public meeting of Niobe No. 38, I. O. R. M. was held Saturday night for the purpose installing officers. The following chiefs were raised: Sachem C. C. Caffee; Senior Sagimore, Ben Thrasher: Junior Sagimore, F. M. Eiland; Prophet Harris McIntosh; Chief of Records Fred McCool; Keeper of Wampum C. C. Allen. The meeting was enthusiastic from the start. The great sachem of Alabama was present, speeches were made by him and C. M. McCary, J. H. Gholson and others.

After this the ladies of Oconee Council Degree of Pocahontas, No. 26, being present with well filled baskets, proceeded to spread the contents, which were enjoyed by all.

The shortage in railroad cars at the mines has disappeared and work has been resumed full time.

While out hunting on Saturday Mr. Zeb Prather's 12 year old son was accidentally shot through the leg so badly that amputation was necessary. The boy who did the shooting was 15 years old.

Mr. Wm. Boyd, of Clanton is visiting his daughter Mrs. Hanlin of this place.

NOTICE.

RIGHT THINKING.

For the Union-Banner.

Thoughts are great harbingers of good and evil. Man in his present fallen state has to wrestle continually with the adversary of humanity, who is on the alert to suggest evil thoughts at every opportunity. Man can, even though it requires a herculean effort, refuse to welcome those undesirable thoughts and for the present is a victor. The terrible act of murder is always preceded by thoughts of murder—the flesh that presents the weapon of death would not vibrate toward murder were it not for murderous thoughts. This will apply to the hard-hearted young man who would besmirch the name of some fair young lady,—evil thoughts led him, he was a willing servant of demons. The whole catalog of crime is the result of wrong thinking. On the bright side of the picture see the noble self-sacrificing men and women, boys and girls, who are angels of mercy and kindness, assisting the poor, comforting the bereaved, relieving the sick, teaching the ignorant, reclaiming the erring, defending temperance, virtue, honesty, truth. Is is not a fact that right thinking precedes all such good works?

Ah! but a large class of people never fail to think along selfish lines. Their individual gain absorbs all their thinking powers. The flying comet, the blazing sun, the twinkling stars, the opening rose, the singing bird and all nature's beauties fail to attract their thoughts. Relative to these grand and noble things their thoughts are lazy, their appetites must be fully satisfied; then their abnormal appetite calls for the fumes and taste of tobacco, so their thinking powers, aside from selfish lines are lulled more and more into laziness, and with a careless laugh they let golden moments slip; they just will not think. See the great number in the Sundayschool, but alas! how few are thinking. They have their quarterlies and helps galore at hand, but their thinking powers are unwilling to take up the task, preferring the easy, slip shod way of not thinking and thus they go, sleeping as it were, right over real gems of priceless value. This often applies to superintendents and teachers as well as to others. The lessons may refer to great dispensational changes as well as to practical things, but they see them not. Another class think they are already just up to date, and so they lightly refuse to think. Another class do not wish to be disturbed, so they are not willing for thinking people to get too near them, they are just afraid, you know. Many will not think until the approaching day of vengeance is on them. Many are tottering with old age, yet they will not think. Hear the noted John L. Brasher, of Boaz, Ala. "I want to explore the Milky Way with God as my teacher." Thinking people are just panting for higher planes. We live now when the long reign of death is expiring. Unheard of achievments in agriculture are before us. The nations will learn the folly of war. The average of human life is increasing. All classes are clamorous for their fancied rights, they can't be restrained. The rising sunlight of the beautiful day of Earth's coming glory is driving darkness into the corners, thus bringing a sharp but short confict that will be unprecedented. So most assuredly those who think rightly are headed for the winning side. Let parents and teachers cut out the spectacular, and not blindly rush the children on into the way of glitter and tinsel, but teach them to think rightly. Student.

CARD OF THANKS.

Chilton County Poor Farm, Jan. 1, '13.

As Superintendent of the County Poor Farm, I desire to return sincere thanks to Dr. Hopkins and his splendid wife for the nice toys and other good things sent by them to the children who are inmates in the home. These poor unfortunates are truly grateful to the good doctor and his wife and accept the Christmas gifts with much gratitude. May it prove to the kind gentlemen and wife as "Bread cast upon the waters." Very sincerely,

W. A. Huckabee and Wife.

IN MEMORY.

On Tuesday evening, Dec. 31, 1912, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Culver and took their darling son Eddie to his heavenly home. He had been sick three weeks and only God knows how he suffered, but at last God saw fit to call him him from this world of sorrow to that home where pain and death never come. Eddie left behind him a sorrowing father and mother, nine brothers and one sister to weep over his loss, but weep not loved ones, for our loss is heaven's gain.

Eddie has gone to join his nephew, little Stuart Holly, who had gone on just two weeks before. Stuart was sick one day and night when our dear Saviour held out his arms and said "Come home, Stuart," Oh! how hard it is to part with our loved ones, but God had a special purpose for them or else he would not have called them home.

"Thou art gone, our precious darlings, never more can'st thou return,
But thou shalt sleep a peaceful slumber, till the resurrection morn."

A Friend,

PARTY CONFERENCE.

R. J. Perryman, of Heflin, chairman of the Alabama Progressive Executive Committee, who was in Birmingham Monday, declares that the Progressive party of Alabama will call a conference early in the year for the purpose of mapping out plans for the future.

"The Progressives of Alabama will have a full state ticket iu the field at the next campaign," said Mr. Perryman. "We expect to put out a strong ticket, headed by a candidate for governor who will appeal to the business men and to all others who believe in clean government.

The Progressive party polled over 22,000 votes in the last election to the 9000 polled by the Republicans. We won the rights that are conferred on the minority party."

Mr. Perryman predicts that the Progressives will elect their national ticket in 1916 and declares that it is going to be impossible for the Democratic party to be held together during the incoming administration.—Birmingham Ledger.

PARCELS POST IS RANK PATERNALISM

Yes, certainly the parcels post is a step toward paternalism. We are going to take more of those steps because we have to. Private corporations do not consider but one side of business and they push and squeeze until the people rebel. We have always had the postoffice, because it would not do to have a private corporation handle the letters of the people.

The parcels post is another step towards paternalism because the people want small packages carried at a reasonable rate. This idea will be extended as the people find that they can do their own business at half the rate private corporations insist on taking for like service. We are progressing.—Birmingham Ledger

NEGRO ATTEMPTS TO ASSAULT

CAPTURED AND CARRIED TO MONTGOMERY JAIL

Last Friday night, at the home of Elijah Arledge, about eight miles east of Jemison, Mr. Arledge being away from home, a negro named Walter Lawhorn, who lived on the place went into Mrs. Arledge's bed room while she was asleep and attempted an assault. Her struggles and screams and the screams of the children frightened him off, and he took a pistol from the room, went out and stole a mule and disappeared.

The alarm was given and deputy sheriff Smitherman and Jones, assisted by citizens searched for him all Saturday.

Gov. O'Neal, on his way to visit the dam on the river, happened to meet some of the searchers, and telephoned to the sheriff that the negro if caught must be given protection of the law.

Sunday evening when Mr. Arledge went to feed his stock he found the negro hid in a hay stack. The negro stated that the mule threw him and hurt him so badly that he could go no further.

Deputies were sent for and got there in time to take him from the hands of a number of citizens who were inclined to lynch him. He was brought to Clanton jail and early Monday morning was taken to Montgomery jail for safe keeping.

Thus the majesty of the law was respected and the guilty wretch will receive prompt and adequate punishment, which is much better for the community than an unlawful lynching would have been.

The officials are to be commended for their prompt action in the matter.

SEE FIRST WHERE WE COME IN

The Ledger fails to see the wisdom of the action of the Chamber of Commerce in adopting resolutions requesting President Taft to withdraw his veto of senate bill 7343, which granted the Alabama Interstate Power company the right to erect a dam at Lock 18 on the Coosa river and conferred extensive water power rights at that point.

The Interstate Power company nor any of its allied corporations have as yet informed the people of Alabama at what price they are to receive the water power to be developed by it. Representatives of the company have especially failed to indicate to the city of Birmingham or any other city just what its policy will be in the transmission of power to such cities and the sale of the same to said cities or the people therein. All the people of Alabama knows about the Interstate Power company is that it has unlimited capital, both American and English, and is expending millions of dollars in the rapid developement of the extensive water power rights it already has on the Coosa river. The Alabama representatives of that company have not made a single promise in writing or otherwise on which the people of this state can depend for knowledge of their position when the power is harnessed and this largest of all public service corporations ever entering the state is ready to serve them.

The Ledger welcomes the Interstate company to Alabama and with pleasure notes the great work it is doing; but it desires in the name of the people of Birmingham and of Alabama to insist that the company make known its policies and prices before more rights are granted or more privileges conferred. — Birmingham Ledger.

Plans for the confederation of all cotton exchanges in the United States were tentatively endorsed, and the formation of the National Association of Cotton Exchanges of America authorized; the organization of state associations approved and the appointment of delegates to confer as to the handling of the cotton crop of this country was provided for at a conference in Memphis, Tenn., of representatives of forty-three exchanges and chambers of commerce with interests allied to the cotton industry. The conference was in response to a call issued by George W. Neville, president of the New York Cotton Exchange.

Eight survivors of the steamer Julia Luckenbach, rammed and sunk in Chesapeake bay by the British tramp Indrakuala, arrived at Newport News, Va., and told how twenty-two of their number had gone down without a chance for life. The fortunate eight, after a six-hour battle with a terrific gale, were taken from the rigging of the sunken ship by the Danish ship Pennsylvania and brought to Newport News. According to survivors, Captain Gilbert and the first and second officers were standing on the bridge when the collision occurred. There was no opportunity to give the alarm to those below. Captain Gilbert made a desperate effort to reach his wife, and, when last seen, was swimming aft of the sinking ship.

United States Senator Jeffries Davis died suddenly of apoplexy at his home in Little Rock, Ark., aged 51. In 1907 he was elected to the United States senate, and his term would have expired March 4 next. Senator Davis aroused the senate on numerous occasions by his verbal attacks, most of them being made against the money trust.

An earthquake of sufficient violence to cause a number of chimneys to topple over was felt throughout the Piedmont section at South Carolina at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon of New Year's. The trembling of the earth continued for five or six seconds and caused people to run out of their houses in alarm. In the open country a low rumbling noise was heard. Reports of the earthquake have been received in Spartanburg from many places within a radius of 100 miles in all directions. The shock does not seem to have been distinctly felt at points more distant.

The London daily papers are heartily pleased with President Taft's declaration of his intention to submit the Panama canal controversy with Great Britain to arbitration if diplomatic negotiations should fail.

Canadian cabinet members have received lettetrs asking the government to prevent the dumping of American eggs on the Canadian market either by applying the anti-dumping clause or raising the present tariff of three cents a dozen.

James G. Woodward has been inaugurated mayor of Atlanta for the third term. The first thing he has asked for is a new charter, claiming the old charter is bulky and obsolete.

Governor Wilson wired to Democratic members of the New Jersey legislature to meet him to discuss the election of a state treasurer. The governor issued a statement opposing the choice of Edward I. Edwards, a banker. "I am sincerely sorry that the matter should have been given the air of a contest. I entertain nothing but the warmest personal feeling toward Mr. Edwards. I feel that it is unwise and inexpedient, however, that a banker should be elected treasurer of the state."

In their efforts to intercept 350 young women employed in the wholesale clothing manufacturing concern of J. L. Taylor & Co., 500 striking garment workers, the majority of them women, attacked the police on guard in New York City. Automobiles were waiting to take the young women to their homes. The police used their clubs on the outstretched hands of the strikers who tried to seize the coats and dresses of the girls. The automobiles were quickly filled, and rushed away.

John Granberg of Newport, Ore., carefully tucked his two-foot beard into his nightie and retired. When he awaked the beard was gone and he was clean-shaved. He advertised for the lost whiskers.

Fire destroyed the greater portion of the business section of Seville, Wilcox county, Georgia. Loss $25,500.

The late Vice President James S. Sherman left an estate valued at $370,075.30, practically all personal property, according to report of the transfer tax appraiser. The debts and expenses amount to $46,429.34, and the balance goes to Mrs. Sherman.

Nine cowboys were killed and fourteen severely wounded in a desperate battle on the Spanish frontier with a band of smugglers, who, by the daring and fierceness of their attack, routed the herdsmen and captured $90,000 in cash, the proceeds of sales of cattle, in Valenca do-Minho, Portugal.

Two men are known to have been instantly killed and more than a score seriously injured, some of whom may die, when a New Orleans, Mobile and Chicago passenger train, bound for Mobile, crashed through a trestle at Leaf, Miss. The engineer and a woman passenger were killed. Thirteen negroes were badly hurt when the negro coach plunged from the trestle to the swamps below.

Practically the entire state of Indiana is in the grip of a severe hail and sleet storm that interrupted all street car and railroad service and made telephone and telegraph communication uncertain and did other damage. Many persons were injured by falls on the slippery pavements. Among those was George Ade, author and playwright, who was rendered unconscious by a fall at LaFayette, Ind. He was revived in a short time.

Protected by steel breast-plates, which they had fashioned while behind prison walls, Charles Burch and Charles Swofford, long-term and desperate convicts, made an unsuccessful attempt to escape from the main prison in Nashville, Tenn.

The Western Calvert Heirs' association met at Kansas City, Mo., and then resolved to take up the fight for possession of lands in and around the city of Baltimore that were granted in the seventeenth century to the first Lord Baltimore by King James I of England. The estate for which the association's officers assert they will soon open a legal contest has an estimated value of $600,000,000.

Representative W. Wedemeyer of Ann Arbor, Mich., who suddenly went insane at Colon, Panama, at the time of President Taft's visit to the isthmus, jumped overboard from a ship on which he had been taken at Colon. His body has not been recovered.

Four Chicago automobile bandits smashed in a jewelry store window and escaped with a tray of diamonds after a running revolver fight with the police. Their escape was aided by a fashionably-dressed woman who apparently fainted into the arms of a policeman as he started to draw his revolver. As soon as the thieves were out of sight the woman recovered herself and disappeared. The men abandoned their automobile, which had been stolen just before the robbery, and disappeared in a crowded section.

Washington.

Peculiar actions of Anthony Hunt of Chicago, an attorney, while at the white house, in an effort to see President Taft, caused his arrest by the police. He is being held for examination as to his mental condition at the government hospital for the insane. When he appeared at the white house offices, Hunt told the officers persons were persecuting him and that he wanted the president's aid. He said he wanted to ask Mr. Taft to appoint him ambassador to France.

Representatives at Washington of the two Mexican mining companies have telegraphed the mine managers to send out at once all American children and women. The cause of the apprehension is not known. All the smelters but that at Chihuahua face closing down shortly. This would throw thousands of men out of work and create a condition believed more critical than either a strike or revolt. Already the Torreon smelter, controlled by Mexican capital, is reported shut down, as is also the Monterey steel plant.

Restoration of the army canteen and enactment of legislation for the elimination from the United States army of unfit officers, are among the principal recommendations of Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff, in his annual report. General Wood likewise recommends the concentration of the army on strategic lines, and in areas where it can be more economically maintained, and would transfer all the personnel of the staff corps—excepting engineers, medical officers and chaplains—to the line, increasing accordingly the number of general officers and line officers in the different grades.

President Taft's last New Year's reception at the white house attracted one of the greatest crowds that has ever gathered at the executive mansion. Clear skies and late fall weather brought out the general public in extraordinary numbers, and a new record for attendance of private citizens probably was established. Surrounded by his family, members of his cabinet and a distinguished company, the president received officials and citizens of high and low degree, and when the last caller had been greeted Mr. Taft had shaken hands with more than seven thousand persons.

A conference concerning the Mexican situation which is believed to foreshadow far-reaching consequences was held in New Orleans between Senator Smith of Michigan, chairman of the senate committee investigating Mexican affairs, and Senor Pedro Lascurain, the minister of foreign affairs of Mexico. It is understood that Senator Smith talked plainly to the Mexican minister about the disturbed conditions in Mexico and the ill-treatment which Americans and American property have been subjected to in that country within the past two years.

CORNERS VIOLATE THE SHERMAN LAW

SUPREME COURT DECISION IN CASE OF PATTEN.

INDICTMENTS ARE HELD VALID

Three Justices Deliver Dissenting Opinion—Solicitor General Says That Decision Will Prevent Artificial Running of Prices.

Washington.—The supreme court of the United States laid down the far-reaching principle that corners of interstate commodities, such as articles of clothing and food, are in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, and held that as far as the Sherman law was concerned, the indictment in the New York federal court of James Patten, Eugene C. Scales, Frank H. Hayne and William P. Brown for "conspiring to run an alleged cotton corner," was valid. The case against them was sent back for trial or other proceedings.

Justice Vandeventer announced the opinion of the court. Justice Lurton delivered a dissenting opinion in which Chief Justice White and Justice Holmes concurred.

The majority of the court held that the circuit court for Southern New York had decided that the indictment charged a "withholding" of the cotton from market, a necessary element of a corner, as admitted by the government. The minority held that the circuit court that found the indictment did not so charge, and for that reason the indictment was faulty. According to all justices, the correctness of the holding of the circuit court as to the indictment charging a "withholding," and as to the sufficiency of the indictment on other technical points has to be accepted at this time without question by the supreme court.

Solicitor General Bullitt, who presented the government's side of the case, issued a statement after the decision in which he said at least a way had been found to stop the running up of prices by men who sought to corner the market, not only of wheat, corn, lard and other commodities.

COTTON EXCHANGES COMBINE

National Confederation Is Launched at Memphis.

Memphis.—A gigantic combination of cotton exchanges and associations was born in Memphis.

Overshadowing any similar organization ever attempted, that confederacy of cotton interests, according to its founders, will make commercial history.

The most representative gathering of cotton men ever held in the United States or elsewhere stands sponsor for the new association.

It will be a closely affiliated body, consisting of the presidents of every cotton exchange and state association in the country. It will deal only in matters of national ad international importance.

Its existence will mean that all disputes between European and American interests can be settled with much less loss of time and finances than formerly, it is said.

The Southern cotton men maintain that the difference between European and American grading is the cause of much confusion. A good middling in Memphis is something else in Liverpool. As a result there is no end of misunderstandings and long arbitrations.

Freight rates will be taken up, insurance will be lowered if possible, storage charges reduced wherever consistent and, in short, everything possible done to cut down the expense of handling.

No attempt will be made to regulate the market, the supply or the demand. The confederation will have nothing whatever to do with prices or anything of that nature, so its organizers declare.

STATE'S POWER CURBED

Cannot Annul Contracts Limiting Loss in Shipments.

Washington.—The power of the states over railroads and express companies suffered a hard blow when the supreme court held that since the passage of the Carmack amendment to the interstate commerce law in 1906 the states had ceased to have the right to annul contracts between railroads and shippers limiting the liability for the loss of interstate shipments.

Another serious blow was delivered when the court held that the states, since the passage of the interstate commerce acts, and particularly the Hepburn law in 1906, had no power to penalize railroads for failure to furnish cars for interstate shipments.

May Tax Express Companies.

Washington.—The right of cities to impose license taxes upon the state business of express companies and their agencies was upheld by the upreme court in affirming the decision of the supreme court of Kansas that an ordinance to that effect in Leavenworth, Kas., was valid.

WILSON MADE NO CABINET SELECTION

LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM OF NEW PRESIDENT UNDECIDED.

HIS MIND IS STILL OPEN

Will Consume All of Time From Now Until Inauguration Day in Making Decisions on These Things.

Princeton, N. J.—President-elect Wilson made it clear that nobody in the United States knew, as yet, who was going to be in his cabinet or what would be the program he would suggest for the next congress. He declared that he had not offered a single cabinet portfolio to anyone thus far and had as yet reached no conclusion as to plans for the extra session.

Mr. Wilson stated that while he had canvassed a variety of subjects and had talked over many names with Democratic leaders, he had not given a definite intimation in any direction either as to what his selections or his course with respect to legislation would be. He indicated, however, that he expected the extra session would not be devoted exclusively to tariff-making, and said he would, in a special message, specify some of the subjects upon which he would like to see legislation enacted.

He indicated that he intended to occupy as much of his time as possible between now and March 4 in canvassing the field from which he will pick a cabinet. He said his mind was still open and that as soon as he reached decisions as to all the men he wished, he probably would make all offers simultaneously.

STRENGTHENING THE LEVEES

Rivers and Harbors Committee May Appropriate $6,000,000.

Washington.—The amount to be carried in the rivers and harbors appropriation bill at this session of congress will be decided at a meeting of the house rivers and harbors committee. It has been planned to keep the bill to about $30,000,000, but pressure has been brought to increase the amount to $50,000,000.

The National Rivers and Harbors Congress has endorsed an annual expenditure of $50,000,000 for river and harbor improvement. The committee expects to write into the bill appropriations for about $6,000,000 for the improvement of the Mississippi river, to be devoted largely to strengthening levees in the flood districts.

WOULD RELEASE ALL INDIANS

Let American Redskins Rule Selves, Says Valentine.

Washington.—That the American Indian should be released as soon as possible from the paternal care of the United States government, now his guardian in virtually everything he does, is the opinion expressed in the annual report from the bureau of Indian affairs, submitted to Secretary Fisher by Robert G. Valentine, until recently commissioner.

The former commissioner voiced the hope that the day might be near "when the United States will finally have lifted its hands from Indian affairs and Indians in all respects will stand on an equal footing with al ltheir fellow Americans."

Cannot Parade Pennsylvania Avenue.

Washington.—The suffragette parade planned for March 3 will be shorn of a great deal of its glory by the declination of the police department to allow the ladies to march on Pennsylvania avenue. The suffragettes are mad about this order, and they will try to have it revoked. They are not satisfied with a proposed compromise that they parade on Sixteenth street. This is a magnificent thoroughfare, but it is not Pennsylvania avenue, which men have used for years when they wanted to show themselves.

...G TOGETHER IS BEST

... to Be Erected at Norfolk to ...emorate Efforts of Farmers in Co-Operation.

... city of Norfolk is to be orna...ed by or with a new monument. ...t is not to be a shaft pointing heav...nward to commemorate the deeds ...f heroes; nor is it to be a monu...mental pile celebrating great victo...ries on the battlefield; but it is to be a memorial testifying that "peace hath her victories," as well as war. It is to commemorate, and testify to the success of co-operative effort on the part of four hundred tillers of the soil in the Norfolk section of the Old Dominion, writes A. Jeffers in the Southern Planter.

It is to be a building, which, with the site on which it stands, is to cost $125,000. It is to be six stories in height, with basement added, making seven stories. The basement for the heating apparatus, coal and other storage; the first floor for offices of the Southern Produce company, and two stores; the second, third and fourth stories for offices, and the sixth for an assembly room, with offices for the committees. The building is to be of brick, white, with terra cotta trimmings, is to be fireproofed, and have light, heat, gas and electric elevators; and to have all modern improvements and conveniences. The site has been purchased and paid for in cash, just a little less than $50,000 for the site. Bids have been received and the contract is let for the construction of the building. It will be paid for in cash; and then the Southern Produce company, the oldest continuous organization of its kind in the United States, will have a home of its own; a home that will not only shelter the company, but the income from which in the shape of rentals, will pay a good round interest on the investment.

The funds to do this with have been accumulating for several years; and yet the company has paid dividends every year from twenty to thirty per cent. on the stock held by its members.

This company organized away back nearly a half century ago, and was not formed for the purpose of making money, but saving it; saving it by co-operating in selling their farm produce; co-operating in securing all proper and fair concessions from the transportation people; co-operating in keeping the commission men in check at the selling end of the line, in addition to all the other savings effected by the company. The funds have accumulated, without an assessment ever being made, and without missing a dividend, all the years, since the company has been working under its present charter. The building to be erected will do more to encourage the members to continue to co-operate, keep step, touch elbows and work together than so much money in the bank. It is tangible, positive, significant evidence of the advantage of co-operative effort among farmers. It shows the advantage of getting together, working together, pulling together and sticking together. It is the "sticking together" that has done the work and secured the result. The business world is compelled to recognize in every proper manner such an organization.

This is to be a monument to show the advantages of working along the lines laid down by Sir Davy Crockett, "First be sure you are right, then go ahead." Keep on going, straight ahead, leaving out side issues, "eyes front," "touch elbows," "keep step."

CO-OPERATION IS SOLUTION

Europe Solving Problem of High Cost of Living by Modern Methods of Buying and Selling.

We as a nation are no more perplexed in regard to the high cost of living than the countries of continental Europe. In fact, it is a topic of discussion throughout the civilized world. During the last ten years our population increased 21 per cent., the farm land increased only 4 per cent., so that there is naturally an excessive demand. The price of potatoes, for instance, the main article of diet, advanced in the last decade 111.9 per cent., the highest of any commodity on the list, and the other necessities have increased also. The increased population has placed a value upon all farm products before unheard of.

Economists are warning us to increase our production per acre, but the big item of cost in marketing is in our system of distribution, which represents 50 per cent. of the cost to the consumer, as shown by current market prices. A vast saving could be effected for the consumer and the producer by a more direct distribution. This is the only method by which the high cost of living can be lowered effectively, writes L. F. Dunstan in the Chicago News.

Europe is solving the problem through co-operative buying and selling. The great aim in co-operation is to increase production and get the product to the consumer as economically as possible.

The subject is a matter for study. There is yet available land near our large cities suitable for agricultural purposes, which if developed by co-operative methods would be of great benefit, at least, to those interested in furthering the plan.

31 OF CREW DROWN WHEN VESSEL SINKS

STEAMSHIP ROSECRANS RUNS AGROUND DURING A 55-MILE GALE.

ANOTHER STEAMER WRECKED

Wireless Message Says Three Passengers and a Member of the Crew Perished.

Astoria, Ore.—The oil steamer Rosecrans, Capt. L. F Johnson, from Monterey, Cal., for Portland, Ore., ran aground on Peacock Spit while crossing into the Columbia river during a 55-mile gale and later sank with 31 members of her crew of 35. One survivor of the wreck was reported to have reached shore at Tiega, Wash., six miles from the scene of the disaster, and the Point Adams life saving crew, which with the life crew from Fort Canby had been at work, rescued three other men.

The latter had taken refuge in the rigging when the ship went down. For many hours they clung there, the waves breaking over them repeatedly. Two of the men were taken from their perch, while the third, who had leaped into the sea when the life boat neared the spot, was taken from the water.

Vancouver, B. C—The little steamer, Cheslakee, owned by the Union Steamship company of Vancouver, was wrecked off Van Anda, north of Vancouver. Wireless messages say three passengers and a member of the crew perished. The other passengers and seamen were rescued by the steamer Camosun of the same line, which reported the disaster. The Cheslakee plied between this port and Texeda island, 75 miles north.

The Cheslakee sank alongside the wharf at Van Anda, according to the message from the Camosun to the company offices here. Captain Coole of the Camosun reported that his vessel was standing by, after having rescued all but three passengers and the second cook. The Cheslakee, smallest of the Union Steamship company's vessels, was employed on the so-called "logging camp run" and drew her passenger list chiefly from the men of the woods.

ROAD BILL INTRODUCED.

Senator Swanson Wants Appropriation Divided Among States.

Washington.—Federal appropriation of $25,000,000 to aid the states for good roads was proposed in a bill by Senator Swanson. Senator Swanson's measure contemplates the apportionment of the proposed appropriation among the states according to population and mileage of postroads.

It is provided in every instance the states shall pay one-half the cost of construction, but after the completion of any given road the national authorities are to withdraw from all supervision.

Minnesotan Stands Before Mirror and Cuts Growth From Face.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Driven to desperation by pain and his inability to find a surgeon who could relieve him, Dr. W. M. Beck, of Clarksfield, Minn., stood before a mirror in his office and made an incision just below his left jaw. He cut away the flesh around the chin to the left ear, scraped the bone and sewed up the aperture . The operation was done to remove a malignant growth.

SUFFRAGE BILL INTRODUCED.

New York Republican Legislature Urges Votes For Women.

Albany, N. Y.—Obedient to the platform pledge of the Republican party, Minority Leader Hinman, of the assembly, introduced a woman suffrage amendment to the constitution. The resolution provides that foreign-born women who become citizens merely by marriage must be naturalized in the same way as men before being permitted to enjoy the suffrage.

EIGHT ARE REPORTED DEAD.

Big Four Train in Smashup Near Lafayette, Ind.

Lafayette, Ind.—Eight persons were reported killed in a wreck of the Big Four train No. 15, bound from Chicago to Cincinnati. The wreck happened 11 miles east of here. About two score persons were reported seriously injured.

MAN KILLS HIS FRIEND.

Kentuckian is a Failure in the Role of William Tell.

Danville, Ky.—John Coleman, a Harrodsburg so-called William Tell, bet Henry Martin an ordinary citizen, that he could put a rifle bullet through the hat of Marshall without touching his scalp. Marshall accepted the wager and won. The bullet went through the hat and skull of Marshall, killing him instantly. The shooter was lodged in jail.

AFTER BRISK PACE BUSINESS SLOWS UP

Money in Demand and Rates Are Firm—High Wheat and Corn Reports.

New York.—Bradstreet's review of trade says:

After traveling at a brisk pace business has slowed down, though less so than usual at this season. Confidence in the future is in evidence.

Retail dealers enjoyed an unexampled holiday trade.

In a host of industries consumption bids fair to overtop production for some time, and the iron and steel industry probably never entered a new 12 months under more auspicious conditions.

Money is in demand and rates remain firm, but signs lead to the belief that more comfortable rates are not a long way off.

Business failures for the week ending January 2 were 287, against 349 in the like week of 1912. There were 24 failures in Canada during the week.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending January 2, aggregated 4,590,618 bushels, against 3,291,617 bushels this week last year. Corn exports for the week are 1,362,606 bushels, against 762,365 bushels last week, and 1,526,1721 bushels in 1912.

New York.—Dun's review of trade says:

The new year opens with all the gains and advantages achieved during the last half of 1912. The new year takes over from the old the increased agricultural wealth resulting from the big crops, the great activity in the largest industries, the augmented confidence in branches of domestic trade, the record breaking foreign commerce and the full employment of labor at high wages, insuring large buying power. With this legacy from 1912, the maintenance of a satisfactory volume of business apparently is assurred.

Bank clearings during 1912 increased 9.3 per cent over 1911.

Railroad traffic, moreover, is very heavy. In the cotton and woolen trades the outlook is an encouraging one. From all the leading cities, both east and west, the end of the year advices are saisfactory in most of the material points and generally an optimistic spirit prevals.

ROB WINDOW IN DAYLIGHT.

Secure Tray of Diamonds and Then Make Their Escape.

Chicago.—Four automobile bandits smashed in a jeweler's window here and escaped with a trap of diamonds after a running revolver fight with police. Their escape was aided by a fashionably dressed woman, who apparently fainted into the arms of a policeman as he started to draw hsi revolver. As soon as th ethieves were out of sight the woman recovered herself and disappeared.

REID'S REMAINS ARRIVE.

Delivered By British Cruiser Natal, Funeral Held in New York. President Taft Attends.

New York.—Great Britain has delivered to his countrymen the body of Whitelaw Reid, editor, statesman and American ambassador, who died in London. The British cruiser Natal brought the body home. President Taft, dignitaries from the army and navy and representatives of foreign powers attended the funeral.

BONDS AGGREGATE A MILLION.

Writ of Supersedeas Granted By Circuit Court of Appeals.

Chicago.—Bonds aggregating $1,100,000 must be given if the 32 of the 33 labor leaders convicted of conspiracy to transport dynamite are to take advantage of the granting of a writ of supersedeas by the United States circuit court of appeals in this city.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES.

Washington—The navy department announced that trans-Atlantic steamship lines have agreed to move their tracks to the southward in order to avoid icebergs, the change to become effective January 15.

Milwaukee—William E. Redding, convicted at Indianapolis, was re-elected business agent of the Iron Workers' Union here. The members of the union in electing Redding asserted their belief in his innocence.

New York—The resignation of M. C. Patterson as vice-president of the American Tobacco company was officially announced. Officials of the American Tobacco company said Mr. Patterson had resigned without assigning any reason for the act.

San Francisco—A. S. Chesbrough, owner of the California-Atlantic Steamship company, with Harry S. Bates, confirmed a rumor that that company had failed for $300,000.

London—The Daily Chronicle, a ministerial organ, denies that the government has any intention of dissolving parliament.

New York—Senor Cipriano Castro, talking to the interviewers denied he had business interests in Germany, and scoffed at the idea he would go to Venezuela to hold a revolution backed by Germans.

LATE ALABAMA NEWS

Montgomery.—Warrants for pensions for old soldiers amounting to $313,478 were sent out by State Auditor C. B. Smith. The warrants are for the second quarter of the fiscal year, extending from October 1, 1912, to September 30, 1913.

The pension warrants, together with the amounts of each class, were sent out as follows: First class, 1,246 warrants, $31,150; second class, 3,966 warrants, $79,320; third class, 12,688 warrants, $203,008.

There will be no pension warrants for the fourth class owing to the fact that the last legislature abolished all fourth class warrants and increased the amount of the other classes.

GOES TO HIS REWARD.

Anniston.—Three days after his wife had been laid to rest in Edgemont, the Rev. J. H. Blacklock, D. D., rector of the Church of St. Michael and All Angels, died at the rectory. He had been ill for some time with pneumonia, but his death was superinduced by grief over the passing of his life mate, since which he had been in constantly failing health.

JAIL INSPECTION TOUR.

Jasper.—The Walker county board of commissioners journeyed to Tuscaloosa for the purpose of inspecting the Tuscaloosa county jail. The commissioners expect to build a new jail for Walker county at an early date and are inspecting some of the more modern jails in this state so that they can make the best of their work on the new jail.

MYSTERY IS SOLVED.

Gadsden.—The mystery of the supposed attack upon J. T. Johnson, night watchman at a North Gadsden manufacturing establishment, has been solved. Mr. Johnson dropped his gun into some coke, which, unknowingly, he put into the stove. As the fire burned the gun was fired. It was at first thought Johnson had met with foul play.

WINS CORN PRIZE.

Eufaula.—Thero Wilkinson, of Blue Springs, this county, has won the Barbour county prize in the corn contest conducted by the Central of Georgia Railroad and has received a pure-bred Berkshire boar. The yield on his prize acre was 105 11-16 bushels, raised at a profit of $77,45.

BIBLE SOCIETY MEETS.

Montgomery.—The sixty-first annual session of the Alabama Bible society was held at the Dexter avenue Methodist church, Montgomery. The past year has been one of the best since the organization was formed and reports show that much progress resulted from work of the society.

BAPTISTS MAKE PLANS.

Montgomery.—Plans are now being formulated and program arranged for the State Baptist Sunday School Convention, which is to be held at Pelham Heights, Ala., in July. The State Baptist Sunday School Committee met in this city and began work on the matter of arrangements.

It is planned to have prominent educators and Sunday School workers of national reputation to attend and take part in the exercises. The convention last year was the most successful held by the Sunday School workers.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Mobile.—Mrs. Mary Bratlin, aged 24, while attending a party with a number of friends at the home of her father, drank wood alcohol mixed with turpentine with suicidal purposes. The young woman was hurried to a hospital and given surgical attention.

INTERNAL REVENUE INCREASES.

THE THORSBY DEPARTMENT.

To supply the demand of the thriving and enterprising town of Thorsby for a newspaper devoted to its interest, The Union-Banner has set apart a page which will belong to Thorsby.

It will be managed by Mr. H. L. Foshee, who will also take charge of the business of the paper in Thorsby in the way of subscriptions, advertising and job work.

The first issue gives evidence that the live little town will be well served.

HOW ABOUT THE BOYS' CORN CLUBS?

We hope to be able to report this spring the formation of a number of the Boys' Corn Clubs in Chilton.

Just think of Bennie Owens of Elmore county. His one acre produced 237 bushels and 3 pecks of fine grade corn, making him the champion corn-grower of the South.

Now Chilton county has just as good land as Elmore and plenty of boys capable of succeeding at whatever they put their hands to, so why not make a determined effort to equal or beat that record? It will be hard to equal, but why not try?

MORE FAKE ADVERTISING

We wrote last week warning against a certain form of fraudulent advertising; we now call attention to another class of advertisements which it is well not to answer. It is when they want you to sell a certain number of articles they will send you, send them the money and they will send you some other article described in glowing phrases. In the first place, the articles you are to sell, say for 25c each, are of poor character worth about 5c each, you can only dispose of them by worrying your good-natured neighbors into taking them, and when you have done a big lot of work selling, say $3 worth, and send them the money they will send you some flimsy article worth possibly 25c. They make about $2 clear on the transaction. So the wise person will let them alone.

"Hoo is it, Jeemes, that ye mak' sic an enairmous profit off yer potatoes? Yer price is lower than any ither in the toon and ye mak' extra reduction for yer freends." "Weel, yer see, I knock off twa shillin' a ton because a customer is a freend of mine, and then I just tak' two hundred weight off the ton because I'm a friend of his."—Punch.

The newspaper man is well acquainted with the men who want a "little knocked off" or work done free because they are "friends to the paper," but, alas, he never gets a chance to tack on a little for friendship sake.

PARCEL POST RATES REGULATED THROUGH SYSTEM OF ZONES

Uncle Sam's New Enterprise Clearly Explained—How Charges Are Fixed and What Class of Merchandise May Be Carried Through the Mails Under the New Law.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

With the coming of the New Year the United States government will enter into a new field of enterprise—the transmittal of merchandise by what is known as the parcel post.

It is no exaggeration to say that thousands upon thousands of inquiries have been made of the postmaster general as to just what the parcel post will mean to the people. It was the law of congress establishing the system which made provision for a division of the country in zones and into 35,000 units which are to be used as centers in describing the circles which mark the boundaries of the zones. There has been no clear understanding, apparently, of this zone system, but really it is a very simple matter.

The accompanying map shows the country divided into zones from the unit in which Washington is situated, as the center. Accompanying the map is a table showing the rate of postage per pound for parcels from Washington to places within all the zones.

Each unit contains an area thirty miles square. Now each unit is a center from which the zones are drawn and so every unit in the country no matter where it is situated will have zones drawn from it just exactly as Washington has them drawn from. For instance, take Keokuk, Ia., which is in a unit in the fifth zone. From that will be drawn circles exactly as they are drawn from Washington and they will be numbered from Keokuk as number one, just as they are numbered from Washington as number one. Of course, however, Zone Six will have a different geographical position as related to Keokuk than it has as related to Washington, but as the radius of the circles drawn from Keokuk is the same length as the radius of the circles drawn from Washington, Keokuk's Zone Six will be just as far from its center as Washington's Zone Six is.

How Rates Are Fixed.

It can be seen from this readily enough that the postal rates from Washington to its particular zone will be the same as the postal rates from Keokuk to its particular zones. Each unit being about thirty miles square will of course contain in most cases a number of postoffices, but each office in the same unit is considered as being the center of the circles from which the zones are drawn. The rates of postage are fixed from the unit in which the sending postoffice is situated, but the price to every place in any zone is just the same. To illustrate, it will cost exactly the same amount to send a parcel from Washington to Erie, Pa., that it costs to send it to Atlanta Ga., because Erie and Atlanta with reference to Washington are situated in the fourth zone. The rates therefore are fixed from the unit in which the postoffice is located, but they are the same from that office to any point in any one zone.

It will be seen by reference to the table of rates of postage that it will cost more per pound to send a package a long distance than it does to send it a short distance. The rate increases for a package weighing one pound at the rate of one cent for each zone. No package weighing more than 11 pounds can be sent under the new parcel post law. It should be said right here that on the long hauls the parcel post may not be able to compete with the express companies, but that on shorter hauls it can so compete. It was the expressed desire of the legislators and of the postoffice officials that the parcel post system should be made of particular use to persons having farm and factory products to transmit to customers. It can be said in a general way that anything can be sent which is properly wrapped and which will not injure other mail matter with which it may come in contact.

Copy Foreign Countries.

It is probable that the government will adopt a means of transportation for certain kinds of its merchandise much like those which have been adopted in parcel post countries abroad. What the English call hampers, basket-like arrangements, probably will be adopted, and as these can be kept separate from the ordinary mail matter it is believed that the regulations as finally adopted will allow the sending of eggs, butter, dressed poultry, live poultry, honey, fruit, and other products of the country.

The 11-pound limit for a single package may work at first against any very extended use of the parcel post for some of the articles which have been named. Of course, more weight can be sent if it is sent in different parcels, but the cost in that case would be heavier, because the increase per pound on a single package is not great up to 11 pounds, and probably it would increase at no greater rate if the government were to raise the limit of weight which is now fixed.

Every postmaster in the United States will have a parcel post map like the one which is here reproduced except that the zone lines will be shown with the unit of his postoffice as a center. All that a postmaster will have to do when a percel is presented for transportation is to find out in what zone the destination of the package dies. His table will show him instantly the rate per pound from the unit in which his postoffice lies to the zone of the package's destination, the price, as has been explained before, to every postoffice in any one zone being the same. The parcel post will take nothing but fourth-class matter. Printed matter is still in the third-class designation. Therefore books cannot be sent by the parcel post system.

Rate on Seeds Not Affected.

It should be said that the act of congress which puts a parcel post plan into operation does not in any way affect the postage rate on seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, scions and plants as fixed by section 482 of the postal laws and regulations.

The classification of articles mailable as well as the weight limit, the rates of postage, zone or zones and other conditions of mailability under the act of congress, if the postmaster general shall find on experience "that they or any of them are such as to prevent the shipment of articles desirable, or shall permanently render the cost of the service greater than the receipts of the revenue therefrom, he is hereby authorized, subject to the consent of the interstate commerce commission after investigation, to return from time to time such classification, weight limit, rates, zone or zones or conditions, in order to promote the service to the public or to insure the receipt of revenue from such service adequate to pay the cost thereof."

RATES OF POSTAGE

Parcels weighing four ounces or less are mailable at the rate of one cent for each ounce or fraction of an ounce, regardless of distance. Parcels weighing more than four ounces are mailable at the pound rate, as shown by the following table, and when mailed at this rate any fraction of a pound is considered a full pound.

RULES GOVERNING MAILING OF PACKAGES UNDER NEW SYS

After Jan. 1 One May Mail Anything Weighing Not More Tha Pounds by Parcel Post—Perishab Sent Under Specific Res

Postmaster General Hitchcock has just approved the regulations which cover in detail the articles which may or may not be sent by parcel post.

The rules as to what can be sent and what cannot be sent and the instructions for the preparation of mailable articles with other "official advice" are given here as they have just been prepared by the postoffice department in Washington.

The minimum rate will be five cents for the first pound and three cents for each additional pound to any point not exceeding fifty miles from the office of mailing; the local rate, which is five cents for the first pound and one cent for additional pound, applies to all parcels the delivery of which does not involve their transportation on railway lines. The rates increase for each successive one of the eight zones, the maximum rate being twelve cents a pound, which will carry a parcel across the continent or to any of our possessions. Parcels will be limited to eleven pounds in weight and six feet in length and girth combined.

Mailable Perishable Articles.

Butter, lard and perishable articles such as fish, fresh meats, dressed fowls, vegetables, fruits, berries and articles of a similar nature that decay quickly, when so packed or wrapped as to prevent damage to other mail matter, will be accepted for local delivery either at the office of mailing or on any rural route starting therefrom. When inclosed in an inner cover and a strong outer cover of wood, metal, heavy corrugated pasteboard or other suitable material and wrapped so that nothing can escape from the package, they will be accepted for mailing to any offices within the first zone or within a radius of 50 miles. Butter, lard, or any greasy or oily substance intended for delivery at offices beyond the first zone must be suitably packed. Vegetables and fruit that do not decay quickly will be accepted for mailing to any zone if packed so as to prevent damage to other mail matter. Eggs will be accepted for local delivery when securely packed in a basket or other container. Eggs will be accepted for mailing regardless of distance when each egg is wrapped separately and packed in a container.

There is no restriction on salted, dried, smoked or cured meats and other meat products, but fresh meat in any form will be transported only within the first zone.

Parcels containing perishable articles must be marked "PERISHABLE," and articles likely to spoil within the time reasonably required for transportation and delivery will not be accepted for mailing.

SHORT ON BROTHERLY LOVE

Luckily William Had Grace Enough to Remember That Henry Was Sacred.

William was not kind to his small brother Henry; in fact, he looked upon him as a nuisance, a scourge sent from heaven to try his spirit and spoil his fun. Especially that day was Henry a thorn in the older boy's flesh. In his efforts to rid himself of his burden, William resorted to all the methods the mind of youth suggested, but in vain. Henry continued to stick as close, if not closer, than a brother.

"William, finally said the boy's father, who had witnessed, unheard, the final paroxysm of the unequal struggle, "you should be ashamed of yourself to treat your little brother in that way! He ought to be sacred to you."

William made no reply; but shortly afterward, believing himself to be free of surveillance, he was heard to address Henry thus: "Always taggin' after me! If you weren't sacred I'd break your blamed face for you!"—The Sunday Magazine.

FACE DISFIGURED WITH SKIN TROUBLE

3107 Foster Ave., Baltimore, Md.—"About five months ago little blisters appeared on my face. They looked like blisters from fire burns. They itched and burned something terrible, which caused me to rub them and they burst, then sores appeared which disfigured my face. My face was all full of sores. The disease spread from my face to my neck and back. When anything touched them they would burn and stick to my clothes, which kept me from sleeping and made me suffer terribly.

"I used home remedies and I used a salve but it did no good. I suffered about three months then I saw the Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertised and I thought I would send and get a sample and try them. I used the sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they helped me a great deal, so I bought some and used them about two months and they completely cured me." (Signed) Edward V. Backache Makes Anyone Feel Old

Nothing ages anyone more quickly than weak kidneys.

It is not alone the aching back, the stiff, painful joints, but the evil effect of bad, poisoned blood on the nerves, the vital organs and the digestion.

The condition of the kidneys makes good health or ill-health.

The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

Active kidneys filter from the blood every day over one ounce of poisonous waste and pass it off dissolved in the urine.

If the kidneys are weak or diseased, only part of this filtering is done and the blood is heavy with uric acid and other poisonous or waste matter.

Instead of being nourished by the blood, the nerves and vital organs are irritated, and the circulation, digestion, etc., are disturbed.

If your back aches constantly, if your joints are stiff, lame and painful, suspect the kidneys.

Kidney sufferers are likely to feel dull, heavy, restless at night, rheumatic, dizzy at times, subject to headaches and annoyed with sharp, piercing pains that make work an agony and rest impossible.

Doan's Kidney Pills are the best-recommended and most widely used remedy for weak or diseased kidneys. They act quickly; contain no poisonous nor habit-forming drugs and leave no bad after-affects of any kind—just make you feel better all over.

"Every Picture Tells a Story"

The following case is typical of the cures effected by Doan's Kidney Pills. Grateful testimony is the best evidence.

WISHED FOR DEATH.

Cured After Doctors Gave Up Hope.

G. W. L. Nesbitt, Marion, Ky., says: "Kidney disease had made me a chronic invalid. I couldn't get out of bed for two weeks at a time and no tongue could describe my suffering. I often wished that death might come and end my agony. The kidney secretions were thick and heavy and the color of blood. My sight had almost failed. My limbs were badly swollen and the doctors said I had dropsy. They held out little hope for my recovery. I couldn't raise my arms above my head, in fact, my side was almost paralyzed. I had lost all hope, when a relative told me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I began to improve from the very first dose. Before I had finished one box of Doan's Kidney Pills, I was greatly relieved of the pain and as I continued using them, I was overjoyed to see the dreadful symptoms from which I had suffered so many years, leave me, one by one. In three months I was a well man, attending to my work. I am firmly convinced that Doan's Kidney Pills are the greatest remedy in the world for diseased kidneys."

Eager for His Rights.

As little Freddie had reached the mature age of three, and was about to discard petticoats for manly raiment in the form of knickerbockers, his mother determined to make the occasion a memorable one. The Bristol Times tells what happened.

The breakfast table was laden with good fare as the newly-breeched infant was led into the room. "Ah!" cried the proud mother, "now you are a little man!"

The fledgling was in ecstacies. Displaying his garments to their full advantage, he edged closer to his mother, and whispered: "Mummie, can I call pa Bill now?"—Youth's Companion.

OXIDINE

THE ACKNOWLEDGED CHILL CURE

Some of the best physicians prescribe OXIDINE in cases of malaria

They can do so ethically, for Oxidine is a known remedy with a known result.

In cases of either incipient or chronic malaria, Oxidine effects definite benefit and almost instant relief. Take it as a preventive, as well as a remedy.

It is a great tonic.

OXIDINE is sold by all druggists under the strict guarantee that if the first bottle does not benefit you, return the empty bottle to the druggist who sold it and receive the full purchase price.

NO LONGER SELECTS THE HAT

Hubby's First and Last, Experience at a Millinery Store, Was Altogether Too Costly.

Congressman Ralph W. Moss of Indiana did not care much for a hat his wife wore. He finally spoke about it. Mrs. Moss admitted that it was plain, and, instead of taking exceptions to her husband's remark, invited him to accompany her the next time she bought a hat.

"I can certainly pick out a better one than that," said Mr. Moss.

So they went to the store together, Mrs. Moss said not a word as the comely milliner displayed one beautiful bonnet after another. It was the first time Mr. Moss had ever been in a millinery store, but he appeared to be at ease, and finally selected one of the most joyful creations in the entire stock. Mrs. Moss looked well in it. She was pleased.

"I'll take that," said the Hoosier congressman. "How much is it?"

"Forty dollars," said the pretty girl without even a blink.

Mr. Moss saw blue stars, but luckily had just come from the bank and was able to produce that much in cash. Now he lets Mrs. Moss buy her own hats and he does not complain about their being plain.—Judge.

TERRIBLE ITCHING ON LIMBS

Glen Wilton, Va.—"Five years ago I was in a terrible state of suffering with blotches on my limbs, of the most intense stinging and itching. I could not rest day or night; the itching was so severe that it waked me out of sleep. I could never get a full night's rest. I actually scrubbed the very flesh so severely that in a short time the affected places were so sore I could scarcely walk with any ease or comfort. The places were a solid raised up mass. I would scratch the parts until they would bleed. I tried home remedies but got no good; the itching just kept on getting worse. I used some salve which simply was no good at all.

"I happened to see the Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement and wrote for a free sample. Almost like magic I commenced getting relief. I bought a 50c box of Cuticura Ointment and some Cuticura Soap and I was entirely cured from a torment that would be hard to describe." (Signed) W. P. Wood, Mar. 9, 1912.

Georgraphy of Liquor.

Mayor Gaynor, discussing city government in his wonted illuminating and brilliant way, said in New York:

"We must not have one reform law for the rich and another for the poor. It is as bad for the millionaire to gamble in his club as for the laborer to gamble in a stuss joint. It is as bad to become intoxicated on champagne as on mixed ale.

"Too many reformers, so-called think that when a man is drunk on Fifth avenue he is ill, and when a man is ill on Third avenue he is drunk."

Crushing Rejoinder

A workman sat on a curb nursing an injured foot which had been struck by an iron casting which had fallen from the top of a building.

"Did that big thing hit you?" asked a sympathizing bystander.

The workman nodded.

"And is it solid iron?"

"No," replied the victim, "half of it is only lead."

BLAME PLACED ON PHYSICIANS

Growth of Drug Habit in United States Alleged to Be Due to Opiates Ordered in Prescriptions.

That 99 per cent. of all the cocaine and morphine manufactured in this country is used by persons who have formed the drug habit through physicians' prescriptions is the startling statement made by Dr. L. F. Kebler, Chief of the Division of Drugs, Department of Agriculture. This statement, concerning the appalling growth of drug addiction in the United States, was made by Dr. Kebler in an address at Washington, before the American Society for the Study of Alcohol and Narcotics.

Dr. Kebler is quoted by Washington papers as having declared that drug using had increased 100 per cent. in the last 40 years, and that American medical men were not discriminating enough in their use of opiates. Their overindulgence to their patients, he said, is creating thousands of drug users every year.

"It is a very sad thing to say that our physicians are doing the greatest work in promoting the use of cocaine and morphine," said the doctor. "State laws are not saving the public from the grip of the drug habit, and the American public is sinking tighter and tighter into the black abyss of the morphine and cocaine fiend.

"The worst of it is that the importation of opium into the country is becoming larger and larger year by year. I have heard it said on reliable authority that 99 per cent. of the cocaine and morphine manufactured in this country is used by persons who have formed the habit through doctors' prescriptions."

Almost simultaneously with Dr. Kebler's address, Dr. J. A. Patterson, at Grand Rapids, Michigan, in a public statement said that 19 out of every 20 patients who come to an institution with which he is connected for treatment for the drug habit owe their downfall to physicians' prescriptions.

Both Vows Broken.

Apropos of the anti-vivisectionists' fight against the Nobel prize award to Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller institute, Prof. Herbert Satterley said the other day in Jacksonville:

"These antis contradict themselves terribly when they try to prove that animal research is useless and futile. They just put themselves in the position of one of their number whom I met at my hotel the other day.

"As this anti was dining I bent forward and said to him:

"'Pardon me, but you are, I believe, both an anti-vivisectionist and a vegetarian?'

"'Yes, sir, that is correct,' he answered.

"'Then,' said I, 'you will probably be shocked to learn that you have just eaten a live caterpillar with your lettuce salad.'"

Roses in Medicine.

Roses at one time figured prominently in the pharmacopoeia. Pliny gives 32 remedies compounded of rose leaves and petals. Sufferers from nervous complaints used to seek relief by sleeping on rose pillows and one is told that Heliogabalus used to imbibe rose wine as a pick-me-up after his periodical gormandizing hours. The flower was also served at table, both as a garnish, in the way parsley is now used, and as a salad, and rose water was largely used for flavoring dishes. Roses as food have gone out of favor among western nations, but the Chinese still eat rose fritters.

Fire in Bank of England.

The first fire within memory occurred at the Bank of England, London, a few days ago. The fire broke out in the southwestern portion of the building. The flooring and joisting were considerably damaged. The outbreak was discovered by the Bank of England authorities, and subdued by their own appliances in 30 minutes. A lieutenant and a dozen men of the Irish Guards on duty at the bank, with fixed bayonets, assisted the police in keeping the crowd back from the building.

Balanced.

Representative Pujo was talking in Washington about the currency.

"It must balance," he said. "It must balance automatically and delicately. It must resemble the Christmas husband.

"'Oh, John, dear,' said this chap's wife, 'I'm sorry you've got all those heavy parcels to carry!'

"'Well, you see,' John panted, reassuringly, 'my pocket is very much lighter now.'"

No Chance to Shine.

"Tough luck," sighed Gadsby.

"What's wrong now?" questioned Gygling.

"Pursefor took me out riding yesterday in his $10,000 automobile and I saw only one person I knew."

Made a Complete Job.

"Mrs. Dungleford, has your husband been cured of his cacoathes scribendi yet?"

"I—I think so; the surgeons took that out when they removed his vermiform appendix."

Its Class.

"That was a raw deal."

"What was?"

"The plot they cooked up."

Thorsby Department

H. L. FOSHEE, Manager. —o— THORSBY, ALA., Jan. 9, 1913

I would like to ask the people of Thorsby to cooperate with me now and try to make our department worth reading. Everything that you know of that would be of interest to the people of Thorsby and the county, I will be glad to receive. So please join in and help make our page the best in the paper. I am very anxious to have two or three people on Route one to write the news of your community as we would like to know what is going on around Thorsby. Send me a letter by next Tuesday and let us know what is going on around you.

H, L. FOSHEE.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

The Thorsby Institute has resumed work after their vacation. Nearly all the pupils who were in school before Christmas have returned, also several new boarding pupils and some day pupils. Everything looks promising for the second half year to be even better than the first.

The Thorsby Orchestra gave a concert at Clanton on last Friday, but due to the fact that it had not been very well advertised there were but few out to hear it.

The recent act of the Town Council in setting a license on dogs is causing quite a little talk on the part of the dog owners just now.

Mr. A. K. Horn has recently purchased the drug store owned by Dr. A. M. Woolley.

Mr. Philip Horn has quit his work in Montgomery to help his father in the drug store here.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Butler, of Ensley, are visiting the formers parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Butler, this week.

Prof. S. H. Herbert spent Sunday in Birmingham.

Mr. James Daniel and sisters Ochie and Amie Daniel of Clanton, who have been attending school at the Jacksonville Normal for the past year and a half have moved here to attend school I am glad to see the young people of Chilton begin to realize that we have one of as fine preparatory schools in Thorsby as is found anywhere.

Mr. Robert Robinson left Sunday to resume his studies at Howard College after spending the holidays with his parents.

Mr. Killingsworth of Jemison called on Miss Coleman Sunday. We are expecting him to call on Judge Deason soon.

The Thorsby office is doing quite a business since the parcel's post law came into effect. The people are taking advantage of the low rates and are sending all their small packages of merchandise by mail now.

The Sunday School at Pate's Chapel is progressing nicely now and they intend to have an evergreen school this year.

Rev. Ray of Montgomery preached at the Baptist Church Sunday night.

Thorsby has begun the new year with progress by putting in two new stores, one by Mr. Cotton and the other by Mr. L. C. Robinson.

Mrs W. H. Williams has been quite seriously ill for several days.

W. L. Pyron of Chelsea will occupy one of P. K. Villadsen's Bungalows.

P. K. Villadsen left Monday night for a business trip to Cincinnatti.

George Peterson and wife and Carl Peterson, of Laporte Indiana, spent the holidays with their parents Mr and Mrs J. F. Peterson, leaving for home on Monday.

Rumor says that Dr. O. C. Mastin and family, who moved to New Decatur last fall, will return about the first of February and occupy their home in Thorsby.

J. F. Peterson has rented his farm and poultry plant for a term of three years, to Mr. A. J. Cummings of Birmingham. Mr and Mrs Peterson will make their home for the present at the ground floor of the P. K. Villadsen home place.

S. E. Norton has received information from his Patent Attorneys in Chicago, that his application for a patent on the art of popping Peanuts (both the process and the product has been allowed in broad terms.

Mr. Sam W. Collins has received his commission as postmaster but the present postmaster has refused to give up the office as he was placed under the civil service regulations by President Taft last year and no civil service employee can be turned off on account of political views and for no other cause without first giving them a chance to defend themselves against the charges. The only complaint against Mr. Bice is that he voted the progressive ticket in the last election. Mr. Bice is ready to turn over the office as soon as he is asked too by the right authorities but he is ready to test the civil service law as soon as he is removed without a cause.

The Commercial Club met on Saturday last and nominated officers for the year.

Miss Wordbury from New York, a very gifted lady lectured at the Congregational church Tuesday night last. She had a good house to listen to her excellent talk.

The new cement sidewalks through the town are nearly completed.

People coming to our town should not fail to visit the Howard Bros. green houses. The carnations are exquisite.

There was preaching at the Baptist church Sunday morning by Mr. Mac Crumpton.

On Tuesday afternoon, the 2nd, the Congregational Ladies Aid held their annual business meeting at the home of Mrs. E. W. Butler. Mrs. A. K. Horn was re-elected president of the society. No definite plans were made for the work this year. Miss Wordbury gave a twenty minutes talk after the business session closed which was interesting in the extreme.

Mrs. L. E. Simonton took a trip to Verbena Friday and spent the day with Miss Mary Carr Gibson.

The S. S. at Pates Chapel is beating the record in this county. The house was crowded last Sunday. Babies from two months up to men and women in their eighties attend every Sunday. Mayor Bice, the assistant superintendent suggested an old folks Bible class. They have two Bible classes already and both two large to deal with successfully. What other Sunday school about this country has that record. The Twins.

There are several things of an interesting character going on in Thorsby at present. The first thing is the frequent visits of Hop Killingsworth; of course he is often with one of our nice Thorsby girls. We do not object so much at his taking her if he would let her remain in Thorsby but he will no doubt take her to Jemison or further away.

The annual meeting of the Union State Bank was held in Thorsby Jan. 1. The following officers and directors were elected for the ensuing year: President, T. U. Crumpton; VicePresidents; E. W. Thomas and John Patton, Jr.; Cashier, Guy H. Gerald. Directors: M. J. Barrett, T. U. Crumpton, T. J. Dorminey, Guy H. Gerald, L. A. McGraw, G. W. Mims, John Patton Jr., J. J. Stanley, W. E. Thomas. Assistant Cashiers, James H. Williams, M. C. Crumpton, Charles M. Thomas.

THORSBY POSTOFFICE

In spite of President Taft's Civil Service order giving life tenure of office to 36,000 fourth class postmasters, Mr. J. Bice who has for several years been postmaster at Thorsby, has been compelled to "walk the plank," and the postoffice has been turned over to Mr. Sam Collins, who has secured as his assistant Mr. Newt. Riggins who was at one time postmaster at Thorsby. Mr. Collins is fitting up comfortable and commodious quarters in the building across the street from Thorsby Inn.

The Commercial Club held its first annual meeting on Tuesday night at Bates Hall. Upwards of thirty of the representative citizens of Thorsby have united in forming this organization to work for a better Thorsby. The principal business of the meeting was the election of the officers, directors and committees for the ensuing year, as follows: President, R. L: Carter; Vice President, J. J. Stanley, Secretary, P. K. Villadsen; Ast. Sec. S. E. Norton; Treasurer, M. C. Crumpton. Directors for two years, Charles Howard, M. J. Barrett, C. R. Foss. One year, J. M. Horn, Walter Parnell, W. L. Leary. Standing Committees: Membership, P. K. Villadsen. Gust. Berlin, G. C. Michelson, Chas. Howard, M. J. Soberg; Publicity, S. H. Herbert, A. K. Horn, S. E. Norton; Social. Phillip Horn. Walter Parnell, George Freeman, G. C. Michelson, M. C. Crumpton.

The Annual Meeting and election of officers of the Thorsby Fruit and Truck Growers Association, was held Saturday evening Jan. 4th. This organization comprizes about 70 members most of them engaged in diversified farming whose output of Strawberries, Peaches, Plums, Grapes, Asparagus, Potatoes &c, sold for upward of $20.000. The principal item being 6032 crates (24 qts.) of Strawberries which have attained an enviable reputation in northern markets. The average net price received by the growers being $1.88 per crate. Few sections have done better for the season. The acreage has been considerably increased recently and there is now not far from 135 acres that will be in bearing for the next crop. About 10.000 crates have already been ordered and fertilizer will be lavishly used.

Some effort was made last spring to grow Irishp otatoes but the seed obtained was of poor quality and the season cold and wet, only about 700 sacks were sold at an aggregate of about $1.000

The Annual election of officers resulted as follows, President, M. J. Soburg; Vice President, Carl C. Peterson; Treasurer, C. R. Foss; Secretary and Business Manager, P. K. Villadsen. This is the fifth time Mr. Villadsen has been selected for these duties.

The Annual Meeting of the United Protestant (Congregational) Church of Thorsby. was held at the church Wednesday evening January 1st. Although this church now has no regular pastor the reports from the various departments show that it is still a live and energetic force for good in the community. The Sunday School Christian Endeavor Society, and Ladies Aid. with the two organized Bible classes are all at work along their respective lines, the contributions for home expenses and benevolences are a credit to any rural church of its size, and the maintainance of regular services every Sunday (with few exceptions) indicates a spirit of progress that is an innovation for Alabama. At the morning service last Sunday Rev. S. H. Herbert and wife were received into membership by letter and Mr. and Mrs Carl C. Peterson on confession of faith, as the church to which they formerly belonged does not grant letters to retiring members.

On Sunday Jan. 12th it is expected that Rev. George Eaves of Birmingham will be with us and conduct the services.

The break in our press puts us to considerable expense, so we would be glad if all who are behind with their subscriptions would pay up promptly. If all who owe would pay up promptly we could buy a new press which would be a great comfort.

Notice in another place a letter from Mr. W. P. Lowery relative to organizing Farmer's Unions in the county. The Union has been very beneficial to the farmers of the country and no farmer should be content to remain outside of the organization.

The Advertiser believes the governor should either appoint or the legislature should elect a great many public officials who now are sent into the primaries and elections to get their places. —Montgomery Advertiser.

That could hardly claim to be democratic doctrine, but it is in line with the desires of the democratic ring who would rule Alabama.

THE PROGRESSIVE PARTY HAS ROOM FOR ALL

Mr Muncy's proposition to form a "holding party" in which to combine the Progressive and Republicans has no merit in it. The Progressive party is open to all who wish to vote and work for principles of justice to all and freedom from ring rule. It is not asked of a man whether he was a democrat or a republican, but whether he accepts these principles for the present and future. A working organization will be made up of all men so actuated without regard to their past political alliances. And they will all work for the good of the whole,. which will be a decided improvement on the records of the two old parties.

PROGRESSIVES PLANNING PERFECT ORGANIZATION

New York, Jan. 11.—"Straightout political organization throughout the United States," is to be the watchword of the Progressive National Committee for the next two years. So says a statement issued today at the close of a two-day session of the executive committee.

"The first objective," says the statement, "is the organization of the Progressive Party in every county and Congressional district throughout the country for nomination of county tickets for the election of 1914, and making an effective Congressionol campaign in that year."

The statement adds that provision was made for the perpetuation of various committees, including the legislative reference committee, which will endeavour to assist State Legislatures "in dissemination and co-ordination of Progressive measures." As to plans for Progressive meetings in the near future, the statement says:

"A great conference of five States is to be held at St. Paul on January 24, at which the organization of the party in the States of Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin, North Dakota and South Dakota will be represented and plans discussed for extending its work. At a later date a conference will be held in Iowa, at which representatives from all parts of the State will be present and work of organization in that State will be thoroughly discussed. A similar meeting will be held in Kansas; where the Progressives will be formally organized as a party."

Miss Frances A. Kellor, with headquarters in New York, will have charge of the committee on education, which comprises the Bureaus of Child Labor, Popular Government, Social and Industrial Justice, Cost of Living, and other divisions of the Progressive campaign work.

Capt. Richard J. Davant was elected mayor of Savannah, Ga., by a majority of 304 votes over Capt. George P. Walker, the administration candidate. There was more money wagered on the election than on any half dozen political contests ever held in Savannah. Conservative estimates put the amount at $50,000.

The message of Gov. Cole L. Blease featured the opening session of the South Carolina legislature. The governor attacked the cotton mill merger as "the cotton mill trust," the Carolina public service corporation as "ice trust" and a local power company as the "power trust" and asked legislation dissolving them. He recommended the passage of a 2-cent railway rate and the levying of a 1-mill tax for public schools.

A crime wave which struck New Orleans, La., two weeks ago reached a climax when two highwaymen held up a negro on a prominent street, robbed him of $27.50 and, after tying his hands together, strung him up to a telephone post.

Checks, drafts and money orders aggregating $200,000 were found scattered in the lobby of the Waco postoffice and search is being made for a 13-year-old boy, whom, the police believe, rifled a number of mail boxes. So far as can be learned, little, if any, money was secured, and practically all of the paper taken has been recovered.

Miss Lula Maice, aged 15, was instantly killed, and Miss Lucille Harris, 15, seriously injured, as a result of being caught on a trestle across Pearl river in Mississippi by a passenger train on the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroad. Miss Maice was struck by the train and badly mangled. Miss Harris jumped about fifteen feet and was seriously injured. Several other members of the party saved themselves by hanging from the ends of crossties until the train went by.

The ten Southern states start the new year with $272,540,600 banking capital, as compared with $257,635,000 at the beginning of 1912. Over $16,000,000 was added to the banking capital of the South by 303 new institutions in 1912. This total was compiled from official reports to that periodical by the banking departments of the several states and by the comptrollers of the currency at Washington.

The Ohio river passed the 60-foot stage at Cincinnati, Ohio, and continued to rise steadily at the rate of two inches an hour. In the lower parts of the city and in Dayton, Newport and Covingston, suburbs have been made temporarily homeless by the invading water. In the Kentucky towns, school houses and churches have been thrown open and are filled with refugees. The property loss will reach into the thousands. Cincinnati commission merchants and warehouse owners, whose lines of business are along the river have suffered heavy loss. In buildings facing the wharves, water is up to the second story. United Kingdom has been visited by heavy gales and snowstorms, according to a London cable. There have been many wrecks of craft, and coast shipping considerably damaged. Vessels in port felt the full fury of the storm and some of them are badly scarred.

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Keziah Coffin, supposed widow, is arranging to move from Trumet to Boston, following the death of her brother, for whom she had kept house. Kyan Pepper, widower, offers marriage, and is indignantly refused.

CHAPTER I—Continued.

There was a sound of scrambling. More soot floated in the air. Then around the corner of the high-boy appeared Mr. Pepper, crawling on his hands and knees. His hair was streaked with black; his shirt front and collar and shirt sleeves were spotted and smeared with black; and from his blackened cheeks his red whiskers flamed like the last glowing embers in a fire-scarred ruin.

"I was just tryin' to help Keziah take down her stovepipe," he explained. "You see, she didn't have no man to—"

"Yes, I see. Well, I judge you got it down. Now you go out to the sink and wash your face. Heavens and earth! Look at them clothes!"

"I do hope you didn't hurt yourself, Abishai," said the sympathetic Keziah. Then, as remembrance of what had led to the upset came to her, she added: "Though I will say 'twas your own fault and nobody else's."

Lavinia whirled on her.

"Dear me! Ain't we innocent! We've got plenty of money, we have. Widowers with property ain't no attraction to us. Everybody knows that—oh, yes! And they never talk of such a thing—oh, no! Folks don't say that—that— Well," with a snarl in the direction of the kitchen, "are you anywheres nigh clean yet? Get your coat and hat on and come home with me."

She jerked her brother into the blue coat, jammed the tall hat down upon his head, and, seizing him by the arm, stalked to the door.

"Good day, marm," she said. "I do hope the next widower you get to take down your stovepipe—yes, indeed! ha! ha!—I hope you'll have better luck with him. Though I don't know who 'twould be, there ain't no more idiots in town that I know of. Good day, and thank you kindly for your attentions to our family."

Keziah turned from the door she had closed behind her visitor.

"Well!" she ejaculated. "Well!"

Steps, measured, dignified steps, sounded on the walk. From without came a "Hum—ha!" a portentous combination of cough and grunt. Grace dodged back from the window and hastily began donning her hat and jacket.

"It's Cap'n Elkanah," she whispered. "I must go. This seems to be your busy morning, Aunt Keziah. I"—here she choked again—"really, I didn't know you were so popular."

Keziah opened the door. Captain Elkanah Daniels, prosperous, pompous and unbending, crossed the threshold. Richest man in the village, retired shipowner, pillar of the Regular church and leading member of its parish committee, Captain Elkanah looked the part. He removed his hat, cleared his throat behind his black stock, and spoke with impressive deliberation.

"Keziah," he said, "Keziah, I came to see you on a somewhat important matter. I have a proposal I wish to make you."

He must have been surprised at the effect of his words. Keziah's face was a picture, a crimson picture of paralyzed amazement. As for Miss Van Horne, that young lady gave vent to what her friend described afterwards as a "squeal," and bolted out of the door and into the grateful seclusion of the fog.

CHAPTER II.

In Which Keziah Unearths a Prowler.

The fog was cruel to the gossips of Trumet that day. Mrs. Didama Rogers, who lived all alone, except for the society of three cats, a canary, and a white poodle named "Bunch," in the little house next to Captain Elkanah's establishment, never entirely recovered from the chagrin and disappointment caused by that provoking mist.

The fog prevented Mrs. Rogers' noting the entrance of Mr. Pepper at the Coffin front gate. Also his exit, under sisterly arrest. It shut from her view the majestic approach of Captain Elkanah Daniels and Grace's flight, her face dimpled with smiles and breaking into laughter at frequent intervals. For a young lady, supposed to be a devout Come-Outer, to hurry along the main road, a handkerchief at her mouth and her eyes sparkling with fun, was a circumstance calculated to furnish material for enjoyable scandal. And Didama missed it.

Other happenings she missed, also. Not knowing of Captain Daniels' call upon Keziah, she was deprived of the pleasure of wonder at the length of his stay. She did not see him, in company with Mrs. Coffin, go down the road in the opposite direction from that taken by Grace. Nor their return and parting at the gate, two hours later. It was three o'clock in the afternoon before a visitor came again to the Coffin front gate, entered the yard and rapped at the side door.

Keziah opened the door.

"Halloa!" she exclaimed. "Back, are you? I begun to think you'd been scared away for good."

Grace laughed as she entered.

"Well, auntie," she said, "I don't wonder you thought I was scared. Truly, I didn't think it was proper for me to stay. First Kyan and then Cap'n Elkanah, and both of them expressing their wishes to see you alone so—er—pointedly. I thought it was time for me to go. Surely, you give me credit for a little delicacy."

"Grace Van Horne! there's born fools enough in this town without your tryin' to be one. Grace, I ain't goin' to leave Trumet, not for the present, anyhow. I've got a way of earnin' my livin' right here. I'm goin' to keep house for the new minister."

The girl turned, her hat in her hand.

"Oh!" she cried in utter astonishment.

Keziah nodded. "Yes," she affirmed "That was what Elkanah's proposal amounted to. Ha, ha! Deary me! When he said 'proposal,' I own up for a minute I didn't know what was comin'. After Kyan I was prepared for 'most anything. But he told me that Lurany Phelps, who the parish committee had counted on to keep house for Mr. Ellery, had sent word her sister was sick and couldn't be left, and that somebody must be hired right off 'cause the minister's expected by day after tomorrow's coach. And the cap'n was made a delegate to come and see me about it. Come he did, and we settled it. I went down to the parsonage with him before dinner and looked the place over. There's an awful lot of sweepin' and dustin' to be done afore it's fit for a body to live in."

Grace extended her hand.

"Well, Aunt Keziah," she said, "I'm ever and ever so glad for you. I know you didn't want to leave Trumet and I'm sure everyone will be delighted when they learn that you're going to stay."

"Humph! that includes Laviny Pepper, of course. I cal'late Laviny's delight won't keep her up nights. But I guess I can stand it if she can. Now, Grace, what is it? You ain't real pleased? Why not?"

The girl hesitated.

"Auntie," she said, "I'm selfish, I guess. I'm glad for your sake; you mustn't think I'm not. But I almost wish you were going to do something else. You are going to live in the Regular parsonage and keep house for, of all parsons, a Regular minister. Why, so far as my seeing you is concerned, you might as well be in China. You know Uncle Eben."

"Yes," she said, "I know him. Eben Hammond thinks that parsonage is the presence chamber of the Evil One, I presume likely. But, Grace, you mustn't blame me, and if you don't call I'll know why and I shan't blame you. We'll see each other once in a while; I'll take care of that."

The packing took about an hour. When it was finished, the carpet rolled up, and the last piece of linen placed in the old trunk, Keziah turned to her guest.

"Now, Gracie," she said, "I feel as though I ought to go to the parsonage. I can't do much more'n look at the cobwebs tonight, but tomorrow those spiders had better put on their ascension robes. The end of the world's comin' for them, even though it missed fire for the Millerites when they had their doin's a few years ago. You can stay here and wait, if 'twon't be too lonesome. We'll have supper when I get back."

She threw a shawl over her shoulders, draped a white knitted "cloud" over her head, and took from a nail a key, attached by a strong cord to a block of wood eight inches long.

"Elkanah left the key with me," she observed. "No danger of losin' it, is there. Might as well lose a lumber yard."

They left the house and came out into the wet mist. Then, turning to the right, in the direction which Trumet, with unconscious irony, calls "downtown," they climbed the long slope where the main road mounts the outlying ridge of Cannon H[illegible] passed Captain Mayo's big house—the finest in Trumet, with the exception of the Daniels mansion—and descended into the hollow beyond. Here, at the corner where the "Lighthouse Lane" begins its winding way over the rolling knolls and dunes to the light and the fish shanties on the "ocean side," stood the plain, straight-up-and-down meeting house of the Regular society. Directly opposite was the little parsonage, also very straight up and down. Both were painted white with green blinds. This statement is superfluous to those who remember Cape architecture at this period; practically every building from Sandwich to Provincetown was white and green.

They entered the yard, through the gap in the white fence, and went around the house, past the dripping evergreens and the bare, wet lilac bushes, to the side door, the lock of which Keziah's key fitted. There was a lock on the front door, of course, but no one thought of meddling with that. That door had been opened but once during the late pastor's thirty-year tenantry. On the occasion of his funeral the mourners came and went.

Mrs. Coffin thrust the key into the keyhole of the side door and essayed to turn it.

"Humph!" she muttered, twisting to no purpose; "I don't see why— This must be the right key, because— Well, I declare, if it ain't unlocked already! That's some of Cap'n Elkanah's doin's. For a critter as fussy and particular about some things, he's careless enough about others. Mercy we ain't had any tramps around here lately. Come in."

She led the way into the dining room of the parsonage. Two of the blinds shading the windows of that apartment had been opened when she and Captain Daniels made their visit, and the dim gray light made the room more lonesome and forsaken in appearance than a deeper gloom could possibly have done. The black walnut extension table in the center, closed to its smallest dimensions because Parson Langley had eaten alone for so many years; the black walnut chairs set back against the wall at regular intervals; the rug carpet and braided mats—homemade donations from the ladies of the parish—on the green painted floor; the dolorous pictures on the walls; "Death of Washington," "Stoning of Stephen," and a still more deadly "fruit piece" committed in oils years ago by a now deceased boat painter. The blinds and a window being opened, more light entered the room. Grace glanced about it curiously.

"So this is going to be your new home now, Aunt Keziah," she observed. "How queer that seems."

"Um—h'm. Does seem queer, don't it? Must seem queer to you to be so near the headquarters of everything your uncle thinks is wicked. Smell of brimstone any, does it?" she asked with a smile.

She threw open another door. A room gloomy with black walnut and fragrant with camphor was dimly visible.

"Cheerful's a tomb, ain't it?" was Mrs. Coffin's comment. "Well, we'll get some light and air in here pretty soon. Here's the front hall and there's the front stairs. The parlor's off to the left. We won't bother with that yet a while. This little place in here is what Mr. Langley used to call his 'study.' Halloa! how this door sticks!"

The door did stick, and no amount of tugging could get it open, though Grace added her efforts to those of Keziah.

"'Tain't locked," commented Mrs. Coffin, "'cause there ain't any lock on it. I guess it's just swelled and stuck from the damp. Though it's odd, I don't remember— Oh, well! never mind. Let's sweeten up this settin' room a little. Open a window or two want to do anything before it gets dark. I'm goin' into the kitchen to get a broom."

She hurried out, returning in a moment or two with a broom and a most disgusted expression.

"How's a body goin 'to sweep with that?" she demanded, exhibiting the frayed utensil, the business end of which was worn to a stub. "More like a shovel, enough sight. Well, there's pretty nigh dust enough for a shovel, so maybe this'll take off the top layers. S'pose I'll ever get this house fit for Mr. Ellery to live in before he comes? I wonder if he's a particular man?"

Grace, who was struggling with a refractory window, paused for breath.

"I'm sure I don't know," she replied. "I've never seen him."

"Nor I either. Sol was so bad the Sunday he preached that I couldn't go to meetin'. They say his sermon was fine; all about those who go down to the sea in ships. That's what got the parish committee, I guess; they're all old salts. I wonder if he's as fine-lookin' as they say?"

Miss Van Horne tossed her head. She was resting, prior to making another assault on the window.

"I don't care. I know he'll be a conceited little snippet and I shall hate the sight of him. There! there! there! Auntie, you musn't mind me. I told you I was a selfish pig. But don't you ask me to like this precious minister of yours, because I shan't do it. He has no business to come and separate me from the best friend I've got. I'd tell him so if he was here— What was that?"

Both women looked at each other with startled faces. They listened intently.

"Why, wa'n't that funny!" whispered Keziah. "I thought I heard—"

"You did hear. So did I. What do you suppose—"

"S-s-s-h-h! It sounded from the front room somewhere. And yet there can't be anybody in there, because— My soul! there 'tis again. I'm goin' to find out."

She grasped the stubby broom by [illegible] and moved deter[illegible] ward the front hall. Grace [illegible]ized by the arm.

"Don't you do it, auntie!" she [illegible]pered frantically. "Don't you d[illegible] It may be a tramp."

"I don't care. Whoever or w[illegible]ever it is, it has no business in [illegible] house, and I'll make that plain i[illegible] hurry. Just like as not it's a cat[illegible] in when Elkanah was here this [illegible] noon. Don't be scared, Grace. C[illegible] right along."

The girl came along, but not [illegible] enthusiasm. They tiptoed through dark, narrow hall and peered into parlor. This apartment was dim still and gloomy, as all proper par[illegible] should be, but there was no sign life.

Mrs. Coffin was glancing back do[illegible] the hall with a strange expression her face. Her grip upon the bro[illegible] handle tightened.

"What is it?" pleaded the girl in agonized whisper.

"Grace," was the low reply, "I just remembered somethin'. T[illegible] study door isn't stuck from the dam[illegible] because—well, because I rememb[illegible] now that it was open this mornin'."

Before her companion could fu[illegible] grasp the import of this paralyzi[illegible] fact, Keziah strode down the hall an[illegible] seized the knob of the study door.

"Whoever you are in there," sh[illegible] commanded sternly, "open this door and come out this minute. Do you hear? I'm orderin' you to come out."

There was an instant of silence; then a voice from within made answer, a man's voice, and its tone indicated embarrassment.

"Madam," it said, "I—I am—I will be out in another minute. If you will just be patient—"

"Come out then!" snapped Keziah. "Come out! Patience! Of all the cheek! Why don't you come out now?"

"Well, to be frank, since you insist,"

From the Dimness of the Tightly Shuttered Study Stepped the Owner of the Voice.

snapped the voice, "I'm not [illegible]dressed."

This was a staggerer. For once Keziah did not have a reply ready. [illegible] looked at Grace and the latter at [illegible] Then, without words, they retreated [illegible] the sitting room.

"I hope you won't be alarmed," [illegible]tinued the voice, broken by par[illegible] pauses, as if the speaker was s[illegible]gling into a garment. "I know [illegible] must seem strange. You see, I [illegible] on the coach as far as Bayport, [illegible] then we lost a wheel in a rut. Th[illegible] was a—oh, dear! where is that— [illegible] is supremely idiotic!—I was say[illegible] there happened to be a man com[illegible] this way with a buggy and he offe[illegible] to help me along. He was on his [illegible] to Wellmouth. So I left my trunk [illegible] come later and took my valise. [illegible] rained on the way and I was [illegible] through. I stopped at Captain Dan[illegible] house and the girl said he had gone, with his daughter to the next to[illegible] but that they were to stop here at [illegible] parsonage on their way. So—th[illegible] that's right, at last!—so I came, [illegible]ing to find them. The door was [illegible] and I came in. The captain and [illegible] daughter were not here, but, as I [illegible] pretty wet, I thoughht I would s[illegible] the opportunity to change my clot[illegible] I had some dry—er—things in my [illegible]lise and I—well, then you came, [illegible] see, and—I assure you I—well, it [illegible] the most embarrassing—I'm co[illegible] now."

The door opened. The two in [illegible] sitting room huddled close toget[illegible] Keziah holding the broom like a [illegible]tle-ax, ready for whatsoever migh[illegible]velop. From the dimness of the t[illegible]ly shuttered study stepped the o[illegible] of the voice, a stranger, a young [illegible] his hair rumpled, his tie disarran[illegible] and the buttons of his waistcoat fi[illegible] the wrong buttonholes. Despite [illegible] evidence of the hasty toilet in [illegible] darkness, he was not unprepossess[illegible] Incidentally, he was blushing furio[illegible]

"I didn't speak," he said, "bec[illegible] you took me by surprise and I wa[illegible] as I explained—er—presentable. [illegible]sides, I was afraid of frightening [illegible] I assure you I hurried as fast [illegible] could, quietly, and when you bega[illegible] talk"—his expression changed [illegible] there was a twitch at the corn[illegible] his mouth—"I tried to hurry still [illegible]er, hoping you might not hear me, [illegible] I could make my appearance—o[illegible] escape—sooner. As for entering [illegible] house—well, I considered it, in a [illegible] my house; at least, I knew I s[illegible] live in it for a time, and—"

"Live in it?" repeated Keziah. [illegible] in it? Why! mercy on us! you [illegible] mean to say you're—"

She stopped to look at Grace. [illegible] young lady was looking at her wi[illegible] expression which, as it expresses [illegible] very much, is beyond ordinary p[illegible] of description.

"My name is Ellery," said [illegible] stranger. "I am the minister—t[illegible] minister of the Regular society."

Then even Keziah blushed.

...RCHBALD FOUND GUILTY

...mmerce Court Judge Convicted on 5 of 13 Charges.

Washington.—Robert W. Archbald, for 29 years an occupant of judicial positions upon the Pennsylvania state bench, the federal district bench and the United States commerce court, was adjudged guilty by the United States senate of "high crimes and misdemeanors," was stripped of his office and forever disqualified from holding positions of public honor or public trust.

The conviction and judgment came as the conclusion of the impeachment trial that has been pending in the senate since last summer on charges that Judge Archbald had been guilty of misconduct and misbehavior as a judge and that he had corruptly used his judicial power to further the private interests of himself and his friends, in the acquisition of coal land properties in Pennsylvania.

Upon five of the 13 separate charges brought against him by the house of representatives Judge Archbald was found guilty.

PESTILENCE IS FEARED

Health Authorities Will Take Precautions Against Spread of Meningitis.

Washington.—Surgeon General Rupert Blue of the public health service fears that flood conditions may increase the danger of the cerebro-spinal meningitis epidemic in certain counties of Arkansas, Tennessee, Missouri and Illinois. Rising waters, the surgeon general expects, may drive large numbers of people together under unsanitary conditions. Surgeon Von Ezdorf, the service expert on cerebro-spinal meningitis, has been ordered to the affected district, and other officers are being held in raediness to go.

LOST BEAUTY OF WOMEN

Can be Remedied, in Many Instances, According to Statement of Mrs. Lucile McElroy.

Laurel, Miss.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Lucile McElroy says: "I was sick for three years, with backache, headache, pains in my stomach and back, low down. At times I could not do a thing, I was so weak.

After I was married, I thought I would try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and after using two or three bottles, I couldn't tell one day from another—felt good all the time.

I not only still use Cardui, but advise every lady I think needs it, to give it a trial, and several whom I have persuaded, say they have obtained great relief.

Another good thing I have noticed about Cardui is that it fills out hollows under the eyes, which are sunken as if from a bad spell of sickness. It fleshens up a woman's eyes, and makes them look bright and plump. Many a woman would be pretty if it were not for her sunken-in eyes.

I believe that Cardui, the woman's tonic, is the only treatment for women."

Do you suffer from womanly trouble? If so, give Cardui, the woman's tonic, a trial.

Judging from the experience of a million other women who have been benefited by this remedy, it should surely do you good.

Why He Changed His Mind.

John L. Sullivan met with some amusing incidents while giving boxing lessons.

One day a husky young man came to him as a pupil. He took his boxing lesson and went home somewhat the worse for wear.

When he came for his second lesson he said: "Mr. Sullivan, it was my idea to learn enough about boxing from you to give a certain young gentleman a good licking. I've had it in for him a good while. But I've changed my mind. If you have no objections I'll send this young man down here to you to take the rest of my lessons for me."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Slopay received a card on which was engraved: "Professor Brace, Antiquarian."

He knew no such person, so his curiosity led him to receive him.

"What is your business, professor?" he asked, politely.

"I am a collector of antiquities," answered the old man.

"So I imagined. And how can I serve you?"

"By paying a deposit on this little bill you have owed for more than three years."

It is a duty of the kidneys to rid the blood of uric acid, an irritating poison that is constantly forming inside.

When the kidneys fail, uric acid causes rheumatic attacks, headaches, dizziness, gravel, urinary troubles, weak eyes, dropsy or heart disease.

Doan's Kidney Pills help the kidneys fight off uric acid—bringing new strength to weak kidneys and relief from backache and urinary ills.

A Kentucky Case

Miss A. G. Packham, nurse, Lakeland, Ky., says: "I had such pain through my kidneys that when I stooped it seemed as if my back would break. My head ached, specks floated before my eyes and my limbs were swollen. The kidney secretions were badly disordered and caused great discomfort. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me from the first and a short use entirely cured me."

Invalid Men and Women

I will give you FREE a sample of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets that have brought health and happiness to thousands—also a book on any chronic disease requested.

During many years of practice I have used numerous combinations of curative medicines for liver ills. I have kept a record of the result in case after case, so that my staff of physicians and surgeons, at the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., are able to diagnose and treat cases at a distance with uniform good results.

But for the permanent relief of blood disorders and impurities, I can recommend my "Golden Medical Discovery" a blood medicine without alcohol or other injurious ingredients.

R. V. PIERCE, M.D., Buffalo, N. Y.

Nature's Way Is The Best

Buried deep in our American forest we find bloodroot, queen's root, mandrake and stone root, golden seal, Oregon grape root and cherry bark. Of these Dr. R. V. Pierce made a pure glyceric extract which has been favorably known for over forty years. He called it "GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY." This "Discovery" purifies the blood and tones up the stomach and the entire system in Nature's own way. It's just the tissue builder and tonic you require.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has the endorsement of many thousands that it has cured them of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heartburn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

"In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption, the 'Golden Medical Discovery' is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-on-coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The 'Discovery' is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken."

PEOPLES SAVINGS BANK.

Stockholders Meeting—Changes Made—A Prosperous Year.

A meeting of the stockholders of the Peoples Savings Bank of Clanton was held January 8th. The report of business showed a prosperous year and a ten per cent. dividend was declared. Mr. John A. Thomas bought the interest of Mr. W. E. Holloway who is no longer connected with the bank. The capital stock of the bank is $15,000 paid in; surplus, $15.500.

The following were elected as directors: W. T. Callen, J. B. Downs, Sam Kaufman, T. E. Lovejoy, John A. Thomas. As officers: W. T. Callen, President; John A. Thomas, Vice President and Cashier.

A mean stuffy cold, with hoarse wheezy breathing is just the kind that runs into bronchitis or pneumonia. Don't trifle with such serious conditions but take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly. Quick and beneficial results are just what you can expect from this great medicine. It sooths and heals the inflamed air passages. It stops the hoarse racking cough. Upchurch Drug Co.

ESCAPED AFTER FIFTEEN YEARS

W. P. Broyles made a successful escape after fifteen years of suffering from kidney and bladder troubles. Foley Kidney Pills released him and will do just the same for others. He says: "They cured a most severe backache with painful bladder irregularities, and they do all you claim for them." Refuse substitutes. Upchurch Drug Co.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD

Monday night this flourishing organization held their annual meeting for the installation of officers, as follows:

Counsel Commander—J. P. Vanderveer
Advisor Lieutenant — B. J. Sessions.
Banker—W. C. Jones.
Escort—J. P. Crumpton.
Sentinel—G. W. Wilson.
Representatives to Head Camp to be held in Florence in March —J. P. Vanderveer and H. G. Reynolds.

This camp has 135 members, six of whom were admitted Monday night.

CUT THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

W. H. Chapman. Winnebago, Neb., tells how he did it. "My two children had a very bad cough and the doctor's medicines did them no good. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and before it was all used the children were free and cured of their cough. I saved a doctor's bill for one 25c bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound." No piates. Upchurch Drug Co.

Lonnie Giles, the young man who has been sick at the infirmary for some time, died there last Friday.

Don't forget to pay your poll tax; only two weeks left.

You have just got to get up and shut off a Big Ben if you want to sleep any longer or you can't rest. They mean prosperity for 1913. Higgins the Reliable Jeweler.

NOTICE.

All phone holders and others who want to pay Central Fees will find me at Dr. T. J. Marcus' office, if not there please phone me at my residence. All persons who do not pay entire fee and post-right by January 20, 1913, will be cut off from central service.

G. O. Foshee, Sec.-Treas.
Peoples Telephone Co.

Of course we all know it will cost just a little bit more, but don't you think it will pay to have Dr. J. V. Higgins to do our high grade Watch and Eye work for 1913?

Very Serious

It is a very serious matter to ask for one medicine and have the wrong one given you. For this reason we urge you in buying to be careful to get the genuine—

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT Liver Medicine

The reputation of this old, reliable medicine, for constipation, indigestion and liver trouble, is firmly established. It does not imitate other medicines. It is better than others, or it would not be the favorite liver powder, with a larger sale than all others combined.

is probably due to uric acid in the system—the blood must be purified—the poisonous acid driven out and general health must be improved.

Thousands testify that Scott's Emulsion rids the system of poisonous acid by enriching the impoverished blood, and its concentrated nourishment is converted into red blood corpuscles which drive out rheumatism.

It is especially valuable to aged people.

RAILROAD AND PEOPLE.

It is still the habit of the demagogue to perpetuate the friction between the people and the railroads. These office-hunters just keep on hounding and hounding and trying to excite the passion of the people as they did some years ago.

This continued agitation on their part bodes no good, either for the state or her people.

Railroads are civilizers. They are builders also; and the state which passes laws that come in direct conflict with the best interest of railroads is only furnishing a knife with which it's own throat will be cut.

But for railroads south Alabama would be today not much more than a howling wilderness. The hundreds of towns in this section which now give every evidence of civilization, thrift and progress, but for the advent of railroads, would be only a rendezvous for the hoot owl and the bat.

And yet these demagogues still, with their syringes filled with political self-aggrandizement, inject it into the minds of the masses in the hope that the masses will turn and smite their real benefactors—the railroads.

Railroad builders are only people who put their money together in the hope of making an interest on the investment. These people run more risk in the building and equipment of railroads than in any other business. And when there is added to this the spirit of venom and hatred that is nurtured by the wily politician it is no wonder that many sections of the state are now lying dormant with no prospect of improvement.

Capital, when invested in railroads, should receive the same degree of protection in law as any other sort of corporation, whether big or little. To deny this protection is to single out railroads, just because they are railroads, and on the pretext that they are public carriers, persecute them. This is unjust and when the people are apprised of the fact they will sit down hard on those who would purse such unfair methods.

The Standard is in favor of railroads. We want to see railroads make money, for it is only by this method that any business can prosper and railroads are no exception to the rule. When railroads make money they spend money in the betterment and extension of the lines. When they do this they benefit every man, woman and child anywhere in cannon-sourd of the territory they traverse.

If the people of Alabama would put the demagogue to flight then the railroads and the people would soon come together in unity and harmony, and working together for the common weal of all, Alabama would double in population within the next dozen years.

Let's silence the demagogue—Henry Co. Standard.

Finds Cure for Epilepsy After Years of Suffering

"My daughter was afflicted with epileptic fits for three years, the attacks coming every few weeks. We employed several doctors but they did her no good. About a year ago we heard of Dr. Miles' Nervine, and it certainly has proved a blessing to our little girl. She is now apparently cured and is enjoying the best of health. It is over a year since she has had a fit. We cannot speak too highly of Dr. Miles' Nervine."

MRS. FRANK ANDERSON,
Comfrey, Minn.

Thousands of children in the United States who are suffering from attacks of epilepsy are a burden and sorrow to their parents, who would give anything to restore health to the sufferers.

Dr. Miles' Nervine

is one of the best remedies known for this affliction. It has proven beneficial in thousands of cases and those who have used it have the greatest faith in it. It is not a "cure-all," but a reliable remedy for nervous diseases. You need not hesitate to give it a trial.

Sold by all Druggists. If the first bottle fails to benefit your money is returned.

MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

Where the Court Erred.

Complaining at Tower bridge of her husband's conduct with two other "women-girls," a wife was told by the magistrate: "Madam, you may be married to a Don Giovanni." The applicant: "Indeed, sir, I ain't nothing of the sort!"—London Standard.

STATE BRIEFS.

Five Montgomery County boys will attend the National Corn Show at Columbia, S. C., January 27 to Feb. 8.

Advertising on programmes, hotel registers, window cards and other devices sold by itinerant agents, was put under the ban at meeting of the Gadsden Business Men's association, a body of retail merchants auxiliary to the Chamber of Commerce.

Unless the Atlantic Coast Line railroad grants blacksmiths and boilermakers employed at its Montgomery shops an increase of 2 cents an hour in wages a general strike will be proclaimed. This was the announcement made by officials of the boilermakers and blacksmiths union.

The Madison county commissioners voted to defray the expenses of the two leading boy corn growers of this county to the National Corn exposition in Columbia, S. C. Thomas W. Clift and W. H. Bingham, who lead the boys' corn club of Madison county in producing the best acre last year will make the trip.

The Selma-Marion-Montgomery declamation contest will be held in Marion on the third Friday in February, and will be between the Sidney Lanier High School of Montgomery; the Marion Institute of Marion and the Dallas Academy of Selma. The first meeting of the organization will take place in Marion, the second in Selma and the third in Montgomery, and from then on in rotation.

Montgomery will retain her franchise in the Southern league for the coming season. This was practically assured, when a committee of the Business Men's league reported that all but a few hundred dollars of a $3,000 guarantee to Richard Tillis, majority stockholder, had been raised. Along with the $3000 will go a guarantee of an attendance of 70,000 at the gates this year.

The reclamation of cotton fibre from immature and frost bitten bolls and the utilization of the fibre from cotton stalks was briefly outlined to Governor O'Neal and several prominent men of Montgomery by John B. Hall of Philadelphia, who claims that he has invented a process by which the cotton growers of the south can be saved anywhere from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 per year.

Ten men are known to have been killed and 16 severely injured when the Tombigbee river steamer James T. Stapls was wrecked by a boiler explosion while the boat was tied up at Bladon Springs, within four miles of the grave of the vessel's former owner, Norman A. Staples, who commited suicide in Mobile exactly one week prior to the explosion. The James T. Staples was one of the handsomest and costliest of the Tombigbee river steamers. She was built five years ago at a cost of $46,000.

Lauderdale is the first county in Alabama to make a bid for a federal aid road. This announcement was made by State Highway Engineer W. S. Keller, who said he had received information that the court of commissioners of Lauderdale county had offered $20,000 for the improvement of a road extending in that county from Waterloo to Florence and thence to Rogersville, crossing the entire county, and about 50 miles in length.

The action of the commissioners of Lauderdale county in offering $20,000 for the improvement of the Waterloo-Rogersville highway was in response to the announcement to the effect that the federal government would appropriate $10,000 for the improvement of a federal aid road, extending 50 miles in length, provided an additional $20,000 was raised.

Declaring that the books of the city of Birmingham are in good shape; that the commissioners of the city have reduced the operating expenses of the city government over $100,000 annually, and complimenting Birmingham's liberality in its support of its public school system, Examiners of Public Accounts Gorman and Wilkinson submitted a report to Governor O'Neal.

A by-product coke plant which will produce power sufficient to furnish all the electricity needed in the Birmingham district at a rate far lower than that now being paid is to be erected by the Tidewater Power Co. in connection with the construction of a railroad from Birmingham to tidewater and the development of Dauphin Island as a world port. The announcement was made by J. M. Dewberry.

Finished bricks may be sent by parcels post in Indiana, pitchforks in New York, eggs in Tennessee, and hundreds of other freak shipments may be made, but it fell to a rural patron of the Tuscumbia postoffice to ship a complete hay press, boxed or crated, with every part perfect, and in its place.

State Bank Examiners Boyd and Matthews are in Birmingham examining the state banks. There are 10 state banks in Greater Birmingham and two in Bessemer. The examiners will be engaged for about six weeks on their work here.

Nearly 150 boy corn growers who are members of the Boys' Corn Club of Alabama will attend the National Corn Show at Columbia, S. C., January 27 to February 8, according to Prof. L. N. Duncan, of Auburn, head of the corn clubs in this State.

John Mitchell, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, and one of the most prominent American leaders, will deliver an address before the Birmingham Trades council the night of January 17.

Thomas H. Stevens of Gadsden was nominated by President Taft to be postmaster at Gadsden.

OF COURSE NOT.

"Well, it's impossible to please everybody in this world, isn't it?"
"Can't say; I never tried it."

BROKE OUT IN HEAT RASH

822 Georgia Ave., East Nashville, Tenn.—"My baby was about two months old when he began to break out in small red pimples like heat rash, afterward turning into festers. They gradually spread until his little head, face, groins and chest, his head being most affected, became a mass of sores with a great deal of corruption. It became offensive and gradually grew w[illegible] I kept a white cap on him to keep [illegible] from scratching, it seemed to itch so badly. It made him cross and his chest and groins would often bleed.

"Nothing seemed to help it, and I had almost come to the conclusion that my baby's case was hopeless, when hearing of the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, I decided to try it. I noticed at once that baby rested better. I continued it for a few weeks and my baby was entirely cured by the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. They cured where all others failed." (Signed) Mr. E. O. Davis, Nov. 28, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston." Adv.

Women Avoid Operations

When a woman suffering from some form of feminine disorder is told that an operation is necessary, it of course frightens her.

The very thought of the hospital operating table and the surgeon's knife strikes terror to her heart, and no wonder. It is quite true that some of these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but thousands of women have avoided the necessity of an operation by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This fact is attested by the grateful letters they write to us after their health has been restored.

These Two Women Prove Our Claim.

Cary, Maine.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely staighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine." —Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Cary, Me.

Charlotte, N. C—"I was in bad health for two years, with pains in both sides and was very nervous. If I even lifted a chair it would cause a hemorrhage. I had a growth which the doctor said was a tumor and I never would get well unless I had an operation. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I gladly say that I am now enjoying fine health and am the mother of a nice baby girl. You can use this letter to help other suffering women."—Mrs. ROSA SIMS, 16 Wyona St., Charlotte, N. C.

Now answer this question if you can. Why should a woman submit to a surgical operation without first giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial? You know that it has saved many others—why should it fail in your case?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Dr. Geo. Eaves preached at the Congregational church Sunday.

Prof. S. G. Norton and mother, Mrs. S. E. Norton, made a business trip to Birmingham this week.

Mrs. W. H. Williams who has been cunfined to her bed for some time with pneumonia is slowly improving.

Mrs. W. L. Sandford and children, of Clanton, visited her sister Mrs. H. L. Foshee this week.

Prof. S. H. Herbert spent Saturday night and Sunday in Birmingham.

George Freeman is progressing nicely with his new residence on Outlot I.

Thorsby is really taking on some improvements now for Mr. Michelson is having his hotel repainted.

The Woodmen did not install their officers last Friday night, as the weather was so bad. They will install them on the fourth Friday night. The lodge here is growing fast, they now have over forty members.

It was stated in these columns last week that Mr. Newt Riggins had been appointed assistant postmaster at Thorsby but that was a mistake. Mrs. Rosa Collins is the duly appointed assistant and Mr. Riggins was only working in the office for a few days.

The Baptist Ladies Aid Society held their annual business meeting with with Mrs P. C. Smith on Monday afternoon. The following officers were elected for this year: Mrs. P. C. Smith, Pres. Mrs. J. R. Billingsley, Vice Pres.; Mrs. A. M. Woolley, Sec.; Miss Louise Jones, Cor. Sec.; Mrs. H. L. Foshee, Treas. The society will hold its regular monthly social with Mrs. Eastburn Thursday.

Prof. Chas Lane, the great Georgia humorist, gave a lecture at Bates hall Monday night. There was a large crowd to hear him, including several from Jemison.

Mr. W. B. Tomlin's father, Mr. Coleman, is very sick, he was 79 years old Xmas day.

Mrs. W. H. Williams has been very sick but is reported to be a little improved.

The Fraternal Union held its regular meeting Tuesday night. Two new members were given the obligation.

Mrs. J. L. Foss is on the sick list but is improving slowly.

Mr. Clarence Bice and Ira Billingsley are to be partners in a new business which they expect to open up the first of February. We wish them prosperous.

Mayor Bice is on the sick list, has been confined several days.

Mr. A. K. Horn is back in his old place at the Drug store.

You may say what you will about Thorsby, her people, her houses, her soil, elevation and healthfulness, but we qelieve there is not another little town in this part of the state that is better favored with either, although at this time every house in Thorsby and vicinity is occupied and everyone that is large enough has two or three families in it.

The building spirit is now raging in our flourishing litt]e town as well as the painting epidemic. Mr. G. Freeman, one of Thorsby's most energetic citizens is erecting near the Congregational church a large and commodious residence, which will add much to that part of the iown. Mr. Robert Martin, another citizen and also a lumber man of our town is erecting in the northern part two nice residences. Mr. Lloyd, our former shoe merchant, who went out of business on account of bad health and has been in the north for the past six months, has returned to the delight of his friends and is now building a nice two-story house just north of Mr. C. R. Foss's dwelling. Mr. Ed Peterson is building a dwelling just north of the L. & N. depot. There are several other new buildings which will be started this month, all of which will add to the beauty of the town, as well as all the painting that is being done just now by the citizens who have already built. The completion of the paving of the entire business part of the town's sidewalks shows prosperity; while the town is, at the same time, taking steps to have all the streets inside the corporation improved.

The Thorsby Institute is doing much excellent work this season. The enrollment is exceedingly good and mere pupils are entering most every week. We believe the boys and girls of this and surrounding counties, as well as many energetic men and women who are preparing themselves for a useful and serviceable life, are at last waking up to the fact that here in good old Chilton, they can get as go8d if not better instruction and much more cheaply than thoy can get by going to some other place.

The Thorsby Public School is having one of its most paosperous terms under the management of Prof. John A. Hunter as principal and his two excellent assistants, Miss Clara M. Soberg, of Thorsby, ahd Miss Bonnie L. Jenkins, of Semison. The enrollment is the largest in its history, 112, of which there is an average attendance of about 102. The work seems to be very satisfactory to both patrons and teachers. We are glad to see it so, for in the public schools of our state we may expect to find the men and women of tomorrow, and with the hearty co-operation which the teachers are receiving, both from the town board and the patrons, and with a corps of teachers who will do their duty, as we are sure we have, our boys and girls can be trained to be citizens indeed.

We are glad to notice that the smaller boys of the town have organized a corn club and are prepairing to win the prizes next fall. Boys you are on the right road, success is sure yours if you will leave off all narcotics, live temperate and utilize your time. Look for their names on this page next week.

The girls are thinking seriously of organizing a Tomato Club get busy and do it, the boys are ahead of you.

Citizen.

Speaking of the Jackson highway, that we heard of a year or two ago, if you want to see a portion of the same, just take the road leading north from the Sweedish church, and travel the same till you reach Barretts, and J. M. Horn's places, that's as near to it as anything you will find around Thorsby.

We understand that a young lady of Thorsby while out making a call one evening, a short time ago, run amunk in a mud hole, and lost her slipper. This mud hole was right in the middle of the highway, but it was before you reach the highway we have been speaking of.

Yes, come on boys, let's all turn in and help Mr. Foshee make the Thorsby department of The Union-Banner the best of all, we need it in our business. It is one place where the Commercial Club can do some good, let every member turn in and give it a boost. It also looks as though the merchants and business men of Thorsby should have their advertising on the Thorsby page. And another thing, why not have a farmers exchange in connection with it?

Mr. Stevens and family have moved out on the J. M. Horn place, and will assist in the farm operations there this season.

J. M. Horn was called to Birmingham on business Saturday of last week. While repainting his bee hives one day last week a busy bee backed up to M. J. Barrett's face and pushed—result he only had one eye to close when he retired that night, the other was shut.

Mr. E. N. Dyrhovd went out with horse and wagon and gave Barrett and Horn a good half day's work on their road last Saturday. That's right it will do them more good than a car load of roses on their casket after they are dead. Let the good work go on.

"I Wonder."

Miss Annie Martin has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Lula Popwell for the past week.

Rev. Perry Mims filled his regular appointment at this place Sunday and preached an excellent sermon.

Nobody's Darling.

BAKERS SCHOOL HOUSE.

The debate at the Baker school house was fine. Mr. Pickens from Clanton gave us a fine lecture. Hope he will come again. There were other good speakers also.

Miss Monnie Baker is on the sick list this week. Hope she will soon recover

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wood and Mr. Jim Collins and family visited N. M. Woods Sunday.

Mrs. B. H. Vickers and Misses Ada and Esther called on Mrs. Sallie Culp Sunday.

Mr. N. G. Ward is visiting his mother and sister this week.

Misses Guelma, Etta, Annie and Mamie Baker and R. N. F. attended the singing at Mr. Will Morris' Sunday night and had a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Ward visited their brother near Lomax Sunday.

Mrs. W. T. Ward visited her mother last week.

D. W. Ward and wife called on W. N. Wood and wife Sunday.

There will be a mock trial at the Baker School house Saturday night; everybody invited. we are expecting a fine time. Somebody's Darling.

LITTLE SAND MOUNTAIN

Received too late for last week.

People of this community are progressing nicely with their farming operations.

We are glad to see Rev. P. G. Maness is improving and hope he will soon be entirely recovered. He is the pastor of our church and we havn't heard him preach in a long time and we are very anxious to hear him for we think he is a fine preacher.

Our debating society has retired on account of our concert. We are proud that our teachers are going to give a concert the last of school.

Miss Bessie Hall has returned to her school at Thorsby. She has been spending the holidays at home.

Our Sunday School at Pleasant Grove is doing well. We would like to see more of the older people come and make it an evergreen school.

Our debate last Friday was grand. The subject was "Resolved that education is of more service to man than money." The affirmative speakers were Miss Ruby Shoults, Mr. Willie Kelley, Mr Clarence Latham; negative Miss Gladys Shoults, Miss Lettie Walker and Mr. Ira Kelley. The negative won, with Miss Ruby Shoults having the best speech.

Some of our larger school boys are quitting. Boys don't stop school as we want to have a successful concert and can't have it without you.

There has been a new family moved into our community; the boys have another way to go now. We think the girls around here are going to be old maids from the way the boys are going another way. We feel a little uneasy about ourselves.

Three School Girls.

GOVERNOR O'NEAL AND THE COOSA RIVER DAM.

Governor O'Neal declines to use his influence as governor of the state toward persuading President Taft to withdraw his veto of the construction of a dam across the Coosa river by the Alabama Power Company, on the ground that it is a private enterprise and as governor he cannot take sides. It seems to us that he is right in his contention.

But in his answer he brings to view a very lamentable state of affairs, if it be true as he says:

"Eminent lawyers differ as to the right of the state to tax the power accruing from the erection of a dam on or across a navigable stream. Whether the state has such power or not is, in Alabama, an academic question. If, under the law, our state formerly had such power, it has already parted with it. By the general and special laws of this state which were re-enacted some years prior to my administration, the right to develop water power was conferred on individuals and private corporations. By these laws it would seem that the state has surrendered or conveyed whatever title or interest or easement it may have possessed in the streams of Alabama, and these laws being granted would seem to constitute a contract by which the state is bound.

"I am, therefore, of opinion that the only right this state has over water power or hydro-electric companies is the right it possesses under its general powers to regulate public utilities, to control or regulate and fix charges and rates, and as this is in no ways connected with the creation of any benefit to the state, I am forced to the conclusion that the state has no such interest as would warrant me, as governor, in pressing the passage of this bill."

If the state has "surrendered or conveyed whatever title or interest or easement it may have possessed in the streams of Alabama," it has parted with a possession of incalculable value, one that properly used would in a few years time have been capable of producing revenue sufficient to run the state. It may be that right is lost, if we ever had it. But he mentions another right that the state HAS, and one that should be given prompt and careful attention by our legislators: "The right it possesses under its general powers to regulate public utilities, to control or regulate and fix charges and rates."

Without wishing to detract from the vast importance of these power companies to the building up of the industries of the state, and acknowledging that many privileges had to be allowed in order to induce the large capital necessary to utilize the opportunities; still the state should not allow this tremendous power without all safeguards and regulations that can be thrown around it.

As it is now, the Alabama Power Company has a fair chance of becoming "bigger than the state," It will be able to say just what sections shall have power and at what price. If it chooses that one town shall grow and another shall not, it has the power to carry out its will. It can favor one industry and break down another at its own sweet will. It will be a power in politics far beyond what the railroads ever were. The industries of the world will, in time, be almost entirely dependent on hydro-elsctricity, it is the great public utility of the age, and if it be allowed to fall into the unregulated hands of one strong ccmpany, we are indeed bound captive and delivered.

We are not "knocking" the Alabama Power Company. It is putting large capital into an enterprise which will earn for it large dividends and which will bring about a wondrous industrial change in this section.

But the danger referred to seems to us very real and calls for close attention and prompt action on the part of our legislators.

Proper safeguards will not frighten away capital; that bugbear need not be heeded, for the legitimate gains from water power will be so great that capital will be compelled to take hold of it.

This matter of proper regulation is of greater importance to the state than that of direct taxation.

Mr. L. H. Reynolds, Clanton, Ala.

Josiah V. Thompson, well known multi-millionaire coal and coke operator of Uniontown, Pa., has been granted a divorce at Pittsburg, Pa. The decree is a special one, and he agreed to pay Mrs. Thompson $1,000,000. Each party to the suit has the right to marry again.

President-elect Woodrow Wilson has reached what he considers the climax in his program of reform as governor of New Jersey. Seven bills making for the most extensive revision of the corporation laws in the history of the state were introduced in the New Jersey legislature. "These acts are designed to put an end to trusts and monopolies under the laws of New Jersey, and I confidently predict that they will accomplish the much-desired result," says the governor.

A determined but unsuccessful attempt was made to steal $400,000 worth of pearls from the establishment of Mark Ruban, jewel merchant, of 32 Heartborn viaduct, London, England. In the opinion of Scotland Yard, the burglary was the work of a gang of American thieves, who left behind the most elaborate and costly set of tools and appliances ever seen by the London police. In addition to a portable electric light plant, they abandoned twenty cylinders of oxygen and other bases. A tent was erected around the safe.

The method to be used hereafter in executing the criminals in the state of Utah has become a topic widely discussed since the legislature convened in Salt Lake City. The latest idea expressed is that condemned criminals be allowed to take their own lives, after they have exhausted every means to have the death sentence set aside. The state law now provides that condemned criminals be executed either by shooting or hanging, the choice to be made by the person to be executed.

War on high prices of butter has been declared by the Housewives' League of New York City. They state that there is plenty of butter in the market and that new butter is coming in well. Freezer butter was put away at 25 and 27 cents and could be sold at a profit of 30 to 32 cents best. They state that the high price of butter is absolutely unwarranted.

William Boone Eldred, who believes that by eating a gallon of molasses a week he had prolonged his life many years, died at Wakefield, Mass., at the age of 87 years. He ate molasses on all his food. When 70 years old, Eldred began riding a bicycle for exercise, and according to his own figures covered 20,000 miles during the last seventeen years. He was a descendant of Daniel Boone.

When President-elect Wilson arrives in Washington on the night of March 3, he wil lbe greeted with a Princeton "locomotive" cheer issuing from the Nassau undergraduates, according to plans for attending the inaugural ceremonies being made by the Princeton University Woodrow Wilson club. Active preparations for the trip will be started at Princeton, N. J., when those in charge of the arrangements will start a canvass to ascertain just how many students will attend the inaugural ceremonies.

Although suffering from "shaking palsy," and unable to speak above a whisper, William Rockefeller could undergo a "brief examination" before the house money trust committee if his testimony was of "paramount importance."

"Izzy," the painter, head of the New York City's "underword arson trust," came from Sing Sing prison to confess to putting the torch to 200 houses within the past few months.

The will of James R. Keene, veteran stock market operator and turfman, as filed for probate in New York City, leaves his widow, Sara J. Keene, his entire estate.

Washington.

After striking out of the omnibus war claims bill practically all personal claims for cotton and the like, the senate adopted that measure as it passed the house. The French spoliation claims, amounting to $3,000,000, were offered as amendments to the bill, but were rejected. Most of the Southern claims allowed are those of churches. These will be paid when the house accepts the senate amendment and the president signs the bill.

The time-honored inaugural ball, the climax of the ceremonies incident to the inauguration of presidents of the United States, will not be given this year. In compliance with President-elect Wilson's wishes, the inaugural committee, at a special meeting decided to eliminate it. The committee also decided a public reception at the capitol or elsewhere, suggested by Mr. Wilson as a substitute for the ball, was not within its jurisdiction, and if one is held, congress must appropriate and make the necessary arrangements for it. For such congress must make provision.

The government on behalf of the interstate commerce commission met defeat at the hands of the Supreme court of the United States in its attempt to establish in the commission a right to make rates without substantial evidence being presented at a hearing to show the unreasonableness of rates about to be replaced. At the same time, railroads of the country won an important point when the court decided that in making rates the commission could not rely upon information gathered in investigation by the commmission, but must base them upon evidence.

COTTON SEED MEN FOR TARIFF CHANGE

PROMINENT SOUTHERNERS WILL APPEAR BEFORE CONGRESS.

SEEK REMOVAL OF TARIFF

Question Is Important One to Territory South of Mason and Dixon Line and Involves Many Things of Extraordinary Note.

Florence, Ala.—Col. C. W. Ashcraft of this city, president of the Interstate Cotton Seed Crushers' Association, has gone to Washington to appear before the ways and means committee of the house of representatives concerning tariff measures which are of vast importance to the South.

With Mr. Ashcraft will be a committee of his appointing, composed of J. J. Culbertson of Oklahoma City, E. Lamar of Selma, Ala., T. S. Young of New York, F. W. Brode of Memphis, R. L. Heflin of Sherman, Tex., C. L. Ives of New Berne, N. C., A. H. Watson of New York, and J. W. Allison of Ennis, Tex.

The hearings which are to be given this committee are on the subject of placing ties and bagging for wrapping cotton on the free list; the removal of the duty of 40 cents per bushel on soya beans; the removal of the internal revenue tax of 10 cents per pound from oleomargarine; the placing of fertilizer bags and camel's hair, which is used in the manufacture of press cloth used in cotton seed and linseed oil mills in pressing oil, on the free list.

For several years grain farmers of the West have been accorded free entry of binder twine used in harvesting their crops, and the committee appointed by Mr. Ashcraft is going to maintain before the ways and means committee that Southern farmers are just as much entitled to duty free binding for their cotton as are Western farmers for their grain. If this committee should succeed in its efforts before the ways and means committee and finally before congress, as they now have reason to believe, it will mean the saving of many millions of dollars to Southern farmers.

GIRLS CAUGHT BOOTLEGGER

Latter Pleads Guilty and Saves Girls From Testifying.

Muskogee, Okla.—Because G. W. Elliott entered a plea of guilty in the federal court, two pretty girls, Blanche and Lillie Rogers, who arrested Elliott, were spared from testifying against him. Elliott was hauling whiskey overland near Claremore, in violation of the law, and the two girls, who are daughters of a special enforcement officer, rode up on him and throwing revolvers in his face, effected his capture and turned him over to their father.

The girls, who were the center of attraction in the federal building, say they dislike the business and merely take a hand occasionally to help their father.

TITANIC CLAIMS ARE FILED

Mrs. Henry B. Harris Wants $1,000,000 for Husband's Loss.

New York.—A flood of petitions for damages through the loss of the Titanic filed included one from Mrs. Irene Wallach Harris, who claims $1,000,000 for the loss of her husband, Harry B. Harris, the theatrical manager. This is the heaviest of the 279 claims so far filed. Mrs. May Futrelle of Scituate, Mass., asks $300,000 compensation for the loss of her husband, Jacques Futrelle, author. The claim of Mrs. Lilly B. Millet, widow of Francis D. Millet, the artist, a Titanic victim, is $100,000.

The claims amount to more than $10,000,000, but the White Star Line contends that its liability is limited under the United States statutes to less than $100,000.

UNCLE SAM'S DOUBLE DIES

Col. Phelps, Born February 19, 1826, Died in House of Birth.

Hartford, Conn.—Col. Ellsworth N. Phelps, who blocked traffic in Pennsylvania avenue when he first visited Washington because of his remarkable resemblance to Uncle Sam caricatures, died at his home in Windsor after a short illness.

Col. Phelps, who was born February 19, 1826, in the same house in which he died, was with Gen. Phil Sheridan in the Shenandoah Valley, and he rode that memorable twenty miles to Winchester with Sheridan until his horse collapsed.

Arson Trust Has Slush Fund.

Chicago.—Investigation into Chicago's "arson ring" developed a new angle when the prosecutor turned his attention to the alleged existence of a "slush fund" believed to have been raised to bribe officials to prevent prosecution of persons charged with incendiarism.

Favors Direct Election.

Albany, N. Y.—New York has gone on record as favoring the proposed amendment to the federal constitution providing for the election of United States senators by the people.

Quake Felt at Mobile.

Mobile, Ala.—An earth shock said by authorities to have been from a disturbance whose center is in Mexico, 1,000 miles from Mobile, was recorded by the seismograph at Spring Hill College here Wednesday.

Parcels Post Record.

Washington.—Six million packages were handled by the parcels post during the first seven days of the operation of the system, according to figures prepared by the postoffice department.

TURKEY MAY OFFER MORE CONCESSIONS

NATIONAL ASSEMBLY HAS BEEN CALLED TO MEET.

CABINET RISKS DOWNFALL

Allies Will Ask Powers If They Can Force Porte to Give In, If Not, Then More War.

London.—The porte's decision to call a national assembly to take under advisement the Balkan situation probably heralds further concessions on the part of Turkey—consessions which could not be yielded by the cabinet without risking its fall. In any case, the Balkan delegates in London do not believe the porte's reply to the joint note of the powers will be such a flat refusal as was foreshadowed from Constantinople.

Dispatches report that the Turkish government had reached a decision not to accede Adrianople or the Aeagean Islands, but was willing to enter into negotiations respecting those islands some distance removed from the Dardanelles.

If Turkey's answer is unsatisfactory, the allies, in deference to Europe, will ask the powers whether they have means to compel Turkey to comply with their wishes. If not, the allies will carry out the plan already announced, leading to the resumption of the war.

HOLDS UP SOUTHERN TRAIN

Lone Man Rifled Coach and Some Registered Packages.

Anniston, Ala.—Railroad detectives and posses have been scouring the country in the vicinity of Lincoln, Ala., in an effort to apprehend a lone train robber who held up Southern Railway passenger train No. 12 early Sunday at Riverside. The robber is said to have rifled the mail coach and escaped with several registered packages.,

The bandit, it is said, boarded the train while the engine was taking water. According to the report received here, he covered Mail Clerk E. L. Craigman with a revolver and demanded all valables and registered mail in the car. After going through part of the mail, the bandit jumped from the train at Lincoln and disappeared in the rugged country adjoining.

FORCE BUTTER PRICE DOWN

"Eat Jam," Declares Head of Housewives' League.

New York—Mrs. Julian Heath, founder and president of the Housewives' League, believes that that organization has found a way to force down the price of butter. The plan in brief is simply this: "Don't eat butter; eat jam instead." By substituting jellies, apple butters, jams, etc., for butter, Mrs. Heath contends the housewives of the county will bring the butter dealers to their senses.

New York More Healthy.

Albany, N. Y.—New York state's death rate for 1912—14.6 per thousand—was the lowest ever shown in the state. According to statistics for 1911, these figures indicate a saving of over 5,000 lives.

MOLASSES FOR LONGEVITY.

Man Who Poured It on All His Food Lives to Be 87 Years of Age.

Wakefield, Mass.—William Boone Eldred, who believed that by eating a gallon of molasses a week he had prolonged his life many years, died Sunday at the age of 87. He ate molasses on all his food. When 70 years old Eldred began riding a bicycle for exercise, and, according to his own figures, covered 20,000 miles during the last 17 years.

SUICIDE FOR CRIMINALS.

Unique Suggestion Has Been Made to Legislature of Utah.

Salt Lake City, Utah.—The method to be used hereafter in executing criminals in the state of Utah has become a topic widely discussed since the legislature convened two weeks ago. The latest idea expressed is that condemned criminals be allowed to take their own lives, after they have exhausted every means to have the death sentence set aside.

ATTEMPT TO ENJOIN BUILDING OF LEVEES

CONGRESSMEN FROM MISSISSIPPI VALLEY ALARMED.

WILL FIGHT INJUNCTION SUIT

Representatives Believe That Congress Has Power to Order Work When and Where It Will Be of Most General Good.

Washington.—Applications for injunction to prevent the construction of levees either by the Mississippi River Commission or by local levee boards, made by citizens of Missouri and Tennessee, have astounded and alarmed the members of the house from the great valley. Representative Russell of Missouri has taken steps to have a meeting of all the congressmen from the valley, at which something will be done, if possible, to prevent the granting of the applications.

As Judge Russell understands the situation, the applications are based on the theory that the construction of a levee on one side of the river, without at the same time constructing one on the other, causes undue prejudice to the interests of the people who own lands on the other side and denies them the equal protection of the laws. On their side, they have the proceedings that have been had in the courts in respect to the lands on the east side of the river between Brunswick, Miss., and Bayou Sara to back up that contention.

It is conceded to be a strong point.

In Louisiana, of course, such a point would not lie on account of the general theory that he who buys land near the river runs the risk of having part of his lands used for levee purposes, so that there may be protection for the greater interests of his neighbors. But the applications are made in the federal courts, which can consider the interests of people in Mississippi as affected by what is done in Louisiana.

There is a feeling among the congressmen that if even a temporary injunction is granted the work will be greatly hampered, even if it is not permanently stayed.

"MARRIAGE STRIKE" CALLED

"Oklahoma Kate" Barnard Has Entire State Gasping.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—"Kate" Barnard, commissioner of charities for the state of Oklahoma and famous for her prison investigation of a few years ago, has ordered a "marriage strike."

She believes that every unmarried woman should refuse to enter matrimonial bonds until the men of the nation pass laws for the protection of childhood and motherhood.

She calls upon the women of her state to refuse all suitors until the men are brought to realize that there must be some recognition given to the evils of child labor.

She says in this revolutionary propaganda of hers:

"If every woman had the real strength of mind necessary, as well as an actual knowledge of what is going on about her, she would flatly refuse to marry until conditions were changed."

Hobson Will Lead.

Washington. — Representative Richmond Pearson Hobson has announced he will lead a battalion of masculine believers in votes for women in the Washington suffrage parade on March 3.

25,000 Albanians Killed.

Vienna.—Twenty-five thousand Albanians have been "more or less wantonly" killed in the Turkish province of Kossovo by the Servian regulars and irregulars since the invasion by them of European Turkey, according to the Reichpost.

Pass Anti-Lobby Law.

Columbus, O.—By unanimous vote, the Ohio senate passed an anti-lobbyist bill, which requires lobbyists to not only register with the secretary of state, but also compels them to make reports concerning their compensation and what interest they have in proposed legislation.

Little Rock, Ark.—The late Senator Jeff Davis had $32,000 in life insurance, of which amount $20,000 was left to his estate. His entire estate is worth about fifty-three thousand dollars.

bel, his daughter, had been kind enough to express gratification, and their praise alone saved him from despair. Then, to his amazement, the call had come. Of casual conversation at the church and about the Daniels' table he could recall nothing. So there was another religious organization in town and that made up of seceders from his own church. He was surprised.

"Er—this Miss Van Horne?" he asked. "Is she a—Come-Outer?"

Mrs. Coffin nodded.

"Yes," she said. "She's one. Couldn't be anything else and live with her Uncle Eben, as she calls him."

"Has Captain Hammond no children of his own?" he asked.

Keziah's answer was short for her.

"Yes," she said. "One."

"Ah! another daughter?"

"No, a son. Name's Nathaniel, and he's a sea captain. He's on his way from Surinam to New York now. They expect him to make port most any time, I believe. Now, Mr. Ellery, I s'pose we've got to arrange for your supper and stayin' overnight; and with this house the way 'tis and all, I don't see—

"I guess," ruminatively, "that the best thing for you to do will be to go to Cap'n Elkanah's. They'll be real glad to see you, I know, and you'll be in time for supper, for Elkanah and Annabel have been to Denbro and they'll be late home. They can keep you overnight, too, for it's a big house with lots of rooms. Then, after breakfast to-morrow you come right here. I'll have things somewhere near shipshape by then, I guess, though the cleanin'll have to be mainly a lick and a promise until I can really get at it. Your trunk'll be here on the coach, I s'pose, and that'll be through early in the afternoon. Get on your hat and coat and I'll go with you to Elkanah's."

The young man demurred a little at trusting himself upon the hospitality of the Daniels' home, but Keziah assured him that his unexpected coming would cause no trouble. So he entered the now dark study and came out wearing his coat and carrying his hat and valise in his hand.

"I'm sure I'm ever so much obliged to you," he said. "And, as we are going to be more or less together—or at least I guess as much from what you say—would you mind if I suggest a mutual introduction. I'm John Ellery; you know that already. And you—"

Keziah stopped short on her way to the door.

"Well, I declare!" she exclaimed. "If that ain't the very worst! Fact is, you dropped in so ahead of time and in such a irregular sort of way, that I never once thought of introducin' anybody; and I'm sure Grace didn't. I'm Keziah Coffin, and Cap'n Elkanah and I signed articles, so to speak, this mornin', and I'm goin' to keep house for you."

She explained the reason for upset-

ing the former arrangement by which Lurania Phelps was to have had the position.

At the Daniels' door Keziah turned her new charge over to Matilda Snow, the hired girl. It was an indication of the family's social position that they kept "hired help." This was unusual in Trumet in those days, even among the well to do.

"Good night," said the young man, extending his hand. "Good night, Miss or is it Mrs.—Coffin?"

"Mrs. Good night."

"She's a widow," explained Matilda. "Husband died 'fore she come back here to live. Guess he didn't amount to much; she never mentions his name."

Keziah, in the midst of her labors, had time to coach her employer and companion in Trumet ways, and particularly in the ways which Trumet selected its clergymen to travel. On the morning following his first night at the parsonage, he expressed himself as feeling the need of exercise. He thought he should take a walk.

"Well," said his housekeeper from her station opposite him at the breakfast table, "if I was you I wouldn't take too long a one. You'd better be back here by ten, anyhow. Where was you thinkin' of goin'?"

Mr. Ellery had no particular destination in mind. He would like to see something of the village and, perhaps, if she could give him the names of a few of his parishioners, he might make a few calls. Keziah shook her head.

"Gracious goodness!" she exclaimed. "I wouldn't advise you to do that. You ain't been here long enough to make forenoon calls. If you should catch some of the women in this town with aprons and calico on, they'd never forgive you in this world. Wait till afternoon; they'll be expectin' you then and they'll be rigged out in their best bibs and tuckers. S'pose you found Annabel Daniels with her hair done up in curl papers; what do you think would happen? Mornin's are no time for ministers' calls. Even old Mr. Langley never made calls in the forenoon—and he'd been here thirty-odd years."

"All right, you know best. Much obliged for the advice. Then I'll simply take my walk and leave the calls until later."

"I'd be back by ten, though. Folks'll begin callin' on you by that time."

When, promptly at ten o'clock, the minister returned from his walk, he found Mrs. Rogers waiting in the sitting room. It is a prime qualification of an alert reporter to be first on the scene of sensation. Didama was seldom beaten. Mr. Ellery's catechism began. Before it was over Keziah opened the door to admit Miss Pepper and her brother. "Kyan" was nervous and embarrassed in the housekeeper's presence. Lavinia was a glacier, moving majestically and freezing as it moved. Keziah, however, was not even touched by the frost; she greeted the pair cordially, and begged them to "take off their things."

It was dinner time before the catechizers departed. The catechized came to the table with an impaired appetite. He looked troubled.

"Don't let it worry you, Mr. Ellery," observed Keziah calmly. "I think I can satisfy you. Honest and true, I ain't half as bad as you might think."

The minister looked more troubled than before; also surprised.

"Why, Mrs. Coffin!" he cried. "Could you hear—"

"Man alive! I'm not worried. Why should you be? We were talkin' about trust just now—or I was. Well, you and I'll have to take each other on trust for a while, until we see whether we're goin' to suit. If you see anything that I'm goin' wrong in, I wish you'd tell me. And I'll do the same by you, if that's agreeable. You'll hear a lot of things said about me, but if they're very bad I give you my word they ain't true. And, to be real frank, I'll probably hear some about you, which I'll take for what they're worth and considerin' who said 'em. That's a good, wholesome agreement, I think, for both of us. What do you think?"

John Ellery said, with emphasis that he thought well of it. He began to realize that this woman, with her blunt common sense, was likely to be a pilot worth having in the difficult waters which he must navigate as skipper of the Regular church in Trumet. Also, he began to realize that, as such a skipper, he was most inexperienced. And Captain Daniels had spoken highly—condescendingly but highly—of his housekeeper's qualifications and personality. So the agreement was ratified, with relief on his part.

The first Sunday came and with it the first sermon. He read that sermon to Keziah on Saturday evening and she approved of it as a whole, though she criticised some of its details.

The service began at eleven o'clock. Outside the spring breeze stirred the budding silver-leafs, the distant breakers grumbled, the crows in the pines near Captain Eben Hammond's tavern cawed ribald answers to the screaming gulls perched along the top of the breakwater. And seated on one of the hard benches of the little Come-Outer chapel, Grace Van Horne heard her "Uncle Eben," who, as usual, was conducting the meeting, speak of "them who, in purple and fine linen, with organs and trumpets and vain shows, are gathered elsewhere in this community to hear a hired priest make a mock of the gospel!" (A-men!)

But John Ellery, the "hired priest," knew nothing of this. He did know, however, that he was the center of interest for his own congregation, the people among whom he had been called to labor. Their praise or criticism meant everything to him; therefore he preached for dear life.

The sermon was a success.

On Monday afternoon the minister made a few calls. Keziah made out a short list for him to follow, a "sort of chart of the main channel," she called it, "with the safe ports marked and the shoals and risky places labeled dangerous."

"You see," she said, "Trumet ain't a course you can navigate with your eyes shut. We divide ourselves into about four sets—aristocrats, poor relations, town folks, and scum. The aristocrats are the big bugs like Cap'n Elkanah and the other well-off sea captains afloat and ashore. They 'most all go to the Regular church and the parish committee is steered by 'em. The poor relations are mainly widows and such, whose husbands died or were lost at sea. Most of them are Regulars. The town folks are those that stay ashore and keep store or run salt works or somethin'. And the scum work around on odd jobs or go fishin'. So, if you really want to be safe, you must call on the aristocrats first, after that on the poor relations, and so on down. You won't be bothered with scum much; they're mainly Come-Outers."

Ellery took the list from her hand and looked it over.

"Hum!" he said musingly. "Am I supposed to recognize these—er—class distinctions? But you're not seriously advising me to treat a rich man differently from a poor one?"

"Not openly different—no. But if you want to steer a perfectly safe course, one that'll keep the deep water under your keel the whole voyage, why, there's your chart."

Mr. Ellery promptly tore the "chart" into small pieces.

"I'm going out," he said. "I shall be back by supper time."

Mrs. Coffin eyed him grimly.

"Goin' to run it blindfolded, are you?" she asked.

"Yes, I am."

Her grimness disappeared and she smiled.

"I'll have your supper ready for you," she said. "Bring back a good appetite."

As a matter of fact, the minister's calls were in the nature of a compromise, although an unintentional one. He dropped in on Zebedee Mayo, owner of the big house on the slope of the hill. Captain Zeb took him up into what he called his "cupoler," the observatory on the top of the house, and showed him Trumet spread out like a map. Ellery decided that he should like Captain Zeb, although it was evident that the old whaler had decided opinions of his own which he did not hesitate to express. He judged that the Mayos were of the so-called aristocracy, but undoubtedly unique specimens. He visited four more households that afternoon. The last call was at Mrs. Thankful Payne's, and while there, listening to the wonderful "poem," he saw Miss Van Horne pass the window. He came home to a Cape Cod supper of scalloped clams, hot biscuits, and baked Indian pudding, and Keziah greeted him with a cheery smile which made him feel that it was home. His summary disposal of the "chart" had evidently raised him in his housekeeper's estimation. She did not ask a single question as to where he had been.

Next day he had a taste of Trumet's real aristocracy, the genuine article. Captain Elkanah Daniels and his daughter made their first formal call. The captain was majestic in high hat, fur-collared cape, tailed coat, and carrying a gold-headed cane. Miss Annabel wore her newest gown and bonnet and rustled as she walked. They entered the sitting room and the lady glanced superciliously about the apartment.

"Hum—ha!" barked Captain Elkanah. "Ahem! Mr. Ellery, I trust you're being made comfortable. The parish committee are—hum—ah—anxious that you should be. Yes?"

The minister said that he was very comfortable indeed.

"It isn't what you've been used to, we know," observed Miss Annabel. "Mr. Langley, our former pastor, was a sweet old gentleman, but he was old-fashioned and his tastes were queer, especially in art. Have you noticed that 'fruit piece' in the dining room? Isn't it too ridiculous?"

Then she changed the subject to church and parish affairs. They spoke of the sewing circle and the reading society and the Friday-evening meetings.

"The Come-Outers are so vexed with us," tittered Miss Annabel, "that they won't even hold prayer meetings on the same night as ours. They have theirs on Thursday nights and it's as good as a play to hear them shout and sing and carry on. You'll enjoy the Come-Outers, Mr. Ellery. They're a perfect delight."

And as they rose to go Captain Elkanah asked:

"Is there anything you'd like done about the parsonage, Mr. Ellery? If so, it shall be done immejitly. How are you satisfied with your housekeeper?"

"Very well, indeed, Captain Daniels," was the prompt reply.

"She's a character, isn't she?" giggled Annabel. "She was born here in Trumet, but went away to New Bedford when she was young and grew up there. Her maiden name was Hall, but while she was away she married a man named Ansel Coffin. They didn't live together very long and weren't happy, I guess. I don't know whose fault it was, nobody knows much of anything about it, for that's the one thing she won't talk about. Anyhow, the Coffin man was lost at sea, and after a while she came back to keep house for her brother Solomon. She's an awful odd stick, but she's a good cook, I believe; though I'm afraid you won't get the meals people such as ourselves, who've been so much in the city, are used to."

Ellery thought of the meals at his city boarding house and shuddered. He was an orphan and had boarded for years. Incidentally, he had worked his way through college. Captain Elkanah cleared his throat.

ALABAMA STATE BRIEFS.

The Macon County Live Stock association is planning to have a great meeting at the courthouse in Tuskegee January 30.

A contract was let to M. H. Roberts of Mobile for the construction of a three-story structure to be known as "A Home for the Aged," to be operated under the supervision of the Little Sisters of the Poor.

Col. C. R. Bricken of Luverne, announces that he is a candidate for the office of United States district attorney at Montgomery and he declares that he has received the encouragement of a large number of prominent attorneys throughout the district.

Milton H. Smith, president of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad company, testified before the state railroad commission on January 21, in the rate hearing case. In addition to President Smith, the commission also placed E. M. Starke of Louisville, general manager of the Louisville and Nashville, on the stand.

Arrangements have been completed for a Bible and Sunday school institute which will be held at Parker Memorial church in Anniston, January 26-30. Among the speakers will be Dr. W. J. McGlothlin of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary, Louisville; H. L. Strickland, state Sunday school secretary; Miss Lillian Forbes and several ministers of this and neighboring cities.

A petition bearing the signature of a large number of qualified electors of Marion county will be presented to the board of county commissioners at the next session asking them to order an election to determine whether or not a special tax of 10 cents on each $100 of taxable property in said county shall be levied for the support of the public schools within said county, to run for a period of 20 years.

Near the southern outskirts of Anniston and within three blocks of the Southern depot at Oxford a bed of umber and a vein of manganese have just been discovered, and plans are under foot to develop the property on a big scale. Painters say that umber is used extensively in making paint, and Oxford hopes to have a paint factory. The bed near that place is said to be of fine quality.

Governor O'Neal received the resignation of John C. Hardaway as tax commissioner of Montgomery county. Following the receipt of Commissioner Hardaway's resignation, the Governor immediately appointed Frank Peabody, former tax collector of Montgomery, to succeed Mr. Hardaway.

The New York-Alabama Oil company has reorganized with several local capitalists taking a prominent part among the directors and $6,000 will be made up at once for the purpose of continuing operations in West Huntsville. The well out there is about 2,300 feet and oil has been found no less than five times. Every expert who has examined the well advises the management to put it down to 3,000 feet, and they are all confident that oil is there.

The grand jury of Talladega county which was organized at the September term of the city court made partial report stating that during its session 840 witnesses had been examined with the result that 140 true bills had been returned. One of the results of the sitting of the grand jury was to close the "wire house" or "cotton exchange," conducted by Hayward & Co., of New Orleans, which has been in operation here for several months. The closing clause of the grand jury's report stated that a cotton seed trust" was said to exist in Talladega county, but this body did not have time to investigate the facts, and recommended that the next grand jury take it up.

J. A. Albright, county superintendent of education, announces that there will be an educational rally at the courthouse in Opelika, January 25. All county teachers, district trustees, school officials and friends of education are invited and urged to attend the meeting. H. J. Willingham, state superintendent of education and other prominent speakers will be in attendance.

J. O. Hays, a plantation owner of Hale county has reported to Assistant United States District Attorney C. B. Kenneman at Birmingham, that laborers, principally negroes are being arrested in the southern part of Jefferson county in and around Bessemer for the purpose of obtaining fees. He intimated that a system of peonage exists. Municipal officers are accused.

No lip osculations after February 1 in the public schools of Montgomery is the latest. After that date it will not be permissable for Miss Teacher to greet little Marguerite or Tommy in the morning with a resounding smack, nor may the other pupils extend that sort of salutation. A chaste peck on the cheek is not strictly barred, but it is discouraged. And the mouth-to-mouth brand of affection in the public schools is soon to be a relic of the past.

The Lime Products Company of Chase, Madison County, has been incorporated, capital stock $9,000.

A movement has been inaugurated at Mobile for the formation of a company of the State National Guard from the three local companies to attend the inauguration of President Wilson at the national capital in March. The State has no funds for this purpose and it is intended to secure the necessary amount by popular subscription.

It was announced that the Mobile City Commission will be asked by the Board of School Commissioners of Mobile County to call an election on the question of issuing bonds for the needs of the city public schools.

CLANTON MATTERS

LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

THE MENINGITIS SCARE

There have been near a dozen cases of meningitis in the county, according to the health officer, and half of them have died. They were all out in the country except the one case now in Clanton, and it was difficult to carry into effect the proper sanitary safeguards. People in the country will visit the sick and insist on seeing them.

In Clanton steps have been taken to isolate the one case and prevent tne disease spreading, so there is less danger in Clanton than in other parts of the county.

The worst feature of a "scare" of this sort is the spreading abroad of wild rumors, creating panic in the minds of people. This often does more harm than the disease.

The laws are wisely devised to prevent the spread of disease let them be observed according to common sense and there will be little spread.

In Clanton there has been, up to date, but one case of meningitis reported, that of Mrs. D. Y. Johnston. She is quite ill.

The rumor that Dr. Hayes' child has the disease is unfounded, and the statement in the Age-Herald that the child had died, is false.

The school board decided that it was best to suspend school for a while, although the doctors thought this action hardly necessary.

It having been announced that the dread disease was communcated through the nostrils, the drug store have been kept busy selling atomizers and various germ destroyers. As a precautionary measury spraying the nostrils is very good.

State Health Officer W. H. Sanders, at the request of County Health Officer V. C. Gragg, to consult with the doctors and citizens of Clanton as to the best methods to be taken to prevent the spread of the disease. A meeting was held in the Probate office and Dr. Sanders delivered a long lecture on meningitis, hydrophobia and the state laboratory, but laid down no decisive plan of action.

FROM THE COUNTY HEALTH OFFICER

Editor Union-Banner: — At your request, I wish to make a statement to the public in regard to our cerebro-spinal meningitis scare.

I am confident that we can by active steps crush out this disease without serious trouble. There has been in this county during the last month about a dozen cases, half of which have already died, but that need not cause alarm.

If we will stay away from [illegible] people who have suspicions [illegible]oms and not get near any one wh[illegible] has come in contact with such people, and see that proper regulations for isolation and quarantine are carried out, we can stop this epidemic.

I wish to say right here that I am in favor of following the law to the letter, and will do it if I get proper support by the people. Now, we cannot stop it by running from it. Do not go away or send your families away, for you may not avoid it that way, but let us crush out the disease in a commonsense way by letting all agree to do the right thing in the right way.

Stay away from suspicious cases, and do not allow those who do not do so to be with you. Remember you do not need to see the patient, but can contract the disease from a "carrier" who has been with it and who is well himself.

De not get alarmed, keep quiet, do not believe every "flighty" rumor you hear, either for or against the disease, but get busy and let us stop it.

V. J. Gragg,
County Health Officer.

THE CORN BOYS OFF FOR COLUMBIA, S. C.

The arrangements have been made for the corn prize winner boys to go to the Corn Exposition at Columbia, S. C. The county, assisted by citizens of Clanton, has raised $105.00 for the expenses of three of them, and Mr. W. H. Conway has raised funds for one more and possibly two, so Chilton will be well represented.

The boys will be accompanied by Mr. Conway and must be in Montgomery Saturday morning so as to take the 6:10 p. m. train. Eeach boy must carry a stalk of corn in his band that he may be recognized. The boys will have not only an instructive but a jolly time.

OIL MILL IN CLANTON.

An oil mill for this section would undoubtedly prove profitable and it seems strange that local capital has not taken advantage of the opportunity. Birmingham and Texas parties have been studying the situation here and it is, we understand, probable that they will proceed to erect a mill in time for this year's grinding. Such a mill will pay large profits and that should be all the "inducements" capital should need.

CLANTON PUBLIC SCHOOL.

Prof. J. J. Pickens reports that the school will be able to give the students four months of free school. The tuition was largely reduced at the beginning of the session. Prof. Pickens has proved a good manager and the children of Clanton have been fortunate in their school.

Free Flower Seed For Readers of This Newspaper

We want to get in closer touch with you personally and with the people of this county. We want you to know what the great southern seed house, H. G. Hastings & Co., of Atlanta, is doing for the whole south in scientific plant-growing and agriculture.

With this idea in view, we have decided to offer to each reader of this newspaper a magnificent collection of flower seed, sent absolutely free to our customers. Write at once for our big free illustrated catalogue, being sure to mention the name of this newspaper. We pay the postage. The catalogue will tell you all about the way to take advantage of the free flower seed offer.

You should have flowers about your home. Our wives and daughters take naturally to flowers. This offer is made especially for them because we know it will interest them. But the catalogue tells, too, about our big cash prize offer for the Corn Club boys. It tells about our big yielding varieties of corn and cotton—the kinds we grow on our own 3,000 acre farm. It's a catalogue that ought to be in every southern home. Write today and let us send it to you.

If the question is again injected as a political issue the same sharp division of opinion will result, with all the evil effects that acrimonious debate produces. Besides which the people will again be called on to bear the same enormous expense, with no doubt of the same result before the Special Masters and the Courts.

There is in existence in the United States a body second to none in the world in judicial acumen, irreproachable integrity, profoundness of learning and absolute fairness—the Supreme Court of the United States. Why not submit the question at issue to this tribunal for final decision?

The objection has been raised by those responsible for the condition that the expense would be too great. Already approximately $200,000 of the people's money has been expended in the effort. Are the people to lose whatever benefit may be derived from that enormous expenditure?

And will not a repetition of the question as a political issue entail approximately a like expenditure? And is there any guarantee that the people or the state treasury will be any better off, financially or commercially, than they now are?

On the other hand isn't it a fair presumption that the people's money will be wasted; that the service the L. & N. seeks to render the people will be seriously interfered with; that public dissension and ill feeling will result?

This suggestion is made in what we conceive to be the best interests of all concerned. The L. & N. welcomes an investigation by the Supreme Court of the United States, and will cheerfully abide any decision rendered by that tribunal.

Are those intent upon injecting this question into politics willing to abide a similar decision? If so, why not secure that decision, and if not willing to abide that decision, why not?

We respectfully request thoughtful public consideration of this simple suggestion.

IN MEMORY.

On Friday night, Jan. 15, at 2 o'clock. the death angel visited the home of Mrs Lee Busby and bore away her dearly beloved husband to that fair home on high. He was sick in bed but a few days, but grieve not, dear ones, for our loss is Heaven's gain, and he has gone to rest. All that loving hands and faithful physicians could do was done, but the summons came from on high and must be obeyed. He passed quietly away.

He leaves a widow, two sons and one daughter and a host of relatives and friends to mourn his death.

Mr. Busby was about 83 years of age, he had been a citizen of this county for many years. His remains were laid to rest in Providence cemetery Sunday afternoon.

Our sympathies are with the entire family in this the saddest hour or their lives.

Mr. Busby will be greatly missed in this community for he was a kind and loving old man, he always met everybody with a pleasing smile. He was a kind and loving husband and father. but weep not, dear ones, for sooner or later we will go to meet him in that fair home on high. By a Friend.

No matter how miserable you are with catarrh or a cold in the head, nose stopped up, throat sore, eyes running, dull pain in the head, dry cough, fever, foul breath, Ely's Cream Balm will give you instant relief.

It gets right at the root of the trouble, cleanses, heals and strengthens the raw, sore membranes, stops the nasty discharge so that you are not constantly blowing the nose and spitting. In a few minutes after applied you can just feel it doing its work of clearing the head, the pain and soreness are relieved, the breathing becomes natural and the stuffed up feeling is gone. This cleansing, healing, antiseptic Balm contains no mercury, cocaine or other harmful drugs. It is easy to apply, pleasant to use, and never fails to give relief, even in the worst cases.

Never neglect a cold, and don't suffer the miseries of catarrh nor disgust your friends with your hawking, spitting and foul breath. Get a 50 cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist, and start the treatment at once. You will find that it will be the best investment you ever made.

Vanilla Pudding.

One and a half heaping tablespoonfuls of powdered gelatine, two cupfuls of milk, half a cupful of sugar, one cupful of whipped cream, [illegible] and one and a half teaspoonfuls of vanilla extract. Put the gelatine into a saucepan, add the milk and sugar then dissolve.

Beat up the eggs, then add the milk stirring all the time, return to the pan and stir over a slow fire till it thickens. Strain into a basin, add the vanilla extract, and when cool fold in the whipped cream. Pour into a wet mold, and when solid serve with any kind of stewed fruit.

Deviled Olive Salad.

Dissolve one package of lemon jello in one pint of boiling water. When cool add one pint of stuffed olives whole, one cup of walnut meats and two bunches of English walnut celery cut up in small pieces. Pour in mold or individual molds and set on ice till stiff. Serve with salad or cream dressing.

Baker's Ginger Snaps.

Two-thirds cup of butter, one cup each sugar and baking molasses, one teaspoonful soda dissolved in two tablespoons hot water, one-half teaspoon ginger, pinch salt, flour to make a very stiff dough, roll small piece in palm hand, place in pans five inches apart, bake in hot oven; if they fall add more flour.

Hemming Linen.

When turning a hem of linen, keep a glass of warm water at hand and dip the fingers into it frequently. The stiffness of the heavy linen will yield and the work may be accomplished very much more quickly and accurately.

Standard Cake.

Half cup of molasses, four even tablespoons butter, one-half cup milk one cup flour, three teaspoons (even) baking powder, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon cloves, one saltspoon nutmeg.

The Old Wagon Show.

The wagon show of long ago, it had a funny clown; we lined the way at break of day to see it into town. Our money went to the last cent to get us boys inside. But what of that? For hours we sat with eyes distended wide. The wagon show of long ago, it only had one ring, and we could sit close to it, and never miss a thing.

"Clean Up the [illegible] Keep Them Clean"

There are many remedies had for constipation, but the difficulty is to procure one that acts without violence. A remedy that does not perform by force what should be accomplished by persuasion is Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets. After using them, Mr. N. A. Waddell, 315 Washington St., Waco, Tex., says:

"Almost all my life I have been troubled with constipation, and have tried many remedies, all of which seemed to cause pain without giving much relief. I finally tried Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets and found them excellent. Their action is pleasant and mild, and their chocolate taste makes them easy to take. I am more than glad to recommend them."

"Clean up the bowels and keep them clean," is the advice of all physicians, because they realize the danger resulting from habitual constipation. Do not delay too long, but begin proper curative measures.

Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are a new remedy for this old complaint, and a great improvement over the cathartics you have been using in the past. They taste like candy and work like a charm. A trial will convince you.

Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are sold by all druggists, at 25 cents a box containing 25 doses. If not found satisfactory after trial, return the box to your druggist and he will return your money.

SOFT GINGER COOKIES

OLD RECIPE WORTH RETAINING IN THE MEMORY.

Cleveland Claims It as Its Own, but Rightly It Should Belong to All the World, So Here It Is.

Years ago Cleveland had a "woman's exchange" where the good cooks of the city brought doughnuts and bread and baked beans and other good things that they excelled in making. The ginger cookies they sold have left a fragrant, lasting memory behind them; no one ever speaks of the "Repository," as it was called, without saying "Do you remember the ginger cookies we used to buy there?" A Euclid avenue store still sells ginger cakes made over the old recipe: little cakes that are moist and soft and dark with spice and syrup and rich with butter, but sells them at a price that is prohibitive to even Euclid avenue residents.

A stroke of good luck has sent the original recipe to me, and now we can all have a feast of Cleveland's ginger cakes:

Two cups of dark New Orleans molasses, one cup of white sugar, one-half cup of melted butter or butter and dripping melted together. (The dripping is superior to butter in ginger cakes, most persons think.) One cup of sour milk or buttermilk, two eggs, two level teaspoons of soda, one level teaspoonful of salt, one rounded teaspoon of ginger and one of cinnamon.

Beat the shortening with the sugar, add the spices and the molasses, then the beaten eggs. Put the soda in the sour milk and add it with enough sifted flour to make a cake batter.

Bake in gem pans or in muffin tins in a moderate oven about fifteen minutes. As these are very rich they must be baked as carefully as a layer or pound cake.

Beside the ginger cakes there used to be ginger snaps "that really snapped and melted in one's mouth instead of tasting like a bill-sticker's paste," says my informant, and she kindly includes directions for making them.

Boil a pint of good New Orleans molasses, one cup of light brown sugar, two-thirds of a cup of lard or drippings and one tablespoon of dark ground ginger into a deep granite saucepan and boil until the mixture thickens considerably. Remove from the stove and cool slightly, then add a heaping teaspoon of soda dissolved in a half cup of tepid water. Cover until cool, then mix in enough sifted flour to make a soft dough. Roll very thin, cut and bake in a moderate oven."

Bakers of ginger cakes and cookies will find that there is a great difference in molasses; it used to be that one could send for "black" molasses or New Orleans syrup and use what the grocer sent with best results; now it is difficult to buy a good cooking syrup. It is either thin and light and without flavor or it is really black, strong and heavy. The proper syrup for use in ginger bread and with other concoctions containing soda is dark brown in color but bright and clear and thick. It is difficult to buy molasses in bulk in Cleveland, as it is packed in cans under dealers' labels, and it is impossible to always find the same uniform quality under the same label as the product fluctuates with each season's crop of cane —Cleveland Leader.

Something to Be Thankful For.

Michael Meehan was the proud possessor of a brand new silk high hat. At the wake of his dearest enemy he had guarded it carefully, and as a consequence was strolling home with the tile unscathed. As he passed the site of a building operation, a lady acquaintance nodded pleasantly.

With an ostentatious wave of the hat, which exhibited it to excellent advantage, Michael bowed. At the same moment a brick sailed down from an upper floor and bounced from his bared skull. Upon coming to he inquired anxiously for the hat. A bystander restored it unharmed. Mike felt the egg-sized lump on his head occasioned by the impact of the brick, and then regarded his undamaged tile. "Begorry," he sighed in satisfaction, "it's lucky it is I saw the loidy in toime!"

A Mo. man tells of his wife's "good breakfast" and also supper, made out of Grape-Nuts and cream. He says:

"I should like to tell you how much good Grape-Nuts has done for my wife. After being in poor health for the last 18 years, during part of the time scarcely anything would stay on her stomach long enough to nourish her, finally at the suggestion of a friend she tried Grape-Nuts.

"Now, after about four weeks on this delicious and nutritious food, she has picked up most wonderfully and seems as well as anyone can be.

"Every morning she makes a good breakfast on Grape-Nuts eaten just as it comes from the package with cream or milk added; and then again the same at supper and the change in her is wonderful.

BIG FIGHT COMING

FEDERAL AND STATE RIGHTS CONSERVATIONISTS LINED UP FOR BATTLE.

BRYAN CLASSED WITH FORMER

Strength of the Opposing Forces May Be Revealed First in the Matter of the Coosa River Dam in Alabama.

By GEORGE CLINTON.

Washington.—Since Gifford Pinchot made his speech to the Washington convention of men interested in forestry the other day it has become sharply apparent that a hard fight is to begin between the federal conservationists and the state right conservationists as soon as the Wilson administration begins. The representatives of the federal idea are making preparations to combat the representatives of the state rights idea and already the representatives of both have descended on the capital to prepare for the coming conflict.

In these dispatches a month ago it was said "When Woodrow Wilson takes office he will find conservation added to the tariff and the trusts to complete a trio of administration worries." Mr. Wilson is said to incline to the state rights view of the conservation matter, but his friends say he does not believe in letting go of anything over which the government has control until it is known definitely that the individual state intends to make proper use of it.

The instant that the name of a certain governor of a northwestern state was mentioned to the president-elect as a proper man for the position of secretary of the interior Mr. Wilson paid high compliment to the general character of the man proposed. This man is known as a state rights conservationist and the federal conservationists say this means that he "is a bitter opponent of any federal plan for saving to the people their natural inheritance." One of the most prominent conservationists in the country said of this possible choice of the northwesterner for the cabinet position: "His appointment would be ideally evil." These things show how wide is the difference between the leaders of the two forces.

Bryan Federalist In This.

The conservationists hope that William Jennings Bryan will be made a member of the next cabinet. As to the methods of saving the country's natural resources, Mr. Bryan and Mr. Wilson do not agree. In this matter Mr. Bryan may be called a federalist and it is the one chief matter of government policy in which, so far as is known at present, his views differ greatly from those of the incoming president. The conservationists believe that Mr. Bryan would use his influence to keep the water power, the mines and the forests out of the hands of private corporations to be exploited largely for their own benefit.

Protests are coming into Washington daily from individuals and from societies all ... the United States against the ... of the right to a private ... corporation to build a water ... on the Coosa river in Alabama ... osed, it is claimed, without proper federal regulation. The Coosa dam matter promises to be as prominent in the conservation fight as was the proposed James river, Mo., dam of some years ago. In the Missouri matter President Roosevelt intervened with a veto.

The Democratic leaders who own Alabama as a home, it is said, are in favor of giving the private corporation what it asks in the state. This means that the fight of the conservationists must be directed against a concern which has with it the influence of men high in the Democratic party's councils, who will be chiefly instrumental in framing Democratic legislation in the house of representatives, and who hold they are absolutely right in the matter in hand.

May Buy Out Express Companies.

Preparations are being made by friends of the parcel post system to attempt through congressional action to secure legislation for the purchase of the express companies and to give Uncle Sam a virtual monopoly of the package carrying business. This plan has thousands of opponents, and it may never come to the fruition, but those opposed to the scheme may as well know definitely now that the friends of the proposal are going to work persistently to secure the end which they have in view.

It is even possible that the present administration of the postoffice department may urge what can be called government ownership of the express business. The attempt which is to be made to extend the parcel post business is only to a degree a party measure. It is possible that more Democrats than Republicans favor it, but some of the strongest advocates of the proposal are Republicans who on other matters have been called conservatives.

One wonders if the public generally realizes that without any additional legislation it is within the power of Uncle Sam to enlarge the parcel post operations to an almost unlimited extent under the authority which the law gives to the postmaster general acting with the interstate commerce commission.

Hitchcock Has the Power.

The law provides that if the present system does not work well and economically and if modifications or extension of the zone system and of other provisions of the parcel post law are necessary, the postmaster general, after consultation with the interstate commerce commission, and on its approval, can make such changes by executive order as he sees fit.

It is known that Mr. Hitchcock is extremely advanced in his ideas of what the post office department should have within its jurisdiction. It is said he holds that the express companies for years have been infringing upon the natural rights of the postal service, and that therefore the taking over of the business of the companies ought to follow in order that, from the Hitchcock point of view, the government should have a monopoly in postoffice business of all kinds which he thinks belong to it.

A bill already has been prepared and introduced into congress by Representative Lewis of Maryland and Representative Goeke of Ohio looking to the ultimate taking over of the express companies by the United States government. Now it would be perfectly possible for the government, under the clause in the law which already has been quoted, gradually to extend the parcel post until the field of the express companies had been so intruded upon that they might be forced out of business without any recompense. It seems, therefore, to be the intention of the proponents of government ownership, to take another course, and to propose that the express companies' business be taken over, and that they be paid a fair sum for what they give up, and that the stockholders shall be reimbursed for their investments.

It seems likely that, if congress shall listen attentively to the proposal for the taking over of the express companies' business, dollar for dollar will be paid for all the valuable rights and properties that are received after a properly constituted board has decided the matter. It may be, and perhaps will be, that years will elapse before the sentiment of congress will allow the government to enter into the express business wholesale. Perhaps the day of such a proceeding never will come, but the plans are laid to make the attempt and the proposal has perhaps as many friends as opponents in the two houses of congress as they are at present constituted.

Useless Tariff Hearings.

Representative Oscar W. Underwood and his Democratic colleagues forming a majority of the ways and means committee already have heard the pleas and the protests on chemicals, on earthenware, glassware, metals and a host of other things and they will go on hearing "the fors" and "the againsts" on other imports until the last day of this month and then they will prepare tariff revision measures in virtually the same form as those made ready at the last session.

It is probably true that the representatives of high protection who are now in Washington to be heard by the ways and means committee fully realize that their pleas will be of no service, for they made the same pleas at the last session and then the committee went ahead and wrote such bills as seemed right from the Democratic standpoint, and this is exactly what is going to be done at the extra session. The hearings have been granted for the purpose of giving everybody a chance to say what he chooses and to allow no opportunity for anyone to complain, when the bills are presented, that only one side of the case was heard.

No "Cut to the Bone."

As has been said before, "the Democrats are not going to cut the tariff to the bone." This much is assured and no one here seems to be particularly scared over the result to business when the new laws shall come into force. The high protectionists through their representatives predict disaster, but few of the members of congress seemingly believe the predictions. At any rate the Washington legislators of the protection ranks are preserving a remarkable equanimity if they think that the precipice is just ahead and that business soon is to break its bones at the bottom of the abyss.

The tariff hearings in the house committee on ways and means will end on Friday, January 31. If Mr. Wilson shall call congress together in extra session on March 15 Mr. Underwood and his comrades will have six weeks' time in which to prepare their tariff bills. If it were not for the clerical work involved the thing could be done in a week, for a secure copying guide is to be found in many cases in the bills which went through the house last year.

Protection to Make Its Fight.

It will not surprise anybody if the representatives get through with their tariff debate by the end of the first week in April. The time of debate in the house will be limited, but Sereno E. Payne, Joseph W. Fordney and some others of the protection chieftains, will make the most of the time allotted them to speak in opposition. The protection members in the house will not let tariff legislation be enacted quickly without using every possible minute of time to get into the record in opposition. The house protectionists are utterly at outs at present with the senate protectionists in the matter of the wisdom of strenuous opposition to cutting the rates.

In the senate Mr. Penrose, Mr. Smoot and others who hold the high wall as sacred as a temple are of a mind to "let the Democrats do their worst and do it quickly." Mr. Penrose and Mr. Smoot are perhaps the only two men in the United States congress who really think that business is going to smash within a week after the Underwood bills become laws.

VOLCANO ERUPTS; THOUSANDS FLEE

SOME LOSS OF LIFE IS REPORTED NEAR GUADALAJARA, MEXICO.

TRAFFIC INTERFERED WITH

Deadly Gases Are Emitted, But Favorable Wind Saving Inhabitants.

Guadalajara, Mex.—The volcano Colima broke into eruption. Thousands of persons are fleeing from the vicinity. There has been some loss of life in the more remote settlements, it is believed.

Hundreds of refugees arrived here on a train composed of box cars which had been picked up on a siding at a near-by village. The fleeing people had found it necessary to shovel away a quantity of volcanic sand before they were able to move the cars and the train had to be stopped frequently to clear the track of debris.

Very little lava was ejected from Colima, which, however, emitted vast quantities of smoke and sand, while suffocating sulphur fumes were expelled. A northwest gale prevailed and saved a number of the refugees, as it forced the gases to pass overhead. The activity of the volcano diminished somewhat, but volcanic dust is now settling on the roofs of houses and in the streets of this city.

The railroad station agent at Zapoitlic has abandoned his post. He reported that volcanic sand covered the tracks in places to a depth of several feet. The last violent eruption of Colima occurred in 1903.

TO PROTECT AMERICANS.

Gunboat Wheeling Leaves Tampa for Vera Cruz.

Washington.—Alarmed for the safety of Americans whose lives are in jeopardy because of widespread lawlessness of Mexican rebels in Vera Cruz state and throughout southern Mexico, the state department again his called upon the navy to protect American interests in the republic.

The gunboat Wheeling is steaming from Tampa, Fla., for Vera Cruz, where Americans are said to face a graver crisis than that relieved by the cruiser Des Moines during the Diaz uprising last October.

The request from the state department to the navy came after the receipt of a long series of official reports from Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson and consuls in southern Mexico cities, all reflecting a condition of anarchy, especially in the state of Vera Cruz, where federal authorities face the problem of restoring civil order with a disorganized and divided army. Guerilla warfare, brigandage, sacking of ranches and villages and other desperate crimes place Americans and other foreign residents in a state of constant danger and the latest advices to the state department express fear of an even worse outbreak.

EFFICIENCY IN SERVICE.

President-Elect Wilson Discusses the Selection of Official Positions.

Trenton, N. J.—Efficiency in public service and the merit system rather than partisan politics will be the basis upon which President-elect Wilson will make his appointment to offices.

Governor Wilson had occasion to declare himself in this connection when a delegation of 50 men representing various labor interests made an earnest plea for the appointment of a democrat to fill the state commissionership of labor now held by a republican.

WOMEN MAY GET BALLOT.

Montana Senate Passes Bill Submitting Measure to Voters for Decision.

Helena, Mont.—With but two votes in the negative the Montana senate passed the bill submitting to the voters at the next general election an amendment giving women the ballot. The bill now goes to the house.

Returns Dime Borrowed 12 Years Ago

Denton, Texas.—Thomas Fitzpatrick, of Denton, received 30 cents by mail in payment of a 12-year-old debt of 10 cents. A note accompanying the remittance read: "About 12 years ago I borrowed a dime. With back interest and compound interest it would amount now to 30 cents, which I enclose."

THROW CHILD FROM AUTO.

Police Are Searching for Clue in Strange Case in Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga.—Police are seeking to establish the identity of two women who threw a box containing the body of a baby from a limousine into a crowd of workmen at one of the principal downtown corners. According to the report to the police a well-dressed, middle-aged woman was at the wheel of the car, the other occupant being a handsome young woman, who held the box.

Regular Bowel Movement from Childhood on Forestalls Future Serious Diseases

We cannot all start life with the advantages of money, but every child born is entitled to the heritage of good health. Through unfortunate ignorance or carelessness in the feeding of a baby its tiny stomach may become deranged. The disorder spreads to the bowels and before the mother realizes it the two chief organs on which the infant's comfort and health depend are causing it great suffering. If the condition is allowed to continue grave ailments often result.

There is, however, no occasion for alarm, and the sensible thing to do—but it should be done instantly—is to give the baby a small dose of a mild laxative tonic. In the opinion of a great many people, among them such well-known persons as the parents of Dixie Dudley, Magnolia, Ark., the proper remedy is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mrs. Earl Dudley writes: "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the best medicine I ever used. It cured my baby of flatulency colic when the doctors failed; it cured my husband of constipation. My home shall never be without Syrup Pepsin." It is a pleasant-tasting laxative, which every person likes. It is mild, non-griping, and contains that most excellent of all digestants, pepsin.

This remedy is especially intended for infants, children, women, old people and all others to whom harsh cathartics, salt waters, pills, etc., are distressing. LET GOOD CHANCE GO BY Bluffers Had Perfect Right to Be Mad, Considering the Extremely Unfortunate Circumstances.

Bluffers bounced into the club, jammed his hat down on a table with a fierce, resounding bang, and flung himself into an easy chair.

"What's wrong today, Bluffers? You look bad."

"I'll never forgive myself. I kicked a man out of my house last night!"

"Humph! I've kicked out many a one. Young fellow, I suppose?"

"No; past middle age."

"Well, these old codgers have no business to be coming round courting young girls. I would have kicked him out myself."

"Yes, but I have found out since that this man wasn't courting my daughter. He was after my mother-in-law."

HOW TO TREAT PIMPLES AND BLACKHEADS

For pimples and blackheads the following is a most effective and economical treatment: Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. At other times use Cuticura Soap freely for the toilet and bath, to assist in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores, the common cause of pimples, blackheads, redness and roughness, yellow, oily, mothy and other unwholesome conditions of the skin.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston." Adv.

Touching the Cardinal.

At the Democratic convention in Baltimore last summer two of the sergeants-at-arms were Ohioans, Col. John Bolan of Toledo and Capt. Joseph Dowling of Dayton. Bolan is the wit who laid down the maxim that "anny man who parts his hair in the middle is no Dimmycrat."

When Cardinal Gibbons had finished the opening prayer, he descended from the rostrum and made his way toward the door. As he neared the exit where the two Ohioans were on guard, Bolan whispered:

"Joe, touch him whin he passes ye."

"All right, colonel," replied Dowling, with an inocent air. "What pocket has he got it in?"—Popular Magazine.

Man's Preference.

Miss Lillian Hill, lecturing on eugencies in Cleveland, said:

"It is a good thing for the human race that beauty counts for more than intellect when it comes to love. Intellect too often means nerves—insomnia—hypochondria.

"Yes, it is a good thing for the human race that, as an old maid from Vassar put it rather bitterly:

"'Men prefer a well formed girl to a well informed one.'"

Rather Formal.

"Are you on friendly terms with your neighbor in the apartments?"

"Well, no. She's rather formal. Always sends her card when she wishes to borrow flour, and if she wants both flour and sugar she sends two cards."

Too Much.

"Yes, and Wall street is trying to shut it up."

Extremes.

"Because his salary has just been cut down."

Three Important Factors to Be Considered From the Standpoint of the Farmers' Club.

It seems to me that there are three important factors in marketing farm products that we can consider from the standpoint of the Farmers' club, says a writer in the Farm, Stock and Home. To market farm products we must have quantity. We have got to have quantity enough to make it worth the other fellow's while to give us the best possible price he can for that product. We have got to have quantity enough so that it is an object to him to get it from us, and avoid the trouble of picking it up from 20 or 200 people. It is a great expense to buy a carload from a dozen or fifteen people. It is a great deal cheaper to buy it from one man. You can afford to pay that one man a better price. One of the things we want to strive for is to have a large quantity of something for sale so that we can interest the dealer.

The second thing we want is uniformity. We want a large quantity of a uniform product. The best illustration of this is our co-operative creameries. Years ago where 200 farmers were each marketing $10, $15 or $20, or $50 worth of butter, and each one was making a different kind of butter, different in color, flavor and appearance, we didn't get the top price for that butter. The man we sold it to, the middleman, wasn't to blame. He couldn't take the mixed up product and handle it to good advantage. We have changed all that. We have a creamery, all that butter made in one place under uniform conditions with the best machinery and equipment. A man who doesn't do anything but study how to make the best kind of butter is at the head of the plant. As a consequence, we have in our co-operative creameries from $10,000 to $15,000 worth of uniform product from our dairy cows, all controlled by one man, so far as selling is concerned, with the result that the price farmers get for butter-fat on the farm is almost the same as the price city people have to pay for butter. There isn't a big margin between the farmer and the consumer in the butter market. The butter market is in the best condition of any of the farm products. It seems to be handled in the most business-like way. We have a large quantity of a uniform product.

The third point in marketing is to place the man who has something to sell on an equal basis with the man who has something to buy. If a man drives to town with a load of hogs, he is somewhat handicapped. He pretty neary has to sell them, or haul them back at considerable expense, or keep them where they are a still greater expense. It is especially true if he takes a carload of cattle to the stockyards. He can't pay for feeding ...ping that stock. He has got to sell it right there, and then at whatever price he can get for it. If there is some organization or arrangement by which the man who has a product to sell can offer that for sale and still be perfectly free to refuse the offer, he is in a better position than he is if he has got to take that offer. So if we can bring the buyer to the seller, or in some way level up that inequality between the seller and the buyer, we are going to benefit the man who has something to sell and not injure the man who has something to buy. We don't wont to kill off all the middlemen or fight the commission people.

We need to organize so that we can handle our products on a business basis. To illustrate. Take the Farmers' club in Meeker county. One of the things it is doing is to develop a livestock shipping association. They shipped a small amount of stock the first year and have gradually grown until last year they handled $117,000 of livestock. One man sold out of that community, the representative foreman, $117,000. And it actually cost the farmers in that community for this one man's wages, a little bit over one per cent., or something less than $1,200 annually for handling that whole $117,000 worth of business.

Live Stock and Fertility.

It is not impossible to build up a worn farm without making live stock raising a feature, but it is a great deal easier to do it with live stock, and, we think, unquestionably more profitable, says Farm and Ranch. Live stock raising requires a diversified system of crops, especially of legumes, which greatly assist in restoring the land in nitrogen, the element most likely to be needed; the animals consume the feed raised on the farm and reduce the loss in fertility elements by returning to the soil the manure from animals.

Discard Poor Poultry.

If there are good reasons for reducing poultry stock, the following is recommended: Reduce by discarding all inferior, unthrifty and aged specimens. Dispose of surplus male birds. ...se eat food and give no return; ... also occupy space which should ...ccupied by profit-making pullets. ... one breed and specialize.

...conomy in Liberal Feeding.

...nomy on the farm, as well as ... other business, is admirable. ...conomy demands that you get ... drop of butter fat possible ...very cow. In other words, the ...t economy comes from feed ... cow to her greatest capacity ...ing a cow which will make ... use of her feed.

Amateur Palmist Had Other Lines of Information Which Aided Her In Revelations.

The fair amateur palmist looked at the left hand of the sweet girl long and earnestly. Breathlessly she waited for the palmist's next words.

"Ah! I see by your hand that you are engaged to be married," said the palmist. "And," continued the reader of the future and the past, in a more cutting tone, "I see that you are engaged to Mr. Mooney."

"Oh! It's perfectly extraordinary," burst out the blushing girl. "How can you know that?"

"By my long study of the science," was the reply.

"But surely the lines on my hand—cannot tell you the na——"

"Who said anything about lines?" replied the prophetic one, with withering scorn. "You are wearing the engagement ring I returned to him three weeks ago."

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Miss Duncan, of Oklahoma, Makes New Plain Statements For Publication in Interest of Women.

Chapel, Okla.—"Please print this letter," writes Miss Mollie Duncan of this place, "as it may reach and help some poor suffering woman.

For 17 years I had been afflicted with womanly troubles, and had tried different treatments, but none of them helped me any. I suffered so much I could hardly bear it.

I had such drawing-down pains, and a pain in my side. Also headache and those awful dizzy spells. I was very weak, and could not be up, at times. I decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I will say I am not sorry that I did, for it helped me wonderfully. I feel like an entirely new person. I can wash all day now, and attend to my other household duties, and not feel tired when night comes.

I intend to keep Cardui in the house just as long as I live, for it has done me so much good."

Cardui is the ideal tonic remedy for women. Its ingredients are especially adapted for women's needs. It soothes pain, helps weakness, nervousness, dragging sensations, headache, backache and other symptoms of womanly trouble.

Cardui is purely vegetable, and has no bad after-effects. Is good for young and old.

"Yes," laughed the girl with the pink parasol, "he is the slowest young man I ever saw."

"In what way, dear?" asked his chum.

"Why, he asked for a kiss and I told him I wore one of those knotted veils that took so long to loosen."

"And what did he do?"

"Why, the goose took time to untie the knot."—Mack's Monthly.

Nice Distinction.

"Pa, what is patriot?"

"That depends, my son. In the time of George Washington, he was a man who walked barefoot on snow and ice to serve his country. Now he is one who does it by getting a job."

The Height of Absurdity.

"You scheme is foolish."

"Foolish?"

"Yes, sir, absolutely foolish. As foolish as—well, as foolish as the libretto of a grand opera."

Better Way.

"Does your wife raise a rumpus when you stay away from home at night?"

"No; but she does when I get home."

Some of the blame for the lies we tell ought to be charged up to the people who ask our candid opinion.

WHERE WE FIND EMERALDS

Famous Muzo Mines in the Republic of Colombia Produce Finest Gems.

The finest emeralds are found in the Republic of Colombia, at the famous Muzo mines in the department of Boyaca, seventy miles north by west of Bogota, which have been worked since 1553. The Spaniards mined there in the middle of the sixteenth century, but withdrew after a time, owing to continual fighting with the Indians; with the result that for awhile the locality of the mines was unknown. They are now worked by an English company, in partnership with the government. The emeralds at Muzo occur in calcite veins running through black carboniferous limestone in all directions and at all angles. Often the limestone is covered with earth, in which bushes and trees are growing; this has to be cleared before prospecting is possible. When calcite veins have been located, the side of the hill is dug away in "banks," usually by Indians, whose chief tool is a steel bar forged to a point at one end. The pieces of calcite vein are examined superficially for emeralds, and are then set aside for conveyance to the sorting-shed, where a detailed examination is made, and the emeralds are divided into fifteen grades according to color, transparency, size, freedom from flaws, and so on.

Mark Twain and T. R.

Augustus Thomas, the playwright, kept the mirth alive with story after story. One had reference to a game in which the players, so Mr. Thomas said, were Colonel Roosevelt, the late Mark Twain and himself.

"In the course of the game Colonel Roosevelt talked much of war," said Mr. Thomas. "And I remember him turning to Mark Twain and asking him if it were true that the bravest men were nervous when they faced the enemy, and Mark Twain, being an old confederate soldier, replied: 'Yes, that is quite true, for I remember vividly to this day that I had the quality of maintaining it all through the engagement.'"—New York Sun.

Familiar to "Mike."

"No," said Mike, "ze genzelman has ze bill for you."

When the bill was produced the palm reader forgot his Hindoo ancestors and a stream of perfect English swear words poured from his lips.

Her Advice.

"Reginald," says the beauteous object of his adoration, "I happened to read in the paper that sugar has gone away up in price, and for that reason candy is more expensive. I just think you are extravagant to keep bringing me a pound every time you call."

"I am glad to do it, darling," avows Reginald.

"I know you are, but you must learn to be economical. Papa told mamma to buy sugar by the barrel and get it cheaper, so maybe you would better buy candy for me the same way."

Trend of Times.

Ex-Governor Pennypacker, discussing the divorce evil in Philadelphia, said, with a smile:

"In these times one never, as the saying goes, knows where one is at. An acquaintance of mine extended his hand to me at the Historical society the other day and cried:

"'Congratulate me! I am the happiest man alive!'

"I looked at him doubtfully.

"'Engaged, married or divorced?' I asked."—New York Tribune.

Cleverness Required.

"In these days of high-cost living," said Representative De Forest, the sponsor of the bill for pensioning ex-presidents, "we hear of many queer economics.

"On a street car the other day, at the end of a discussion on saving and retrenchment, a lady said decisively:

"'Oh, any woman can cut her husband's hair; but, believe me, it takes a clever one to cut it so that other women's husbands will suspect nothing'"

SOME ADVANTAGES AFFORDED BY THORSBY.

Thorsby is a small town of between 600 and 700 inhabitants, located on the L. & N. R. R. midway between Birmingham and Montgomery, and about eight miles north of Clanton, the county seat. The town occupies the highest point of a gravelly plateau, 790 feet above the sea, is as healthy a place as is to be found in central Alabama.

The people of Thorsby are from several States and also of several nationalities but native Alabamians predominate. The land around Thorsby is nearly all divided into small farms of five and ten acre tracts, some of which can be purchased for a very small amount in comparison to their value as farming lands.

There is no place in the State that is better adapted to the growing of strawberries than Thorsby. Last year there were about one hundred acres in strawberries which yielded more than six thousand, twenty-four quart, crates of berries which netted the farmers over $11,000. They also raised about seven hundred sacks of Irish potatoes that sold for approximately $1,000. There were also a large number of crates of peaches, plums, grapes, and asparagus shipped which added several dollars to the farmers crops of corn and cotton.

There is no town in Chilton county that has better school advantages than Thorsby. We run a free public school here seven months in the year and a standard high school for nine months in the year. The public school has three teachers and one hundred and twelve pupils this year and the Thorsby Institute has six teachers and eighty-one pupils. The Institute is equipped with a Library of over three thousand volumes which are acessible to the pupils and also the people of the town and a Laboratory equipment valued at over $400. The institute is an affiliated school of the State University and I feel that the boys and girls of this county can get as good preparation for life or for college as is to be obtained at almost any high school in this section of the State.

Thorsby has three churches, a Baptist, a United Protestant (Congregational) and a Lutheran. All of these churches have good Sunday schools and the ladies of each maintain a good Society for each.

Thorsby has five dry goods stores, three grocery stores, a feed store, a drug store, hardware store, two meat markets, a good livery stable, two blacksmith shops, a hotel, a grist mill, planing mill, a large gin, two brick yards, two barber shops, a large chicken farm, a flower farm comprising three large green houses, and several dairy farms, and a nice bank.

Thorsby does not have an electric plant but the Town has recently put in a large Acetylene Gas Plant which furnishes gas to light the streets and residences. The Town also owns its own water works, it is out of commission just now but the Town Council has authorized the lowering of a new four inch well which will furnish the town with water at a very small cost. There is not a town in Alabama the size of Thorsby that has as nice residences as we have here.

I feel sure that any one desiring to locate in central Alabama can not make a mistake in settling at Thorsby.

PROGRESSIVEISM.

The result of the recent election in Chilton county has had a tendency to cause some other portions of the state and several metropolitan newspapers outside the state to "sit up and take notice," and some are giving expression to the thought that "the people are waking up" and doing some thinking on their own account, and getting out of the habit of voting the democratic ticket (or any other for that matter) just because their folks have always done so. These are hopeful signs and the best of it is that the man or woman who ceases to be bound by traditions at once becomes an uplifting force in the community. A person whose gray matter is so meagre that there is room for but one idea is not apt to be a leader who will discover better methods in any direction, but for lack of ability to look at a matter on all sides will be afraid to venture out of the beaten path trod by his ancestors, while the conditions which surrounded them are as dead as themselves.

New conditions demand new thoughts and processes, and because of hesitation and timidity, fearing to venture, untold wealth in undeveloped resources are lying all around us. But the slow processes of evolution are at work, it is only necessary to look back, say ten years, to note some steps of progress that are worth while. In the matter of our educational facilities, the foundation of mind training and thought stimulus, there has been remarkable progress. Some three or four years ago the writer photographed every school house within ten miles of Thorsby, and there was not one that had not either been rebuilt to double its former capacity, or built entirely new within a very short time previously; in short, he succeeded in catching but one of the "passing type" just before it was demolished so as not to deface the spacious grounds of the splendid new $1000 building. These improved facilities have also created a demand for more efficient teachers to occupy them and better equipment, until today our schools are a credit to the county and its people, who will continue to progress along all lines as the light of intelligence dissipates the mists of ignorance.

Most of us can remember how Stock Law has been fought by those who objected to any innovations that would disturb the order of things that had existed since "befo' th' wah," but now that stock law prevails in nearly every beat in Chilton county, any man who would suggest that it should be repealed would be regarded as "a back number." One form of progress that very much needs to be cultivated in Chilton county is co-operation among people of the various communities. Men and women must learn to believe in their town and their neighbors. Individually we can do a little for improvement, but collectively results can be obtained that now seem impossible, and there surely is need for improvement in many directions which can only be achieved by having confidence in one another.

There can be no progress among people who refuse to make any change in their methods or habits. The boys and girls of Alabama today are the leaders or at least the apt students, of new ways of doing things, and some of their accomplishments read like fairy stories Individuals and communities are making wonderful progress because they have had the foresight and courage to grasp opportunities that came within their reach, while their neighbors plod on in the same old way and get no-try has bee... of an adjacent county who have grown hundreds of acres of a crop which is as valuable as either corn or cotton and much easier grown. Chilton county is wonderfully well adapted to this crop and it would require but a small investment to provide a good home market at top prices. To progressive people of Chilton county I shall be glad to explain. S. E. Norton, Thorsby, Ala.

SOUTHERN MANHOOD.

The bunch of "prize corn boys" who have gone on from Alabama to the Corn Exposition at Columbia, S. C., are perhaps the truest exponents of Southern manhood the State has ever sent out. She has never been lacking in noble representatives who have made a good name abroad, but this lot of boys represents a class, no individual of which need make a name in the world, but which will build up Alabama to a high rank. They are the boys who work and who think as they work.

They are the boys who will make a profession of farming and will not have to forsake the farm to scramble into the overcrowded ranks of the "professions."

You would scarcely find among them one who would be willing to become a town loafer, "sport," or "tin-horn gambler" such ... specimens in our towns come ... even while they still boast of their Southern manhood."

All honor to the Corn Boys; may their tribe increase

TEMPERANCE DAY.

The State School Superintendent has designated Friday, February 21st, as Temperance Day in the schools of the State. How many professional base ball men can you find who, after they were forced out, ever amounted to anything?

The athletic features, carried to excess as they are in some schools and colleges, do not tend to develop the truest manhood.

NEWSPAPER CONTESTS.

We agree with Brother Darby of the Rockford Chronicle in saying that most of the newspaper contests are frauds, pure and simple.—Tuskegee News.

Here are two more papers who agree with us in our estimate of the aforesaid contests. From our observation of them at close range we feel warranted in saying that they are based upon deception as to the value of the prizes, and the management of them is placed in the hands of unscrupulous directors who have no regard whatever for the truth. The prizes offered are not worth honestly working for, and the community is annoyed by a lot of youngsters begging without regard to modesty.

The newspapers are not really benefitted, say many who have tried the schemes, for a large proportion of the money received has to go to the "managers," who are not down here for their health, and the paper has to carry a lot of subscribers, many of whom are not interested in the paper and will not renew.

RHEUMATIC ADVICE

Prominent Doctor's Best Prescription Easily Mixed at Home.

"From your druggist get one ounce of Toris compound (in original sealed package) and one ounce of syrup of Sarsaparilla compound. Take these two ingredients home and put them into a half pint of good whiskey. Shake the bottle and take a tablespoonful before each meal and at bedtime." This is said to be the quickest and best remedy known to the medical profession for rheumatism and backache. Good results come after the first dose. If your druggist does not have Toris compound in stock he will get it for you in a few hours from his wholesale house. Don't be influenced to take a patent medicine instead of this. Insist on having the genuine Toris compound in the original one-ounce, sealed, yellow package. Hundreds of the worst cases were cured here by this prescription last winter. Published by the Globe Pharmaceutical laboratories of Chicago.

BIG PROBLEM IS BEING STUDIED

EXPLANATION OF WORK BUREAU OF SOCIAL HYGIENE HOPES TO ACCOMPLISH.

ABOLISH WHITE SLAVE TRADE

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Tells of the Plans for the Investigation of Vice Conditions.

New York.—In order that the public might better understand the Bureau of Social Hygiene, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., gave out a statement explaining the origin, work and the plans of that institution. The bureau, he said, came into existence about two years ago as a result of the work of a special grand jury appointed to investigate the white slave traffic in New York City. This jury recommended that a public commission be appointed to study the social evil.

Mr. Rockefeller was foreman of that grand jury and he thereafter gave the subject deep thought and conferred with a large number of the leading men and women. "These conferencese," says Mr. Rockefeller, "developed the feeling that a public commission would labor under a number of disadvantages such as the fact that it would be short lived; that its work would be done publicly; that at best it could hardly do more than present recommendations. So the conviction grew that in order to make a real and lasting improvement in conditions, a permanent organization should be created, the continuation of which would not be dependent upon a temporary wave of reform, nor upon the life of any man or group of men, but which would go on, generation after generation, continuously making warfare against the forces of evil. It also appeared that a private organization would have, among other advantages, a certain freedom from publicity and from political bias, which a public appointed commission could not so easily avoid.

"Therefore, as the initial step, in the winter of 1911 the Bureau of Social Hygiene was formed. Its present members are Miss Katharine Bement Davis, superintendent of the New York state reformatory for women at Bedford Hills, N. Y.; Paul M. Warburg of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.; Starr J. Murphy of the New York bar, and John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

"One of the first things undertaken by the bureau was the establishment at Bedford Hills, adjacent to the reformatory, of a labratory of social hygiene, under Miss Davis' direction. In this laboratory it is proposed to study from the physical, mental, social and moralside each person committed to the reformatory. This study will be carried on by experts and each case will be kept under observation for from three weeks to three months, as may be required. When the diagnosis is completed, it is hoped that the laboratory will be in position to recommend the treatment most likely to reform the individual, or, if reformation is impossible to recommend permanent custodial care. Furthermore, reaching out beyond the individuals involved, it is believed that thus important contributions may be made to a fuller knowledge of the conditions ultimately responsible for vice. If this experiment is successful the principle may prove applicable to all classes of criminals and the conditions precedent to crime and lead to lines of action not only more scientific and humane, but also less wasteful than those at present followed."

That its work might be done intelligently the bureau employed George J. Kneeland to make a comprehensive survey of vice conditions in New York, and Abraham Flexner to study the social evil in Europe, and these reports are now being prepared.

In conclusion Mr. Rockefeller's statement says: "It cannot be too strongly emphasized that the spirit which dominates the work of the bureau is not sensational or sentimental or hysterical; that it is not a spirit of criticism of public officials; but that it is essentially a spirit of constructive suggestion and of deep scientific as well as humane interest in a great world problem."

Plans Approved for Gettysburg Camp

Washington.—Secretary of War Stimson has approved plans formulated by Maj. James E. Normoyle, and Capt. H. F. Dalton, for the mammoth camp to shelter survivors of the Confederate and Union armies who will meet at Gettysburg battlefield next July to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the battle. The camp will consis of about 54,000 tents, affording accommodations for between 60,000 and 70,000 veterans. There also will consist of about 54,000 tents, a plete divisional field hospital.

BRYAN IS ASSURED PLACE IN CABINET

HE IS PREPARED TO ACCEPT THE SECRETARYSHIP OF STATE.

CANCELS LECTURE DATES

Announcement Is Unofficial and Probably Will Be Denied, But It Is True, International News Service.

Washington.—At last it is an established fact that William J. Bryan is to be appointed secretary of state by President Wilson. Although this statement is unofficial, it is none the less true, and any official denials that will be made will simply be denials as a matter of policy.

Mr. Bryan has received an intimation that he is the choice of President Wilson for secretary of state, and is preparing to accept the portfolio. He has canceled all his lecture engagements after March 4, so that he may be absolutely free to assume his new duties.

Ever since the election the rumor has been persistent that Mr. Bryan would go into the cabinet, probably as head of the state department, but President-Elect Wilson, although he has never said that Mr. Bryan would not be a member of the cabinet, has consistently denied that he had selected any member of his official family.

Mr. Wilson and Mr. Bryan held a long conference at Trenton about a month ago, but at its close both denied that the Spirit of ...ness.

Every community has the offish, silent, non-communicative, apparently grouchy man. He is shunned by his neighbors until he gradually becomes almost as isolated as one left on a desert island, so far as intercourse with his fellowman is concerned.

You know such a man, perhaps several. I've known hundreds of that sort, and I, too, in the long ago left him alone. But years, experience and a little of the milk of human kindness long since made me change that policy.

Did you ever try laying aside your prejudices and distaste for that silent, grouchy neighbor and seek him out in a spirit of real friendliness, showing him that you had human interest in him and his affairs, to find to your astonishment that he wasn't a bad sort by any means?

Were you amazed and gratified to find that he warmed under your advances and you found him a pretty good chap, eager to talk and anxious to show that he could be and wanted to be a real neighbor and friend? You were also more or less upset to find that he was a man of ideas, of worthwhile opinions and you wondered why anybody could have thought him a grouch. And then you told your neighbors that you had found out that old Bill Jones was a good fellow and you were so glad that you had talked with him and become his friend!

The world is full of lonely men—men shy and retiring by nature, who respond to proper approach from others, but have none of the art of seeking and communicating with his fellowman. Many a man literally starves for human companionship and friendship because you and I are too selfish, too deeply rooted in our predjudices, too self-centered to hunt him out—and the kink in his own makeup prevents him seeking you.

Did you ever stop to think what a friendly hand-clasp, a kindly word might mean to some man? I have seen a man broken, discouraged, thinking the hand of every man against him, break into a happy smile at a cheerful greeting and go away head uplifted and with renewed courage and faith and hope after a few friendly words. Human friendliness and neighborliness are about the cheapest of human assets, but are tunctions too seldom invoked in this day of rush and hurry and unthinking selfishness.

I still believe there is more human friendliness in the world than is manifest, because we are too much wrapped up in our selfish purposes and aims. But it is a quality that can die of the breast by lack of exercise.

Hunt for the lonely and offish neighbor. You will help him and in helping him perhaps help yourself most.

The farmer is often by nature and environment silent, uncommunicative, because, unlike his city neighbor, he is isolated and must of necessity live much of his life shut off from others Yet there are exaggerated types o even this sort, and this is the one I have in mind—the loneliest of the lonely men.

I want you to make one New Year resolution, and that is to seek this man out. Show him you are really and humanly interested in him, his family, his farm, his horses, cows, pigs, all the things that go to make up the life of the tiller of the soil. You are going to be amazed to find often that you have a good neighbor and a friend worth while in that man.

Just remember you are pretty selfish and offish yourself, and the job won't be so unpleasant after all. And the glo.y you will feel over a deed well done will more than repay you.

C. S. BARRETT.

Union, City, Ga.

FARMERS ARE CO-OPERATNG

Over Three Million of Tillers of Soil Have United in Many Helpful Associations.

It is a most gratifying fact, though not generally known, that during the past twelve years the co-operative movement among farmers has grown so rapidly that there are now 75,000 economic associations with a membership considerably over 3,000,000.

There are but 6,100,000 farms in cultivation and in this number more than one-half are represented in these co-operative associations. Among the great number of co-operative associations are insurance companies against fire, injury and death to live stock. These insurance companies will not have over 2,000,000 stockholders.

For the most part they are well managed and have accumulated a surplus which is large for safeguarding of the interest of the stockholders and for the payments of losses.

The 3,000,000 farmers in the co-operative associations are bonded in associations large and small for economical manufacturing of butter, cheese-making, irrigation, the warehousing of grain and cotton and the building of telephone lines.

Perhaps the greatest benefit comes from co-operation by selling. Supplies are bought wholesale at often manufacturer's prices and selling is conducted through organizations whose business methods are yearly adding millions to the profits of the ...rmers.

IDEA ANNOYED OLD GOLDE

He Knew From Experience That College Education by No Means Unfitted Boy for Work.

"Woodrow Wilson naturally believes in a college education for boys and girls alike," said a banker at the Princeton club in New York.

"Mr. Wilson, lunching with me here, once said in his quaint way that the old idea about a college education unfitting a lad for work had quite died out.

"When Gobsa Golde's son Scattergood," he explained, desired to go to Princeton, he said to the old man:

"'Pater, is it true that boys who go to college are unfit for work afterward?'

"'Of course it ain't true!' snorted the old man indignantly. 'Why, I've got a Princeton graduate runnin' my freight elevator, two of my best coal heavers are Harvard A. B.'s and a Yale B. S. is my star truck driver."

ETERNAL LAW OF CONTRARIES.

"Do you ever give your husband Christmas hints?"

"Of course I do."

"Do you? Why, the least hint makes my husband so mad!"

"Pooh! you don't know the combination. I tell my husband I don't want what I do want, and then I get it."

ECZEMA FOR TEN YEARS

1809 Little Walsh St., Baltimore, Md.—"I was afflicted with eczema for about ten years, the most tormenting and agonizing. It was dry eczema, all itching. It was scratch, scratch, scratch and burn, burn, burn. By scratching I brought sores which scabbed. I tried all remedies which I knew or heard of; some gave me temporary relief, but none permanent cure. I couldn't sleep for scratching, after which there was burning. I saw the advertisement for free samples of Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and wrote for them. They did me good immediately and I then bought a box of Cuticura Ointment and a cake of Cuticura Soap. I was cured in two weeks." (Signed) George Wooden, Jan. 21, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston." Adv.

SHE KNEW BETTER.

"Did your wife give you particular fits because you come home at 3 o'clock the other morning?"

"No, she didn't say a word. It's too near Christmas."

Worldly—and True.

Apropos of Miss Lois Campbell's "billion-dollar debut" in St. Louis, Claude H. Wetmore, the author, said:

"The marvelous growth and prosperity of our city is a phenomenon that holds the eye of all America. Before such wealth as ours one thinks involuntarily of the worldly cynicism:

"'There are other things in the world besides money—and money will buy them all."

She Knows.

"You never thank a man for giving you a seat in a street car." "Not any more," replied Miss Cayene. "I used to until I noticed that almost invariably he was going to get out at the next corner anyhow."

DOWN TO THE BARE FACTS

Young Minister's Passion for Self-Sacrifice Had Results That Might Have Been Anticipated.

The announcement of Miss Helen Miller Gould's betrothal led one of the charity workers of New York to say:

"Marriage itself will not be able to quench Miss Gould's passion for giving. Apropos to this passion, she once told me a story.

"There was a young minister, the story ran, who, being poor and having nothing else to give, used to give away his clothes.

"The young minister's district contained many needy men, and he would give them shoes and socks, shirts and coats, gloves, overcoats and trousers.

"Yes, time and again he would give away his clothes, foolishly and recklessly, piece by piece, until—"

Here the charity worker smiled.

"Until," she ended, "he came to himself!"

Not on the Program.

A little four-year-old girl, whose parents had been discussing an approaching meeting in connection with the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, begged to be taken. Her mother explained that the meeting would not amuse her, but she persisted in her demand, and finally her mother agreed to take her if she promised to be very quiet.

She was very good throughout the greater part of the proceedings, but after listening patiently to the speeches for some time she whispered to her mother:

"Mummy, this is dull! When is the cruelty going to begin?"

What They Bought.

The teacher, after telling the Christmas story, was questioning the infant class.

"Now, who can tell me what the wise men brought to the baby Jesus?" she asked.

Six-year-old Alexander waved a chubby hand.

"I know, teacher! Gold an' Lincoln cents an' myrrh," he triumphantly exclaimed.

CLAIMS BABEK SAVED HIS LIFE.
Mr. Chas. W. Miller, of Washington, D. C., writes of Elixir Babek:
"I can heartily testify to the virtue of your preparation known as Babek, as I consider that it was the means of my recovery from a bad case of intermittent fever and the saving of my life."
What it did for him it can do for you. If you suffer from any form of malaria. Elixir Babek, 50 cents, all druggists, or Kloczewski & Co., Washington, D.C. Adv.

Just Because.

"Why was the beauty doctor so angry with Anna?"

"Because she told him she was coming to him to get a few wrinkles."

TO DRIVE OUT MALARIA AND BUILD UP THE SYSTEM
Take the Old Standard GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. You know what you are taking. The formula is plainly printed on every bottle, showing it is simply Quinine and Iron in a tasteless form, and the most effectual form. For grown people and children, 50 cents. Adv.

Place for Them.

"Where do they try electrical cases?"

"I don't know, but it ought to be in the circuit court."

DOES YOUR HEAD ACHE?
Try Hicks' CAPUDINE. It's liquid—pleasant to take—effects immediate—good to prevent Sick Headaches and Nervous Headaches also. Your money back if not satisfied. 10c., 25c. and 50c. at medicine stores. Adv.

A man may worship the woman beautiful, but he usually marries the woman dutiful.

Have You a Disordered Stomach and Liver?

Do you start the day feeling that the whole world is against you? You cannot hope to "make good" under these circumstances. Nobody can. You must have a clear brain and every organ in perfect trim to do justice to yourself.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

Will Bring Quick Relief

Dr. R. V. Pierce found years ago that a glyceric extract of Golden Seal and Oregon grape roots, queen's root and bloodroot with black cherry bark, would aid in the assimilation of the food in the stomach, correct liver ills and in nature's own way enrich the blood, tone the entire system and consequently help in the restoration of perfect health. Many who have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery testify that they have been restored to health when suffering from stomach and liver ills. Let this famous old medicine start today to lead you to health and strength.

Now—if you prefer—you can obtain Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription tablets of your druggist at $1 per box, also in 50c size or send 50 one-cent stamps to R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, for a trial box.

You can learn all about hygiene, anatomy, medicine, etc., from the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, by Dr. R.V. Pierce, a newly revised, up-to-date edition of which is now offered, in cloth covers, post-paid, for 31 cents in one-cent stamps, to cover cost of wrapping and mailing only. Address, Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't be poisoned by sluggish bowels. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar coated, tiny granules.

The Best Physicians Gave Him Up

"I was attacked with a severe nervous disease, which was caused by a disordered stomach and liver," writes Mr. JAS. D. LIVELY, of Washburn, Tenn., Route 2, Box 33. "All my friends thought I would die and the best physicians gave me up. I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and derived much benefit from same. My case had run so long, it had become so chronic, that nothing would effect a permanent cure, but Dr. Pierce's medicine has done much for me, and I highly recommend it. I heartily advise its use as a spring tonic and further advise ailing people to take Dr. Pierce's medicines before their diseases have run so long that there is no chance to be cured."

Feed Your Crops Available Potash

Insoluble plant foods are cheap in the beginning but may be dear in the end. We feel good when we hear that the soil contains enough Potash to raise 5000 crops, but we feel tired when we discover that it will take 1000 years or so to make it available. We will be converted into plant food ourselves long before that.

POTASH The acids derived from green manure may make insoluble phosphate of lime more available. But the feldspathic Potash in the soil is less soluble in these acids than in the slightly alkaline waters of the best soils. A little soil Potash becomes available yearly, but not enough to provide for profitable crops.

Crops have two periods of Potash hunger. One just after germination and the other when starch formation is most rapid—when the grain is filling. Rational fertilization requires ample available Potash at these periods and if you provide it you will find that Potash Pays. Send for our pamphlet on making fertilizers.

THE FLYING AGE.

"How old is De Swift's youngest child?"

"It can't be more than a year old. It's just learning to fly."

The Smile.

The girl who smiles too much makes as great a mistake as she who smiles too little, for though she may be only actuated by an honest desire to please, she lays herself open to the charge of insincerity. A smile can transform a plain face into loveliness, but it only does this when it is the outcome of some special emotion, and not a mere aimless parting of the lips. "Smiling to order," or on any and every occasion, is fatal to charm, and should be carefully avoided.

Certainly Not.

"Sir, are you opposed to votes for women?"

"Certainly not; but if women had the ballot, then suffragettes would want it, too."—Illinois Siren.

Since October 16.

"How's things in Boston?"

"I hear they have added a frieze of baseball bats to the public library."

She is a smart girl who can transform a yawn into a smile.

CLANTON MATTERS

LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

THE MENINGITIS SCARE.

This is now practically over; no new cases have developed and the feeling of alarm has largely subsided. Of course it is important that precautionary measures be still observed and cases isolated; with this there is every reason to hope that we will hear of no more cases.

IMPROVEMENTS AT THE RAILROAD DEPOT.

Last week the L. & N. had an engineer here making surveys for some needed track improvements. The water tank will be moved from its present position and the short spur track will be made into a siding or "team track." which will be a great convenience in loading and unloading cars.

FOX & CO.

This firm, with the genial Wm W. Fox as manager have established in Clanton a Real Estate and Rental Agency which already has a good foundation and will do much toward marketing real estate around here. They propose to make the merits of this country known abroad and can handle real estate to better advantage than the owners can. They promise to be an important factor in the building up of this section and they are reliaple men.

A HANDSOME STORE.

The new store erected by the Johnstons on Main street for Kemp Bros. is about the most striking and well designed store on the street. It is of generous proportions, well lighted and fitted up in good style. The men who now occupy it, Kemp Bros. are well known as thoroughgoing business men and the brand new stock of everything which they are now opening will be a delight to the buyers of this section. They ask us to extend a cordial invitation to the readers of the Union-Banner to come nd see them.

I have just purchased at wholesale for private use a barrel of fine Automobile Engine Cylinder Oil which retails for 75c a gallon. I will sell out part of it at a close price of 60c a gallon in 5 gal. lots (or less) or 55c in 10 gal. lots. If you own an automobile or stationery gasolene engine it will pay you to buy some of this fine fireproof oil at the above prices.

Free Flower Seed For Readers of This Newspaper

We want to get in closer touch with you personally and with the people of this county. We want you to know what the great southern seed house, H. G. Hastings & Co., of Atlanta, is doing for the whole south in scientific plant-growing and agriculture.

With this idea in view, we have decided to offer to each reader of this newspaper a magnificent collection of flower seed, sent absolutely free to our customers. Write at once for our big free illustrated catalogue, being sure to mention the name of this newspaper. We pay the postage. The catalogue will tell you all about the way to take advantage of the free flower seed offer.

You should have flowers about your home. Our wives and daughters take naturally to flowers. This offer is made especially for them because we know it will interest them. But the catalogue tells, too, about our big cash prize offer for the Corn Club boys. It tells about our big yielding varieties of corn and cotton—the kinds we grow on our own 3,000 acre farm. It's a catalogue that ought to be in every southern home. Write today and let us send it to you.

A mean stuffy cold, with hoarse wheezy breathing is just the kind that runs into bronchitis or pneumonia. Don't trifle with such serious conditions but take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly. Quick and beneficial results are just what you can expect from this great medicine. It sooths and heals the inflamed air passages. It stops the hoarse racking cough. Upchurch Drug Co.

CUT THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

W. H. Chapman. Winnebago, Neb., tells how he did it. "My two children had a very bad cough and the doctor's medicines did them no good. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and before it was all used the children were free and cured of their cough. I saved a doctor's bill for one 25c bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound." No piates. Upchurch Drug Co.

Mr. Morgan, representing the South Bend Watch Co., called on Higgins the Jeweler last week with a lot of fine watches.

Oh, How I Itched!

What long nerve-racking days of constant torture—what sleepless nights of terrible agony—itch—itch—itch, constant itch, until it seemed that I must tear off my very skin—then—

Instant relief—my skin cooled, soothed and healed!

The very first drops of D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema stopped that awful itch instantly: yes, the very moment D.D.D. touched the burning skin the torture ceased. A 25c bottle proves it.

D.D.D. has been known for years as the only absolutely reliable eczema remedy, for it washes away the disease germs and leaves the skin as clear and healthy as that of a child.

All other druggists have D.D.D. Prescription—go to them it you can't come to us—but don't accept some big profit substitute.

But if you come to our store, we are so certain of what D.D.D. will do for you that we offer you a full size bottle on this guarantee:—If you do not find that it takes away the itch AT ONCE, it costs you not a cent.

A PROBLEM.

Rev. E. W. Butler, of Thorsby, makes the following offer to the school boy or girl who will send in the correct answer to his problem on or before February 15, 1913.

Assuming that the diameter of a silver dollar is 1 1-2 inches and its thickness 1-10 of an inch, how many silver dollars could be packed in a box whose inside dimensions are 12 by 15 by 20 inches?

The student in Chilton county who, without assistance, before Feb. 15, 1913, returns the largest answer to the above problem, and is able to show that his answer is correct, I will give a prize of one dollar, provided that the answer comes within $100 of being as large as my answer to the problem, and I will make the prize two dollars if his answer is correct and larger than mine, Answers may be mailed to Mr. H. L. Foshee any time before Feb. 15, as he holds my answer to the above problem which is in a sealed envelope.

NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

A CONDENSED RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

SEVEN DAYS' NEWS AT A GLANCE

Important Happenings In All Parts of the World Summarized for the Busy Reader.

Southern.

With practically all the preparations brought to completion, the Fifth National Corn Exposition opened its gates to the public at Columbia, S. C. Embracing exhibits from two states, the Federal department of agriculture and prominent sources dealing with practically every phase of agriculture, the exposition is, by all odds, the greatest agricultural exposition that has ever been held in this country. The present event is the result of two years of planning and preparation, and it is expected that it will be visited by thousands of farmers from all parts of the country.

The crevasse in the Beulah levee, near Greenville, Miss., is widening very slowly, after having reached a width of 125 feet. It is pouring out ta a depth of six feet of water. It is not believed any lives have been lost, as the water is spreading very slowly, filling up the depressions and the natural streams. The planters in the Bogue Phelia basin have been preparing for the emergency and little loss of stock and cattle is anticipated. Efforts will be made to tie the ends of the levee at the break, and as the levee is constructed of stiff buckshot, the belief is expressed that the crevasse will not widen to any great extent.

It costs $205.54 a year for the maintenance of each prisoner, according to the eleventh annual report of the United States penitnentiary near Atlanta, Ga., completed for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1912.

General.

President-elect Wilson received greetings from the king of Spain through the Marquis de la Vega Inclan, the royal commissioner delegated to select a site for the Spanish exhibit at the Panama exposition at San Francisco. It was the first message Mr. Wilson has received from a European ruler. The envoy, besides conveying to the president-elect the king's personal message of good will, expressed in behalf of the king a deep interest in the exposition at San Francisco. He told the governor that Spain had been plnaning a similar exposition for the same year, but now intended to postpone her world's fair until 1918.

Charles R. Heicke, former secretary of the American Sugar Refining company, must serve the sentence imposed upon him for participation in the sugar weighing frauds, according to a decision by the Supreme court of the United States. The court rejected his immunity plea.

State supervision and regulation of the New York stock exchange and other stock exchanges are advocated by Governor Sulzer in a message sent by him to the legislature of New York. The time is ripe, in the governor's opinion, for the state to step in and end "flagrant abuses, shift schemees and clever combinations to catch the unwary and to mislead the public."

Brig. Gen. John J. Pershing, commanding the department at Mindanao, has sent the wart departments details of an engagement on the morning of January 23 at Taglitsi between Moros and detachments of a Philippine scout and constabulary force. Seven Americans were killed and two officers seriously wounded.

It is stated that King Alfonso of Spain will visit the United Statese, and the Spanish government is now considering plans toward that end.

W. R. Webb of Bellbuckle, Tenn., has been elected United States senator to succeed Senator Robert L. Taylor.

Plenipotentiaries of the Balkan kingdoms are immensely pleased over the decision of the grand council at Constantinople to accept the advice of the powers. While it had become increasingly certain that the Turkish elder statesmen were prepared to face the bitter fate that ends the empire's history as an European nation, it was hardly expected that they would register their decision so quickly and so definitely. But one crucial point of difference remains to be settled. The allies want $200,000,000 as an indemnity. Their minimum is an amount equal to the Turkish debts attached to the territories which they will annex under the treaty.

Miss Genevieve Clark, eighteen-year-old daughter of Speaker Clark, is the youngest author whose writings are indexed in the Pan-American Union library. She is preparing a series of articlese on life in the capital.

President Taft has received a present of a silver box from a number of Southern admirers.

A gigantic international radium combine, which will control the radium market of the world, is nearing completion in London. The company has been formed by English bankers for the purpose of consolidating the richest radium ore mines in Austria

The special committe appointed by the Balkan plenipotentiaries drafted a note notifying the Turkish plenipotentiaries that they propose to break off the peace negotiations. The note is vrey brief. It reminds the Turks that since January 6 sittings of the peace conference have been suspended without Turkey making any move toward their resumption, while events in Constantinople are the best proof that Turkey's answer to the demands of the allies concerning Adrianople and the Aegean Islands will be negative.

The federal board of food and drug inspection has issued an order for bidding the sale in interstate commerce of fruits which have been damaged in the recent freeze in California.

A series of disturbances occurred in the hotel and restaurant districts of New York City when thousands of striking waiters and sympathizers overran some of the principal streets and engaged in serious rioting.

Nazim Pasha, the former war minister and commander of the Turkish army, has been shot dead. Nazim Pasha, war minister and generalissimo of the Turkish armies, was a man of great physical and mental strength. He was 60 years of age.

A London cablegram says some time must elapse before the situation arising from the revolution in Constantinople becomes clear. As far as may be judged, there is no intention on the part of the new Turkish government to force matters or to resume hostilities if any reasonable compromise with the Balkan allies is possible.

Charles W. Morse, who has been reported recently as seriously ill in Europe, has admitted in testimony that he is not financially responsible and has suggested to his attorneys that his creditors put him through bankruptcy. The former banker made these admissions to A. Levinge Whatelly, a London lawyer, who was appointed by the New York courts to examine Morse.

Miss Helen Miller Gould was married at Lyndhurst, her country estate in New York state, to Finley Johnson Shepard, an American railroad man, who has risen from the ranks. Less than 100 persons were bidden to the ceremony. They included close relatives of the bride and bridegroom and friends of long standing.

Washington.

Following the recipt of official confirmation of the massacre of Capt. Patrick McNally and six native enlisted men of the Philippine scouts by the Moros of the island of Jolo, war department officials planned a campaign to rid the entire island of the head hunters, who have proved so destructive to United States soldiers since the American occupation. Secretary of War Stimson ordered that a campaign to the death be waged against the natives. The engagement in which Captain McNally and his men were killed has convinced the department that only a sanguinary campaign can pacify this portion of the Philippines.

Affirmative declaration of the purpose of the United States to give the Filipinos their independense as soon as a stable government can be set up in the island will probably be made at the next regular session of congreses. Next to the tariff it will be one of the first big accomplishments of the new administration Representative Jones of Virginia has introduced a bill setting 1921 as the date of Philippine independence. and Portugal.

To provide adequate space for handling parcel post busineess, it will be necessary to revise plans of many public buildings in which postoffices are located ,and negotiations to this end already have been instituted by Postmaster General Hitchcock. The postmaster general has invited the supervising architect of the treasury and his assistants to co-operate in the matter with the building committee of the postoffice department and special parcel post committee.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson says a considerable portion of the future meat supply of the country must come from the South, and this situation is becoming better understood and more appreciated every day. There are millions of acres of idle land in the Southern states that are especially adapted to the production of cattle, and there is no reason why not only the beef supply, but the supply of pork for American markets should not be produced on the soils of the South.

Secretary of State Knox's reply to the British protest against the exemption of American coastwise shipping from Panama canal tolls assured the British government that domestic coastwise trade will not be permitted to extend operation into foreign competitive fields and that increased tolls will not be laid on foreign shipping to balance the remission to the American ships. If Great Britain is not satisfied on these points America proposes a special commission of adjustment.

Not only has the parcel post saved the people of the United States in the first fifteen days of its existence more than a half million dollars, according to Senator Bourne, author of the law, but it has not proved a hardship to the overworked letter carrier. Senator Bourne announced that reports from forty-five leading cities of the country which produced almost half of the postal revenues showed that during the twelve working days between January 1 and 15, a total of 5,094,027 outgoing parcels were dispatched at a cost of $395,286, or about 7.7 cents a parcel.

JUDGE KAVANAUGH ELECTED SENATOR

PRESIDENT OF THE SOUTHERN LEAGUE CAPTURES THE ARKANSAS TOGA.

SHEPPARD WINS IN TEXAS

Legislatures of Other States Name New Members to the United States Senate.

Little Rock, Ark.—By a separate vote in the house and senate Judge W. M. Kavanaugh was elected United States Senator. He received 52 votes. J. B. Job and Mr. King contested honors with Mr. Kavanaugh.

Thompson Chosen in Kansas.

Topeka, Kas.—Judge William H. Thompson, of Garden City, was chosen United States Senator to succeed Charles Curtis, Republican, by the Kansas legislature in separate session.

"Billy" Hughes Affirmed.

Trenton, N. J.—The two houses of the legislature voting separately, elected former Congressman William Hughes, Democrat, of Paterson, United States Senator to succeed Frank O. Briggs, Republican, whose term expires March 4 next. Mr. Hughes won the senatorship in the Democratic primaries last fall and received the full Democratic votes in each house of the legislature.

Warren Wins in Wyoming.

Cheyenne, Wyo.—Francis E. Warren, Republican, was re-elected United States Senator in the two houses of the Wyoming legislature.

Sheppard is Elected.

Ausutuinu, Texas.—Representative Morris Sheppard was elected United States Senator from Texas, for the short term ending March 4 next and for the long term beginning on that date. For the short term he will succeed Col. R. M. Johnston, of Houston, who was appointed by Governor Colquitt recently upon the resignation of Senator J. W. Bailey. Colonel Johnston's friends made a fight to retain him for the short term.

ARIZONA'S MESSENGER FOUND.

Had Until February 1st to Deliver the Vote and Was Merely Taking His Time.

Washington. — Wilfred T. Webb, Arizona's electoral vote messenger, for whom Senators Ashurst and Smith have been searching by telegraph, delivered the official vote of the state to the vice-president's office. Although a day late, the excuse Mr. Webb offered for his tardiness was considered sufficient to entitle him to a mileage of $642.75, and to entitle the state to the counting of its vote in the electoral college.

Mr. Webb said he reached New York and at breakfast picked up a newspaper and read with surprise that the senate was searching the country for him. He immediately telegraphed Senator Ashurst and took the next train for Washington.

"I didn't know anything about the law," said Webb, who is a sunburned rancher and cattleman, "so I got a lawer friend to draw me up a set of instructions. He told me I had to deliver the vote to Washington by February 1st, and I have been taking my time to get here."

FLORENCE HAS DISASTROUS FIRE

Largest Business Block in Flames. Girl 'Phone Operators Escape by Climbing Down Poles.

Florence.—Fire, which originated in the telephone exchange, threatened for a time the whole business section of the city and practically destroyed one of the most important business blocks, the damage being estimated at $100,000. Two buildings were entirely destroyed and the third floor of the Lucas building was seriously damaged. All telephone service is out of commission. Several of the girl operators had narrow escapes from death by the flames and were forced to climb down telephone poles to safety. Help was summoned from Decatur.

FIGHT IN PHILIPPINES.

Fifty Moros Meet Their Death in Battle Near the City of Jolo.

Washington.—Forty or fifty Moros died in the struggle which took place in the Philippines six miles west of the city of Jolo, details of which have reached the war department in a report from Major General Bell, commanding the Philippine division.

He came into the car with swagger, took the only vacant seat with outward manifestations of his belief in his own importance, kicking the big yellow valise belonging to the napping old woman next to him aside to make way for his tan-shod feet. The owner did not notice this, but when aroused at Fifty-second street, she fumbled about his left foot with her hand, trying to lift it, only to exclaim with much embarrassment: "Ach! Excoose me, but it look just like mine bag."

OFFIN

The young woman was Grace Van Horne. The minister recognized her at once. Undoubtedly, the old man with the limp was her guardian, Captain Eben Hammond, who, by common report, had spoken of him, Ellery, as a "hired priest."

The door closed. A few moments thereafter the sound of a squeaky melodeon came from within the building. It wailed and quavered and groaned. Then, with a suddenness that was startling, came the first verse of a hymn, sung with tremendous enthusiasm:

"Oh, who shall answer when the Lord shall call
His ransomed sinners home?"

The hallelujah chorus was still ringing when the watcher across the street stepped out from the shadow of the hornbeam. Without a pause he strode over to the platform. Another moment and the door had shut behind him.

The minister of the Trumet Regular church had entered the Come-Outer chapel to attend a Come-Outer prayer-meeting!

CHAPTER IV.

In Which the Parson Cruises in Strange Waters.

The Come-Outer chapel was as bare inside, almost, as it was without. Bare wooden walls, a beamed ceiling, a raised platform at one end with a table and chairs and the melodeon upon it, rows of wooden settees for the congregation—that was all. As the minister entered, the worshipers were standing up to sing. Three or four sputtering oil lamps but dimly illumined the place and made recognition uncertain.

The second verse of the hymn was at beginning as Ellery came in. Most the forty or more grown people in chapel were too busy wrestling h the tune to turn and look at him. child here and there in the back twisted a curious neck but twisted back again as parental fingers ged at its ear. The minister tipd to a dark corner and took his d in front of a vacant settee.

he man whom Ellery had decided t be Captain Eben Hammond was ding on the low platform beside table. A quaint figure, patriarchal its flowing white hair and beard, tanical with its set, smooth-shaven and tufted brows. "Scoffers may sneer," he declared, his voice rising; "they may make a mock of us, they may even come into thy presence to laugh at us, but theirs is the laugh that turns to groanin'."

And so on, his remarks becoming more personal and ever pointing like a compass needle to the occupant of that seat in the corner.

"O Lord," prayed Captain Hammond, the perspiration in beads on his forehead, "thou hast said that the pastors become brutish and have not sought thee and that they shan't prosper. Help us tonight to labor with this one that he may see his error and repent in sackcloth and ashes."

They sang once more, a hymn that prophesied woes to the unbeliever. Then Ezekiel Bassett rose to "testify." The testimony was mainly to the effect that he was happy because he had fled to the ark of safety while there was yet time.

Captain Eben called for more testimony. But the testifiers were, to use the old minstrel joke, backward in coming forward that evening. At an ordinary meeting, by this time, the shouts and enthusiasm would have been at their height and half a dozen Come-Outers on their feet at once, relating their experiences and proclaiming their happiness. But tonight there was a damper; the presence of the leader of the opposition cast a shadow over the gathering. Only the bravest attempted speech. The others sat silent, showing their resentment and contempt by frowning glances over their shoulders and portentous nods one to the other.

The captain looked over the meeting.

"I'm ashamed," he said, "ashamed of the behavior of some of us in the Lord's house. This has been a failure, this service of ours. We have kept still when we should have justified our faith, and allowed the presence of a stranger to interfere with our duty to the Almighty. And I will say," he added, his voice rising and trembling with indignation, "to him who came here uninvited and broke up this meetin', that it would be well for him to remember the words of Scriptur', 'Woe unto ye, false prophets and workers of iniquity.' Let him remember what the divine wisdom put into my head to read to-night: 'The pastors have become brutish and have not sought the Lord; therefore they shall not prosper.'"

"Amen!" "Amen!" "Amen!" "So be it!" The cries came from all parts of the little room. They ceased abruptly, for John Ellery was on his feet.

"Captain Hammond," he said, "I realize that I have no right to speak in this building, but I must say one word. My coming here to-night may have been a mistake; I'm inclined to think it was. But I came not, as you seem to infer, to sneer and scoff; certainly I had no wish to disturb your service. I came because I had heard repeatedly, since my arrival in this town, of this society and its meetings. I had heard, too, that there seemed to be a feeling of antagonism, almost hatred, against me among you here. I couldn't see why. Most of you have, I believe, been at one time members of the church where I preach. I wished to find out for myself how much of truth there was in the stories I had heard and to see if a better feeling between the two societies might not be brought about. Those were my reasons for coming here to-night. As for my being a false prophet and a worker of iniquity"—he smiled—"well, there is another verse of Scripture I would call to your attention: 'Judge not, that ye be not judged.'"

"I'm Not Crying," She Gasped.

He sat down. There was silence for a moment and then a buzz of whispering. Captain Eben, who had heard him with a face of iron hardness, rapped the table.

"We will sing in closin'," he said, "the forty-second hymn. After which the benediction will be pronounced."

The Regular minister left the Come-Outers' meeting with the unpleasant conviction that he had blundered badly. His visit, instead of tending toward better understanding and more cordial relationship, had been regarded as an intrusion.

So that old bigot was the Van Horne girl's "uncle." It hardly seemed possible that she, who appeared so refined and ladylike when he met her at the parsonage, should be a member of that curious company. When he rose to speak he had seen her in the front row, beside the thin, middle-aged female who had entered the chapel with Captain Hammond and with her. She was looking at him intently. The lamp over the speaker's table had shone full on her face and the picture remained in his memory. He saw her eyes and the wavy shadows of her hair on her forehead.

He had taken but a few steps when there was a rustle in the wet grass behind him.

"Mr. Ellery," whispered a voice, "Mr. Ellery, may I speak to you just a moment?"

He wheeled in surprise.

"Why! why, Miss Van Horne!" he exclaimed. "Is it you?"

"I felt," she said, "that I must see you and—explain. I am so sorry you came here to-night. Oh, I wish you hadn't. What made you do it?"

"I came," began Ellery, somewhat stiffly, "because I—well, because I thought it might be a good thing to do."

There was a bitterness in his tone, unmistakable. And a little laugh from his companion did not tend to soothe his feelings.

"Thank you," he said. "Perhaps it is funny. I did not find it so. Good evening."

The girl detained him as he was turning away.

"I came after you," went on Grace rapidly and with nervous haste, "because I felt that you ought not to misjudge my uncle for what he said tonight. He wouldn't have hurt your feelings for the world. He is a good man and does good to everybody. If you only knew the good he does do, you wouldn't—you wouldn't dare think hardly of him."

"I'm not judging your uncle," he declared. "It seemed to me that the boot was on the other leg."

"I know, but you do judge him, and you mustn't. You see, he thought you had come to make fun of him—and us. Some of the Regular people do, people who aren't fit to tie his shoes. And so he spoke against you. He'll be sorry when he thinks it over. That's what I came to tell you. I ask your pardon for—for him."

She turned away now, and it was the minister who detained her.

"I've been thinking," he said slowly, for in his present state of mind it was a hard thing to say, "that perhaps I ought to apologize, too. I'm afraid I did disturb your service and I'm sorry. I meant well, but— What's that? Rain?"

There was no doubt about it; it was rain and plenty of it. It came in a swooping downpour that beat upon the trees and bushes and roared upon the roof of the chapel. The minister hurriedly raised his umbrella.

"Here!" he commanded, "you must take the umbrella. Really, you must. You haven't one and you'll be wet through."

She pushed the umbrella aside.

"No, no," she answered. "I don't need it; I'm used to wet weather; truly I am. And I don't care for this hat; it's an old one. You have a long way to go and I haven't. Please, Mr. Ellery, I can't take it."

"Very well," was the sternly self-sacrificing reply, "then I shall certainly go with you as far as the gate. I'm sorry, if my company is distasteful, but—"

He did not finish the sentence, thinking, it may be, that she might finish it for him. But she was silent, merely removing her hand from the handle. She took a step forward; he followed, holding the umbrella over her head. They plashed on, without speaking, through the rapidly forming puddles.

Presently she stumbled and he caught her arm to prevent her falling. To his surprise he felt that arm shake in his grasp.

"Why, Miss Van Horne!" he exclaimed in great concern, "are you crying? I beg your pardon. Of course I wouldn't think of going another step with you. I didn't mean to trouble you. I only— If you will please take this umbrella—"

Again he tried to transfer the umbrella and again she pushed it away.

"I—I'm not crying," she gasped; "but—oh, dear! this is so funny!"

"Funny!" he repeated. "Well, perhaps it is. Our ideas of fun seem to differ. I—"

"Oh, but it is so funny. You don't understand. What do you think your congregation would say if they knew you had been to a Come-Outers' meeting and then insisted on seeing a Come-Outer girl home?"

John Ellery swallowed hard. A vision of Captain Elkanah Daniels and the stately Miss Annabel rose before his mind's eye. He hadn't thought of his congregation in connection with this impromptu rescue of a damsel in distress.

"Possibly your Uncle Eben might be somewhat—er—surprised if he knew you were with me. Perhaps he might have something to say on the subject."

"I guess he would. We shall know very soon. I ran away and left him with Mrs. Poundberry, our housekeeper. He doesn't know where I am. I wonder he hasn't turned back to look for me before this. We shall probably meet him at any moment."

Fifty yards away the lighted windows of the Hammond tavern gleamed yellow. Farther on, over a ragged, moving fringe of grass and weeds, was a black, flat expanse—the bay. And a little way out upon that expanse twinkled the lights of a vessel. A chain rattled. Voices shouting exultingly came to their ears.

"Why!" exclaimed Grace in excited wonder, "it's the packet! She was due this morning, but we didn't expect her in till to-morrow. How did she find her way in the fog? I must tell uncle."

She started to run toward the house. The minister would have followed with the umbrella, but she stopped him.

"No, Mr. Ellery," she urged earnestly. "No, please don't. I'm all right now. Thank you. Good night."

A few steps farther on she turned.

"Cap'n Elkanah won't know," she [illegible] laugh returning to [illegible] night."

IRREGULARITY IN TRADE REPORTS

Weather Conditions and the Tariff Responsible—Metals Are Active.

New York.—Bradstreet's review of trade says:

Weather conditions and tariff talk have made for irregularity in trade reports this week, while financial feeling has reflected marked changes from peace negotiations in the near east. Rain and sonw have been more widely distributed than for a long time past, but this, while beneficial to winter sown cereals, has retarded demand at retail and resulted in a continuance of flood conditions.

In the leading industries there is almost unanimous report of activity. Coal is an exception, however. Mild winter weather helps the building trades and iron and steel lines are also well employed.

Labor has been well employed except in the clothing lines at New York, where many thousands of employes are out on strike. Advances in wages are noted as affecting 10,000 railway employes on city railways.

The grain markets lost some of their earlier January strength this week, but price changes were not important.

The New York stock market is irregular, speculative dealings being restricted and sentiment, which improved on a prospect of Balkan peace, was again unsettled by the war party gaining power at Constantinople.

Wheat, including flour exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending January 23, aggregated 6,882,125 bushels, against 3,043,494 bushels, against 3,043,494 bushels this week last year. Corn exports for the week are 2,671,682 bushels.

New York.—Dun's review of trade says:

Fundamental conditions continue very satisfactory and except in the securities market, which has displayed more or less uncertainty, there has been no change in the general feeling of confidence. Current reports from leading mercantile and industrial centers are especially cheerful, both as to present operations and the immediate outlook. The remarkable winter is producing different effects in different localities and branches of business causing some recession of activity in certain trades and an increase in other quarters. The absence of heavy snow over the eastern part of the country has been very favorable to railroad traffic.

Foreign demand for coal continues a feature, and New York has been called upon to part with substantial quantities of the precious metal. These withdrawals, however, have been without effect on money rates, which remain distinctly easy. Conditions in iron and steel are practically unchanged In dry goods there is a continued conservative progress. Increasing activity is reported in the shoe trade. Foreign commerce continues to expand.

EUGENE V. DEBS INDICTED.

Social Candidate for President Arrested in Indiana Charged With Obstructing Jusutice.

Terre Haute, Ind.—Eugene V. Debs, socialist candidate for President of the United States in the last election, was arrested here on an indictment returned against him in the federal court for the Third District of Kansas. Debs was charged with obstructing justice.

Debs furnished $1,000 bond for his appearance at the May term of the United States Court for the Third District of Kansas. Debs wrote an "expose" of alleged conditions in Fort Leavenworth prison for The Appeal to Reason, which caused a government inspection, but the matter printed in The Appeal to Reason was considered obscene by the federal grand jury and action was brought against the editor for sending it through the mails of the United States. It is alleged that Debs encouraged the witnesses in this case to leave the jurisdiction of the court.

BRYAN IS ASSURED PLACE IN CABINET

HE IS PREPARED TO ACCEPT THE SECRETARYSHIP OF STATE.

CANCELS LECTURE DATES

Announcement Is Unofficial and Probably Will Be Denied, But It Is True, International News Service.

Washington.—At last it is an established fact that William J. Bryan is to be appointed secretary of state by President Wilson. Although this statement is unofficial, it is none the less true, and any official denials that will be made will simply be denials as a matter of policy.

Mr. Bryan has received an intimation that he is the choice of President Wilson for secretary of state, and is preparing to accept the portfolio. He has canceled all his lecture engagements after March 4, so that he may be absolutely free to assume his new duties.

Ever since the election the rumor has been persistent that Mr. Bryan would go into the cabinet, probably as head of the state department, but President-Elect Wilson, although he has never said that Mr. Bryan would not be a member of the cabinet, has consistently denied that he had selected any member of his official family.

Mr. Wilson and Mr. Bryan held a long conference at Trenton about a month ago, but at its close both denied that the claims of any cabinet members were settled upon.

FEUDIST CLAIMED BY DEATH

Notorious Oklahoma Life Termer Dies at Muskogee.

Muskogee, Okla.—Barney Call, one of the principal actors in the Davis-Alford feud of Muskogee county, died in a detention camp near here after a month's illness. Death cheated the state prison of a victim, for Call was under life sentence, having been convicted of killing Dan Foster, another feudist. Call had made a partial confession when he became ill.

The feud has completely broken up the Call family, once wealthy and prosperous. Barney is dead, his father, Ben Call, is in prison here charged with murder in connection with the feud, and the young man's mother was granted a decree of divorce from her husband.

Haunted by Faces, St. Louisan Confesses Tennessee Murders.

St. Louis, Mo.—Haunted by the faces of two men whom he shot and killed a half century ago, and fearing that the slow torture of growing blindness is the fulfillment of a curse put on him by one of his victims, James D. Burton, alias Hanehan, 67 years old, has decided to make his peace with the world and seek to ease his conscience by giving to the world a true and correct statement of the circumstances surrounding the shooting affrays.

Haneh[illegible] tells of meeting a girl in Clar[illegible] Tenn., with whom he became [illegible]nated. As a result of this infat[illegible]tion he quarreled with another suitor of her's named Michael Carney, and in a shooting that followed, killed Carney. He says he was acquitted on a plea of self-defense.

Later friends of Carney tried to trap him, and he killed Frank McGuire. He says that he was indicted and placed on bond. He jumped his bond, and says that he has wandered over the country since, but that the indictment at Clarksville still stands against him, although he shot in self-defense.

Thorsby Department

H. L. FOSHEE, Manager. —o— THORSBY, ALA., Jan. 30, 1913

The students of the Thorsby Institute feel relieved now as last week was examination time as it was the close of the first semester.

Mr. D. L. McKay who has been attending school here since last September, left Friday for his home in Hamilton.

Mr. H. L. Foshee and wife made a business trip to Birmingham the latter part of last week.

Mrs. Tucker has returned home after spending a short time with her grand children, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Butler, of Ensley.

We were very much surprised to learn of the death of Grandpa Coleman last week.

Dr. O. E. Wilson, who is staying out at the river, was in Thorsby Saturday night.

Mr. Clarence Bice and Mr. Ira Billingsley are putting in a nice soda fount and will also carry a stock of cigars, candy, etc.

Dr. O. C. Mastin's family have moved back to Thorsby after spending the past year in New Decatur.

Mr. O. J. Poole has accepted a job down at the river.

Mrs. B. T. Franklin is very sick this week, but we hope to see her recovery soon.

At the meeting of the Town Council last Monday night, Mr. J. P. Nix was elected Marshall for this year.

Mr. Isaac Absher left for his home in Hanceville last week after spending about five months in Thorsby.

Rev. S. H. Herbert filled his regular appointment in Birmingham Sunday.

Mrs. B. T. Franklin has been very ill for some days of pneumonia.

Mr and Mrs M. C. Crumpton were the guests of Mrs B. T. Franklin on last Saturday.

Miss Charlotte Mastin called on Mrs. C. R. Foss Tuesday.

Miss Mastin has returned with her parents to live in Thorsby.

Mrs T. W. Robinson's little son Henry is very sick of pneumonia.

Mrs. J. L. Foss is rapidly recovering from a long siege of lagrippe.

Miss Hilda, Anderson was home a few days last week from her school duties at Samaria owing to the meningitis scare around Clanton but she returned Monday to her work.

Messrs Charlie Thomas, Reuben Reynolde, Don Lowe, Claud Shaw, of Jemison drove down to preaching here Sunday in Mr Reynold's car.

Mr. N. W. Smith of Deatsville spent a few days in our town this week.

The three new buildings on the north side of town are rapidly approaching completion.

Mr. Philip Horn has pulled off that old frowny face and put on a smile since last week.

Mr. E. H. Adams and Mr. J. H. Cox have purchased Mr. J. W. Henley's saw mill and are making things hustle.

Prof. J. A. Hunter reports 118 students enrolled in the public school the average being about 110. The best in the history of the school.

The Thorsby truck growers have ordered several thousand strawberry plants which will add much to their already large acreage.

1913 shows much prosperity for our town. CITIZEN

Mayor Bice has nearly recovered from his long attack of lagrippe and is to be seen occasionally on the streets.

Dr. George Eaves preached at the Congregational Church Sunday morning.

Dr. Mastins family has returned to Thorsby to improve their health.

Mr. Clarence Bice and Ira Billingsley have completed the painting and cleaning of their building and will soon be ready to offer the public some nice drinks and other good things. Their many friends wish them success in their new business enterprise.

Mrs. J. L. Foss has recovered from a severe attack of lagrippe.

Mr. Lloyd expects to be in his new house in three weeks.

Mrs. Guy Gerald was a visitor to Thorsby last week.

Dr. Wilson was in town Saturday night and returned to the river early Sunday morning.

We are glad to let the friends of Mrs. W. H. Williams know that she is able to be up again after a few weeks of illness.

On the evening of the 20th as the sun was sinking in the west the death angel entered the home of our friends and took from their midst the aged husband and father. Mr. Coleman had been failing for some time and friends knew the time for his departure was drawing near, but when the summons came it was a blow to the devoted family in spite of the assurance that there was no hope for his recovery. We know from his conversation before death and the life he had lived for many years past that he was prepared to meet the life that waited him beyond. Our hearts go out in sympathy to the widow and children, Mr. W. B. Tomlin and sisters. Rev. E. W. Butler conducted the funeral services at the house and cemetery which were short and impressive. The body was laid to rest in cemetery to wait the tion morn. A F

HAVE YOU BOUGHT YOUR FENCE WIRE?

IF NOT BEAR IN MIND

1. That the number of pounds of steel per rod governs the price per rod. Consider carefully weight per rod when buying.

2. That a hard, stiff wire is most satisfactory for fence purposes; not too hard so that it will be brittle, nor too soft so that it will swag.

3. That years of experience have proven that this kind of wire is necessary to withstond all kinds of weather conditions. This is the quality of wire used in the Original and Genuine American Fence.

4. That when you compare American Fence with others on the market, consider first the quality of the wire; second, the gage of wire used throughout the fabric; and third, the number of pounds of steel per rod.

5. That American Fence is made in all heights, weights and gages of wire best suited for your requirements.

6. That American Fence is guaranteed by the manufacturer, and the dealers handling same.

7. Most farmers insist upon using fences made by the American Steel and Wire Company because long hxperience has shown them to be well made. Our weights, size of wire and length of rolls are full measure. No skimping of weight, the wires are full size and our rolls are full and complete lengths.

We have American Fence in stock at all times and will be more than pleased to show you the different styles, weights, etc. Our prices are right and we know we can save you money on your fence requirements and at the same time furnish you the best fence money can buy.

FREIGHT RATE DISCRIMINA AND ARBITRARY CLASSIFICATION OF

The general public, whose support has been solicited for certain radical policies detrimental to the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, has little conception of the serious and extreme discrimination practiced by certain former state officials against the L. & N. Even a casual investigation will demonstrate the maladministration of the One Hundred and Ten Commodity Rate Act, and disclose a condition which we are quite sure no reasonably fair minded man ever expected to produce.

We therefore request and urge a careful reading of this statement, because it will present in outline the seriousness of the financial losses sustained and liable to be sustained by the L. & N., with resultant detriment to its ability to render the service to which the people of Alabama are entitled, and so interfere with its effort to co-operate in the development of the rich natural resources of the state.

At the regular session of the State Legislature of Alabama held in 1907 a schedule of rates was prepared and enacted into law making a standard scale of rates to be used by the various railroads within the State of Alabama on One Hundred and Ten Commodities.

The act provided that certain lines of railway might charge on the greater number of these commodities a certain percentage over and above the standard scale, while other lines were required to charge the flat scale of standard rates. The railways operating in the state were therefore divided into classes, known as Class 1, 2, 3 and 4. Those railroads in Class 1 were required to charge the standard scale of rates. The Class 1 railroads were the Alabama Great Southern, The Louisville & Nashville Railroad, The Western Railway of Alabama, The St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad and the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad.

Class 2 was comp[illegible] of the Southern Railway, Central of Georgia Railroad, t[illegible]eaboard Air Line Railway, Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway and the Atlanta & Birmingham Air Line, the latter being a part of the Seaboard System. These Class 2 railroads were authorized to charge the standard rates plus 20 per cent on the greater number of the One Hundred and Ten Commodities.

Class 3 was composed of the Chattanooga Southern Railroad, The Illinois Central Railroad, The Mobile & Ohio Railroad and the Mobile, Jackson & Kansas City Railroad. These roads were allowed to charge the standard rate plus 25 per cent.

Class 4 was composed of short line roads authorized to charge on the greater number of the One Hundred and Ten Commodities the standard rates, plus 50 per cent.

Much discrimination was practiced not only in the classification of the railroads, but in the application of the rates. For instance, Class 1 was headed by the Alabama Great Southern, which was then earning within the State of Alabama $12,459 per mile of railroad. The earnings of the L. & N. on its mileage within the State of Alabama were $9,908 per mile of road. The earnings of the Atlantic Coast Line were $5,914 per mile, whereas the earnings of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad were $11,211 per mile and the earnings of the Western Railway of Alabama were $8,771 per mile. It will be seen that a railway earning $5,914 per mile was classified on the same basis and was required to charge the same rates as a railway earning $12,459 per mile.

For the convenience of the reader, and to clearly demonstrate the discrimination and unsound basis of rate making, we herewith submit a comparison of the earnings per mile of road of the railroads which were in 1907 placed in Class 1 by the then Governor and the Alabama Legislature. The earnings are for the fiscal year 1906-07, ending June 30, 1907:

Alabama Great Southern Railroad	$12,459
St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad	11.211
Louisville & Nashville Railroad	9,908
Western Railway of Alabama	8,771
Atlantic Coast Line	5,914

Notwithstanding the greater earnings of the Alabama Great Southern that line, as a result of its agreement with the then Governor, dated October 22, 1907, was placed in Class 3. This discrimination, in favor of the Alabama Great Southern, was too much for the Railroad Commission which, in its order of December 13, 1907, placed the A. G. S. in Class 2. Also, on April 8, 1908, the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad, by reason of its agreement with the then Governor, and in spite of its earnings greater than the L. & N., was permitted to assess Class 2 rates.

While the bill making the above classification was before the Legislature, the railroads pleaded that they might be permitted to go before the Transporation Committee of the Legislature, then in session, and explain the discrimination and the unsound basis of rate making. This was denied and the act was passed.

The courts were then appealed to, and it was demonstrated that the earnings per mile of road of the L. & N. within the State of Alabama were but 79.5 per cent. of the earnings of the Alabama Great Southern, and but 88.3 per cent. of the earnings of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad, yet those lines were permitted under their agreement with the then Governor to charge rates 125 per cent. and 120 per cent. respectively of the standard scale, while those prescribed for the L. & N. were standard scale. Even after the Railroad Commission's order of December 13,1907, placing the A. G. S. in Class 2, that line was still allowed to assess rates 120 per cent. of the standard scale. Upon the show-

In the rush to get out the people choked the stairway and many jumped from the windows. Fire, which followed the explsion, was extinguished promptly.

The cause of woman suffrage received a setback in two New England legislatures. A committee in the Massachusetts legislature voted to report "leave to withdraw" on a bill providing for a referendum on a constitutional amendment which would eliminate the word "male" from the provision defining the qualifications of a voter. A similar bill was killed in the house by a vote of 89 to 53 after having been passed by the senate. Membership has been installed in Alo Sonora, Mexico, by the government, which displaced the banner of state's rights of the Huerta government of the new regime with appropriate ceremonies at the station and telegraph office of the Southern Pacific railroad all outgoing messages.

The mining camp
ico, 40 miles south
Douglas,
Ariz., has fallen into the hands of 150 state troops. The 100 Federals of the garrison, fleeing toward the border, were overtaken by the Constitutionalists, who captured their arms, ammunition and artillery after a sharp skirmish.

One hundred and sixteen passengers, all of whom were immigrants, bound from Spain to Cuba, with the exception of two first class passengers, were rescued from the British steamer Lugano, ashore on the Ajax reef off the Florida coast, by the tug Rescue. The passengers, muttering thanks in their language for their delivery from the peril that confronted them, were landed at Key West by the tug. All of the passengers have been housed.

In a thirty-minute clinic Dr. Friederich F. Friedmann's vaccine was given a test in the presence of United States government officials. The seven cases treated are to remain under government inspection, and upon their development will depend the official report. It was announced that Doctor Friedman had furnished the Federal representatives in New York City with specimens of his bacilli culture, and that clinical observations could continue to be made by them.

Franklin MacVeagh, former secretary of the treasury, has iisued a statement in which he defends his ruling in the oleomargerine prosecutions which resulted in the government's acceptance of $123,000 in settlement of alleged frauds through which the government, it is claimed, was defrauded of over a million dollars.

Encamped within striking distance of several important border towns, the 8,500 Constitutionalist troops are in arms, while insurrections among Federal garrisons strengthened materially the rebel forces. No word has come from Nacozari, south of Douglas, Ariz., where a fierce battle was fought, and it is not known what the result of the encounter has been. Open revolt and scenes of disorder among Federal forces is reported all over Mexico.

Washington

President Wilson has sent the following nominations to the senate: First asistant postmaster general, Daniel C. Roper of South Carolina; third assistant postmaster general, Alexander M. Dockery of Missouri; fourth assistant postmaster general, James I. Blakeslee of Pennsylvania; United States judge, district of Porto Rico, Peter J. Hamilton of Alabama; commissioner of labor statistics, Charles P. Neill of the District of Columbia.

Democratic house leaders have decided definitely to present the wool revision tariff bill first at the extra session of congress, which meets on April 1. The wool schedule is admitted to be the cornerstone of the protective tariff system. Votes by Democrats on this bill will give Leader Underwood a line on all new Democratic members. Mr. Underwood, asked about the position of the president on the tariff, said Mr. Wilson desired downward revision. The house will pass the "popgun" bills, or the schedule-by-schedule revision.

Legislation affecting labor in order to lighten the load of those "men and women upon whom the dead weight and burden of it all has fallen pitilessly the years through" is expected to be one of the principal aims of the new administration, and focusses eyes on the new department of labor, headed by William B. Wilson.

The new senate convened to receive President Wilson's nominations. With new faces in every row, the senate prepared for its first real work under Democratic control. Vice President Marshall, new to the intricacies of senate procedure, picked his way very carefully through the maze of preliminary organization with the aid of experienced parliamentary clerks. A call of the roll showed 83 present out of the existing membership of 93. Some opposition to the appointment of William C. Redfield as secretary of commerce was made, but was finally withdrawn.

President Wilson has settled deep enough in office to indicate pretty clearly some of the things that may be expected of him in the near future. He has made no public announcement of policy, but there were a few of the developments that seemed to show the trend of the first days of his administration. The president told the visitors he was inclined to favor the plan of house leaders to confine the special session of congress to tariff revision.

Aroused over the failure of the Washington police department to maintain order during the progress of the suffrage pageant of March 3 the senate has begun an investigation to responsibility for the lack tion for the women marchers. estigation is a result of a solution of congress directing ce department furnish pro- to the suffragi Misses Wilson may be deprive greatest joy of white house if the quota of military and ds at the white house is re- om twelve to six and the of having one of the good- young officers act as escort resident's daughters abolish- ajor Rhoades plans. THE PEOPLE VS. THE BOND ISSUE.

(Communicated.)

Since a few people are interested in the bond issue, allow me space in your paper to give some facts for the careful consideration of the people. In every proposition that confronts the business man the winner or the successful man must count the cost before entering into a covenant. A man is a fool to enter the Christian warfare without counting the cost of sacrifice.

Now, dear farmers, laborer of any kind, you must consider well some facts before voting for the inslavement of your children in order to satisfy a few grafters and politicians of the county.

A few years ago Barbour county said, "We must have good roads." "How must we have good roads?" were the voices of all the people.

The bond issue was the reply of the dictator, the man who never produced one dollar's worth during the year. But, of course, some people said, "He must know. He has been to the legislature, and has such a prestige among men." Now the result: The people saw fit to vote this issue into a special road tax of advalorum. Now there was a lot of money raised by this method, but the young, lazy negro who did not have any property, neither wanted any, never worked the road; and the man of labor who was not fortunate enough to have any property did not work the road. So who was to work? Money will not build roads by itself, and as a result, the roads were in a poor condition. Being tired of this, the people were anxious for a change; hence the bond issue again. This they carried and son the money was gone.

Who got it? The selected friends of the powers that be. What now? They went back to the old system and said, "The old way is the best way." Now, Mr. Reader, this "old way" is not the best in everything, but this thing I do know, "Nothing but united labor will make good roads.

Listen! In another county, by name Geneva, I once resided. The same question arose there, "Float bonds! Float bonds!!" was heard on all sides. How many bonds? The political leaders of this county said, "Two hundred thousand." When are these bonds to be paid? The answer came "Never." What interest will we have to pay? Then one young politician, very clever indeed, took the laborious task to inform the people how cheap the roads could be worked. By way of parenthetsis I'll state here that this young Solomon, two years later, stole $10,000 from the country and after hiding out for nearly two years is now serving a term at Speigner's.

Having nothing else to do I took issue with the majority, that ere long became a hopeless minority, that the then proposed plan of bonding the county for $200,000 for a term of 30 years at 6 per cent interest, would cost in 30 years the people of Geneva county three hundred and sixty thousand dollars, and then the principal not touched. Now, do some figuring and see what the rate of interest the people would have to pay. Well, not much, only 130 per cent. Yet, people may say we don't have the principal to pay. But if I pay one one one-half times the principal in interest, I ought not to pay any principal. Do you see?

Last year the people of Coffee county voted for bond issue to have good roads in Coffee. When the contract was ready to let the officials of the county said they must have an experienced man. So when the man was secured, he was from Georgia, and the terms of the contract was so liberal to the contractor that he could spend all the money on one road, and that on 10 miles if he saw fit, till the funds were exhasuted. So the people rose in revolt against the issue and revoked the bonds and are working the roads the "same old way."

Now in conclusion, if the roads are worked, who works them, bonds or no bonds? If the bond issue is passed and we pay 150 per cent interest on the little money we use, who shall pay this interest?

Select the boosters and see where they live, and what they do? Of course, we want good roads, but let us strive to secure to our posterity the blessings of freedom from the curse of bonded indebtedness.

Entered April 15, 1903, at Clanton, Ala., as second-class matter, under act of congress of March 3, 1879.

The farmers around Collins Chapel are to be commended for their solution not to allow anyone to kill any birds of any description on their lands.

If the farmers would realize the importance of the feathered tribe in keeping down the insect pests they would make and enforce such resolutions and the game warden would not have much to do.

There is to be a "Bird day" in the schools some time in may and Game Warden Gulledge expects to keep all the schools then running to bring the matter forcibly before the children and organize an army of "bird defenders." It is a pity so many of the schools will be out by that time.

The game warden ought to be the most popular officer in the county, and would be if all realized the importance of the work entrusted to his care.

The conditions in Mexico seem to be improving somewhat and it may be this country will escape having to interfere down there.

The suggestion made by some that the United States could ward off trouble with Mexico by annexing the northern tier of states reminds us of the farmer who when he found that the squirrels destroyed his outside row of corn, decided not to plant any outside row.

The parade of the woman's suffrage movement at the inauguration in Washington was intended to attract general attention to the movement and it succeeded in attaining its object. Most of the papers of the country express indignation at the treatment the women received at the hands of the hoodlums of Washington, and there are many expressions of sympathy with the cause the women are working for.

Anything about fighting the boll weevil is interesting to us here, as he is bound to come some day. It has been asserted that the way to get ahead of it was to have early cotton, to pick before it was eaten up, but we notice a letter in the Marion Standard from a Texan who asserts that in his section they have found out that it is the early cotton which feeds the weevil and the late cotton makes. He asserts that burning trash piles and stumps around the cotton fields will keep them down as they winter there. They don't seem to dread the weevil in Texas as much as at first.

GOODBYE, FREE GARDEN SEED.

To the credit of the senate, in the closing hours of the last session, it eliminated from the appropriation bill the amount set apart for the purchase and distribution of free seeds. Thus it is hoped has ended one of the wasteful farces annually maintained by the general government. Let the amount that was annually squandered in this matter be added to the bureau of plant industry, where are developed new varieties of plants and food growths, and whence specimens are distributed to people well recommended as being able to give the new creations thorough tests, or to start centres of distribution of such useful plants as the new lemon substitute, the "citrange;" or an improved variety of fig; and so on.

The annual dab of common flower seed, and the small quanities of garden seed sent out to each person by the congressman, was usually just about enough to plant a garden for a five year old child to play with. There was not enough of anything to plant and get a reasonable crop from. Very frequently the seed were of the poorest quality, deficient in germinating abilities, and not true to name. In its inception the idea was good—when seed stores were few and far between, and the pioneers often were hard put to find garden seed with which to start their home gardens in the spots they cleared in the wilderness, or to get a few humble blossoming plants to grow about the door for the mistress of the log cabin.

Those days have passed long ago, and for many, many years this once commendable practice has been an annual joke; an annual incubus on the treasury and the source of outright graft whereby some congressmen have been charged with "swapping" off their seed allotment for other things. We are glad the wasteful evil has been abated.—Mobile Register.

After any Sickness

nothing so rapidly restores health and vigor as SCOTT'S EMULSION. It is the essence of natural body-nourishment, so medically perfect that nature immediately appropriates and distributes it to every organ, every tissue—feeding, nourishing and restoring them to normal activity.

SCOTT'S EMULSION is not a patent medicine, but is nature's body-nourishment with curative, upbuilding properties and without a drop of drug or alcohol. It contains superior cod liver oil, the hypophosphites of lime and soda with glycerine, and is so delicately emulsified that it enters the system without digestive effort—builds, tones and sustains.

After croup, whooping cough, measles and other child ailments it is nature's ally in restoring health.

DOUBTFUL SCHEME.

We have always maintained that a newspaper should circulate on its merits. It should easily be worth the subscription price, without the addition of a premium of any kind. It should stand courteously and fearlessly for the principles that are of vital importance to the best interests of the community. It should say and do the things that will be appreciated by a fair and justice loving constituency. If the publisher finds that he is losing his grip on his subscription list and that new subscribers are coming slow and hard the paper must be made better, more attractive and useful. The news service may be timid and lacking, or the editorial work weak or vacilating. Possibly it is not filling its place in the community it should. Instead of relying on the cheap premiums frequently used or resorting to a voting contest it is better to advance the standard of the paper. We notice that at this time a Chicago Music house is putting on a contest through the Prattville Progress, which occupies a good part of the news space of that paper and that these very smooth and enterprising Chicago operators are doing the same in an other town or two. The trouble about this plausible scheme is that the promoter from abroad gets most of the cash and works off a cheap piano while the publisher is left with his experience. Newspaper associations have very generally agreed that this scheme is demoralizing to legitimate business and does not pay. The public is annoyed with importunity to subscribe for a paper they do not want just to help some one win a prize. In the end there frequently considerable bad feeling is engendered by the contest. —Bullock Breeze.

Has Made Its Way By the Way It's Made

WHEN we began marketing the International Commercial Car six years ago the one idea uppermost was to sell a useful car. That meant—a car for country roads, that would safely carry a reasonable load, always get there and back, and last long enough to be very profitable.

Some of those first cars are still doing an honest day's work every day. All of them paid for themselves. None of them was so efficient as the car we sell today. Now is the time to buy an

International Commercial Car

For the merchant engaged in any business requiring much light hauling, or prompt deliveries; for the business man who wishes to extend his territory; for the man who wants to cut down delivery expenses and at the same time be progressive and up-to-date, an International Commercial car is a good investment.

Simple, sure, powerful, it climbs hills, goes through mud-holes and sandy stretches, anywhere a team can travel at any speed from 3 to 18 miles an hour. Transmission is simple and direct. Brakes are powerful. Bearings are strong. A single lever controls the car. Write for catalogues and any information desired.

PLEASANT GROVE.

Editor Union-Banner—I notice there is a lot being said through your paper on the subject of good roads. I notice, too, that the majority of the writers who are asking for such a strict enforcement of the law on the overseers are men who are exempt from road duty and are over 45 years old, and now with all respect thats due old age, I will ask if the roads are not kept up as well today as when they were working the roads? And where are some of the good roads that they built in their day, such as they are asking that the road subjects of today be forced under the law to build with their labor? I don't think you older citizens should exact more of us than you did when you were on the job. I have never seen any great roads that the present road system ever built, and never expect to see one. Besides, if you will stop to think, the road subjects and the convicts are about the only classes of people who give the county any labor, and I don't think you should be so hard on us. I cannot say that I favor the bond issue, but I am in favor of something differrent to what we now have. I see that one writer favors the commissioners court furnishing each beat with road machines and scrapes and no money. I fail to see of what benefit these tools could be to an overseer in case he did not have stock sufficient to pull the same. I think if the county would pay the hire of a team to plow on the road when needed, that the roads would be benefitted much more than they would if the county furnish machines and scrapes an teams. I would like to hea some of the boys who are to road duty and find w think we need. Respe

CLANTON MATTERS

LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL.

Editor Union-Banner—I have found the people of Clanton and Chilton county to be a responsive people so far as I am concerned in my work, and I want to say a few words to them in regard to a County High School and ask their careful consideration.

As everyone probably knows, the legislature of Mr. Comer's administration appropriated $2,000 for a county high school in each county not having a state supported high school, college or university, and the present legislature increased the amount to $3,000 and gave every county the privilege of using said amount provided they would meet certain conditions.

The conditions are these: each county in which a school is to be located must deed to the state five acres of land, construct a building to cost at least $10,000 and subject the school to state control. The local county board of education makes all nominations for teachers subject to the approval of the state board—and here I want to say the state has never disapproved the county nomination when the man in charge had anything like given satisfaction.

Now let us look at it from a business standpoint. Suppose you say the town and county are not able to meet the financial requirements of the state. Let us see. $12,000 at 5 per cent. would be $600 interest each year to pay, but in return we would receive over and above our present state appropriation $3,000, or a net gain of $2,400 each year. Again, I have forty pupils in the 8th, 9th and 10th grades. These pupils paid $2.50 per month for five months which amounted to $500; and in addition to this the running expenses of the school we now have, doing work only through the 7th grade, could be reduced another $500, which would make a total net gain of $3,400 a year.

Some one else can add to the foregoing amount by counting up what it has cost him to keep his children off from home in school doing only high school work.

Now, patrons, think on these facts, and talk them among yourselves; and if you find anything wrong with them, come to me and I think we can fix them up.

Respectfully,
J. J. Pickens.

BANQUET BY BARRACAS.

Last Friday night the Barraca Class of the Methodist Church entertained the Philathea Class at a six course banquet laid in the dining room of the Palmer House. The table was beautifully decorated with violets and ferns, the young ladies were charming in evening dress and the supper was a real feast of good things. After the supper all repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. White where they engaged in games. The girls heartily enjoyed the occasion and the boys are looking forward to the return compliment which the girls promise to make.

"Our Personal Guarantee to all Skin Sufferers"
Upchurch Drug Co.

We have been in business in this town for some time, and we are looking to build up trade by always advising our patrons right.

So when we tell you that we have found the eczema remedy and that we stand back of it with the manufacturer's iron clad guarantee, backed by ourselves you can depend upon it that we give our advice not in order to sell a few bottles of medicine to skin sufferers, but because we know how it will help our business if we help our patrons.

We keep in stock and sell, all the well known skin remedies. But we will say this: If you are suffering from any kind of skin trouble, eczema, psoriasis, rash or tetter, we want you to try a full size bottle of D. D. D. Prescription. And, if it does not do the work, this bottle will cost you nothing. You alone to judge.

Again and again we have seen how a few drops of this simple wash applied to the skin, takes away the itch, instantly. And the cures all seem to be permanent.

D. D. D. Prescription made by the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago, is composed of thymol, glycerine, oil of wintergreen and other healing, soothing, cooling ingredients. And if you are just crazy with itch, you will feel soothed and cooled, the itch absolutely washed away the moment you applied this D. D. D.

We have made fast friends of more than one family by recommending this remedy to a skin sufferer here and there and we want you to try it now on our positive no-pay guarantee.

The Rapid Vacuum Washer
The Perfect Washing Machine

Perfect in Merits, Perfect in Price

This Machine is guaranteed to give as good satisfaction as any hand power machine on the market regardless of price. Delivered at your door for $2.27. Parcel postage prepaid.

This cut shows the washer complete ready to be attached to any tub or wash boiler. It is beyond all question the greatest success of any invention in the form of washing machines. With this washer the work is done by vacuum waterforce—the water and soap being forced through the goods by compressed air and suction.

This machine does the work in less time than the most expensive machine on the market—is easier operated and costs but one-fourth that of average machines. The Vacuum Washer can be attached to any tub or wash boiler in an instant—no screws to tighten—nothing to adjust—a child can operate it. It will wash a tub of clothes in from five to ten minutes, and with this machine your clothes are not subjected to the wear that is caused by the beating and batting process used by other makes. With the Rapid Vacuum it is the soap and water that does the work. It is simple in construction, but mighty in effect. Lace curtains or the most delicate fabrics can be cleaned without the slightest damage, and this is absolutely the only process by which bed-quilts can be washed without wadding the batting or breaking the stitches.

The plunger can easily be detached from lever and used in a pail or other small vessel for washing solid articles. The entire weight of the washer is four pounds, and it can be easily folded up and put out of the way when not in use.

Any Woman, or Even a Child Can Operate This Washer.

as the improved lever attachment reduces the operating power required to the minimum.

This cut shows the Washer in place on a tub so you may see just how it operates. The tub and stand are not a part of the offer, only the Rapid Vacuum Washer that is shown attached to the tub.

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Keziah Coffin, supposed widow, is arranged to move from Trumet to Boston, following the death of her brother, for whom she had kept house. Kyan Pepper, widower, offers marriage, and is indignantly refused. Capt. Elkanah Daniels, leader of the Regular church offers Keziah a place as housekeeper for the new minister, and she decides to remain in Trumet. Keziah takes charge of Rev. John Ellery, the new minister, and gives him advice as to his conduct toward members of the parish. Ellery causes a sensation by attending a "Come-outer" meeting. Ellery's presence is bitterly resented by Eben Hammond, leader of the meeting. Grace apologizes for her guardian and Ellery escorts her home in the rain. Capt. Nat Hammond, Eben's son, becomes a hero by bringing the packet into port safely through fog and storm. Ellery finds Keziah writing a letter to some one, inclosing money in response to a demand. She is curiously startled when informed of the arrival of Nat. Nat calls on Keziah, and it develops that they have been lovers since youth. Daniels remonstrates with Ellery for attending "Come-outer" meeting. Ellery is caught by the tide and is rescued by Nat. They become friends. Ellery meets Grace while walking in the fields, and learns that she walks there every Sunday. The clergyman takes dinner Sundays with the Daniels. Annabel, the captain's daughter, exerts herself to make an impression on him. She notices with vexation his desire to get away every Sunday at a certain time. She watches him through a spy glass. Nat again importunes Keziah to marry him. He says he has had a quarrel with his father, who wants him to marry Grace. Ellery asks Grace to marry him. She confesses that she loves him, but says she fears to displease her guardian. Elkanah Daniels tells Eben about the meetings between Ellery and Grace. Eben declares he will make Grace choose between him and the preacher. Grace finds him in a faint, following the excitement of Elkanah's visit.

"Well, doctor?" she asked anxiously.

The stout, gray-haired old physician—he had practiced in Trumet for nearly thirty years—shook his head.

"Not a single chance," he whispered. "He may possibly live till morning, but I doubt if he lasts an hour. It's his heart. I've expected it at any time."

Captain Nat was standing at the door of the bedroom. His face was drawn and he had seemingly grown years older since noon.

"He's come to himself, doc," he whispered. "He don't remember how it happened or anything. And he wants us all. Why! why, Keziah! are you here? You can come in, too. I know dad likes you and I guess—Wait a minute; I'll ask him." He stepped back into the bedroom. "Yes," he nodded, returning, "you come, too. He wants you."

The little room, Captain Eben's own, was more like a skipper's cabin than a chamber on land. In the corner stood the captain's big boots and his oilskins hung about them. His Sunday cane was there also. And on the bureau was a worn, heavy Bible.

Dr. Parker brushed by the others and bent over the bed.

"Well, cap'n," he said cheerily, "how's she headed? How are you feeling now?"

The old face on the pillow smiled feebly.

"She's headed for home, I guess, doc," said Captain Eben. "Bound for home, and the harbor light broad abeam, I cal'late."

"Oh, no! you'll make a good many voyages yet."

"Not in this hulk, I won't, doctor. I hope I'll have a new command pretty soon. I'm trustin' in my owners and I guess they'll do the fair thing by me. Halloo, Gracie, girl! Well, your old uncle's on his beam ends, ain't he?"

Grace glanced fearfully at his face. When he spoke her name she shrank back, as if she feared what he might say. But he only smiled as, with the tears streaming down her face, she bent over and kissed him.

"There! there!" he protested. "You mustn't cry. What are you cryin' about me for? I'm fit and ready for the sea I'm goin' to sail." His eyes wandered from his son to Mrs. Coffin. For an instant he seemed puzzled. Then he said:

"'Evenin,' Keziah. I don't know why you're here, but—"

"I heard that Grace was alone and that you was sick, Eben. So I come right down, to help if I could."

"Thank ye. You're a good-hearted woman, Keziah, even though you ain't seen the true light yet. And you're housekeeper for that hired priest—a—a—" He paused, and a troubled look came over his face.

"What is it, dad?" asked Nat.

"I—I— Where's Gracie? She's here, ain't she?"

"Yes, uncle, I'm here. Here I am," said the girl. His fingers groped for her hand and seized it.

"Yes, yes, you're here," murmured Captain Eben. "I—I—for a minute or so, I—I had an awful dream about you, Gracie. I dreamed— Never mind, Doc, answer me this now, true and honest, man to man: Can you keep me here for just a little spell longer? Can you? Try! Ten minutes, say. Can you?"

"Of course I can. Cap'n Hammond, what are you—"

"Belay, I tell you. Yes, I guess 'twas a dream. It had to be, but 'twas so sort of real that I— How long have I been this way?"

"Oh, a little while! Now just—"

"Hush! Don't pull your hand away, Gracie. Nat, give me yours. That's it. Now I put them two hands together. See, doctor? See, Keziah?"

"Don't, uncle, don't!" pleaded Grace. "Don't worry about me. Think of yourself, please."

"S-sh-sh! Don't put me off. Just listen. I want you to marry my boy, after I'm gone. I want you to say you will—say it now, so's I can hear it. Will you, Gracie?"

Grace would have withdrawn her hand, but he would not let her. He clung to it and to that of his son with all his failing strength.

"Will you, Gracie?" he begged. "It's the last thing I'm goin' to ask of you. I've tried to be sort of good to you, in my way, and—"

"Don't, don't!" she sobbed. "Let me think a minute, uncle, dear. Oh, do let me think!"

"Won't you say it for me, Gracie?" pleaded Captain Eben. She hesitated no longer.

"Yes, uncle," she answered through tears, "if Nat wants me he can have me."

Keziah clasped her hands. Captain Eben's face lit up with a great joy.

"Thank the Almighty!" he exclaimed. "Lord, I do thank you. Nat, boy, you're consider'ble older than she is and you'll have to plan for her. You be a good husband to her all her days, won't ye? Why, what are you waitin' for? Why don't you answer me?"

Nat groaned aloud.

"A minute dad," he stammered. "Just give me a minute, for Heaven sakes! Keziah—"

"Keziah!" repeated Eben. "Keziah? What are you talkin' to her for? She knows there couldn't be no better match in the world. You do know it, don't ye, Keziah?"

"Yes," said Keziah slowly. "I guess—I guess you're right, Eben."

"Keziah Coffin," cried Nat Hammond, "do you tell me to marry Grace?"

"Yes, Nat, I—I think your father's right."

"Then—then—what difference does— All right, dad. Just as Grace says."

"Thank God!" cried Captain Eben. "Doctor, you and Mrs. Coffin are witnesses to this. There! now my decks are clear and I'd better get ready to land. Gracie, girl, the Good Book's over there on the bureau. Read me a chapter, won't you?"

An hour later Keziah sat alone in the dining room. She had stolen away when the reading began. Dr. Parker, walking very softly, came to her and laid his hand on her shoulder.

"He's gone," he said simply.

CHAPTER XII.

In Which Keziah Breaks the News.

It was nearly five o'clock, gray dawn of what was to be a clear, beautiful summer morning, when Keziah softly lifted the latch and entered the parsonage. All night she had been busy at the Hammond tavern. Busy with the doctor and the undertaker, who had been called from his bed by young Higgins; busy with Grace, soothing her, comforting her as best she could, and petting her as a mother might pet a stricken child. The poor girl was on the verge of prostration, and from hysterical spasms of sobs and weeping passed to stretches of silent, dry-eyed agony which were harder to witness and much more to be feared.

"It is all my fault," she repeated over and over again. "All my fault!

"Keziah Coffin!" Cried Nat Hammond, "Do You Tell Me to Marry Grace?"

I killed him! I killed him, Aunt Keziah! What shall I do? Oh, why couldn't I have died instead? It would have been so much better, better for everybody."

Dr. Parker was very anxious.

"She must rest," he told Mrs. Coffin. "She must, or her brain will give way. I'm going to give her something to make her sleep and you must get her to take it."

So Keziah tried and, at last, Grace did take the drug. In a little while she was sleeping, uneasily and with moans and sobbings, but sleeping, nevertheless.

"Now it's your turn, Keziah," said the doctor. "You go home now and rest, yourself. We don't need you any more just now. Now you go home. You've had a hard night, like the rest of us."

How hard he had no idea. And Keziah, as she wearily entered the parsonage, realized that the morning would be perhaps the hardest of all. For upon her rested the responsibility of seeing that the minister's secret was kept. And she, and no other, must break the news to him.

The dining room was dark and gloomy. She lighted the lamp. Then she heard a door open and Ellery's voice, as he called down the stairs.

"Who is it?" he demanded. "Mrs. Coffin?"

She was startled. "Yes," she said softly, after a moment. "Yes, Mr. Ellery, it's me."

"It's morning," said the minister. "Are you sick? Has anything happened?"

"Yes," she answered slowly, "somethin' has happened. Are you dressed? Could you come down?"

He replied that he would be down in a moment. When he came he found her standing by the table waiting for him. The look of her face in the lamplight shocked him.

"Why, Mrs. Coffin!" he exclaimed. "What is it? You look as if you had been through some dreadful experience."

Her heart went out to him. She held out both her hands.

"You poor boy," she cried, "I'm trying to tell you one of the hardest things a body can tell. Yes, some one is dead, but that ain't all. Eben Hammond, poor soul, is out of his troubles and gone."

"Eben Hammond! Captain Eben? Dead! Why, why—"

"Yes, Eben's gone. He was took down sudden and died about ten o'clock last night. I was there and—"

"Captain Eben dead! Why, he was as well as—as— She said— Oh, I must go! I must go at once!"

He was on his way to the door, but she held it shut.

"No," she said gravely, "you mustn't go. John—you won't mind me callin' you John. I'm old enough, pretty nigh, to be your mother, and I've come to feel almost as if I was. John, you've got to stay here with me. You can't go to that house. You can't go to her."

"Mrs. Coffin, what are you saying? Do you know— Have you—"

"Yes, I know all about it. I know about the meetin's in the pines and all. Oh, why didn't you trust me and tell me? If you had, all would have been so much better!"

He looked at her in utter amazement. The blood rushed to his face.

"You know that?" he whispered.

"Yes, I know."

"Did she tell—"

"No, nobody told. That is, only a little. I got a hint and I suspicioned somethin' afore. The rest I saw with my own eyes."

He was now white, but his jaw shot forward and his teeth closed.

"If you do know," he said, "you must realize that my place is with her. Now, when she is in trouble—"

"It ain't the congregation, John," she said. "Nor Trumet, nor your ministry. That means more'n you think it does, now; but it ain't that. You mustn't go to her because—well, because she don't want you to."

"Doesn't want me? I know better." He laughed in supreme scorn.

"She doesn't want you, John. She wouldn't see you if you went. She would send you away again, sure, sartin sure. She would. And if you didn't go when she sent you, you wouldn't be the man I hope you are. John, you mustn't see Grace again. She ain't yours. She belongs to some one else.

"John, Grace Van Horne is goin' to marry Cap'n Nat Hammond. There! that's the livin' truth."

She led him over to the rocking-chair and gently forced him into it. He obeyed, although with no apparent realization of what he was doing. Still with her hand on his shoulder she went on speaking. She told him of her visit to the Hammond tavern, saying nothing of Mr. Pepper's call nor of her own experience in the grove. She told of Captain Eben's seizure, of what the doctor said, and of the old Come-Outer's return to consciousness. Then she described the scene in the sick room and how Nat and Grace had plighted troth. He listened, at first stunned and stolid, then with growing impatience.

"So you see," she said. "It's settled; they're engaged, and Dr. Parker will tell everybody of the engagement this very mornin'. It wan't any great surprise to me. Those who have been brought up together; 'twas the natural thing that was almost bound to happen. Eben's heart was set on it for years. And she'll have a good husband, John, that I know. And she'll do her best to make him happy. He's a good man and—"

"But I know—"

"Do you suppose she would come to you if she knew it would be your ruin?"

He hesitated. The last time they met, ages before—no, only the previous afternoon—she had told him it was his happiness and his future only that she thought of. He choked and drew his hand across his eyes.

"Mrs. Coffin," he said, "you tell me it will be her ruin. You tell me so. You say she doesn't want me. I tell you that the only thing that will keep me from her is hearing that from her own lips. When she tells me to leave her I will, and not before."

"She'll tell you, John; she'll tell you. And I know Grace. She's made up her mind and won't change it. But I do ask you this: I ask you not to go now. Wait a little while, do. I left her asleep, worn out by what she's been through and under the effects of the doctor's sleepin' medicine. He said she must rest or he was afraid her brain would give out. For her sake, then, wait a little. Then, if you don't hear from her, maybe I can arrange a meetin' place where you can see her without anyone's knowin' it. I'll try. But do wait a little while, for her sake, won't you?"

At last he was listening and hesitating.

"Won't you?" begged Keziah.

"Yes," he answered slowly. "I'll wait. I'll wait until noon, somehow, if I can. I'll try. But not a minute later. Not one. You don't know what you're talking about, Mrs. Coffin."

"Yes, I do. I know well. And I thank you for her sake."

But he did not have to wait until noon. At six o'clock, through the dew-soaked grass of the yard, came the Higgins boy. For the first time in his short life he had been awake all night and he moved slowly.

The housekeeper opened the door. Ike held up an envelope, clutched in a grimy hand.

"It's for you, Mrs. Keziah," he said. "Gracie she sent it. There ain't no answer."

Mrs. Coffin closed the door and tore open the envelope. Within was another addressed, in Grace's handwriting, to Mr. Ellery. The housekeeper entered the study, handed it to him and turned away.

"Dear John," wrote Grace. "I presume Aunt Keziah has told you of uncle's death and of my promise to Nat. It is true. I am going to marry him. I am sure this is right and for the best. Our friendship was a mistake and you must not see me again. Please don't try.

"GRACE VAN HORNE."

Beneath was another paragraph.

"Don't worry about me. I shall be happy, I am sure. And I shall hope that you may be. I shall pray for that."

The note fell to the floor with a

"John, What Are You Going to Do?"

rustle that sounded loud in the stillness. Then Keziah heard the minister's step. She turned. He was moving slowly across the room.

"John, what are you goin' to do?"

He shook his head. "I don't know," he said. "Go away somewhere, first of all, I guess. Go somewhere and—and try to live it down. I can't, of course, but I must try."

She put out her hand. "I know it'll be hard," she said, "stayin' here, I mean. But your duty to others—"

"Don't you think we've heard enough about duty to others? How about my duty to myself?"

"I guess that's the last thing we ought to think about in the world, if we do try to be fair and square. Your church thinks a heap of you, John. They build on you. You've done more in the little while you've been here than Mr. Langley did in his last fifteen years."

"You've never been asked to sit quietly by and see the one you love more than all the world marry some one else."

"How do you know I ain't? How do you know I ain't doin' just that now?"

"Mrs. Coffin!"

"John Ellery, you listen to me. You think I'm a homely old woman, probably, set in my ways as an eight-day clock. I guess I look like it and act like it. But I ain't so awful old—on the edge of forty, that's all. And when I was your age I wa'n't so awful homely, either. I had fellers aplenty hangin' round and I could have married any one of a dozen. This ain't boastin'; land knows I'm fur from that. I was brought up in this town and even when I was a girl at school there was only one boy I cared two straws about. He and I went to picnics together and to parties and everywhere. Folks used to laugh and say we was keepin' comp'ny, even then.

"Well, when I was eighteen, after father died, I went up to New Bedford to work in a store there. Wanted to earn my own way. And this young feller I'm tellin' you about went away to sea, but every time he come home from a voyage he come to see me and things went on that way till we was promised to each other. The engagement wa'n't announced, but 'twas so, just the same. We'd have been married in another year. And then we quarreled.

"'Twas a fool quarrel, same as that kind gen'rally are. As much my fault as his and as much his as mine, I cal'late. Anyhow, we was both proud, or thought we was, and neither would give in. And he says to me, 'You'll be sorry after I'm gone. You'll wish me back, then.' And says I, bein' a fool, 'I guess not. There's other fish in the sea.' He sailed and I did wish him back, but I wouldn't write fust and neither would he. And then come another man."

She paused, hesitated, and then continued.

The Reign of Woman.

Women will serve as public porters and dining car waiters on the special train which is to carry the Illinois suffragists to the Washington parade, and except for the train crew and solitary man to shine shoes it will be an example of feminized railway transportation. The male shoeblack prompts masculine reflections on the division of menial labor under the new dispensation. But mere man may take heart. The time is still remote when there will be women at locomotive throttles or in the more responsible posts in railroad operation.—New York World.

STRENGTH
Without Overloading The Stomach.

The business man, especially, needs food in the morning that will not overload the stomach, but give mental vigor for the day.

Much depends on the start a man gets each day, as to how he may expect to accomplish the work on hand.

He can't be alert, with a heavy, fried-meat-and-potatoes breakfast requiring a lot of vital energy in digesting it.

A Calif. business man tried to find some food combination that would not overload the stomach in the morning, but that would produce energy.

He writes:

"For years I was unable to find a breakfast food that had nutrition enough to sustain a business man without overloading his stomach, causing indigestion and kindred ailments.

"Being a very busy and also a very nervous man, I decided to give up breakfast altogether. But luckily I was induced to try Grape-Nuts.

"Since that morning I have been a new man; can work without tiring, my head is clear and my nerves strong and quiet.

"I find four teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts with one of sugar and a small quantity of cold milk, is delicious as the cereal part of the morning meal, and invigorates me for the day's business." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

WANTS FRIENDSHIP SISTER REPUBLICS

WILSON ISSUES STATEMENT OF POLICY TOWARD ADJOINING COUNTRIES.

U. S. HAS NOTHING TO SEEK

Friends of Peace, But Peace under Stable Conditions—Desires Co-Operation.

Washington.—President Wilson issued this formal statement of his policy toward the Central and South American republics:

"One of the chief objects of my administration will be to cultivate the friendship and deserve the confidence of our sister republics of Central and South America and to promote in every proper and honorable way the interests which are common to the people of the two continents. I earnestly desire the most cordial understanding and co-operation between the peoples and leaders of America and, therefore, deem it my duty to make this brief statement.

"Co-operation is possible only when supported at every turn by the orderly process of just government based upon law, not upon arbitrary or irregular force. We hold, as I am sure, all thoughtful leaders of republican government everywhere do, that just government rests always upon the consent of the governed and that there can be no freedom without order based upon law and upon the public conscience and approval. We shall look to make these principles the basis of mutual intercourse, respect and helpfulness between our sister republics and ourselves.

"We can have no sympathy with those who seek to seize the power of government to advance their own personal interests or ambition. We are the friends of peace, but we know that there can be no lasting or stable peace in such circumstances. * * *

"The United States has nothing to seek in Central and South America, except the lasting interests of the peoples of the two continents, the security of governments intended for the people and for no special group or interest and the development of personal and trade relationships between the two continents which shall redound to the profit and advantage of both and interfere with the rights and liberties of neither.

"From these principles you may read so much of the future policy of this government as it is necessary now to forecast; and in the spirit of these principles, I may, I hope, be permitted with as much confidence as earnestness, to extend to the governments of all the republics of America the hand of genuine disinterested friendship and to pledge my own honor and the honor of my colleagues to every enterprise of peace and amity that a fortunate future may disclose."

TO CONSIDER MURDER CASES

Special Session of Supreme Court Necessary To Prevent Resetting of Dates for Execution

Montgomery, Ala.—When the supreme court meets March 17, seven Alabamians convicted as murderers will send attorneys to the court chamber to argue for rehearings. If they convince the court they did not receive fair trials and proper consideration on appeal they will be granted rehearings. If not they will give up their lives in atonement for the sin of murder.

Associate Justice John C. Anderson, acting for Chief Justice J. S. Dowdell, who was detained at his home at Fayette, by the illness of his wife, issued an order for the meeting. He did so after confering with six other justices and talking with the chief justice over the telephone.

The session will determine whether or not Arthur Jones and William Watson of Birmingham and Jay Smith of Gadsden shall be hanged March 21, and Walter Jones of Birmingham, C. Walter Jones of Montgomery, Arnold Gilmer and John Adams of Montgomery, April 4. The cases were affirmed recently, but the convicted men filed applications for rehearings. The court had recessed and the special session was necessary to prevent the resetting of dates for the excutions.

The question has been important for several days and the supreme court, it is understood, discussed the matter minutely, believing that the reassembling of the court during recess would set a precedent.

INSULTS TO WOMEN TO BE INVESTIGATED

CONGRESS GOES TO AID OF SUFFRAGETTES BY INQUIRY.

THE POLICE ARE CONDEMNED

Evidence Being Gathered That Intoxicated Men Heaped Indignities Upon Women Marchers—Hobson Leads Fight.

Washington.—Aroused over the failure of the Washington police department to maintain order during the progress of the suffrage pageant on March 3, the senate began an investigation to place the responsibility for the lack of protection for the women marchers. The investigation is a result of a joint resolution of congress, directing the police department to furnish protection to the suffragists.

Acting under a resolution adopted just before the senate adjourned Monday, Senator Gallingher, the retiring chairman of the District of Columbia committee, named Senators Jones, Dillingham and Pomerene as an investigating committee.

At a meeting the committee determined to begin hearings. Major Richard Sylvester, superintendent of police, probably will be one of the first witnesses called. It is the plan of the committee to examine a number of persons to determine accurately the attitudes of the police toward the suffrage marchers, and the character of protection given.

Superintendent of Police Sylvester said that the department cannot be blamed for the failure to preserve order. He said the police force was inadequate to meet the situation that confronted it, requiring the guarding of the suffrage line of march and handling the arrival of President Wilson at the same time.

His requests for more men, he added, have been unheeded by congress for the last five or six years.

TWO VIEWS ON LOW WAGES

Employers and Girls Differ as to Consequences. . .

Chicago.—"The employers think that low wages have nothing to do with immorality among women; the women of the town say it has everything to do with it." That was the way State Senator Juul summed testimony before the State senate vice investigating committee, at which some of the greatest employers of female labor in the city and half a dozen women from the underworld were witnesses. State Senator Beall, like Juul, a member of the committee, explained to the witnesses who were employers that the committee desired to embarrass no one, but wished information bearing on a bill now pending in the legislature making a minimum wage scale of $12 for women in this State compulsory. The employers held this figure to be excessive and the law an impossibility. Several employers testified to their belief that a good girl would remain good, despite inadequate wages, while several women declared that low wages caused the downfall of more girls than did any other or all other circumstances.

A GREAT WAR NOW IN SIGHT

Germany and France Making Gigantic War Preparations.

London.—In the present critical situation in European politics France, Germany, England and Russia are all watching each other to see which takes the first step. France's spirited response to the proposed military aggrandizement of Germany has done more toward insuring peace today and war tomorrow than any diplomatic move in the recollection of any person now living. On the other hand, Germany's lame explanation as to the causes of the enormous outlay and the increase of her peace army has deceived nobody.

TWO WOMEN SAVED FROM OPERATIONS

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Their Own Stories Here Told.

Beatrice, Neb.—"Just after my marriage my left side began to pain me and the pain got so severe at times that I suffered terribly with it. I visited three doctors and each one wanted to operate on me but I would not consent to an operation. I heard of the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was doing for others and I used several bottles of it with the result that I haven't been bothered with my side since then. I am in good health and I have two little girls."—Mrs. R. B. CHILD, Beatrice, Neb.

The Other Case.

Cary, Maine.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation, but my husband thought I had better write to you and I did so, stating my symptoms. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Cary, Maine.

RECALLS LITERARY MYSTERY

Rev. Mr. Wolfe, Author of "Burial of Sir John Moore," Buried at Queenstown.

A literary mystery of a hundred years ago is recalled by the special centenary number, recently issued, of the Newry Telegraph, an an Ulster tri-weekly. In its pages April 19, 1817, under the simple head of "Poetry," appeared what Byron called "the most perfect ode in the language"—"The Burial of Sir John Moore." Byron or Campbell or any of the others to whom this poem was variously ascribed would doubtless have been proud to claim it. But the author was the obscure curate of Ballyclog, in Tyronne, Rev. Charles Wolfe, and the fame of the piece was but a posthumous fame for him. Not until his death, of consumption, in 1823, at the early age of thirty-two, did the authorship become known to the world. And Wolfe, who wrote much other verse of merit, is remembered only by that one poem which sprang from the columns of a provincial newspaper to universal recognition in the big world of letters.—London Chronicle.

HER PUNISHMENT VERY SEVERE

Mrs. Chappell Says That Her Punishment for Five Years Was More than Anyone Could Ever Tell.

Mt. Airy, N. C.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell says: "I suffered for about 5 years with womanly trouble, also stomach trouble, and my punishment was more than any one could ever tell.

Several doctors had treated me, and I had tried most every kind of medicine I could think of, but none did me any good.

I read one day about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together.

My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it."

Are you a woman? Do you suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly trouble, such as sleeplessness, nervousness, weakness, and that everlastingly tired feeling?

If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. You have everything to gain, if it helps you, and we feel confident it will help you, just as it has more than a million other women, in the past half century.

No crop gives better returns for using the right kind of fertilizer than does tobacco.

POTASH

Both quantity and quality are improved by properly balanced fertilizers containing Potash in the form of Sulfate—Muriate and Kainit will not do. The amount of Sulfate of Potash should be from 200 to 250 pounds per acre. This would mean 1000 to 1250 pounds per acre of 4-5-10 goods.

Many so-called "tobacco fertilizers" are merely ordinary, general-purpose mixed goods, containing chlorides which injure the quality of the leaf. Insist on goods free from chlorides and containing 10 to 12 per cent. Potash, or supplement the manure with 300 to 400 pounds acid phosphate and 200 to 250 pounds Sulfate of Potash.

THORSBY DEPARTMENT

H. L. FOSHEE, Manager. —o—THORSBY, ALA., March 13, 1913

The Helen Kellar Literary Society held their regular meeting last Saturday night. The most important numbers on the program were a vocal solo by Dr. H. C. Junkerman and a very interesting illustrated lecture by Dr. Geo. Eaves, of Birmingham, on the subject "Health."

The Baptist Ladies Aid and Mission Society will give and Oyster Supper at Bice and Billingsley's soda fountain on next Saturday night. They will also serve ice cream and cake. They are expecting a large patronage.

We are very glad to see Mr. P. K. Villadsen back in town after spending the winter in the North.

Miss Mabel Swan who has been teaching near Coopers the past winter is at home now for several weeks.

Dr. Geo. Eaves preached at the Congregational church last Sunday morning.

Rev. S. H. Herbert filled his regular appointment in Birmingham last Sunday.

Pres. John D. Simpson of Birmingham College will be here Thursday night to make an address on the subject of "The philosophy of life," given under the Entertainment Course of the Thorsby Institute. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the School Chorus.

On Wednesday night, March 19th, the second Contest between the sides of the Literary Society will be held. The subject for debate will be, Resolved, "That imigration should be further restricted by requiring that all imigrants be required to read their own language." The affirmative will be represented by Clarance Graham and Miss Martha Parker, the negative by James Daniel and Miss Lonabel Bice.

The Institute will close March 19th till March 24th for its spring vacation.

On last Wednesday, March 5' Eugene Peterson, the 13 year old son of Mr. Martin Peterson, opened the post office box of H. L. Foshee and romoved a package containing a pair of spectacles. Postmaster Sam W. Collins had the boy arrested and he gave back the package appearently in same condition as when he got it, but when Mr. Foshee opendd it he found that the boy had removed the glasses and had put in their place a little iron handled pocket knife. He was arrested again and confessed that he had removed the glasses and that he hid them in a coal house back of the post office. Mayor Bice carried him to the place where he hid them and found them there, or at least he found some of the pieces, as the boy had broken both lenses and had cut the frames into pieces. His purpose was evidently to get the gold of the frames. Later it was found that he had stolen several pocket knives from Mr. Collins store the same day, for which he was tried and fined $20 and cost by Mayor Bice.

Postmaster Collins notified the U. S. Commissioner at Montgomery of the robbery and last Saturday night Deputy U. S. Marshall Shehan came after the boy, carrying him to Montgomery Sunday morning. He also summoned Postmaster Collins, J. Bice, J. P. Nix and H. L. Foshee as witnesses; they all went to Montgomery Monday.

The boy pleaded guilty to the charge before U. S. Commissioner John A. Elmore. He made bond and returned home Sunday night to await the meeting of the U. S. Grand Jury.

Hastings Prolific Corn Yielded 214 Bushels On 1 Acre

If you are going to plant corn this spring, either for the corn club contests, or to fill your own corn-crib, the corn to plant is Hastings' Prolific.

Official United States government records show that this corn has yielded more to the acre than any other corn planted in the Southern states. Hastings Prolific won the Georgia record with 214 bushels to one acre. Hastings' Prolific won the Mississippi record with 225 bushels to one acre; the Arkansas record with 172 2-3; the Florida record, 129 1-4. Hastings' Prolific has won five-sixths of the corn club prizes in Georgia. It has made records in every Southern state.

This corn is not only immensely prolific, but produces a grain and forage of the finest quality. It is not merely a prize-winning corn. It is the corn that it will pay you best to plant year-in and year-out, for sale and for your own use.

Prices: Packet, 10 cents; 1-2 pint, 20 cents; pint, 30 cents; quart, 50 cents; postpaid. Peck, not prepaid, $1; bushel, $3.50. Order today, or if you want more information write for our big free catalogue. It is full of agricultural information. It is a good book to have on the farm.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

FROM MISSISSIPPI.

Pelahatchie, Miss., March 15, '13.
Editor Union-Banner—Here I am once more asking for admittance some where in your merry circle. It has been some time since I have had a welcome corner with you. I am always anxious when my paper comes to see the good old news from Chilton, though sometimes I fail to see many pieces. What has become of our good old writers? I fear they have gone back on us. I have nothing special to write. I ask you one and all to grace our page once more with a nice letter. "Grandma," where art thou? as I know you personally, write us again, please. Tell Myrtle and Robert Pate and Ida "hello" for me, I don't know any of you by your pen names; I wish you would sign your real names, you write such nice letters, wake up and come again.

ATE SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION.

Ii is announced at the headquarters of the Alabama Sunday School Association in Montgomery that the program for the approaching State Sunday School Convention at Huntsville, April 15-16-17, has been completed and includes about sixty of the strongest Sunday School workers, superintendents and pastors of our own and other States. Several new features of modern Sunday school work never before discussed at a State convention will be on the program this year. On account of the fact that this is the largest religious gathering of any sort in Alabama the railroads have granted a special reduced rate of about one-half the regular fare.

HAVE YOUR LETTER HEADS AND ENVELOPES PRINTED

Every farmer, especially those on the R. F. D's, should have his stationery printed with the number of his route and post-office on it, and if possible with the name of his farm also. To encourage this we make the foliowing One Dollar offer: We will furnish 150 envelopes and 250 sheets of note paper neatly printed as above for $1.00. We cannot mail them at that price as printed matter is unjustly deprived of the parcel post rate.

A TEXAS WONDER.

The Texas Wonder cures kidney and bladder troubles, dissolves gravel, cures diabetes, weak and lame backs, rheumatism, and all irregularities of the kidneys and bladder in both men and women. Regulates bladder troubles in children. If not sold by your druggist will be sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. One small bottle is two months' treatment, and seldom fails to perfect a cure. Send for testimonials from Alabama and other states. Dr. E. W. Hall, 2926 Olive Street, St. Louis, Mo. Sold by druggists.

BILLINGSLEY.

Editor Union-Banner: —Allow me a few words on the roads. You know we had taxation to work our roads and by the vote of the people it was voted out of the county. So now if we get bond issue that will be the way it will go, it will not go in this county. We have got a law sufficient to have good roads if we had tools sufficient to work them with. Now if the county will furnish each overseer sufficient tools to work his road, then we will have better roads. We don't have to have the bond issue to do this with. We overseers warn our hands to work the roads and there will be one-third of them will bring a gooseneck hoe. How in the world can we work good roads with such tools. Now if the commission and the people will go to work for this thing then we will have better roads and have each overseer to put his ten days on the road and more if necessary. Now don't lets take Judge Deason's word for the bond issue, just look what it has done in Geneva county and Barbour county, that will be enough to convince any man. Now let's wake up over the bond issue and see what it will do for us.
Johnie G. Billingsley.

LITTLE SAND MOUTAIN.

The people of this section enjoyed the picnic given by the school last Friday at ihe schoolhouse. A large crowd attended and enjoyed a bountiful dinner, and in the afternoon Rev. P. G-Maness, one of our former teachers, talked to the children. He took for his ext "Keep on keeping on." Everyone enjoyed his talk and also the singing by the school. Prof. Hicks and wife have given the people good service this year, and they have our best wishes wherever they may go.

Among our visitors Friday were Rev. Bilbro, from Maplesville, Mrs. J. H. Shoultz and daughter Wilder, Mr. Perry Hicks and sisters from Lawley. We were glad to have them.

Miss Lena Walker, who has been teaching near Jemison, is at home again with her friends.
One of the Girls.

WANTS GOOD ROADS.

Editor Union Banner:—I don't want our people to do anything wrong, but I must say that I think we must do something for our roads. If we can build them without bonds I think we should do so, but by all means let's have the good roads. I have served my time as a hand on the road, but still help the boys and am willing to help more. I am not blaming the boys for not keeping up the roads, for I know that they can't make good roads without more help than they have had.

I have lost more than than $100 since Christmas on account of the condition of the roads; had to refuse an offer of $5 and $6 per day, simply because I could not afford to pull my mules over the road.

We have tried everything else and have no good roads; so far as I am concerned I favor bonds to build the main and most important roads.

Let's work the roads and build them good or have bonds to do it with.
Respectfully, J. W. Cox.

POPWELL SCHOOLHOUSE.

Health of this ccmmunity is good at present, except that Mrs. J. D. Sims is sick from an attack of apdendictiis. We certainly hope to see her well again soon.

Prof. E. C. Popwell's school closed Friday last with a very nice program in the afternoon. The pupils recited their recitations and acted their plays finely. They had several plays and recitations with graphophone music between, which took an hour and a half, but every one present seemed to enjoy it and the house was full.

After the exercises Prof. Popwell made a short but splendid talk to the patrons, showing the necessity of co-operating with the teacher to make the school successful. Surely this will cause them to make up their minds to do better the next school term, whoever may be the teacher. A Friend.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

Rev. A. B. Baxley preached at this place last Sunday to a large crowd.

All of us who are interested in Sunday school will meet at Mt. Pleasant next Sunday evening at 1 o'clock to reorganize Sunday school.

Prof. and Mrs. W. T. Bean, our newly elected county superintendent of education, attended preaching at this place last Sunday.

Mr. Bently Dupriest is visiting relatives in Coosa county.

Mr. Amos Dozier, of Coosa county, has been visiting his brother, W. A. Dozier.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Price spent last Saturday night with the formers parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Price of Cedar Grove.

Mr. T. C. Sharbutt and little daughter Essie, of near Bethel, spent Friday last with his sister, Mrs. Tennie Lindsey, who is very sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Riggins visited the latters parents last Saturday night.

Mr. Tom Teel spent Saturday night with his daughter near Pinedale.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pate of Collins Chapel attended preaching here last Sunday.

Miss Pinkie Hawkins of near Cooper, is spending the week with her sister, Mrs. Jim Lewis.

Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Baxley, of Talladega Springs, spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Massey.

Mrs. Nancy Vickers and little grand son, Wallace, are spending part of the week with Mr and Mrs. B. H. Duke.

Prof. and Mrs. H. L. Foshee and Mr. Jim Daniel and sisters, Misses Oakie and Annie Daniel, of Thorsby attended preaching here last Sunday.

That was a great democratic haul that Theodore Lacy made on the State.
LITTLE VIEWER.

THE STORM IN STUMP HILL

Thursday evening's storm struck this neighborhood with full force. The timber from Smith's to Sawyers Cove was blown down into a tangled mass. Two houses were blown down, Tom Brooks and McCroly were demolished, barns and all, a wagon bed was blown two miles over into Shelby county. The only one injured was Mr. Wm. Byas, who was caught by a falling tree and had his ribs broken. The community turned out Monday to try and get the roads in a passable shape. The damage of Sawyers was estimated at $1500. A house belonging to Mr. Ed Honeycutt at Union Grove was blown of the blocks and chimneys thrown down. Mr. Honeycutt and wife were both injured.

NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

A CONDENSED RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

SEVEN DAYS' NEWS AT A GLANCE

Important Happenings In All Parts of the World Summarized for the Busy Reader.

Southern.

With its assets exceeding its liabilities, $4,000,000, the American Naval Stores company of Savannah, Ga., has announced to the world that it has suspended business. The statement explains that the government has made a fight on the company and its officers that has practically destroyed its credit and made it wise to discontinue operations.

Two carpenters, J. J. Walton and Everett Thomas, were killed at Louisville, Ky., when a high wind blew down a construction tower at the Louisville railway company's repair shops. The men were at work on the structure when the crash came, and were buried under the debris.

Reports in Atlanta, Ga., are that more than ninety people were killed, scores severely injured and great property loss sustained in the disastrous electrical tornado which swept parts of Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas. Eighty-odd deaths have been reported, and the total loss of life probably will be increased when wire communication is restored in remote sections devastated by the cyclone. The damage to propty cannot be estimated, but probably will have to be computed in millions.

Terrible injuries and frightful hardships are reported to have been sustained by the people of the Floyd county (Ga.) district swept by the cyclone. Thirty are reported seriously injured in addition to the eleven killed outright by the force of the storm. The people of Rome have called a mass meeting to raise relief funds.

Declaring that the supreme court of West Virginia had upheld the right of the military commission to try persons accused of violating the martial law proclamation now in force in the Kanawha coal region, where a strike has been in progress for almost a year ,Judge Littlepage, in the circuit court, declined to order the transfer of "Mother" Jones and other labor leaders to a civil court for trial.

General

A five and ten-cent store at Red Bank, N. J., was wrecked by a mob that objected to St. Patrick day souvenirs displayed in the windows, declaring the display held up to ridicule things which they considered sacred. When the store opened the parish priest called on the proprietors and demanded the removal of the articles. Two hundred persons gathered outside the store and when the priest reported that his mission had failed the mob rushed in, tore the offending articles from the windows and counters and trampled them under foot. Counters were upset and other goods were destroyed.

A New York City burglary, perpetrated by clever cracksmen, netted the thieves the largest haul obtained in that city in many years. Martin Simmons & Sons, pawnbrokers in Hester street, were the victims, and the property stolen includes $250,000 worth of jewelry, diamonds and other precious stones and $100,000 worth of negotiable securities.

There is no prospects of the acceptance by Turkey of the peace terms as proposed by the allies. Dispatches from Constantinople say that the leading members of the committee of Union and Progress have decided that the conditions could not be accepted.

Two hundred persons are homeless in Brewton, Ala., unsheltered from the cold wave which has Alabama in its grasp. The flood there, which reached its crest, has not abated. One life is known to have been lost, that of a negro woman. Many are injured. The town is in darkness, for the rise of water put the electric lighting plant out as well as others. Business is paralyzed and the struggle at present is for life.

According to reports from New Orleans three persons were killed in a cyclone which struck, Man, La. Several are reported injured. Thomas Goodman and his baby were killed when their home was blown away. One child of Bud Manasco was killed and several members of the family injured when their home was demolished.

The supreme court of the United States tied the hands of Postmaster General Burleson in the enforcement of the newspaper publicity law by granting the temporary injunction asked by the Journal of Commerce of New York City.

Allegations that policemen made no attempt to prevent an attempted robbery of the treasurer of a benefit dance given for Russian political refugees was made to the chief of police of Chicago.

Nashville, Tenn., city stables were burned entailing a loss of $15,000 and cremating sixty mules

The suffragettes who attempted to hold a meeting in Hyde park, London, England, were mobbed by a crowd of ten thousand persons. For two hours the park, where demonstrations until recently were held in peace, and Oxford street nearby were the scenes of widest disorder.

Illinois again has yielded to Texas the honor of being premier crop-producing state of the Union, Iowa holds her position as third, while Ohio has lost to Missouri the honor of fourth place.

A resolution holding among other things that the employment of child labor had certainly brought reproach upon American industry, while only a small percentage of factories recruit their working forces from juvenile toilers, was enthusiastically adopted at Jacksonville, Fla., at a mass meeting held under the auspices of the National Child Labor conference, which is in session, and therefore urgently requests the National Manufacturers' association to aid in its abolition.

State Senator W. K. Oldham, who, as president of the senate at the time Governor Robinson resigned, was installed as acting governor, has been declared legally entitled to the office of governor of Arkansas by Circuit Judge Fulk.

The Hawthorne mining trial, which has dragged along nearly four months before a jury in the Federal court at New York City, came to a close with the conviction of the three defendants, Julian Hawthorne, Dr. William J. Morton and Albert Freeman, and the acquittal of Joseph Quincy, twice mayor of Boston and assistant secretary of state during the Cleveland administration.

Earth tremors were felt at Dalton, Ga., the shocks being more severe than four others experienced in Dalton during the past six years.

Senora Leonidas Plaza, wife of the president of Ecuador, sailed with her five children for Colon, there to cross the isthmus and join her husband in Quito. The varied political fortunes of Senor Plaza have kept her in New York City for more than five years, an exile from her native land. Senor Plaza, who was elected president of Ecuador, after years spent in the United States as an exile, has never seen his youngest child.

State officials in Piedras Negras, the Mexican town opposite Eagle Pass, Texas, and known during the Diaz regime as Ciudad Porfiro Diaz, claimed to have authoritative information of the plight of the government forces at three widely separated points in Mexico. They declared that Durago, capital of the state of the name, has been captured by 2,000 Constitutionalists under Juan Garcia, the former candidate for governor, that General Trucy Aubert and his force is isolated in the vicinity of Reata, eastern Coahuila, and that Torreon, in western Coahuila, is menaced by 2,000 Constitutionalists under Colonel Triana.

The nomination of Chairman William F. McCombs of the Democratic national committee to be ambassador to France was prepared at the white house, and as it was about to be transmitted to the senate it was withheld at Mr. McCombs' request. Mr. McCombs has decided to accept the post and the delay does not mean a change in his intentions.

The interstate commerce commission is shortly to enter upon the biggest piece of work it has ever undertaken. No governmental agency in this or any other country has ever essayed a task of greater magnitude. The work of a tariff commission is a schoolboy's problem in comparison. This stupendous task is nothing more nor less than to make a complete valuation of all the public utility property of the United States, which comes under the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission, as provided for in the bill of Representative Adamson of Georgia.

Unless the Supreme court restrains Postmaster General Burleson from enforcing the newspaper publicity law as it was asked to do, he will immediately do so regardless of an agreement by former Postmaster General Hitchcock to withhold action pending a determination of its constitutionality. Mr. Burleson has so announced.

President Wilson has issued a formal statement of his policy toward the Central and South American republics.

The extra session of congress, called by President Wilson to assemble April 7, will begin with nothing but the tariff revision bills before it. This fact was made clear in a statement by Representative Underwood, chairman of the house committee on ways and means. Until tariff legislation is well under way in the house, no general committees will be named and no other legislative subjects will be taken up. The president specified no subject for the extra session in his proclamation, but it is understood that his message to congress at its opening will dwell on tariff revision

AND LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

In Mr. J. Dudley Collins' letter last week the word "not" was left out of the sentence "so far I believe the bond issue is not the best thing." He writes this week: "I want everybody to know that I oppose the bond issue at present. I don't say that I am right, but yet I see it that way."

COOPER.

The Aggathuridan Debating Society met Saturday night, the 15th inst., for the purpose of debating the subject: Resolved: That the World Is Growing Worse. Speakers for the affirmative were Profs. R. A. Smith and J. L. Yates, for the negative Profs. W. E. Robinson and T. M. Boswell. From the speeches that were made it appeared that the boys had given the subject considerable study.

After good speaking on both sides, the judges rendered their decision in favor of the affirmative.

Our society will meet again Saturday evening, March 22, at 7:30 p. m., for the purpose of having a "mock trial;" the State against Abner Cox for an assault with intent to murder. Counsel for the state, Hons. P. O. Barrett and W. E. Robinson; for the defendant, Hons. R. A. Smith and J. L. Yates.

Let all be present and enpjoy the evening.

We are expecting to have with us Prof. J. J. Pickens, of the Clanton High School, who will make an address to the society.

Don't fail to hear him.

COMMITTEE.

CANE CREEK.

Health of this community is fairly good, except a few colds.

The Sunday School at this place last Sunday did very well except we had several backward boys that didn't even come in the house, much less to the class. I suppose they had business to tend to behind the schoolhouse. Listen here, boys, let's all join Sunday School and work in harmony together. I think we can have a better Sunday School. Let's try it anyway and see if we can't.

There were several of our Cane Creek folks visited Pine Oak after Sunday School. Miss Mae Williamson had lots of company last Sunday p. m. I won't try to name them as I don't know the names of them all.

There is going to be Sunday School at this place next Sunday at 9 o'clock. Singing at 10:00 and preaching by Rev. F. A. Ellison at 11:00. Everybody is cordially invited to come and help us sing. All you come, but listen, leave your whiskey and also your beer at home and come in the house and help him all you can. Make him think we are trying to help him in his work. Boys, if I were you I would just say I am going to quit my wild way doings and be a better boy in the future than I have in the past and not only say it but mean it and stick to it.

A SUNDAY SCHOOL LOVER.

Editor Union Banner: Please allow us a small space in your paper to say a few words in memory of our friend and neighbor, Mr. Tom Carter, who died the 2nd day of March. His remains were laid to rest in Mt. Carmel cemetery at 3:00 p. m. Rev. J. D. Deason conducted the funeral services. There was a large crowd of his friends and neighbors who followed him to his grave to show their last respects to him. Mr. Carter had lived in this community over eleven years; he was well known through here. Mr. Carter was taken sick all at once and only lingered a little over a week. He bore his suffering very patiently and his many friends showed him much respect by going and waiting on him; they did not leave him need for anything. He died with pneumonia. There were three doctors waiting on him and all was done that could be done for him, but all in vain; the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh; He knows best; He doeth all things well. Mr. Carter leaves a wife, five boys, two girls, a brother, four grandchildren and a host of friends to mourn their loss. Weep not, dear ones, only live to meet him in a better world than this, where there'll be no more sad partings and there'll be no more good-bys and we will live in peace with our Heavenly Father for ever.

WEST CHILTON.

Hurrah for Mr. J. O. Wesson on the road question.

The recent storm period brought heavy rains in this part but no unusual wind.

On April 2d and 3d Mr. O. L. Sullivan, a traveling lecturer under the auspices of the Peoples Pulpit Association of Brooklyn, N. Y., will deliver four lectures on Bible subjects at the Waldrup school house beginning in the afternoon of April 2d. All are invited.

Had a nice gathering at J. L. Smith's Saturday. A social quilting was the order, and a number of West Chilton's beautiful belles were present, viz.: Misses Nellie, Mae and Maude Waldrup, Miss Vic Martin, Miss Omer Smith, Miss Trudie Posey.

Mr. and Mrs. James Langston, of Perry, visited relatives here Saturday.

A large crowd attended singing here Sunday afternoon. The class appointed delegates to the county singing convention at Cedar Grove in May.

Miss Whitney, teacher at Golden Ridge, Prof. Snow, of Randolph, and Prof. Meggs, of Cox's Chapel, attended the singing Sunday.

They say Mr. Loomon Brantley, overseer on a part of the road to Montevallo, Beat 2, has his road in a most excellent condition.

Mr. William Abney, of Maplesville, Route 1, attended singing here Sunday.

The new buggy from the Rocky Ridge came down to the singing. The driver was not alone, either, but had the best of company.

Our efficient road overseer, Mr. L. F. Martin, spent another day on his road last week; our suggestion is for all to help work the roads; those past 45 and those under 18 who are able to work—all to go and freely give time to a cause for the benefit of all. If the public-spirited citizens will take hold and arouse public sentiment along this line the roads will be good. Half the time prescribed by law will make a great change in the roads.

We are told to reduce our cotton acreage now, lest we make too much; the world needs the cotton; it will take something else to solve the question. It may be low prices are going to creep in on us, so we will have too much cotton. See?

WEST CHILTONITE.

COLLINS CHAPEL.

Editor Union Banner:

I notice there has been a cry going forth over the hills and valleys of Chilton county which says bond issue, I want to say we are just as near issuing bonds to work our public roads as we should ever be, unless we give up our freedom and our rights to Judge Deason and let him be King Pharoah and we the Egyptian children in bondage.

It seems like there is a great many of our men, just as soon as they are elected to an office, they begin to think themselves kings of the land. I think an officer should do his duty and do what his office demands of him to do and not always be trying to bring something upon the people as a plague. Something that is unjust and something that would make the people of our country unhappy. An officer should be humble and want to do what the people want done and what the laws of our country require to be done.

But it seems that our officers want the people to do what they think ought to be done and wire-work it around and have no law to it. Ah, Mr. Officers, you can fool the farmers some of the time and some of the farmers all of the time, but you can't fool all of the farmers all of the time. And you can't fool us with your bond issue. We have been caught on it too. You just want us to say we will have a bond issue then you will borrow the $150,000, which would be just a starting point; then you would say, well, the $150,000 isn't enough; we have just got a few miles of road built from Clanton and our money spent, now we want about $300,000. Now how does this set with your pocketbooks, boys? It seems like it would take out some of your $10.00 bills to me. They say the roads belong to the farmers—then if they belong to us why don't they let us keep them and work them just like we are doing, which I think we will. Yes, but they want us to have the bond issue and they want us to do the paying of the bonds, too, just like we pay for everything else.

They always say we pay our part. Yes they do, but they twist it around till the farmers and all the common classes of people have it to pay at last. How do they manage to do this? They put a little more taxes upon them and everything they buy they have to pay more for. That is the way we do the paying of all these things.

Boys, let us wake up and be ready and if they bring this thing they call a bond issue before us let us bury it so deep that it will never creep in our county again.

BAKER SCHOOL HOUSE.

Editor Union Banner:

The health of this community is very good at present with the exception of Grandma Baker, but we are glad to hear she is better.

Miss Guelma Baker has ben spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Dudley Tippett.

W. T. Ward and family spend Sunday with W. M. Wood and wife.

R. E. L. Ward and family of near Lomax spend theday Thursday with his father.

Mrs. Callie Culp visited at Mr. Dock Baker's Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Baker visited at J. J. Foshee's Sunday.

D. C. M. visits over West very often.

Well, the debate at this place Saturday night was fine and enjoyed by all present and also the music made by Ward brothers and J. J. Melton. The subject of the debate was well introduced by the speakers who were for the affirmative, B. J. Sessions and J. V. Best; the negative, B. H. Vickers and W. M. Wood. The judges retired and made their decision in favor of the affirmative. The subject was: Resolved, That Chilton County Should Issue Bonds to Work Public Roads.

I want to say a few words about the bond issue as I believe that is the most talked-of subject with the majority of the people. I can say we people over here are opposed to the bond issue to a great extent. We all know that the roads are in pretty tough shape but think for a little and see if we have had any weather to work a road. There has been so much rain that what work we have done has been an injury to them. There is a piece of road over here that you might throw up as high as you wish and some wet weather spells come and you would do a pretty good job to get through with an empty wagon much less a loaded one. Another grumble about the roads is the overseers and hands not working as they should, which is the case maybe (sometimes), but what can a few hands do on the public highways with a few shovels and a goose-neck hoe and that is all we have. One drag scrape we had and some fellow over yonder borrowed it to fix a hole with, so I believe if we had some tools that we could do some work with and there wasn't so much rain we would soon have better roads and people would take more interest in road working. The old people that have served out their time say that they will come out and help us boys work the roads. Say now, if we road workers can get the stuff and tools to work with and older men will help us along a little we'll have some good roads. The bond issue would help us, but I'm afraid it would help us to get in a mighty bad fix. The older men, some of them, have lived where bonds were issued and it didn't work like it was pictured. So now boys come along one with the other and let's see if we can't have some better roads and stop so much of this howling for bonds. We road workers over here are aiming to gravel our bad piece of road this summer and we hope to have a road that we can travel over and not be sticking up so much.

A FRIEND.

JEMISON.

The many friends of Jemison Rebekah Lodge No. 42, organized in 1903, will be glad to know that it has been revived and is now reorganized with good attendance and a bright future before it.

They have new uniforms and with Mr. J. B. Northcutt for drill master you may expect great things from us.

All Rebekahs from all over the state and county are cordially invited to visit the lodge, which meets on the 1st and 3d Saturday afternoons at 3 o'clock, and if you are from Missouri we will "show you."

Remark Caused Amusement.

George Burrell, the room clerk at the Imperial, was puzzling over the laughter that followed a direction he gave a party that was on its way to the door the other night.

Three clergymen and the wife of one of them had dined in the restaurant, and one of the guests, anxious to return the hospitality, had come out and asked the clerk to get him some seats. This he arranged with the ticket stand down by the door. The party came out and Burrell directed them to the stand. Then as they turned away, the clerk, desirous of having them get the tickets he had bargained for, shouted, "Don't forget, doctor, your seats are in L!"—New York Sun.

Ostrich a Short-Lived Bird.

In proportion to their size, ostriches are not long-lived birds, and even under the most favorable conditions it is seldom that individuals reach the age of from thirty to forty years, an age frequently exceeded by crows, cranes, parrots, and birds of prey. The source of weakness in their constitutions appears to be the digestive system. The proverbial phrase "digestion of an ostrich" is a popular misinterpretation of the observation that these birds, like many others, pick up stones, coins, keys and other miscellaneous hard objects, which are retained in the gizzard and no doubt assist in the trituration of food.

What She Had Missed.

There were two suitors for Miss Murphy's hand. One was a grocer named O'Flaherty, whom her father and mother strongly urged her to marry, and the other was a publican named Finnegan. Mary herself favored the latter, and in the end married him. One day when she was settled in her new home she visited her parents and showed them a new gold watch her husband had given her. "Ah," said the mother, disapprovingly, "if ye'd took my advice and yer father's advice, Mary Ann, 'tin't a gold watch ye'd be having in yer pocket, but a good eight-day clock."

Oriental Politeness.

In China when a subscriber rings up the exchange, the operator may be expected to ask: "What number does the honorable son of the moon and stars desire?" "Hohi, two-three." Silence. Then the exchange resumes: "Will the honorable person graciously forgive the inadequacy of the insignificant service, and permit this humble slave of the wire to inform him that the never-to-be-sufficiently-censured-line is busy?"

The Glory of Easter Day

In the land of the Crescent and Star,
As the Easter day draws nigh,
I pondered the tale of the Holy Cross,
The tale that redeemeth my soul from loss;
And from lips of Mary afar
I hear an echoing sigh:
"They have taken away my Lord,
And I know not where he is laid!"
Ah, Mary, your plaint is mine!

Too often we come thru the gloom
In the dawn of the Easter morning,
Its beautiful messages scorning,
To weep at an empty tomb.
He is risen, he is not here,
Go out on the highways to meet him;
Go bring the disciples to greet him,
Go scatter the glad Easter cheer.

Truly are those to be pitied who fail of realizing the real message of Easter cheer. And there is a sad, significant lesson in the way that Easter is understood and regarded before sorrow and bereavement have touched and shadowed the life, and then the way it is welcomed and harbored after affliction has altered one's entire outlook on life.

To the young it is a day of rejoicing. With its lilies, azaleas and roses, its carols of hope and triumph, its breath of spring and promise of renewal, it seems an echo of their own youth and joyousness, a glad reminder that the winter is over and past, and the voice of turtle-doves is heard in the land.

This is as it should be. We are not of those who think that stern and sorrowful truth should be impressed upon the young. Time, the great informer, will soon enough acquaint them with life's vicissitudes and losses, and for those who long escape the scorching breath of sorrow we are glad and thankful. They know that grief exists, that trials are known, that afflictions come, but usually hope and buoyancy whisper, "Not for us; no, not for us." And so the strength and cheer of youth furnish strength and endurance for the years to come.

How soon in the wide school of experience the most of us find life out! How impressions alter and views change as "events like billows roll," and whether we will or not the exacting hand of time shapes and matures and settles our convictions and beliefs. Blessed and fortunate are those who, through the guidance of Christian parents and the teachings of the Scriptures, have attained to manhood and to womanhood armored to a degree against the thrusts and wounds of time.

But, after all, that which poor humanity dreads most, shrinks from with greatest quailing at heart, is the separation from those held most dear, whose lives are our lives, whose removal is the stroke sounding the death knell of joyousness and content. And it is to those whose whole future has been darkened by dire affliction that Easter is most precious, because it is full of teaching and hope and promise not only for the life that now is, but also to a marked degree for the one that is to come. Often and often the only gleam of comfort a stricken heart can feel is the hope of reunion in a brighter world to come. It buoys one up when the deep waters of grief and bereavement threaten to engulf the soul.

Many mourners find a forlorn satisfaction in standing by the spot where their beloved ones have been laid. If they could only realize that in reality it is empty! No love, no remembrance, nothing that constitutes life is there. Life, love, memory and vitality revel in a land

"Whose fields are ever vernal,
Where nothing beautiful can ever fade,
But bloom for aye, eternal."

It would seem that the most significant, comforting and inspiriting lessons of Easter were for those who mourn. It has to do with the sepulchre and the sleep of the dead. Yet only in their past tense. Its true meaning is resurgam—I shall rise again; it has to do chiefly with life, renewal, springing from torpor and death into vigor, activity, endurance, all that goes to make up the great word, Life!

That definition is not to be applied only to those who have passed out of this present life. Souls there are which are dead to all their best interests; buried, as it were, in iniquity and sin. Their lives darkened by separation from all that constitutes a true and worthy life. To such comes the clarion cry; "Awake, thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light." These words were not spoken to the physically dead, but to the dead in trespasses and sins.

A resurrection from one's old self, and from an existence at variance with truth and righteousness, might well be begun at Eastertide. It would, indeed, be the beginning of eternal life. The purity of the lilies, with their waxen petals, symbolize the white and spotless bloom of the soul that, freed from all mortal trammels, has arisen to celectial spheres. In like manner a soiled and broken life may become cleansed and pure by the casting away of the garment of sin, and seeking at the hands of God a garment new, and clean, and white, the beautiful garment of righteousness.

Ever from the land of the Crescent and Star
"As the Easter day draws nigh,
We ponder the tale of the Holy Cross,
The tale that redeems our souls from loss—" and most thankfully and with sacred joy do we welcome this most inspiring and inspiriting day.

What should we do for comfort, if when we stand by the cypress trees

EASTER MORNING.

we could not look beyond the mournful shadows and see the glimmer of a breaking Easter day? What hope would there be for crushed and poor earthbound souls if for them there could be no spiritual resurrection, no rising into a new life, now and here, through a renewing by Christ?

To every mourner we would say,

"Have faith in a third-day morning,"

believe the true lesson of Easter day, and you shall be comforted.—The Christian Work and Evangelist.

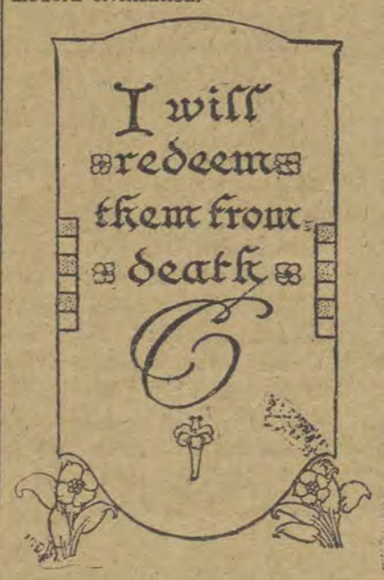
LOVE AND SERVICE

ALL Christendom at this season proclaims the resurrection of Jesus Christ and rejoices in the promise of immortality.

No other figure of history has left such an indelible impress upon hearts and minds of men. His was a life of service, of love, of devotion to mankind, and even in the hearts of those to whom the resurrection is not accepted belief, there is reverence and admiration for the life and works of the Great Teacher. The leaven of his life has spread from the little band of disciples he gathered about him until today nearly one-third of the entire people of the world are devoted and acknowledged followers of the Nazarene, and to the intelligent followers of other creeds he is a teacher and leader of men, comparable to Brahma, Buddha, Zoroaster and Confucius.

It is fitting that the commemoration of his resurrection should be contemporaneous, with us at least, with the rebirth of nature. Even as he rolled the stone away and put aside the habiliments of death, so at this season the timid violet, the jonquil, the crocus, the spear of grass push aside the cerements of darkness and death, and look up with smiling faces to the sunshine of life. On every hilltop and in every valley the story of the resurrection is being re-enacted day by day.

The greatest lesson in the life of Jesus Christ was that that of service, and more year after year is the idea of service entering into the hearts and minds of men. The world is growing better. Millions of men and women are striving today, individually or collectively, to alleviate suffering, to promote health and happiness, and in a myriad ways to make better the condition of their fellowmen. To him who brought light from darkness, life from death, immortality from oblivion, may be attributed all that is good in our modern civilization.



WILSON CALLS EXTRA SESSION FOR APRIL 7

WORK WILL BEGIN FIRST ON THE TARIFF REVISION MEASURE

UNDERWOOD SAYS SATISFIED

Underwood is Satisfied—Believed That President Will Touch Upon Nothing But Tariff and Other Legislation. Will Be Advocated in Special Messages.

Washington.—The extra session of Congress, called by President Wilson to assemble April 7, will begin with nothing but the tariff revision bills before it. This fact was made clear in a statement by Representative Underwood, chairman of the House committee on ways and means. Until tariff legislation is well under way in the House no general committees will be named and no other legislative subjects will be taken up.

The president specified no subject for the extra session in his proclamation, but it is fully understood that his message to Congress at its opening will dwell upon the need of tariff revision. If currency, Philippine independence, Alaskan affairs, woman suffrage or other pressing questions are finally forced upon the attention of Congress, it will be only after the Democrats of the two houses and the president are convinced that the success of tariff revision is assured.

The date fixed for the tariff session was accepted by congressional leaders with satisfaction. Senate committees are organized for work and will take up the preliminary stages of much general legislation early in April. A general agreement exists, however, to keep general subjects out of active discussion while tariff legislation is under way.

House leaders will be ready to go ahead with tariff revision as soon as the session convenes.

"The date fixed by President Wilson is satisfactory to us," said Representative Underwood. "The tariff legislation will be ready for presentation to the House by that time and we should be at work upon it in the House within three or four days after the House convenes."

WILSON FAVORS JURY REFORM

Also Tells Women Mind is Open on Suffrage Question.

Washington.—President Wilson turned his attention to the political situation in New Jersey, where the Democratic party is divided on the question of a jury reform bill, and the senatorial contest in Maryland, where William L. Marbury has begun a campaign against Senator John Walter Smith, seeking reelection, on the ground that Mr. Smith is not a progressive. The president listened also to a committee of woman suffrage leaders, who urged him to recommend at the extra session of Congress adoption of an amendment to the federal constitution giving the ballot to women. Mr. Wilson indicated that, while he might not make such a recommendation at the extra session, he did not wish his attitude now to be construed as opposed to woman suffrage. He made it clear that his mind was open on the subject.

NAVAL STORES CO. SUSPENDS

Officials Claim Assets Are Nearly Double Liabilities.

Savannah, Ga.—With assets said to exceed its liabilities by $4,000,000, the American Naval Stores Company announced that it has suspended business. In a statement given out by C. J. DeLoach, secretary of the company, he asserts that the fight the government has made upon the company and its officers has practically destroyed the company's credit and has made it wise to discontinue operations. A meeting of the creditors of the company has been called at a local hotel. The creditors are mostly banks, numbering over 60. The loans to the Savannah banks are secured by ample collateral.

REBELS LOSE NEAR LAREDO

Forces of Carranza Retreat After Battle of Over Hour.

Laredo, Tex.—Twenty followers of Venustiano Carranza, governor of the state of Coahuila, who revolted against the Huerta regime, and 15 federals defending the town of Nuevo Laredo were killed in a brief battle there. Forty were wounded. The Caranzistas slipped into Nuevo Laredo under cover of darkness and the fighting began at daybreak. There were but about 200 of the rebels while the garrison numbered 350, but the attacking party made up in determination what they lacked in numbers and fought stubbornly for an hour and a half, when they were driven back.

Cattle Drowned.

Macon, Ga.—Several thousand head of cattle in the lowlands below Macon, along the Ocmulgee river, have been drowned by the high waters. Hundreds of acres of the rich bottom land are under water from two to ten feet.

Spent $50,000 a Year.

New York.—Mrs. Philip Van Valkenburg turned in to the state court a bill of particulars covering the $100,000 she says she spent for living expense in two years ending June 27, 1912. She is suing her husband, from whom she is separated, for this amount.

REPEAL CANAL BILL TO PROMOTE PEACE

CARNEGIE PEACE TRUSTEES APPEAL TO AMERICAN PEOPLE.

WOULD VIOLATE THE TREATY

Equal Treatment to All—This Is What We Promised Great Britain in Building Canal, According Statement.

Washington.—Declaring the United States ought to be the most scrupulous of all nations in the keeping of its treaty obligations, "even to its own hurt," the trustees of the Carnegie endowment for international peace issued an appeal to the American people to bring about as an act of national honor the repeal of the act of congress which exempts American coastwise vessels from payment of Panama canal tolls.

The appeal is in the form of a statement and was issued over the signature of the society's president, Senator Elihu Root, Joseph H. Choate, (former ambassador to England; Luke E. Wright, former secretary of war; Charlemagne Tower, former ambassador to Germany; Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, and other members of the board of trustees.

The issuance of this statement is the latest work of the society, which was founded in 1910 by Andrew Carnegie. He endowed it with $10,000,000. The The brochure sets forth the history of the various treaties that have been negotiated by this country with Great Britain regarding the building and control of the Panama canal.

It is declared, quoting from the language of the several treaties between the two countries, that it was the purpose of the American government to construct and maintain the Panama canal for "the benefit of mankind on equal terms to all," and that all treaties on the subject are "based on this intention and resolve many time reiterated by official representatives of the American government."

PENNY A DAY FOR D. A. R.

Would Pay for Hall—Mrs. C. M. Bryan for President.

Washingon. — Mrs. Ansa Williard Block of Chicago has inaugurated a plan of securing a penny a day from every member of the D. A. R., which is calculated in a year to pay off the remaining debt on "the society's beautiful memorial continental hall in Washington." The plan is receiving wide approval and at the coming congress in April the offer will be officially set on foot. The election of a president-general, the race for which is between Mrs. William Cumming Story of New York City, Mrs. John Miller Horton of Buffalo, and Mrs. Chalres M. Bryan of Tennessee, will occupy much attention at the congress.

WOMEN ROUGHLY HANDLED

Boys Pelt Women With Mud and Howl Them Down.

London.—The suffragettes, who again attempted to hold a Sunday afternoon meeting in Hyde Park, were mobbed by a crowd of 10,000 persons. For two hours the park, where demonstrations until recently were held in peace, and Oxford street, nearby, were the scenes of wildest disorder. The trouble began when "Gen." Mrs. Flora Drummond mounted a wagon and started to speak to the great assemblage, which was largely made up of youths who had armed themselves with ammunition of various description or with trumpets, mouth organs and bells. She had hardly uttered a word when a clod of turf struck her in the mouth. For half an hour the crowds shouted, sang and pelted the suffragette commander-in-chief, whose clothes soon were a mass of mud.

AID OFFERED IN VICE PROBE

Governors of Many States Join Big Movement.

Springfield, Ill.—Lieut.-Gov. Barrett, chairman of the senate committee investigating the "white slave" evil in Illinois, has received letters offering to cooperate with him in every possible way to suppress the traffic in women and kindred evils from the governors of New York, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Iowa, Virginia, South Carolina, Michigan, Mississippi, Kentucky, Georgia, Wyoming and West Virginia.

100 LIVES LOST IN GREAT STORM

FARMS AND TOWNS IN 5 STATES LAID BARE

PROPERTY DAMAGE HEAVY

Earthquake After Storm—Greatest Loss Of Life in Georgia, Where Shocks Were Felt.—Series of Storms in Middle and West Tenn.

Indications from late reports are that a hundred people were killed, scores severely injured and a great property loss sustained in the disastrous electrical tornado swept parts of Georgia and Tennessee, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and Texas Thursday afternoon and night. Ninety-two deaths have been reported, and the total loss of life probably will be increased when wire communication is restored in remote sections devastated by the cyclone. The damage to property can not be estimated, but will have to be computed in millions.

Twenty-nine persons are reported to have perished in Georgia, and damage to property is roughly estimated at $1,000,000. Calhoun, Gordon County, Georgia, and vicinity bore the brunt of the storm in this state, where 11 persons are reported to have been killed. The other fatalities in Georgia were nine at Tucker, four at Aaglesville, three at Clarkston and two at Columbus.

Late reports from Tennessee have increased the death toll in that state to 26 persons. Six perished in Middleton, four at South Berlin, three at Huron, two each at Culleoka and Lexington, and one each at Leesburg, Rally Hill and Bryant Station. Many sections swept by the storm have not been heard from.

The loss of life in Alabama is estimated at 13, although several persons still are reported missing. Five negroes were killed near New Decatur, three persons perished at Calera and two each at Hoke's Bluff, Gayesville and Duke.

One death is reported in Texas.

Seven are known to have been killed in Louisiana.

Thirteen are known to have been killed in North Mississippi and later reports will no doubt swell that total.

The greatest damage to property was the destruction of buildings and houses in the sections of the state where deaths were reported. Telephone and telegraphic communication has been restored to most of the larger towns and all of the cities in the storm-swept territory.

At Calhoun, Ga., in which region of Northwest Georgia the loss of life apparently was heaviest, the storm was accompanied by earth shocks.

Five perished in the neighborhood of Atlanta and two at Columbus.

Daniels Has Saving Plan.

Washington.—Secretary Daniels of the navy, is disapproving recommendations to the turrent board, which called for many expensive changes in older vessels, went on record as opposed to the reconstruction of old naval craft.

Woman Suffrage Defeated.

Jefferson City, Mo.—The constitutional amendment providing for woman's suffrage was killed by the Missouri senate by a vote of 16 to 9.

ALLIES WERE DRIVEN BACK

Bulgars and Serbs Reported to Have Suffered Heavy Losses.

London.—A fierce, but unsuccessful, assault was made on the south front of the Turkish fortress of Adrianople According to a dispatch from Constantinople, the besieging Bulgarians and Servians sustained heavy losses and were eventually repulsed all along the line. It is stated in Belgrade that the Servian siege army now preparing to bombard Scutari numbers 42,000 men.

JULIAN HAWTHORNE GUILTY

With Morton and Freeman He Is Convicted of Mail Frauds.

New York.—The Hawthorne mining trial, which has dragged along nearly four months before a jury in the federal court here, came to a close with the conviction of three of the defendants, Julian Hawthorne, Dr. William J. Morton and Albert Freeman, and the acquittal of Josiah Quincy, twice mayor of Boston and assistant secretary of state during the Cleveland administration.

SAYS CAPT. MULHALL ABUSED MARCHERS

WASHINGTON POLICE DEPARTMENT INVESTIGATING CHARGES.

THIRTY WITNESSES HEARD

Witness Declares That They Made Flippant Remarks and Describes Them as "Coarse."—Committee Will Resume its Investigation.

Washington.—A mass of small detail as to the disorder that interfered with the suffrage parade here on March 3 was elicited by the senate subcommittee investigating the occurrence from 31 witnesses. The entire day was devoted to the examination of witnesses, who occupied the stand but a few minutes each.

Several men and women who marched in the parade told the committee of the trouble and embarrassment caused them by the crowd and criticized the conduct of the police along the line of march. Among them was Mme. Mountford, an evangelist, who, in addition to detailing her experiences in the parade, declared she had been roughly handled by a Washington police captain while watching the inaugural ceremonies the next day. She said that Capt. James E. Mulhall, in refusing to allow her to cross the police lines with a suffrage banner, handled her roughly and exclaimed:

"You damned women had your day yesterday."

Charges against Capt. Mulhall in connection with the incident are being investigated by the Police Department. The committee will resume its investigation of the affair.

DICKINSON WANTED TO FIGHT

Counsel for Government and U S. Steel Company Clash.

New York.—Judge J M. Dickinson, counsel for the government in its dissolution suit against the United States Steel Corporation, invited Richard V. Lindamury, counsel for the steel trust, to step into the hall and receive a thrashing, during the hearing of the suit. J. P. Morgan, Jr, sat within five feet of the attorneys while they were arguing and smiled during the heated discussion The argument arose over the copy of a letter written by Andrew Carnegie to J P. Morgan & Co. on Feb. 2, 1901, which the government did not place in evidence. The letter referred to the agreement under which Carnefie turned his properties over to the steel corporation at an enormous profit.

CONFEDERATE REUNION SOON

Chattanooga Preparing for a Royal Entertainment.

Chattanooga.—This city is preparing to entertain the largest crowd that has attended a reunion of the oCnfederates since the organization of the association. The date of the reunion is May 27-29, inclusvie. Only two months remain in which the work of the organization may be done, but it is well under way. The various committees have been appointed, and are at work in their respective spheres. Information gathered from all sections of the South indicates that fully 150,000 people will be here.

Minimum Wage Scale.

Chicago.—Inspired by testimony heard at the recent session of the state vice commission, several of Chicago's retail merchants are carefully studying the possible effects of establishing among themselves a minimum wage scale for their girl workers.

EASTER SUNDAY.

Next Sunday is throughout the world the great memorial of that event which is at once the cornerstone and the keystone of the edifice of Christian faith.

It is the great fact upon which all else depends. "If Christ be not risen from the dead" then all is dark beyond the grave. Theories and hopes of future life were found in all ages, but none of them would satisfy the craving for certain knowledge. The fact now commemorated makes sure that which the heart most craves to know; shall we live hereafter? Shall we meet and know those we love? The great truth, however, can only bring full comfort to those who heed the apostle's injunction: "If ye then be risen with Christ, let your hearts be fixed on the things which are above."

THE EMBEZZLEMENT IN THE CONVICT DEPARTMENT.

Last week Theodore Lacy, chief clerk of the convict department, under Jas. G. Oakley, ran away with all the money he could get hold of, over $90,000, and an examination of his books indicate that his shortage will be over $150,000, possibly $250,000.

The Age-Herald of Saturday says concerning it:

"This shortage was begun in June, 1911. For nearly two years it has confessedly been going on, and yet the convict board and the rest of the state administration ask the people of the state to believe that no one was to blame but Theodore Lacy, a clerk."

The people are not going to believe that. It was what might have been expected to happen among the O'Neal crowd at the capitol, and there is no telling who may be mixed up in it. To say the least there was culpable carelessness in the administration of the State's business, and if possible O'Neal should be held responsible for the loss.

It is a hard blow for the state treasury which was counting on that money to pull it through a tight place, and the tax screws will have to be given another turn.

But what can you expect when the people allow such a ring of political hacks to run the state?

Lacy, who seems to have been placed in full charge of all the convict board funds, unbonded, was a Dallas county "blood" who had been charged with previous defalcations in office, was a man of known intemperate habits, so much so that he was expelled from one of the Montgomery "clubs." No business house would have trusted such a man. When will we get a set of honest business men in charge of State affairs?

By the Wednesday morning papers it appears that Jas. G. Oakley was the cheif embezzler of the convict department funds and that the stealing has been going on for some time. Oakley was arrested and put under $20,000 bond.

It is thought that Lacey will be found and brought back and will make some interesting statements.

Ike Vincent, State Treasurer, defaulted for $150,000 about 25 years ago. He fled to Mexico, afterwards gave himself up, was sentenced and served a portion of his term, was pardoned on account of failing health. The writer of this ministered to him during his last illness, and Vincent told him that other officials got more of the money than he did.

YOUR RHEUMATISM

is probably due to uric acid in the system—the blood must be purified—the poisonous acid driven out and general health must be improved.

Thousands testify that Scott's Emulsion rids the system of poisonous acid by enriching the impoverished blood, and its concentrated nourishment is converted into red blood corpuscles which drive out rheumatism.

It is especially valuable to aged people.

Ask for and insist on SCOTT'S.

If a merit test system should be applied to all the applicants for post offices in the south a goodly lot of aspirants for place would never get in, especially if moral character and business fitness were considered.

AUTAUGA WANTS CONVICTS TO CONSTRUCT GOOD ROADS.

Special to Montgomery Advertiser.

Prattville, Mar. 9.—The question of working county convicts on the public roads of Autauga county is being much agitated, and while it is a fact that the members of the board of revenue so far interviewed, are against the plan, yet the business men and farmers think if portable stockades could be secured, it would be the most economical road building possible for the county. This county has on an average about fifteen ablebodied convicts. This would require but one camp: and it is certain that with proper teams and equipments, twelve months work would produce desired results on our public roads. The sentiment for better roads is growing, and all agree that some plan must be adopted to improve the system of public roads. The financial condition of the county is not such that bonds could be issued for more than enough to build fifteen or twenty miles of additional road, while if the convicts could legally be employed in road construction, together with what is collected on direct taxation for that purpose, it would give the county, in the course of four or five years, a system of roads equal to other small counties in the State.

This county has good road material adjacent to its roads in nearly every section in which roads are needed, and the expense of putting this on is comparatively small.

CALOMEL IS UNSAFE

Local Druggist Who Sells Dodson's Liver Tone Guarantees It to Take the Place of Calomel.

If your liver is not working just right, you do not need to take a chance on getting knocked all out by a dose of calomel. Go to Upchurch Drug Co., who sells Dodson's Liver Tone, and pay 50 cents for a large bottle. You will get a harmless vegetable remedy that will start your liver without violence, and if it does not give complete satisfaction the druggist will refund your money with a smile.

If you buy a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for yourself or your children, you have insured your family relief from attacks of constipation, biliousness, lazy liver and headache. It is a beneficial and safe for children as for adults. A bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone is something every man or woman should keep in the house. Your money is safe because you can return the bottle if it fails to satisfy.

Always At Your Service

No matter how bitter the cold, how intense the heat, how severe the storm, L. & N. passenger and freight trains are always in operation, always at the service of the general public.

There may come good times and bad times; heavy traffic or light traffic, L. & N. trains move swiftly and safely through the country, at the service of the shipper or traveler.

There is no decrease in the efficiency of the service rendered. A corps of loyal employes co-operate with the official force to keep the wheels of commerce in motion, so that no lull will come in the era of prosperity.

Each way station is a unit in the system which extends over thirteen States. The farmer in the rural districts works secure in the knowledge that when his crop is harvested he has at his command a system of transportation which facilitates delivery to the markets of the world.

It is not the L. & N. as a whole which contributes to the development and prosperity of the territory through which it operates; it is the co-operation accorded the L. & N. by the various way stations, towns and cities through which its trains run. There should and must exist a community of interests.

The L. & N. pledges its support and best efforts for the profitable development of the matchless resources of the great and fertile South. It hopes the people living in the territory served by its lines will accept the pledge in the spirit of sincerity with which it is given, and reciprocate the cordial good will here expressed.

What

a great improvement would be made in the condition of horses and other animals if just the proper remedy were used when they became ill or injured. If your horse could talk he would ask you not to use any external remedy containing alcohol because it stings and tortures his flesh terribly. Some liniments have alcohol and other fiery ingredients which only inflame the skin and tissue without striking down to where the pain lies. Beware of such liniments. The great humane, quick-action remedy is MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT. Made of oils, without a drop of alcohol or other torturing element, it soaks straight to the bone and muscle. It soothes the wounded parts and is comforting while the healing work is progressing. Mexican Mustang Liniment is what you want because it your work lighter, saves your livestock from suffering and keeps them in good trim for work. For all forms of Lameness, Strains, Bruises, Cuts, Burns, Galls and Harness Sores in animals, it is safe and prompt and does not promise what it cannot perform. Mustang Liniment has been doing its wonderful healing work for 65 years. The amount of money it has saved livestock owners is incalculable. One man writes that he was about to kill his valuable horse because badly injured but Mustang Liniment made him well again. A Veterinary tells us he has used Mustang Liniment fifteen years and found it best liniment for cuts, strains, etc. And many others are enthusiastic friends of this tried and true remedy. Now you know just what makes Horses so Happy.

AN ORDINANCE

To create, prescribe and define the Fire Limits in the Town of Clanton; and to provide for the erection of buildings or structures in said limits; and to provide for and prescribe the punishment for the violations of the provisions of this ordinance.

Be it Ordained by the Town Council of Clanton as follows: That the Fire Limits in the Town of Clanton shall embrace the following territory in the said town, to-wit: Lots numbered nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, fifteen and sixteen in block numbered seven; and also lots numbered nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, fifteen and sixteen in block numbered eight; and also all of block numbered nine; also all of block numbered ten, all of said territory lying east of the South and North Alabama Railroad main line of track; and also lots five and eight in block numbered two; and also all of that territory bounded on the north by Second Avenue, on the east by the main line of track of the South and North Alabama railroad, and that would be bounded on the south by First Avenue and on the west by Eighth Street if said First Avenue and Eighth Street were extended to their intersection, the said last named territory being situated on the west side of the main line track of the South and North Alabama railroad.

Be it further ordained that it shall be unlawful for any person to erect or construct, within the said fire limits, any building or structure unless the same be erected or constructed of brick, stone or concrete, or to cover any such building or structure, or to recover any building or structure now erected with any material other than slate or metal. Provided that the Town Council of Clanton may permit a structure of wood to be erected, said permission to be shown in the Minutes of Proceedings, within said fire limits, provided that said structure of wood does not exceed in height six feet from the ground and shall be covered with metal.

Be it further ordained that any person who shall violate the provisions of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction therefor shall be fined not less than one dollar nor more than one hundred dollars.

Be it further ordained that any person who, after being notified in writing by any police officer or other officer of the Town of Clanton, to remove or abate any building or structure erected or constructed in violation of this ordinance, who shall fail at once to remove or abate said buildings or structure shall for each day that he fails to remove or abate said building or structure be fined not less than one nor more than one hundred dollars.

Be it further ordained that all ordinances in conflict with this ordinance be and the same are hereby repealed.

Adopted, 3rd day of March, 1913.

E. A. MATTHEWS, Mayor.
N. A. KICKER, Clerk of Town of Clanton.

AN ORDINANCE

To provide for the inspection of markets, meats and other articles of food, and to provide for the condemnation and destruction of certain meats and other articles of food.

Be it Ordained by the Town Council of Clanton as follows: That the Mayor is hereby authorized and directed to appoint the City Marshal, a policeman or other person as inspector of meats and other articles of food placed or offered for sale in the Town of Clanton, and the Marshal or policeman so appointed shall discharge the duties of his position in connection with such other duties as may be incumbent upon him.

Be it Further Ordained that it shall be the duty of the inspector at least one time each day, and as oftener as in his opinion it may appear advisable, to inspect the general condition of all market places or places where meats and other like articles of food are kept or offered for sale. And it shall be his further duty that when he shall discover any such market in such general condition as to in his opinion render the place unfit for the keeping of such meats or like articles of food therein for sale, he shall so advise the person in charge of said place or market, and also advise the Mayor of such action whereupon it shall be the duty of the Mayor without delay to suspend or revoke the license or permit issued to such person, place or market, and such suspension shall continue in force until the Mayor shall have been notified by the inspector that the conditions complained of in said place or market have been abated.

Be it Further Ordained that when the inspector shall find or discover any meat, meats or other articles of food, in his opinion, unfit for food it shall be his duty to at once take such meat, meats or other articles of food into his posession and to destroy the same forthwith. Said inspector shall prepare and deliver to the Mayor a statement showing the kind, amount and date such articles were destroyed also the name of the owner and place where said articles were discovered. It shall be the duty of the Mayor to file with or report to the Town Council such reports as may from time to time be filed with him under this ordinance, as well as all license that may from time to time be revoked, suspended or reinstated by him.

Be it Further Ordained that any inspector who shall fail to diligently discharge the duties here imposed upon him as inspector shall be at once suspended not only as inspector but as an employee of the Town of Clanton, and such suspension shall remain in force and effect until such suspension may be revoked by the Town Council at a regular meeting. The suspension herein referred to shall be imposed by the Mayor.

Be it Further Ordained that the enforcement of this ordinance shall not relieve any person from any prosecution for an offense for which they would otherwise be liable.

Be it Ordained by the Town Council of the Town of Clanton as follows: That it shall be unlawful for any person to shoot or discharge firearms or fireworks of any kind within the fire limits of the Town of Clanton.

Be it further Ordained that any person violating the provisions of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction be fined not less than one dollar nor more than one hundred dollars.

Adopted 3rd day of March, 1913.

E. A. MATTHEWS, Mayor.
N. A. KICKER, Clerk of Town of Clanton.

CLANTON MATTERS

LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

A MEETING TO CONSIDER BUILDING A MODEL ROAD FROM CLANTON TO THE RIVER.

Last Thursday afternoon a number gathered at the office of Middleton & Reynolds to consider the building of a good road between this town and the works of the Interstate Power Company at the river. Nearly all of the representative business men of the town were present. The imperative need of such a road was vividly set forth bysuch men as Wm W. Fox, Dr. E. A. Matthews, Dr. P. I. Hopkins, W. T. Callen, L. H. Reynolds and others.

It was shown that the town is losing a large amount of business on account of the condition of the roads leading to the immense works, and will lose much more.

It was decided that a road must be built. Committees were appointed to devise a plan for securing the road promptly, to report to a meeting to be held Thursday evening, 20th, at 4 o'clock at Middleton & Reynolds office.

A petition is being circulated to be presented to the Commissioners Court at their next meeting.

COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL.

Prof. Pickens exacts of us a promise that we will do all we can to get the people of Clanton interested in securing the County High School.

We do not see how we can add to what the Professor has already said. His article last week in plain and clear-cut figures showed it to be a profitable venture for Clanton, even without counting in the profit to the town from additional residents attracted by the school nor the special benefit to the children.

His figures seem indisputable, and if they do not rouse Clanton people to action, what's the use of further argument?

The storms of last week wrought destruction and death in all parts of the south. Clanton has always been favored by the storms going around it.

CLANTON AND THE INTER-STATE POWER COMPANY.

The movement on foot to secure a good road from this town to the works of the Inter-State Power Company on the Coosa River seems to be the first sign of awakening to the immense importance to the county and the vital importance to Clanton of the industry being built up in the county.

The Inter-State Company has secured rights of incalculable value and are investing many millions of dollars. Whether past legislatures did the best thing in arranging the terms on which the rights were secured is not the question now. The company accepted the terms as they found them and are putting their money into the works.

The fact of their being there will bring into the county many industries, many residents, and the prosperity of towns already existing will be largely influenced by the manner in which the opportunities are met.

By the natural laws of trade this company can do much to make or retard Clanton and a just regard for our future requires that we show them all consideration and a desire to meet them half-way on all propositions. They are not compelled to deal with Clanton, can easily ignore her and build up other places if they have reason to think they should do so.

A highway making easy communication possible is the first necessity. It will pay Clanton to raise the money and see that a first class one is built at once.

In time such a road may lead to the building of an electric railroad there.

Clanton must rise to the occasion now, or give up hope for the future.

TRIED TO BURN OUT JAIL

Saturday night a negro from the camps was arrested for being drunk and disorderly and carrying a pistol. He was placed in jail. After night he set fire to his bed clothes and made a smoke that nearly suffocated the other inmates. He was tried and fined by the city court Monday for disorderly conduct, but will be held by the county on a charge of arson.

FOR A HIGH SCHOOL.

Editor Union-Banner—I notice the question of building a high school for this county has been mentioned again. I want to give my hearty endorsement to this great movement. I do not know of any investment that Chilton county could make that would bring them more returns than to build this school. I hope the people of Clanton will get up behind this movement and build this school. We can build it and not hurt any of us. What are we living for, and trying to lay up wealth, except for our children? If we do not train them, then our life is a failure. Figure what it costs to send one child away from home to college, not less than $400.00 a year, and this school would save on each scholar about three years, making about $1200.00 to the scholar. Think of the boys and girls in old Chilton, then ask yourself can we afford to miss this school. I say we cannot. Let's unite on one thing and all pull for this great cause.

Respectfully,
L. H. Reynolds.

Tuesday evening Mr. E. H. Hart and Miss W. Lenore Sweeley came down from Birmingham on No. 3 and stopped off at Clanton, hurried to the Courthouse and were married, Probate Clerk Pyron performing the ceremony. The couple left for points south on No. 11.

Mr. J. M. Philpot and Miss Eva Scott were married at the Courthouse Sunday morning by Judge Deason.

Mrs. James Broadhead is suffering with rheumatism.

We publish this week some important ordinances adopted by the town council. The one prohibiting chickens from being pastured in your neighbor's flower garden is causing considerable stirring among the housewives, some of whom cannot be made to believe that their hens ever do any damage.

Another promises partial relief next Christmas, in that it forbids fireworks in the town fire limits. It would have been better if it had said corporate limits, but we could hardly hope for that.

Another gives pedestrians a chance at the sidewalks without dodging bicycles, pushcarts, etc.

Another very good one insures sanitary markets and wholesome meats.

Late Saturday afternoon a telephone message advised the officers here to be on the lookout for some drunken negros who were on the way from the camps to town. About thirty minutes afterward a wagon drove in and on it was a negro beastly drunk, waving in his hand a dangerous looking gun. Chief of Palice Fallon and Deputy Sheriff Smitherman promptly took the degro into custody; on examination the gun was found to be not loaded, although he had treated a negro woman on the wagon very roughly by beating her on the head with the weapon.

A meeting of the Chilton County Fair Association was held Tuesday. Plans were discussed whereby the fair this fall is expected to be the biggest and best yet. Each one present was enthusiastic over the prospects of a successful and beneficial exhibition.

Clanton Camp No. 322 W. O. W. will unveil the monument of the deceased Sov. C. W. Cox, at Clanton cemetery Sunday afternoon March 23, at 2 o'clock. All members are urged to be present. Visitors are cordially invited. J. L. Ruffin, Clerk. By order J. P. VanDerveer, C. C.

Mr. J. H. Esco, of Mountain Creek was here Monday.

Mr. J. B. Sims, of Mountain Creek, was here Tuesday.

Mr. Arkie Mahan, of Chunchula, Mobile county, who has moved his famiiy to that place, was here Tuesday. He says he likes Mobile county fine.

The democrats are scheming to get around President Taft's order placing so many postmasters under civil service rules and they will probably succeed. Two many ravenous maws are to be filled to let such a measure stand in the way.

Newspapers get some queer advertising propositions. In return for considerable space we were recently offered by a steam boat line on the great lakes, a non-transferable season ticket between Toledo and Buffalo for self and wife. How they expected us to get there and what we were to live on during the season didn't appear.

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Keziah Coffin, supposed widow, is arranged to move from Trumet to Boston, following the death of her brother, for whom she had kept house. Kyan Pepper, widower, offers marriage, and is indignantly refused. Capt. Elkanah Daniels, leader of the Regular church offers Keziah a place as housekeeper for the new minister, and she decides to remain in Trumet. Keziah takes charge of Rev. John Ellery, the new minister, and gives him advice as to his conduct toward members of the parish. Ellery causes a sensation by attending a "Come-outer" meeting. Ellery's presence is bitterly resented by Eben Hammond, leader of the meeting. Grace apologizes for her guardian and Ellery escorts her home in the rain. Capt. Nat Hammond, Eben's son, becomes a hero by bringing the packet into port safely through fog and storm. Ellery finds Keziah writing a letter to some one, inclosing money in response to a demand. She is curiously startled when informed of the arrival of Nat. Nat calls on Keziah, and it develops that they have been lovers since youth. Daniels remonstrates with Ellery for attending "Come-outer" meeting. Ellery is caught by the tide and is rescued by Nat. They become friends. Ellery meets Grace while walking in the fields, and learns that she walks there every Sunday. The clergyman takes dinner Sundays with the Daniels. Annabel, the captain's daughter, exerts herself to make an impression on him. She notices with vexation his desire to get away every Sunday at a certain time. She watches him through a spy glass. Nat again importunes Keziah to marry him. He says he has had a quarrel with his father, who wants him to marry Grace. Ellery asks Grace to marry him. She confesses that she loves him, but says she fears to displease her guardian. Elkanah Daniels tells Eben about the meetings between Ellery and Grace. Eben declares he will make Grace choose between him and the preacher. Grace finds him in a faint, following the excitement of Elkanah's visit. Just before he dies Eben exacts a promise from Nat and Grace that they will marry. Keziah breaks the news to Ellery and later he receives a note from Grace saying she is to marry Nat, and asking him not to try to see her again.

CHAPTER XII.—(Cntinued.)

"Never mind about the other man. He was handsome then, in a way, and he had money to spend, and he liked me. He wanted me to marry him. If—if the other, the one that went away, had written I never would have thought of such a thing, but he didn't write. And, my pride bein' hurt, and all, I finally said yes to the second chap.

"Well, for the first year 'twa'n't so bad. Not happiness exactly, but not misery either. That come later. His people was well off and he'd never worked much of any. He did for a little while after we was married, but not for long. Then he begun to drink and carry on and lost his place. Pretty soon he begun to neglect me and at last went off to sea afore the mast. We was poor as poverty, but I could have stood that; I did stand it. I took in sewin' and kept up an appearance, somehow. Never told a soul. His folks come patronizin' around and offered me money, so's I needn't disgrace them. I sent 'em rightabout in a hurry. Once in a while he'd come home, get tipsy and abuse me. Still I said nothin'. Thank God, there was no children; that's the one thing I've been thankful for.

"You can't keep such things quiet always. People are bound to find out. They come to me and said, 'Why don't you leave him?' but I wouldn't. I could have divorced him easy enough, there was reasons plenty, but I wouldn't do that. Then word came that he was dead, drowned off in the East Indies somewheres. I come back here to keep house for Sol, my brother, and I kept house for him till he died and they offered me this place here at the parsonage. There! that's my story, part of it, more'n I ever told a livin' soul afore, except Sol."

She ceased speaking. The minister, who had sat silent by the window, apathetically listening or trying to listen, turned his head.

"I apologize, Mrs. Coffin," he said dully, "you have had trials, hard ones. But—"

"But they ain't as hard as yours, you think? Well, I haven't quite finished yet. After word come of my husband's death, the other man come and wanted me to marry him. And I wanted to—oh, how I wanted to! I cared as much for him as I ever did; more, I guess. But I wouldn't—I wouldn't, though it wrung my heart out to say no. I give him up—why? 'cause I thought I had a duty laid on me."

Ellery sighed. "I can see but one duty," he said. "That is the duty given us by God, to marry the one we love."

Keziah's agitation, which had grown as she told her story, suddenly flashed into flame.

"Is that as fur as you can see?" she asked fiercely. "It's an easy duty, then—or looks easy now. I've got a harder one; it's to stand by the promise I gave and the man I married."

He looked at her as if he thought she had lost her wits.

"The man you married?" he replied. "Why, the man you married is dead."

"No, he ain't. You remember the letter you saw me readin' that night when you come back from Come-Outers' meetin'? Well, that letter was from him. He's alive. Yes, he's alive. Alive and knockin' round the world somewheres. Every little while he writes me for money and, if I have any, I send it to him. Why? Why 'cause I'm a coward, after all, I guess, and I'm scared he'll do what he says he will and come back. Perhaps you think I'm a fool to put up with it; that's what most folks would say if they knew it. They'd tell me I ought to divorce him. Well, I can't, I can't. I walked into the mess blindfolded; I married him in spite of warnin's and everything. I took him for better or for worse, and now that he's turned out worse, I must take my medicine. I can't live with him—that I can't do—but while he lives I'll stay his wife and give him what money I can spare. That's the duty I told you was laid on me, and it's a hard one, but I don't run away from it."

She stopped short; then covering her face with her apron, she ran from the room. John Ellery heard her descending the stairs, sobbing as she went.

All that afternoon he remained in his chair by the window. It was six o'clock, supper time, when he entered the kitchen. Keziah, looking up from the ironing board, saw him. He was white and worn and grim, but he held out his hand to her.

"Mrs. Coffin," he said, "I'm not going away. You've shown me what devotion to duty really means. I shall stay here and go on with my work."

Her face lit up. "Will you?" she said. "I thought you would. I was sure you was that kind."

CHAPTER XIII.

In Which the Sea Mist Sails.

They buried Captain Eben in the little Come-Outer cemetery at the rear of the chapel. The Come-Outers were there, all of them, and some members of the Regular society, Captain Zeb Mayo, Dr. Parker, Keziah Coffin, Mrs. Higgins and Ike. The little company filed out of the cemetery, and Captain Eben Hammond was but a memory in Trumet.

Keziah lingered to speak a word with Grace. The girl, looking very white and worn, leaned on the arm of Captain Nat, whose big body acted as a buffer between her and oversympathetic Come-Outers. Mrs. Coffin silently held out both hands and Grace took them eagerly.

"Auntie," she whispered, "tell me: Did a letter— Did he—"

"Yes, it came. I gave it to him."

"Did—did he tell you? Do you know?"

"Yes, I know, deary."

"Did he—is he—"

"He's well, deary. He'll be all right. I'll look out for him."

"You will, won't you? You won't let him do anything——"

"Not a thing. Don't worry. We've had a long talk and he's going to stay right here and go on with his work. And nobody else'll ever know, Gracie."

"O Aunt Keziah! if I could be one half as patient and brave and sweet as you are——"

"Sssh! here comes Nat. Be kind to him. He's sufferin', too; maybe more'n you imagine. Here she is, Nat. Take her back home and be good to her."

"I tell you," broke in the voice of Captain Zeb Mayo, "Keziah, I've been waitin' for you. Get in my shay and I'll drive you back to the parsonage."

Mrs. Coffin accepted the invitation and a seat in the chaise beside Captain Zeb. The captain spoke of the dead Come-Outer and of his respect for him in spite of the difference in creed. He also spoke of the Rev. John Ellery and of the affection he had come to feel for the young man.

"I'm glad to hear you say so. Of course Cap'n Elkanah is boss of the parish committee and—"

"What? No, he ain't nuther. He's head of it, but his vote counts just one and no more. What makes you say that?"

"Oh, nuthin'. Only I thought maybe, long as Elkanah was feelin' that Mr. Ellery wa'n't orthodox enough, he might be goin' to make a change. I didn't mean to stir you up, Zebedee. But from things Cap'n Daniels has said I gathered that he was runnin' the committee. And, as I'm a friend of Mr. Ellery, it—"

"Friend! Well, so'm I, ain't I? If you ever hear of Daniels tryin' any tricks against the minister, you send for me, that's all. I'll show him. Boss! Humph!"

The wily Keziah alighted at the parsonage gate with the feeling that she had sown seed in fertile ground. She was quite aware of Captain Zeb's jealousy of the great Daniels. And the time might come when her parson needed an influential friend on the committee and in the Regular society.

The news of the engagement between Captain Nat Hammond and Grace Van Horne, told by Dr. Parker to one or two of his patients, spread through Trumet like measles through a family of small children. Annabel Daniels and her father had not expected it. They were, however, greatly pleased. In their discussion, which lasted far into the night, Captain Elkanah expressed the opinion that the unexpected denouement was the result of his interview with Eben.

"I think, pa," she said, "that it's our duty, yours and mine, to treat him just as we always have. He doesn't know that we know, and we will keep the secret. And, as Christians, we should forget and forgive."

Kyan Pepper was another whom the news of the engagement surprised greatly. When Lavinia told him of it, at the dinner table, he dropped the knife he was holding and the greasy section of fishball balanced upon it. Remembering what he had seen in the grove he could not understand; but he also remembered, even more vividly, what Keziah Coffin had promised to do if he ever breathed a word. And he vowed again that that word should not be breathed.

Keziah was the life of the gloomy parsonage. Without her the minister would have broken down. He called her "Aunt Keziah" at her request and she continued to call him "John." This was in private, of course; in public he was "Mr. Ellery" and she "Mrs. Coffin."

In his walks about town he saw nothing of Grace. She and Mrs. Poundberry and Captain Nat were still at the old home and no one save themselves knew what their plans might be. Yet oddly enough, Ellery was the first outsider to learn these plans and that from Nat himself.

He met the captain at the corner of the "Turnoff" one day late in August. He tried to make his bow seem cordial, but was painfully aware that it was not. Nat, however, seemed not to notice, but crossed the road and held out his hand.

"Well, Mr. Ellery," said Captain Nat, "I won't keep you. I see you're in a hurry. Just thought I'd run alongside a minute and say good-by. Don't know's I'll see you again afore I sail."

"Before you sail? You—you are going away?"

"Yup. My owners have been after me for a good while, but I wouldn't leave home on account of dad's health. Now he's gone, I've got to be gettin' back to salt water again. My ship's been drydocked and overhauled and she's in New York now loadin' for Manila. It's a long vy'age, even if I come back direct, which ain't likely. So I may not see the old town again for a couple of years. Take care of yourself, won't you? Good men, especially ministers, are scurse, and from what I hear about you I cal'late Trumet needs you."

"When are you going?"

"Last of next week, most likely."

"Will you—shall you go alone? Are you to be—to be—"

"Married? No. Grace and I have talked it over and we've agreed it's best to wait till I come back. She'll stay in the old house with Hannah."

"Good-by, captain."

"Good-by. Er—I say, Mr. Ellery, how's things at the parsonage? Er—Keziah—Mrs. Coffin, your housekeeper, is she smart?"

"Yes. She's well."

"That's good. Say, you might tell her good-by for me, if you want to. Tell her I wished her all the luck there was. And—and—just say that there ain't any—well, that her friend—say just that, will you?—her friend said 'twas all right. She'll understand; it's a—a sort of joke between us."

"Very good, captain; I'll tell her."

They shook hands and parted.

Didama and her fellow news-venders distributed the tale of Captain Nat's sailing broadcast during the next few days. There was much wonderment at the delayed marriage, but the general verdict was that Captain Eben's recent death and the proper respect due to it furnished sufficient excuse. Hannah Poundberry, delighted at being so close to the center of interest, talked and talked, and thus Grace was spared the interviews which would have been a trouble to her. Nat left town via the packet, on the following Wednesday. Within another week came the news that his ship, the Sea Mist, had sailed from New York, bound for Manila.

CHAPTER XIV.

In Which Trumet Talks of Captain Nat.

Summer was over, autumn came, passed, and it was winter—John Ellery's first winter in Trumet. Fish weirs were taken up, the bay filled with ice, the packet ceased to run, and the village settled down to hibernate until spring. The stage came through on its regular trips, except when snow or slush rendered the roads impassable, but passengers were very few. Twice there were wrecks, one of a fishing schooner, the crew of which were fortunate enough to escape by taking to the dories, and another, a British bark, which struck on the farthest bar and was beaten to pieces by the great waves, while the townspeople stood helplessly watching from the shore, for launching a boat in that surf was impossible. Mr. Pepper made no more calls at the parsonage, and when the minister met him, at church or elsewhere, seemed anxious to avoid an interview.

They Shook Hands and Parted.

"Well, Abishai," asked Ellery, on one of these occasions, "how are you getting on at home? Has your sister locked you up again?"

"No, sir, she ain't," replied Kyan. "Laviny, she's sort of diff'rent lately. She ain't nigh so—so down on a feller as she used to be. I can get out once in a while by myself nowadays, when she wants to write a letter or somethin'. Writes one about every once in a week. I don't know who they're to, nuther. She's talkin' of goin' up to Sandwich pretty soon."

"She is? Alone?"

"So she says."

"To leave you here? Why! well, I'm surprised."

"Godfreys mighty! so be I. But she says she b'lieves she needs a change and there's church conference up there, you know, and she figgers that she ain't been to conference she don't know when. I s'pose you'll go, won't you, Mr. Ellery?"

"Probably."

Lavinia got herself elected a delegate and went, in company with Captain Elkanah, Mrs. Mayo, and others, to the conference. She was a faithful attendant at the meetings and seemed to be having a very good time. She introduced the minister to one Caleb Pratt, a resident of Sandwich, whom she said she had known ever since she was a girl.

"Mr. Pratt's a cousin of Thankful Payne over to home," volunteered Lavinia. "You know Thankful, Mr. Ellery."

Lavinia confided to her pastor that Mr. Pratt made the best shoes in Ostable county. He could fit any kind of feet, she declared, and the minister ought to try him sometime. She added that he had money in the bank.

Spring once more; then summer. And now people were again speaking of Captain Nat Hammond. His ship was overdue, long overdue. Even in those days, when there were no cables and the telegraph was still something of a novelty, word of his arrival should have reached Trumet months before this. But it had not come, and did not. Before the summer was over, the wise heads of the retired skippers were shaking dubiously. Something had happened to the Sea Mist.

As the weeks and months went by without news of the missing vessel, this belief became almost a certainty. At the Come-Outer chapel, where Ezekiel Bassett now presided, prayers were offered for the son of their former leader.

One afternoon Keziah came into Ellery's study, where he was laboring with his next Sunday sermon, and sat down in the rocking-chair. She had been out and still wore her bonnet and shawl.

"John," she said, "I ask your pardon for disturbin' you. I wanted to ask if you knew Mrs. Prince was sick?"

"No. Is she? I'm awfully sorry. Nothing serious, I hope?"

"No, I guess not. Only she's got a cold and is kind of under the weather. I thought p'r'aps you'd like to run up and see her. She thinks the world and all of you, 'cause you was so good when she was distressed about her son. Poor old thing! she's had a hard time of it. I just heard that she was ailin' from Didama Rogers. Didama said she was all but dyin', so I knew she prob'ly had a little cold, or somethin'. If she was really very bad, Di would have had her buried by this time, so's to be sure her news was ahead of anybody else's. I ain't been up there, but I met her t'other mornin'."

"Didama?"

"No; Mrs. Prince. She'd come down to see Grace."

"Oh."

"Yes. The old lady's been awful kind and sympathizin' since—since this new trouble. It reminds her of the loss of her own boy, I presume likely, and so she feels for Grace. John, what do they say around town about—about him?"

"Captain Hammond? Why, if you mean that they've all given up hope, I should hardly say that. Captain Mayo and Captain Daniels were speaking of it in my hearing the other day and they agreed that there was still a chance."

"A pretty slim one, though, they cal'lated, didn't they?"

"Well, they were—were doubtful, of course. There was the possibility that he had been wrecked somewhere and hadn't been picked up. They cited several such cases. The South Pacific is full of islands where vessels seldom touch, and he and his crew may be on one of these."

"John," she answered, with a sigh, "sometimes I think you'd better get another housekeeper."

"What? Are you going to leave me? You?"

"Oh, 'twouldn't be because I wanted to. But it seems almost as if there was a kind of fate hangin' over me and that," she smiled faintly, "as if 'twas sort of catchin', as you might say. Everybody I ever cared for has had somethin' happen to 'em. My brother died; my—the man I married went to the dogs; then you and Grace had to be miserable and I had to help make you so; I sent Nat away and he blamed me and—"

"No, no. He didn't blame you. He sent you word that he didn't. Aunt Keziah, you're my anchor to windward, as they say down here. If I lost you, goodness knows where I should drift. Don't you ever talk of leaving me again."

"Thank you, John. I'm glad you want me to stay. I won't leave yet awhile; never—unless I have to. John, I had another letter t'other day."

"You did? From—from that man?"

"Yup, from—" For a moment it seemed as if she were about to pronounce her husband's name, something she had never done in his presence; but if she thought of it, she changed her mind.

Practical Fashions

LADY'S THREE GORED SKIRT.

Here is a pretty model for an evening skirt. The garment is cut in three gores and is one of the most delightful styles of the season, and despite its elaboration of detail is quite easy to carry out. The tunic is a fashionable feature and the draped effect is quite fetching.

The pattern (6169) is cut in sizes 22 to 30 inches waist measure. Medium size will require 2¾ yards of 36 inch goods. Width of lower edge is 3 yards.

To procure this pattern send 10 cents to "Pattern Department," of this paper. Write name and address plainly, and be sure to give size and number of pattern.

Epigram of Tallyrand.

The duchess of Lauriguais, who was somewhat given to making poetry, could not think of a word to rhyme with coiffe. Turning to Tallyrand, who chanced to be by her side, she said: "Prince, give me a rhyme to coiffe." "Impossible, duchess," replied Talleyrand, without a moment's delay; "for that which pertains to the head of a woman has neither rhyme nor reason."

Why They Don't Marry.

Miss Leftover—You are a woman hater, I hear.

Mr. Slimpurse—That is a mistake; I merely cannot afford to marry.

Miss Leftover—Cannot you support a wife?

Mr. Slimpurse—Oh, yes, I could support a wife easy enough, but I have't enough to support the two or three other women she would need to wait on her.

They Got Left.

John and Betty, aged five and four years, had started on a railway journey with their parents on Monday, but reached the station just in time to hear the engineer ring his bell and see the train pull out of the station, leaving the family behind.

Next Sunday John and Betty were started out on the way to Sunday school. When they were half way there the bell rang, and presently they came regretfully back.

"We got left," they announced.

Member of the Union.

Men who worked under a former city editor on the Washington Post vouch for the truth of this story about him.

The telegraph editor, so the story goes, got a "flash" one night that John La Farge, the painter, was dead. He called the news out to the city editor, who, catching only the name and profession, yelled to a reporter:

"Willoughby! A painter by the name of La Farge is dead. Rush down to the Central Labor Union and see what you can dig up about him!"

IN A SHADOW.

Inveterate Tea Drinker Feared Paralysis.

Steady use of either tea or coffee often produces alarming symptoms as the poison (caffeine) contained in these beverages acts with more potency in some persons than in others.

"I was never a coffee drinker," writes an Ill. woman, "but a tea drinker. I was very nervous, had frequent spells of sick headache and heart trouble, and was subject at times to severe attacks of bilious colic.

"No end of sleepless nights—would have spells at night when my right side would get numb and tingle like a thousand needles were pricking my flesh. At times I could hardly put my tongue out of my mouth and my right eye and ear were affected.

"The doctors told me I was liable to become paralyzed at any time, so I was in constant dread. I took no end of medicine—all to no good.

"The doctors told me to quit using tea, but I thought I could not live without it—that it was my only stay. I had been a tea drinker for twenty-five years; was under the doctor's care for fifteen.

"About six months ago, I finally quit tea and commenced to drink Postum.

"I have never had one spell of sick headache since and only one light attack of bilious colic. Have quit having those numb spells at night, sleep well and my heart is getting stronger all the time." Name given upon request.

Postum now comes in concentrated, powder form, called Instant Postum. It is prepared by stirring a level teaspoonful in a cup of hot water, adding sugar to taste, and enough cream to bring the color to golden brown.

Instant Postum is convenient; there's no waste; and the flavor is always uniform. Sold by grocers everywhere.

BABY'S FACE ONE SORE WITH ECZEMA

Cried for Hours, Could Not Sleep. Resinol Brought Rest and Cure.

Reading, Pa.—"My baby girl had eczema for over six months. It was painful and itching, she could not sleep day or night, she would scratch till blood and water would run down her neck. Then it burned her so she cried for hours at a time. The right side of her face was one sore and scab.

"I got the samples of Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment on a Saturday morning, and put them on, and put them on again in the afternoon and in the evening before I put her to bed, and she went to sleep and slept till next morning. I thought I was in heaven the first night, and by Monday the eczema was dried up so that all the scabs fell off. Resinol Soap and Ointment cured my baby."—Mrs. Wm. M. OAKLEY ARRESTED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

PRESIDENT OF CONVICT BOARD MAKES BOND FOR $20,000 AND IS RELEASED.

KNEW OF LACY'S ACTION

Governor O'Neal's Secretary, John D. McNeil, Is Put in Charge of Affairs of Convict Department.

Montgomery.—James G. Oakley, president of the state convict board, was arrested on a warrant charging him with the embezzlement of $113,597.35, in connection with the Lacy defalcation cose.

Simultaneous with his arrest, Governor O'Neal announced Oakley's removal from office as head of the convict department and addressed a letter to the deposed official notifying him of his action.

An hour after he was taken into custody Oakley made bond in the sum of $20,000.

The arrest of Oakley came as a climax to a morning of sensational developments growing out of the public investigation conducted by the chief examiner of public accounts into the affairs of the state convict department.

The features of the investigation were revelations to the effect that Oakley had consented to the withdrawal by Lacy of the funds of the convict department from the banks in which they were deposited, and it was anticipated that his arrest would immediately follow these disclosures. Oakley's knowledge of Lacy's action in securing currency from the banks was revealed in the testimony of Charles L. Harold, president of the Montgomery Savings bank, who was on the stand.

Following the announcement of Oakley's arrest and his summary removal from office, Governor O'Neal instructed his secretary, John D. McNeil, to take charge of the offices of the convict department in the name of the governor of Alabama. The warrant for the arrest of Oakley was sworn out before Judge M. H. Screws of the Montgomery inferior court, upon affidavit by Associate Examiner of Public Accounts H. Y. Brooke.

The affidavit contains four counts, aggregating an alleged embezzlement of $113,579.

KING OF GREECE IS SLAIN

Attacked From Behind by an Assailant and Shot to Death.

Saloniki.—King George of Greece was assassinated while walking in the streets of Soloniki. The assassin was a Greek of low mental type, who gave his name as Aleko Schinas. He shot the King through the heart.

The King was accompanied only by an aide de camp, Lieutenant Colonel Fracoudis. The assassin came suddenly at the King and fired one shot from a seven-chamber revolver. The tragedy caused intense excitement. Schinas was seized immediately and overpowered.

The wounded King was lifted into a carriage and taken to the Papafion hospital. He was still breathing when placed in the carriage.

Prince Nicholas, the King's third son, and the other officers hurried to the hospital. Arriving first Prince Nicholas summoned the officers and, speaking in a voice choked with sobs said:

"It is my deep grief to have to announce to you the death of our beloved King and invite you to swear fidelity to your new sovereign, King Constantine."

The assassin of the king is an evil looking fellow about 40 years of age. On being arrested he refused to explain his motive for the crime. He declared his name was Aleko Schinas, ond in reply to an officer who asked him whether he had no pity for his country, announced that he was against governments.

King George was 68 years of age. He had ruled for many years. He was a son of the late King of Denmark. He was chosen King of the Hellenes in 1863 in succession to Otho I. A previous attempt to assassinate him was made in 1898. It was frustrated.

King George in October, 1867 married Princess Olga. She was the eldest daughter of the Grand Duke Constantine, who has been in active command of the Greek troops throughout the Balkan hostilities, and who was at the head of the army which recently captured the Turkish fortress of Janina with its garrison of 32,000 men, will be the successor of his father. His wife is Princess Sophia, a sister of the German Emperor.

WOMAN'S STORY MADE PUBLIC

Mrs. Moncrief Didn't Consider It Secret. Thought Friends Should Know. Read Her Statement.

Belton, Tex.—Mrs. Ethel Moncrief, of this place, says: "I suffered with a complaint peculiar to women, and, although I called in the doctors, they failed to do me any good.

Then, I began to take Cardui, the woman's tonic.

From the first dose, I could feel results, and, in a short time, I was relieved of all my dreadful suffering.

My friends were surprised to see the results I obtained from the use of Cardui. I just couldn't help telling them. It built up my system wonderfully.

I do not want to be without Cardui in my house, as long as I can obtain it. It is a true relief for womanly troubles. I can't praise it too highly."

In the past half century, thousands of ladies have written, like Mrs. Moncrief, to tell of the benefit received from the use of Cardui.

Such testimony, from earnest women, surely indicates the merit of this woman's remedy.

Cardui contains pure, harmless, vegetable ingredients, which act in a gentle way on all the weakened womanly organs.

It cannot do you harm, and is almost sure to be the very medicine you need. It's good for young or old.

Please give Cardui a trial.

SWALLOW HAD LONG JOURNEY

Positive Proof That Bird Traveled the Distance From England to South Africa.

The capture of a swallow bearing an aluminum ring in Natal, South Africa, the other day, has resulted in an astonishing insight into the migratory habits of birds. From a number and address stamped on the ring it was discovered that the swallow was one of 11,483 British birds marked in a similar way last summer by enthusiasts, desiring to learn more as to the routes taken by bird migrants, and whether birds return again to their previous nesting sites. This systematic marking of birds began in 1909, since when nearly 32,000 have been "ringed." About three per cent. are afterward noted, but the swallow reported from Natal appears to have made the longest flight so far. A black-headed gull ringed as a nestling in Yorkshire in July, 1911, was found in February, 1912, in Flores, Azores. A starling ringed in Berkshire in January, 1912, reached Helsingfor, Finland, in April. A teal ringed in Staffordshire in the autumn of 1910, was found at Dalarne, Sweden, July, 1911.

Plea for Liberty.

Mrs. B. was entertaining a few friends and Elsie was allowed to remain in the room, provided she made no disturbance. But she was interested and talkative and asked so many questions that at last her mother became exasperated.

"Elsie, if you open your mouth another time, you'll have to go back upstairs. Now, remember!"

Elsie was accustomed to obey, so, for a long time, Elsie's lips were kept tightly closed. At last, however, she touched her mother and said softly:

"Mamma, can I open my mouth if I don't say anything?"—Chicago Tribune.

CRUST COVERED BABY'S HEAD

532 Brunswick St., Baltimore, Md.—"My baby's face broke out in pimples, which after bathing would weep and form scabs until his head and face were completely covered with a crust and his hair all fell out. It was cross and would not sleep. Each day it spread until his entire face and head were covered with weeping sores. I tried several prescriptions, but did not find any relief. Then I decided to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

"After using them two or three times the sores dried up and after a half dozen applications all disfigurement disappeared. In less than three weeks the sores and scales were completely gone, and baby's skin as smooth and clear as when he was first born. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured him." (Signed) Mrs. Lottie V. Steinwedel, Jan. 14, 1912.

A Sunday school teacher in the middle west asked all of her pupils who wished to go to heaven to hold up their right hands. All did but one little girl.

"Why, Mary," said the teacher, "why don't you hold up your hand today, just as you did last Sunday when I asked the same question?"

"I know," said Mary, "but papa has just got tickets for Los Angeles."

Woman Is As Old As She Looks

No woman wants to look old. Many in their effort to look youthful resort to the "beauty doctor's" prescriptions. Their mistake is that they visit the wrong department in the drug store.

Beauty depends upon health.

Worry, sleepless nights, headaches, pains, disorders, irregularities and weaknesses of a distinctly feminine character in a short time bring the dull eye, the "crow's feet," the haggard look, drooping shoulders, and the faltering step.

To retain the appearance of youth you must retain health. Instead of lotions, powders and paints, ask your druggist for

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

This famous medicine strikes at the very root of these enemies of your youthful appearance. It makes you not only look young, but feel young.

Universal Hero.

For America, at least, there is the one universal hero. No one questions his greatness. None names him but to praise.

Who is this universal hero?

Is it Napoleon? Many condemn him, as Ingersoll did, as the "imperial personification of force and murder." No, it is not Napoleon.

Washington, then? Wendell Phillips said: "But the great Virginian held slaves." So, even Washington had his detractors.

Lincoln? Perhaps later on; but not yet.

Well, who is this universal hero of America?

John Hampden, of course. He objected to paying taxes.—Kansas City Times.

Children's Humor.

The poetry of life is frequently seen in childhood. We have this illustrated in the description of butterflies as "pansies flying."

"A star is a cinder from God's great star," has a wealth of unconscious meaning. But perhaps the finest approach to poetry was made by a tiny tot who defined dew as "the grass crying." "O auntie!" said a little girl, "I've just seen a pencil walking." The nurse who had grown out of fairyland explained it was only an ordinary worm.

Explained.

"Why am I always the goat?"

"Because you persist in butting in."

Day dreams are more pleasant than profitable, unless one gets busy and converts them into fact.

Envy.

"Bliggins is one of those people who envy others the slightest elevation above ordinary surroundings."

"Yes. His family can't eat a meal without being afraid he'll get jealous of the baby and want the high chair."—Washington Star.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

In this age of research and experiment, all nature is ransacked by the scientific for the comfort and happiness of man. Science has indeed made giant strides in the past century, and among the—by no means least important—discoveries in medicine is that of Theraplon, which has been used with great success in French Hospitals and that it is worthy the attention of those who suffer from kidney, bladder, nervous diseases, chronic weaknesses, ulcers, skin eruptions, piles, &c., there is no doubt. In fact it seems evident from the big stir created amongst specialists, that THERAPION is destined to cast into oblivion all those questionable remedies that were formerly the sole reliance of medical men. It is of course impossible to tell sufferers all we should like to tell them in this short article, but those who would like to know more about this remedy that has effected so many—we might almost say, miraculous cures, should send addressed envelope for FREE book to Dr. Le Clerc Med. Co., Haverstock Road, Hampstead, London, Eng. and decide for themselves whether the New French Remedy "THERAPION" No. 1, No. 2 or No. 3 is what they require and have been seeking in vain during a life of misery, suffering, ill health and unhappiness. Therapion is sold by druggists or mail $1.00. Fougera Co., 90 Beekman St., New York.

SEEKING INFORMATION.

A good many counties are wrestling with the good roads and bond issue question, and we are watching the papers for anything that will throw light on the subject. The following from Our Southern Home at Livingston, contains some points of interest. The editor, being a sensible man, does not try to force his views on the people—but his practical observations of the outcome of a bond issue are worth noting. We gather from it that the bond issue road cost some $7,000 a mile and is entirely inadequate and unsatisfactory and that an issue of $1,000,000 would be needed to satisfy the demand.

SOLUTION DESIRED.

Quoting from Mr. Murray's article on building good roads which appeared in this paper, the Eutaw Democrat says: "We wonder if the editor of the Home was speaking with 'expert' knowledge, or was it the shadowy vaporings of an editor's idle fancies. Unfortunately he offers no solution to the vexing question. Evidently the bond issue is not the solution, else he could have pointed to it with pride for Sumter has some $120,000 bond issue on which she is paying interest, and still her "permanent" road from Epes to Gainesville, which cost some $7,000 per mile, is not pointed to as a marvel of engineering skill and satisfaction."

Not to exhibit the impatience of our friend of the Democrat we will say for him that he carelessly read the article in question as it was a communication, signed with the name of the correspondent, Mr. W. L. Murray. As to the writer of the article we can say that he is more of an expert in road matters than this scribe, and possibly surpasses the Democrat brother in that respect, as he is a farmer and practical mechanic with considerable experience in road building. The Democrat makes another error in the statement that no solution was offerred, due, no doubt to its failure to read the article entire. The correspondent offerred as a solution a bond issue of one million dollars. We don't think that the people of any rural county would be willing to assume such a heavy bond issue. Even the proposed fifty million dollar bond issue by the State might meet with greater favor, as its burden of interest would be more extendedly divided and the State could get a lower rate of interest on the large issue.

The knowledge has been forced upon our people here by practical observation and experience that a small bond issue of $125,000, as Sumter has had, is wholly inadequate to build roads over such an extent of territory as Sumter county, to say nothing of keeping them in order afterwards. It has proved a troublesome question to Sumter county, and this press has refrained from advising on the subject.

Montgomery is the only county in the black belt that has built good roads with a large bond issue. It has a large and rich city to help pay the interest on the bonds, much the greater part of it, and is therefore not to be classed with the rural counties. But good roads have been built by bond issues in other sections and States where property valuations justified a sufficient iss ue—and a sufficient issue is an important matter. Can the Democrat offer any other solution? Help us with the "vexing question" if you can.

CORPORATION FARMING OR CO-OPERATIVE FARMING.

Here and there all over the South, corporations are being formed to do farm work, corporations that are able to buy the most costly improved machinery of every kind.

We confess we don't like farming by corporations and hired men. We should infinitely prefer to see our farming done by independent farmers. But this fact sticks out: The use of greater power on the farm is demanded in the interests of economy—greater power than the average independent farmer can command alone. It looks as if we had come to the time when we must either have corporation farming or co-operation farming. We prefer the latter.

Let our small farmers be warned in time, and act. The day when the average individual can stand alone in the commercial and industrial world has passed. Nearly all city business is done by associations of individuals—chiefly on the corporation plan. We believe in the future that farming must also be done by associations of individuals—but we hope chiefly on the co-operative plan. The business of farming must be organized—there are infinite possibilities in such an organization—a plan which will exalt manhood rather than money, and which will mean partnership and brotherhood rather than a further struggle between labor and capital.

The co-operative ownership of improved farm power and machinery, offers, it seems to us, perhaps the finest opportunity for beginning successful co-operation among the farmers. Such machinery as traction plows, hay presses, cotton gins, feed mills-stump pullers, harvesters, pea threshers, corn shredders, grain threshers, ditching mackines etc., may be well bought by a whole neighborhood of farmers working together. Then from three to six farmers anywhere may join in buying stalk cutters, manure spreaders, grain mills, potato diggers, spraying machines, etc., and even two or three farmers may often satisfactorily own together imdroved plows, planters, cultivators, harrows. feed cutters, etc.

You haue been talking a lot about how farmers ought to co-operate. Why not take a practical step toward getting something done by seeing if your neighbors will not join you in b'ying some of these improved machines for your joint use.— Progressive Farmer.

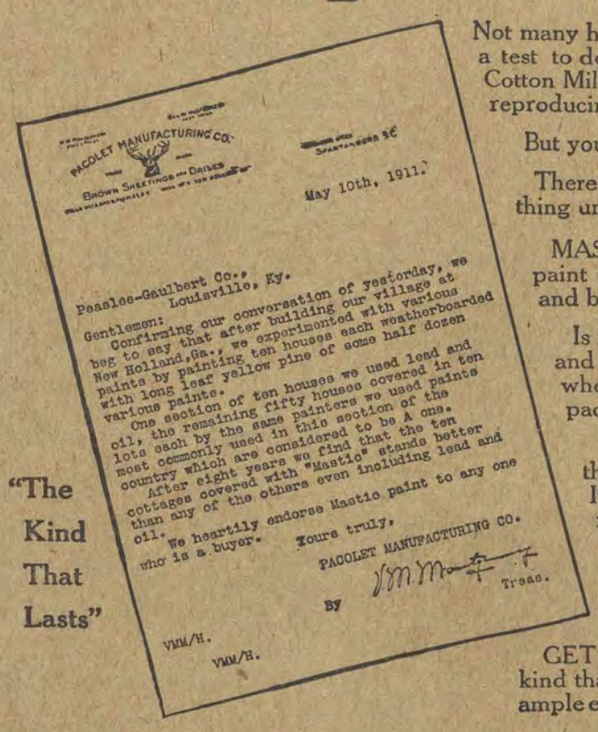
A Thorough Test of Mastic Paint

"The Kind That Lasts"



PACOLET MANUFACTURING CO.
Spartanburg S.C.
May 10th, 1911.
Peaslee-Gaulbert Co., Louisville, Ky.
Gentlemen:
Confirming our conversation of yesterday, we beg to say that after building our village at New Holland, Ga., we experimented with various paints by painting ten houses each weatherboarded with long leaf yellow pine of some half dozen various paints.
One section of ten houses we used lead and oil, the remaining fifty houses covered in ten lots each by the same painters we used paints most commonly used in this section of the country which are considered to be A ones.
After eight years we find that the ten cottages covered with "Mastic" stands better than any of the others even including lead and oil.
We heartily endorse Mastic paint to any one who is a buyer.
Youre truly,
PACOLET MANUFACTURING CO.

VMM/H.

Not many have the opportunity to make as thorough a test to determine paint value as did the Pacolet Cotton Mills, of South Carolina, whose letter we are reproducing.

But you can profit by their experience.

There is an element of chance in buying anything until you know it has stood the test.

MASTIC PAINT is the result of 40 years' paint study, and is the finest paint that money and brains can produce.

Is it any wonder it has always given better and longer service than any other paint, whether machine ground or mixed with a paddle?

When you buy MASTIC PAINT you find the formula on every can. IT'S PURE. It combines the greatest durability with reasonable cost.

If you are a paint user don't experiment with cheap, uncertain paint or hand mixed keg lead, and be disappointed.

GET MASTIC PAINT—the kind that lasts. We will furnish ample evidence of its superiority.

GULLAHORN MILL BLOWS UP.

Last Saturday the boiler of the saw mill of Mr. L. E. Gullahorn, two miles east of Verbena, exploded, wrecking the mill, killing two men and severely injuring four.

The killed were: Elder Speigner, col., fireman. His body was blown into fragments and scattered around.

Ben Glass, col., log turner. He was crushed but not torn up.

The injured were:

L. E. Gullahorn, proprietor of the mill. He was badly cut about the head and face and otherwise injured but not fatally.

Roy Turner, painfully hurt but will recover.

Curtis Gordon, col., and Levy Hombrick, col., both badly hurt.

The mill was completely wrecked. The boiler was scattered in fragments for a quarter of a mile in all directions. The cause of the explosion is thought to be low water in the boiler.

COOPER.

The Aggathuridan Debating Society met Saturday, the 22nd, for the purpose of having a "mock trial." The state against Abner Cox, for an assault with intent to murder T. M. Boswell. Hons. W. E. Robinson and P. O. Barrett appeared for the state; Hons. J. L. Yates and R. A. Smith for the defendant.

The young men put forth strong efforts and used their utmost skill in the case, and especially did the counsel for the defendant put up a strong fight for their client. The jury in the case brought in a verdict of not guilty as charged but guilty of a lesser crime. The counsel for the state contended that a fine should be imposed by the court upon this verdict of the jury, while that of the defendant contended that in this case no fine could be imposed unless he be tried for a new indictment and found guilty. It being so late and not having time to go deeper into the contentions the case was dismissed.

We had with us Prof. J. J. Pickens, of Clanton, who made us an interesting lecture. We were glad to have Prof. Pickens with us, and extend to him an invitation to visit us again.

Program will appear later for next meeting. COMMITTEE.

HAVE YOUR LETTER HEADS AND ENVELOPES PRINTED

Every farmer, especially those on the R. F. D's, should have his stationery printed with the number of his route and postoffice on it, and if possible with the name of his farm also. To encourage this we make the following One Dollar offer: We will furnish 150 envelopes and 250 sheets of note paper neatly printed as above for $1.00. We cannot mail them at that price as printed matter is unjustly deprived of the parcel post rate.

THINKS THE FARM IS BETTER THAN THE NAVY

U. S. S. Rhode Island,
Boston, Mass., March 15, '13

Editor Union-Banner:—It has been some time since I have written a letter to you and my friends of Clanton. Now as my time is my own I will spend part of in writing to let the people of Clanton know that the navy has'nt killed me yet. I think I can stand it for nine months anyway, then my time is up. I have pulled through thirty-nine months, I am sure I can stand it for nine more months, then no more navy for me, I am satisfied. You can talk about the navy, but I will take the dear old farm for mine. The navy is all right to those having a desire to live upon the water.

I have been in Boston a year now, lacking a few days. We sailed from Cuba in March, 1912, had battle practice beginninng April 1st, '12. We arrived in Boston April 13th. I was on the U. S. S. Virginia. I was transferred August 23, '12 to the U. S. N. Hospital at Chelsea, Mass., where I was put under an operation. After getting over that I was taken with pneumonia and was in bed a couple or three weeks.

I missed the Virginia so I remained in Chelsea until January 21st, '13, then I was sent to the U. S. S. North Carolina. I was on there for two weeks. I was in the general detail. All I had to do was to answer calls. All they had to do was to find me when there was any work to do. I answered one call during the time I was aboard of her I am sorry to say.

One morning on returning from liberty the Jimmyleg met me with a surprise. He said "Get your hammock aud bag ready for transferring." I said "What, again?" I asked him whereto? He said to the U. S. S. Rhode Island. I said allright. I knew what was coming for the Rhode Island is in for several months repair, that meant lots of work. So that afternoon twelve of us were transferred. I like the Rhode Island very well, but there is lots of work to do. We are in dry dock. It is very disagreeable, we have to scrub our clothes in cold water.

I think we will be ready to sail by the 1st. I hope so, anyway. We will go to Hampton Roads, Va. and meet the fleet. I think battle practice will begin about the 5th of April, then all the ships will depart for their home ports to give general liberty and furloughs will also be granted. Well, I think I have said onough for this time.

I remain, as ever, the same old kid,
J. C. WAGONER.

MISSIONARY CONVENTION IN COLUMBUS IN APRIL

A great missionary convention is to be held in Columbus, Ga., April 17-18 under the auspices of the Laymen's Missionary Movement.

Georgia, Alabama and neighboring states will be represented in the attendance and it is expected that there will be fully 1,000 delegates. Churches within 100 miles of Columbus will be especially well represented.

The Laymen's Missionary Movement is non-denominational and represents the best efforts and best thought of all the evangelical denominations on the subject of missions, both home and foreign.

The program for the Columbus convention has not been completed but the announcement that the following speakers will take part gives an idea of how strong and attractive the program will be:

Dr. C. F. Reid, General Secretary, Laymen's Missionary Movement of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Rev. R. W. Patton, Department Secretary of the Protestant Episcopal Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society.

E. C. Cronk, Secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement of the Lutheran Church in the South.

Bishop C. K. Nelson, Bishop of Atlanta.

Charles A. Rowland, General Secretary, Laymen's Missionary Movement of the Southern Presbyterian Church.

Prof. J. T. Henderson, General Secretary of the Baptist Laymen's Missionary Movement.

W. E. Doughty, Educational Secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement of the United States and Canada.

A TEXAS WONDER.

The Texas Wonder cures kidney and bladder troubles, dissolves gravel, cures diabetes, weak and lame backs, rheumatism, and all irregularities of the kidneys and bladder in both men and women. Editor Union - Banner — As there is a great deal being said in regards to a bond issue. The people in this community are opposed to same. They don't think that the public roads can be successfully built and maintained by that system. Now, this is a plenty said on the bond issue at present. Now, what about our special road tax money? It seems that the merchants in Clanton want the county to help liberally in building a good road from Clanton to the dam across the Coosa river. Now, is it justice to the people to apply the money all to one road? I think that there would be a great deal more benefit derived from the use of this money on all the public roads. If it should be applied exclusively to this road, who would reap the benefit? The merchants of Clanton only. Now are you willing to be taxed with a special tax for the merchants in Clanton to make money?

Have the people in the eastern and northern part of the county ever received one cent's worth of benefit out of that eight thousand dollars that was appropriated for the Maplesville road?

Some will say how can we get the benefit out of this that we should? I want to offer a plan for the consideration of our officials, that is, that we have our beat overseers, just as we had under the taxation system; let the county furnish teams, tools, etc., the road overseer furnish labor. By co-operation between the county and overseer I think their can be a great good accomplished by this method. You see, we are paying about ten thousand dollars tax; now why not let us get the good of it?

Then the overseers will have something to work with.

I ask that all local unions take this up at once, and let's come to some understanding of just what we want and then tell our commissioners just what we want, not wait until they do something, and then cuss them for not doing what we wanted done. Respectfully,

B. L. COBB,
Sec'y Center Hill Local Union, No. 1194, F. E. and C. U. of A.

SINGING AT POPLAR SPRINGS.

The singing at Poplar Springs Easter Sunday was a grand success. The opening exercises were conducted by Prof. L. T. Grant. Prayer by Prof. R. A. Smith. The singing was conducted by the following leaders and organists: R. A. Smith, Prof Culp Lee Grant, Jesse Jones, L. T. Grant, S. Yates, Lum Robinson, Miss Lillian Robinson, Ocie Devaughan.

We wish to thank the visiting brethren and singers. Will be glad to have them any time, as we need them. Secretary.

TEACHERS EXAMINATION.

The next State Teachers Examination for Chilton county will be held at the Courthouse in Clanton on the Third Monday in April, 1913, 21st, 22nd and 23rd days of April. All applicants should be present at 9 a. m. Monday, April 21st, 1913, as some preparations should be made before the regular work can be taken up which must begin at 10 a. m. J. W. MOORE, Co. Supt.

MINERAL SPRINGS.

We are having good health around here at present.

The literary school is making a success under themanagement of Prof. Harris.

The Sunday school is progressing nicely under the management of Mr. Eddie Little.

Well, as there is so much said in your paper on the public road work and the bond issue, I thought I would write some on the subject as I see it.

I don't think we need the bond issue to make good roads.

The bond issue will do our county a job when we getit, that is the way I see it.

I want good roads and am willing to help make them good by work with mules, plows and scrapes.

If we can get the machines or scrapes to do the work with I think there are enough good men in every community to make a good road where it is needed.

I think if there was less talk about the bond issue and more talk about getting more good tools to work the roads with, we would have better roads.

I have been in counties where they had the bond issue and their roads were no better than the roads we have here in Chilton county.

I think the law is o. k. here if it was carried out, but the hands that are on each road cannot make good roads with gooseneck hoes.

So I see nothing in the road talk that gives me any hope of getting anything to make our roads any better.

If we had the bond issue we would have to pay the other man for the tools and then pay him to do the work.

Why not get the tools for the people and let them make the roads good or pay for not doing so?

I have worked my time out on the roads, but will take my mules and work on as long as I am able to work, before the bond issue.

Boys, come out and make good roads and spat the bond issue right in the face and put it out of business, for I don't think we can do well with it, for our taxes are so high. We know that they are hard to pay. What would they be if we had to pay the interest on the money it would take to make the roads in Chilton county good?

I think that if you will stop, think and make an estimate of the land in Chilton county, take out the personal property and sell land to the highest bidder for cash, it will just about take the money to pay the bond issue and the interest on the money that it will take to make the roads all good in the county.

We know every man will want a good road and ought to have it, for we are all looked after when the taxpaying time come around.

So, we all want good roads, and let's have them by our work and not bond issue. Come ahead boys, and we will all get busy. T. G. Robinson.
Clanton, Rt. 8.

EASTER SUNDAY AT SOLDIERS HOME.

The Easter services at the Old Soldiers Home, Mountain Creek on Sunday afternoon was an entertainment attended by three hundred visitors from towns near here in addition to a large number of people in the vicinity. Clanton sent down a delegation of young people numbering about twenty, and Deatsville, Verbena and Cooper were well represented. Prof. Eagle and Mrs. Eagle, assisted by at least twenty pretty girls and a few young men rendered some excellent church music.

The veterans enjoyed the service very much. Major C. A. Gunn made all the necessary arrangements, which had much to do with the success of the service. W. P. T.

NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

A CONDENSED RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

SEVEN DAYS' NEWS AT A GLANCE

Important Happenings In All Parts of the World Summarized for the Busy Reader.

Southern.

Every Southern state and practically every Southern city will help Atlanta make the Metropolitan opera season in the South a big success this year. The return of Caruso, the coming of Toscanini, the presentation of the new opera "Cyrano," are all causes contributing to the intense artistic interest of the occasion, and season reservations are being made from many cities.

A committee of the Mobile, Ala., chamber of commerce and business league raised among the merchants of Mobile $1,800 for the sufferers of Lower Peachtree who survived the storm. In addition to this dry goods, groceries and drugs were supplies. One druggist sent $400 worth of medicine. The chamber of commerce wired $500 to Lower Peachtree. The town of Camden, in the same county as Lower Peachtree, has sent $300 for relief.

More than one hundred persons are reported killed and hundreds were injured, some mortally, by a storm of tornado intensity which raged over central western, southern and parts of the eastern states. Property damage will run well into the millions. Definite advices account for at least seventy persons dead, with reports from points temporarily cut off from wire communication by the storm adding to the list. Reports from Alabama show that the loss of life was heaviest in that sixty, being placed at sixty, with additional fatalities reported but not confirmed.

Dispatches received tell of the flooding of four towns in the vicinity of Greenville, Ala., a town of 5,000 population. Greenville itself, Bolling, Chapman and Garland, Ala., sustained losses estimated up to two hundred thousand dollars. The loss at Garland alone, it is said will range up to seventy-five thousand dollars.

Charged with defrauding banks in this country and Europe of approximately one million dollars through alleged manipulation of invoices, Antonio Musica, his three sons, George, Arthur and Philip Musica, New York hair dealers, were arrested in their apartments on the steamer Heredia at New Orleans. Two daughters of the elder Musica, Louise and Grace, were also detained. The party was taken into custody just before the departure of the Heredia for Colon, Panama.

General.

Capt. A. N .Bogardus, for 17 years the champion wing shot of the world, is dead at his home in Lincoln, Ill. He won the championship of America in 1871 and went to England in 1875. There he met all comers, successfully defending the championship until 1878, when he returned to America. Captain Bogardus held the distinction of being the only person in the world who ever killed 100 live birds with 100 consecutive shots.

A tornado forming near Greenwood, Neb., swept over the eastern part of the state, resulting in the death of at least twenty persons, while ten or more are missing, and over a hundred are injured. Mayor Dahlman of Omaha has asked the governor to call out the militia to prevent looting. Half of Omaha was swept by the tornado, according to information gained so far. All railroad and commercial telegraph lines into Omaha are out of commission. Berlin, a small town near Omaha, damaged by the storm, caught fire.

Creditors of Antonio Musica and his son, Philip, the hair importers, who are under arrest charge with obtaining over a million dollars from twenty-two banks through fraudulent invoices, learned that human haid valued at one hundred thousand dollars, had been found in a secret sub-cellar in Brooklyn, N. W. Deputy sheriffs made the discovery while conducting a search on a writ of attachment. They found 217 bags of fine quality hair stored in the cellar.

Eighty ships, mainly small craft, were sunk off Hamburg, Germany, in a southwesterly hurricane. Twelve deaths have been reported, and it is thought that the death list may yet reach fifty persons.

The British steamship Denbigshire, bound from London for Bahia Blanca, Argentine republic, went ashore off Cape Roca, in a gale, and is lying in a perilous position. A lifeboat of the ship arrived at Cascades with word of the accident and help was sent.

Tennessee's biennial bolt of legislators is due to take place. Enough members of the general assembly to break a quorum are expected to leave the state within the next 48 hours and tie up pending legislation.

Sam McVey and Sam Langford fought a twenty-round draw. In their previous meeting Langford won.

A TRIP TO WASHINGTON AND CITIES OF THE EAST

C. Reese Mullins Writes of His Trip.

Clanton, Ala., March 24, 1913.
The Union and Banner, Clanton, Ala.
Dear Editor:

If you will give me space in the columns of your paper I will endeavor to give you a sketch of my trip to Washington and the east, and to be as brief as possible. Hoping it may be of some interest to you and to our many friends.

Leaving Clanton on February 28th I went to Birmingham, there I purchased a round trip ticket for Washington City, via Chattanooga, Knoxville, Bristol and Lynchburg; leaving Birmingham in the afternoon for Chattanooga over the A. G. S. R. R., arriving in Chattanooga at 10:20 and spending the night there at Hotel Patton. Next morning I took in this thriving city with its population of about fifty thousand people, and noted for its three hundred manufacturing plants of all kinds. On the west side of this city is situated Lookout mountain, which is seventeen hundred and forty feet above the valley on which the city of Chattanooga is situated. To ascend this mountain I took a cable car, the ascension is sixty per cent and about one mile up; arriving at the top I took a sight seeing car, which carried me around to the most points of interest; first coming to Sunset rock on the west side, which stands out three hundred feet over the ground below. Next I came to a bluff of rocks known as Lovers' Leap, standing three hundred and fifty feet or more above the Wauhatchie Valley, where a famous battle was fought in 1864. From this point looking west over the valley I could see other parts of the Cumberland range of mountains, one in particular on which corners the three states of Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia. Going on from this point we came to the Old Mount Point hotel on the north side of the mountain, which has been abandoned for some years, and now occupied by some very poor people, who are selling souviners of the mountain and old war relics for a support. At this point the car line stops and from here my party had to take it a-foot, going on a little further around we found ourselves standing three hundred feet above the battle ground, where the famous battle was fought, known as the Battle above the Clouds; this battle ground is twelve hundred feet above the valley. From this point we looked down also on the Tennessee river fifteen hundred feet below, which is seventeen hundred feet wide, but it looked to us about two hundreed feet wide. From here we proceeded to walk on up by the way of winding steps the same trail around, up and over the cliffs that the union soldiers trod in 1863 in order to get the advantage of our Confederate soldiers. Getting up a little higher we came to a large projecting rocks known as Steven's Signal Station, on which he gave signals by torchlight at night to General Grant on Missionary Ridge; on this station now stands the two cannons placed there in 1863. Walking on up a little higher we came to the famous rock on which Jeff Davis stood while making his address to the Confederacy. I had the pleasure of sitting for a while on this rock. From this rock we went on to reach the summit of the mount, coming to the Monument of Peace, which stands one hundred and six feet high, and on the top two statues, one a union and the other a Confederate soldier shaking hands as a token of peace forever. This monument was built by the state of New York at a cost of one hundred thousand dollars. At this point it is two thousand, five hundred feet above sea level, and from here you can see seven different states, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky and Alabama. Next we came to Point Park built of mountain sandstone taken from the mountain at an expense to the United States of twenty thousand dollars. Next we came to the War Museum or Relic Room, where we found relics of all kinds and descriptions. A large book is found in this place for all visitors to register, in which my whole party left their names, addresses and date of our visit. Among other things too numerous to mention was to be seen the pictures of many noted army officers, and General Grant's old chair on which I had the pleasure of sitting, and Thomas' old table on which I had the pleasure of writing cards to many of my friends and loved ones at home. This mountain covers four hundred and twelve acres and there is about five hundred families living on and around the top. From here I went back to the city, taking a sight seeing car down through Chicamauga Park, which covers several hundred acres. In this park are many things of interest to be seen, but my time was limited, and I only drove through, down and across Chicamauga creek, on which the famous battle of Chicamauga was fought. On this creek I saw an old grist mill now in use, built before the war, and coming back through the park I saw a small pond known as Bloody Pond, which stood filled with blood after the battle of Chicamauga. Crossing back over Missionary Ridge to the city I came to the National Military cemetery, where lie the bodies of thirteen thousand union soldiers. Coming again to the city I joined my party at Hotel Patton, where we were entertained that night by a banquet, or supper, given us by Mr. A. L. Caldwell, vice president of the Volunteer State Life Insurance Co. of Chattanooga. On the next morning our party left Chattanooga over the Southern Railway for Washington, making first stop at Cleveland, and passing through Sweetwater Valley. Through this Valley are many large wheat fields to be seen, and the land looks to be extremely fertile notwithstanding a great deal of it is somewhat rolling. Next we came to Knoxville, stopping over twenty minutes for dinner. Leaving Knoxville at 2:10 p. m. we traveled on, passing many small, yet prosperous looking towns surrounded by nice farms. Arriving at Bristol at 6:45 a little after dark. This place is about sixteen hundred feet above sea level. Here the time changed on us to eastern time and we set up our watches one hour, and all went to bed, we were due to arrive in Lynchburn, Va., at 1:45 the next morning, which I suppose we did, but the next thing I knew for sure was when I woke up ot 6:45 crossing over the Potomac river int the District of Columbia, and rolling into the station at Washington City.

Here I found the most beautiful city my eyes have ever beheld, with a population of some three hundred and fifty thousand people. My party on arriving went immediately to Hotel Richmond, corner of Eight avenue and Seventh street, about twenty blocks from the White House, and all took a delicious breakfast. As soon as the party could all get located in the hotel, each one to his respective room, and straighten up a little, all were out and gone to take in the sights. I first walked down Seventeenth street to Pennsylvania avenue, finding it thronged with thousands of people. This avenue leads to the United States capitol. I went from here first coming to the White House and passing through this mansion I saw many things of interest too numerous to mention, among which I saw the chinaware used in this mansion by George Washington. From here I passed on down Pennsylvania avenue and on to the capitol. After going through the main building and viewing the many things of interest I passed into the right wing of the capitol, which is used by our representatives in Congress. I had the pleasure of seeing and hearing this body in full session, with Champ Clark presiding as chairman. From here I passed back through the Hall of Fame to the left wing of the capitol, which is occupied by our United States senators, and had the pleasure of seeing them in full session, with Senator Gallenger of New Hampshire presiding as president or chairman. This body had under consideration the appropriation bill for public buildings, and I heard several speeches on this subject by senators from all parts of the country, among whom was Senator Root from New York. This brought me up to 2:30 p. m., March 3rd. And I passed back up Pennsylvania avenue to see the parade of the suffragettes, which was to take place at 3 p. m., and it happened. Some five thousand women and girls riding on horseback, in automobiles, carriages, wagons, and on foot, marched through Pennsylvania avenue with flags of Stars and Stripes waving in all directions, following their big sign, headed by a string band on which was the following inscription: "We demand of the United States that the women be enfranchised to vote in this country." These commanding and demanding looking women were cheered and jeered by the clapping of hands and shouting of perhaps a half million people and by the band playing Dixie. The congestion of the people at this stage of the parade was something unexplainable, the police force being unable to keep any kind of order or to keep the avenue open. This lasted until about sunset and I happened to think of dinner, so I went to my hotel, eat supper a little after dark and went to bed.

The next morning was beautiful, perfectly fair and just cool enough to be pleasant, so I started out for the capitol to witness the inauguration of President Woodrow Wilson, which took place on a platform at the east front of the capitol. There I saw the oath administered by Chief Justice White, and Woodrow Wilson kiss the Holy Bible. I heard his inaugural address, and among many grand and noble things he said, I heard him say: "I want all the people of this, our great, nation, of which we are so proud and love so well, to council together for the common good of all." Next came the parade led by a large brass band, followed by President Taft and President Wilson in a carriage drawn by four large bay horses. Next came William Jennings Bryan and wife. These were followed by governors and soldiers from all over the country, and last followed by Buffalo Bill and the Indians. In all there were five thousand people in this parade, and it extended through Pennsylvania avenue a distance of three miles or more, through a crowd of perhaps a million or more people, cheering and shouting. This lasted from noon until dark, then came the fireworks. This display was made down on the grounds around Washington monument, at an expense of three thousand, five hundred dollars to the government. Balls of fire were shot three to four hundred feet in the air, brusting like cannons, and throwing out in all directions star-like looking sparks of red, white and blue. This lasted I don't know how long, but after gazing and listening to this beautiful display until about 10 o'clock I returned to my hotel. The next morning again was beautiful and pleasant, and all my party agreed to go with me down to Mount Vernon, George Washington's old home, and spend the day. We took a street car crossed over the Potomac river and riding down its western bank to Mount Vernon, a distance of twelve miles. On arriving we entered the premises through a large gate, after paying twenty-five cents admission fee; from this gate led a road and a large sidewalk up a slight incline to the top of the Mount on which the old home is situated, overlooking the Potomac on the east. These grounds are too elaborate to describe. Two thousand, seven hundred acres was inherited by George Washington and he later added to this two thousand three hundred more, making in all five thousand acres, but this has all been sold off now down to two hundred acres around the old home. Passing on up over the beautiful walks we entered the old home. First we came to the large reception room in which Washington gave receptions and big dinners to his friends. In the middle of this room sat the old dining table, and all around in this room we saw many things of interest too numerous to mention, among which I saw the old pen that signed the contract for the purchase of Mount Vernon. From this room we could see in the west parlor the old piano, chairs, candle, candlestick, rugs and other furniture just as it was left. We could also see into the east parlor from this room, and all its furnishings, but was not allowed to pass through. From here we passed on into the bed room of George Washington and in this room I saw many things of interest, his hunting horn, the sword used by him in the war, his old trunk and the bed on which he died in 1799. Next we passed on into his old kitchen about ten steps away the walk covered over by a shed. We found it just as when last used by him, the old dining table in the center, the pots hanging on racks in the old chimney, with an opening about six feet wide. In this chimney I saw the last fire of wood ever used by him about half burned out. The old dishes, china and crockery ware, the old churn and the candle moulds were all be seen in this kitchen, but no cooking stove. On the right hand side of the fireplace was built a brick oven in which to do the baking. This building looks to be about twenty by twenty-four, built of good, but common looking lumber, and has a rough brick floor. Passing on we next came to the old well, out of which we all took a drink of water. Next we passed his old servant and smoke house, and on down to his old stage house, in which stands his old carriage just as it was put away after last used by this great, beloved and honored man. Next we came to his tomb, and that of his wife, and thirty of his family and kindred. This is a brick and cement inclosure, and standing at the front, which is protected by large iron gates, you can see just inside to the right the large marble casket in which his body lies, and his wife the same on the left, the thirty relatives being in the rear. From here we passed on down the walk to the western bank of the Potomac to the steamboat dock. Walking back up the old trail used by George Washington, coming to his old flower houses filled with beautiful flowers and shrubbery and to the old spinning room just as left, the old spinning wheel, the old loom and many old relics were to be seen in this room. From here we took a car back to Washington, coming to Alexander City, Va., about half way between. Here I stopped off and my friend, J. M. Collins, to view the old church to which George Washington belonged and attended regular up until his death. This name of this church is Christ's church, and its erection was started in 1765 and finished in 1773. It is old style, but well arranged and just as it was when last attended by George Washington. We sat in the old pew occupied by him and his family, also in the pew of General Robert E. Lee. In this old church are many things of interest to be seen. The old Bible used in the dedication of the church, the picture of Bishop Meade, who received Robert E. Lee into that church. This church is situated on Washington street, Alexander City, Va., which is one mile square, and has a population of fourteen thousand people. Walking back down Washington street to take a car I came to the Confederate monument erected to the memory of the Confederate dead of Virginia, by surviving comrades in 1899, one hundred years after George Washington's death. My next stop was at Arlington station, the old home of Robert E. Lee, at Fort Myers, now owned and used by the government as a national military cemetery. Here I walked and viewed the graves of thousands of soldiers which were marked, finally coming to one monument on which I read, "Under this stone lies two thousand, one hundred and eleven unknown soldiers, picked up on the battle field after the battle of Bull Run," with other words of consolation to those having friends and relatives lost in this battle. This monument was erected in 1866. At this my emotion ran very high. I walked around to the front porch of Robert E. Lee's old home, sitting there for a while overlooking the Potomac into Washington City, viewing the Washington monument and the United States capitol. I passed on through the old home to Lee's old well, where it seemed to me I took the best drink of water ever in my life. I was very tired and thirsty. From here I took a car for the city, and on arriving went again to my hotel for the night on March 5th.

PROVE CYCLES OF FASHION

Argument That Has Long been Made Seems Substantiated by Excavations in Crete.

Announcement that the excavations in Crete for the University of Pennsylvania have brought to light fragments of an ancient civilization which show that women of that island wore corsets and hobble-skirts 5,000 years ago is interesting as a matter of archaeology; but it is nothing new. In fact, it has been developed long since that even in the classic times of Greece the graceful garment shown in statuary and painting was a conventionality of art rather than a fashion of the time. Woman, it seems, has ever delighted in styles that change with the seasons and with the years, but return again in cycles that appear to have had no beginning and to approach to no end. She and her clothing are the joint symbols of the truth that nothing is so immutable as mutability.

It is questionable, however, whether the women or the youth of the world ever subordinated their own tastes to the whims and absurdities of foreign fashion makers. Was it ever the vogue in Crete to wear the styles of Babylon or of Thebes? As some bold hearts are striving in this country to develop an American fashion opposed to that of Paris, that is the question American archaeologists should strive to solve. Concluding that Cretan ruins bear witness to the durability of the corset, may they not also give encouragement to the hope that it was not always worn as a straight front?

Woman Suffrage in Portugal.

The new electoral reform bill, with a provision for woman suffrage, which recently passed the Portuguese republican senate, now awaits the decision of the lower house. The new ministry of Dr. Alfonso Costa is much more favorable to the women's demand than its predecessor, and the early passage of the new bill, which establishes the suffrage rights of Portuguese women with a small educational qualification, is confidently expected by Portugal's two feminist societies. At present Portuguese women are supposed to possess a legal right to the vote chiefly resting on the absence of what might be construed to be a prohibition of that right; it was by appealing to this legal ambiguity that the late Dr. Angelo claimed and won the right to vote in her famous test case. The present measure, however, would be the first statutory recognition of woman suffrage by the Portuguese Republic.

When the Boy Is a Problem.

The high school period—including the years from fourteen to eighteen—is the most critical period in the life of the boy. President G. Stanley Hall of Clark college calls it the age of temporary insanity; others style it the fool period, the anti-domestic era, the hateful period, the era of the birth of the will. At this time, says a teacher, an active fermentation occurs that may produce either wine or vinegar. It is a time of restlessness, of egotism, of unbelief; in short, of vagabondage. This broad-shouldered, husky lad, with the strength and passions of a man and the judgment of a boy, scorns all advice from his elders, although never in his life did he stand in such need of it. The Germans have a way of expressing the period from fourteen to eighteen. They call it the Wander-Jabre. And truly for many of the three million of American boys at the age of adolescence, these years are literally wander years.—Suburban Life.

This Girl's Number Is 7.

Should it ever be necessary for the little daughter of David B. Glass of Marshallton to choose a lucky number there is no doubt that seven will be her choice. It already has played a prominent part in her life. The child was born on the seventh day of the week, the seventh day of the month and the seventh month of the year. She was seven months old on the seventh day of February and weighed seven pounds. She is the seventh grandchild.

Her mother's age is five times seven, her father's age is six times seven and her grandmother's age is eight times seven. An only living brother is in his seventh year. There are just seven letters in the child's name.—Wilmington correspondence Philadelphia Press.

Butcher Shop for Cats.

There is a butcher shop in New York city that is unique in one way at least. It has been there more than 30 years. From the very beginning its proprietor, in addition to his regular business, has made a specialty of furnishing appetizing meals for cats. Every morning there is set forth on a long counter about 100 trays of cats' meat.

It was announced that the people of Guntersville, Albertville and Boaz will probably be successful in their efforts to have the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis put on a Sunday train service between Gadsden and Guntersville. Testimony from a large number of people shows a majority want the service.

Police Scout Moser, after being shot and wounded slightly by an unidentified negro highwayman, fired a bullet through the negro's heart, killing him instantly. The pistol battle between the officer and the negro took place in Birmingham in a freight car, where the negro had barricaded himself, armed with a pistol and a repeating shotgun.

The city commissioners of Mobile, at a conference, decided that a bond issue of greater proportion than $50,000 is extremely inadvisable. The city commissioners and the school commissioners conferred upon the matter and the latter stated that they considered $100,000 the smallest possible amount for a bond issue, and $175,000 the lowest figure for a new high school. No action was taken on the question.

Hon. Fleetwood Rice, member of the legislature from Tuscaliosa county, in an interview says: "The governor owes it to the people of Alabama to call an extra session at the earliest possible moment, as the present conditions of the management of Alabama's finances and the administration of affairs, deserves a thorough investigation and the inauguration of some radical changes."

The two factions in the court of county commissioners of Madison county, those who want a new court house and those who desire to have the old building remodeled, are arranging a compromise and it is believed that there will be a unanimous agreement on the proposition to remodel and beautify the present building. In this event there will be no bond election and the work will be paid for by county warrants.

In an interview given out at his home in Birmingham Senator Johnston stated that it might be fall before many of the postmasters and other "pie counter" officials are chosen, and that it would be some time yet before any of the important appointments for Alabama were made, as the Alabama delegation has not yet taken any action and "the more important places will certainly not be filled until the delegation has a caucus."

For the rape and robbery of two victims, Charley Jones, a negro, must pay the penalty of 60 years in the penitentiary. Jones pleaded guilty to two charges of rape and one of robbery in the criminal division of the city court of Montgomery. He was sentenced to 25 years in one of the rape cases, ten years in the other and 25 years for robbery. Jones pleaded guilty of robbing his victims of their jewelry and valuables after accomplishing his fiendish purpose.

In his charge to the Perry county grand jury in session at Marion, Judge B. M. Miller urged the enforcement of all the criminal laws of Alabama. The oath, secrecy and honor of the grand jurymen served as a basis for the use of the ten commandments used by Moses and illustrated in our law of today formed a sermon on civic, political and moral life. The jury was urged to investigate the moral status of Marion and Uniontown, the Sunday violators, the gamblers, property rights as well as personal rights; the fee system evil as well as the dens of vice that are attracting so much attention elsewhere.

The little town of Garland, on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, north of Brewton, issued an appeal for assistance through Governor O'Neal, necessitated by flood conditions. The town was almost wiped off the map by recent floods, and a number of residences and eight or ten stores were swept away. The property loss will be in excess of $50,000.

THOUSANDS DIE IN DISASTROUS FLOODS VAST AREAS COVERED WITH WATER

CITY OF DAYTON, OHIO, SUBMERGED; WATER FROM 8 TO 20 FEET DEEP

Horror Heightened by Dozens of Fires—St. Elizabeth Hospital With Six Hundred Patients is Reported to Have Been Washed Away.

WATERS REACH CREST.

Dayton, O.—The crest has been reached. Water falling now half an inch an hour.

Dayton, O—Dayton, except for its most remote suburbs, was covered from eight to twenty feet with a seething flood of water.

Any attempt to estimate the loss of life is hopeless.

It is sure to run into the hundreds and very likely into the thousands.

The property loss will total millions of dollars.

The flooded district comprises a practical circle with a radius of a mile and a half and in no place is the water less than six feet deep.

In Main street, in the downtown section, the water is twenty feet deep.

The horror of the flooded district is heightened by more than a dozen fires which can be seen in the flooded district, but which are out of the reach of the fire fighters.

Most of the business houses and nearly all of the residences have occupants. Downtown the offices are filled with men, fathers unable to get home. The upper floors and on some of the roofs of the residences are helpless women and children. Hundreds of houses, substantial buildings, in the residence districts, many of them with helpless occupants, have been washed away.

The number of drowned cannot be estimated until the flood subsides.

St. Elizabeth's hospital, with 600 patients, was reported to have been washed away. The building was known to be in many feet of water and indications are that the report may prove true.

The electric light plants were put out of business and total darkness, coupled with a torrential downpour, added to the horror.

Famine also became an immediate possibility.

All the supply and grocery houses are in the submerged district. It was said there was not enough bread to last the survivors another day.

John H. Patterson, president of the National Cash Register company, who headed the relief work in the south end of the city, sent out an appeal for food supplies and for doctors and medicine. Three thousand homeless were housed in his company's offices.

A fire which started from an explosion in the Meyers Ice Cream company, near Wyoming street, spread.

Chicago.—Floods almost unprecedented in area following the tornadoes and rains of the last three days swept four states of the Mississippi valley, causing a loss of life that may reach into hundreds and damage to property amounting to many millions of dollars.

Ohio and Indiana and in a lesser degree, Illinois and Missouri felt the brunt of the disaster.

At Dayton more than 600 persons are reported drowned, following the breaking of the Miami river levee and the Laramie reservoir, 50 miles above the city. When the Associated Press correspondent wired, on reaching the city, anxiety caused by exaggerated reports of loss of life was set at rest, although there was great difficulty in obtaining details. Marooned in office buildings in the center of the town, hundreds of persons were vainly awaiting rescue. Streets heretofore considered miles from the danger line are running eight feet of water, the torrential force of which precludes rescue in boats.

Millions of dollars in property damage has already been incurred and the flood is still on the increase.

From Indianapolis came reports of 100,000 homeless throughout Indiana and a property loss reaching the enormous figure of $20,000,000 in cities, towns and villages alone. This does not include the losses to farmers. The loss of life, while not so great as in Ohio, has not yet been estimated.

Climax of Flood Reached At Dayton.

The climax of the flood in Ohio was reached at Dayton where it was reported that the water is from 20 to 40 feet deep in many streets; that bodies were floating past the windows of office buildings and that the catastrophe assumed the proportions of a tidal wave.

Reports concerning the appalling nature of the floods in Ohio and Indiana, which, in most instances, it was impossible to verify, were received from widely scattered sources. The most serious of these were:

An unconfirmed report from Springfield, O., that 5,000 lives had been lost at Dayton and 500 at Piqua.

A report apparently more fully authenticated from Indianapolis that from 200 to 500 had been drowned at Peru, Ind. This was later denied by a train dispatcher at Peru.

A message received at Phoneton, O., that the reservoir at Hamilton had broken and that 1,000 persons had been drowned. Continued efforts for their verification were futile. An unconfirmed but persistent rumor from Marion, Ind., that the grand reservoir at Celina, O., had gone out, caused an unprecedented flood in the Wabash valley.

Many Cities Report Disaster.

At Delaware scores are reported dead and many missing. B. V. Leas, mayor of that city, reported drowned, has been saved. He estimated the death list at from 25 to 75.

Otto, a hamlet of 100 persons, was said to be destroyed, and the fate of the inhabitants unknown. The death list in many cities and towns, including Fort Wayne, Lafayette, Richmond, Marion, Muncie, Kokomo, Connersville and Logansport totaled 15.

At Lafayette the loss extends to millions.

Richmond is in darkness and 20 bridges in Wayne county were destroyed.

At Rushville half a million dollars of damage was done in the business and residence districts.

At Kokomo the property loss was estimated at a million dollars and 500 persons are living in the second stories of their houses. Similar conditions were reported from Anderson, Marion, ton, Noblesville and Peru.

A young woman telephone operator at Dayton in direct communication with Governor Cox at Columbus said she was the last person remaining in the exchange building and that there was seven feet of water in the main street. As she was talking, she said, the Leonard building, across the street, collapsed. Many persons were believed to have been in the building at the time.

All Traffic Is Paralyzed.

Railroad traffic is paralyzed. Fires in three large factories raged for many hours and for a time threatened a considerable portion of the district. Because of the flood firemen were handicapped. Conditions at Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Kokomo and other places in Central Indiana were the worst in many years. From every part of the state there were reported disastrous inundation. At Lafayette two spans of a bridge went out. Two are reported dead. West Lafayette, where Purdue university is located, was cut off late in the afternoon when the levees were broken by the waters of the Wabash river. The river is two miles wide and rising rapidly.

At Indianapolis 1,500 families had been driven from their homes and four deaths were said to have resulted from drowning during the day. The pumping plant was forced to suspend operations and the city is without fire protection.

At Peru property damage of half a million was done by the flood, it was reported. Logansport also was under water.

Governor Ralston received a frantic appeal from Connersville, Ind., for aid for many sufferers from the flood. It was said White river had broken over its banks and great loss of life had ensued.

The entire business district of Rushville and part of the residence section is under water. One person is reported drowned. No trains entered or departed from that city.

Cincinnati experienced a cloudburst which started the Ohio river rising rapidly and flooded many of the streets.

A big dam a short distance north of Akron, O., burst and horsemen were sent throughout the valley to warn the populace of the impending danger. Hundreds fled to higher ground.

The big bridge over the Miami river at Middletown, O., went out. Fifteen persons were reported missing. Several houses were seen floating down the river.

Dayton Streets Rushing, Muddy Rivers

Cincinnati, O.—The deep, muddy Miami river is rushing through Dayton's downtown streets. Near the Algonquin hotel at Third and Ludlow streets the flood is many feet deep. The principal corner, Third and Main streets, is three feet under water and the court house is like an island in a sea of mud. The Mad and Stillwater rivers are swelling far beyond their banks.

Residents Flee from Findlay, Ohio.

Findlay, O.—Under a steady downpour of rain, which became torrential, the Blanchard river is rising at the rate of three inches an hour and the city is threatened with flood. The stream is eight feet above normal. Hundreds of families have been compelled to move and moving vans worked throughout the night to rescue the marooned residents.

Practically every industry in the city has been closed. Both rail and trolley traffic is paralyzed. The greater part of the adjacent country is under water and much damage is reported.

Mayor and 20 Citizens Drowned.

Columbus, O.—An appeal for help for flood sufferers was received by Mayor Karb, of Columbus, from Delaware, O. It was reported that besides Mayor B. V. Lea, twenty citizens of Delaware were drowned.

LOSS OF LIFE AT INDIANA CITY CONFIRMED BY TELEGRAM TO GOV. RALSTON.

Indianapolis, Ind.—The first report of loss of life in Peru was confirmed when Governor Ralston talked over the long distance telephone to Frank Butler, an attorney at Peru. Mr. Butler said 100 coffins at least were needed. Other bodies had been washed away. The survivors are greatly in need of food and clothing.

The governor's informant, named Butler, asked that 200 coffins and food and clothing be sent to Peru at once.

"This probably will be the last message you will get from Peru," said the man, "two hundred or more are drowned and the remainder of the residents are grouped on a hill waiting for daylight."

Governor Ralston immediately communicated with State Senator Fleming at Fort Wayne and asked him to forward the coffins and other supplies as requested. While the governor was talking the wire to Peru failed.

"From what my informant said there may be as many as 500 drowned in Peru," said Governor Ralston.

"I requested Senator Fleming to get the coffins and learned there were only 50 in Fort Wayne, but we hope to get sufficient in Richmond and Wabash. I understand the survivors at Peru are huddled within two blocks and in great distress. I have ordered a carload of food and the Fort Wayne citizens are sending another car of provisions."

200 KILLED, 300 INJURED IN STORM WHICH SWEPT THE MIDDLE WEST

Fire Following in Wake of Storm Adds to Horror—Pitiful Condition of the Sufferers in Devastated District Told by Rescuers.

Omaha, Neb. — Shivering from cold, but awe-inspired by the nature of their work, scores of men, women and children struggled in the snow to recover the dead or rescue the injured, who lay buried beneath the wreckage of homes and buildings crushed by the tornado which swept with death dealing force over Iowa and Nebraska, killing more than 150 persons in Omaha.

Latest reports give the number of injured at 320, while the death list has not increased over last night's report of 202.

More than three inches of snow covers the debris in the section of the city which was struck by wind.

Omaha, Neb.—More than 200 persons were killed and 600 were injured in a wind storm that demolished 450 homes, damaged hundreds of other buildings and caused a monetary loss of $5,000,000, according to reports available from the main path of the tornado in and near Omaha.

Most of the casualties were in Omaha. Nearby towns in Nebraska and across the Missouri river in Iowa suffered severely. Wires were snapped off in all directions and it took many hours to gather and circulate news of the disaster.

Fire broke out in the debris of many wrecked buildings in the Nebraska metropolis and these were menaces for some time as the fire companies were hindered by fallen walls and blockaded streets. A heavy rain followed the wind, however, and drenched the hundreds of homeless persons, but also put out the flames.

Of the 200 known dead within the area covered by the storm, 152 were residents of Omaha. The remaining dead are scattered over a considerable range of territory with Council Bluffs reporting 12, Yutan, Neb., 16; Berlin, Neb., 7; Glenwood, Ia,. 5; Neola Ia., 2 and Bartlett, Ia., 3. The same cities and towns report an aggregate of 400 injured and 450 homes demolished.

Perhaps 1,500 persons are homeless. Aside from this 3,000 buildings were more or less damaged, some of these being churches and school buildings. Eight of Omaha's public schools were wrecked.

The greatest loss of life occurred sectionally. Three points in the path of the storm offered the greatest sacrifices. These were at Forsythe and Farnam streets, where a crowd had sought refuge in a garage, at Twenty-fourth and Lake streets, where a moving picture theatre was demolished, and at Twenty-fourth and Willis avenue, where a pool room had attracted a crowd. In each of these places the fatalities were large.

This city never has suffered such a catastrophe. The citizens quickly rose to the situation, however, and measures of relief were organized promptly. Trinity cathedral, parish of the Omaha Episcopal church, was temporarily turned into a coffee house; Catholic priests visited homes that had been destroyed, in many cases admnistering the last rites of the church, and public bodies began the organization of relief committees. One hundred thousand dollars had been subscribed for relief work.

Insurance companies experienced heavy losses, most of their fire policies carrying a tornado clause.

The storm appeared to have started at Fifty-fourth and Center street, it traveling north, veering slightly to the east to Leavenworth street. Then it took a northeasterly course to Fortieth and Farnam streets, sweeping its way through everything. Still traveling a little east of north, it covered a course from Fortieth street east to Thirty-fourth street, a distance of six blocks.

Striking Bemis park, where the homes of the wel to do Omahans are located, the storm turned sharply to the east and passed to Twenty-fourth street, where its path was six blocks wide. In the latter section the damage is complete.

Cuts Path Seven Blocks Wide.

It was late before all the details of the storm with accompanying wreckage were known even within this city itself. The pathway of the storm, from three to seven blocks in width, cut a swath 24 blocks long. Within the space of this storm center, which if made rectangular, would cover a quarter section of land, 1,200 houses are wrecked, 100 bodies have been recovered and search of the ruins is being made for others. Several are known to be still in the ruins at the end of the storm' spath.

Estimates of the value of property demolished by the storm vary between $5,000,000 and $12,000,000. Some of the more substantial houses can be partially rebuilt. Where the buildings have not been torn asunder they have been so twisted that even the material is useless for rebuilding.

The destruction began with the millionaire homes in the West Farnam and Bemis park district, but farther northwest the buildings collapsed more easily, and a large number of deaths resulted.

The body of an unidentified child was found in the ruins of two houses with a little rag doll still tucked under her arm.

A. L. Green, an advertising manager of a department store, was on his back porch watching the storm when it broke.

"It came like a rushing and roaring torrent of water," he said. "It came from the south and passed right by us to the east. I went to my attic window immediately afterward and saw fires bursting forth from houses along the path of the storm. The flames made a ghastly sight as they illuminated the areas of razed buildings."

E. W. Dixon was bruised about the head and his wife and three children were seriously injured. Dixon started upstairs as he saw the tornado swoop down and crush the homes of his neighbors to the south. An instant later the wind struck his house and he was hurled downstairs into the dining room, flat on his face.

Dazed, he struggled to his feet and hurried his family to the cellar. A second later his home was swept away and the family in the basement had but the sky above them. Flames sprang up.

"It semed as if the whole city was afire," said Dixon. "Then I lifted my wife and children out and went down the street, joining scores of my unfortunate neighbors. We had lost our all, but are thankful for our lives."

"The strike is o'er, the battle done; the victory of life is won," sang Cassius Shimer, a tenor of 116 South Second street, at the Easter services in McCabe Methodist church Sunday morning.

Mr. Shimer was killed when the tornado destroyed his home. The church in which he had sung was badly wrecked.

The life of Oscar Carlson night cashier of the Calumet restaurant, was saved in a peculiar way. When the storm approached he attempted to look out of doors and in resisting a sudden gust, he clung tenaciously to the door. The next thing he knew he was out in the back yard with the door on top of him and when he arose and looked around he found there was not a house in sight so far as he could see in the darkness. Outside of a few bruises he was all right.

B. T. Bell, general superintendent of the Nebraska Telephone company, said:

"It is probable that many bodies were burned in the wreckage as many of the buildings immediately caught fire.

"I saw bodies in heaps, held by heavy timbers. Some were mutilated beyond recognition. One woman evidently had run from the house when the storm struck, carrying a baby in her arms. A timber srtuck her and was driven clear through her body, killing mother and child.

"I was just outside the path of the tornado and could see it plainly. It was of the usual funnel shape and seemed to dip down from a heavy black cloud that hung low over the city. The long swinging funnel swayed sideways and then backwards and forward, sometimes rising in the air several hundred feet and then descending again. Houses were picked up and hurled about as if they were toys."

Chicago.—A terrific wind storm, causing widespread destruction and loss of life and practically wrecking the already demoralized telegraph service, raged over the central west and middle states. Reports from Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa and Indiana indicate heavy damage, but owing to the wrecking of the telegraph lines the reports are fragmentary and lacking in detail.

THE ROAD WORKING MACHINE

There's no use of talking bond issue any more. If the County secures the road machine it now has on trial, the roads over the whole county can be gone over and put in such shape that the road overseer of each beat will be able with his called out hands to build up and keep in shape a first class road.

The road engine which is propelled by kerosene oil pulls two immense scrapes which shapes up a good "turtle-back" bed at one operation.

People who have had experience estimate that it will do more work in a day than ten mules with scrapes and do it much better while employing less labor. It is claimed that it will build up two miles of average road a day.

So far as we can understand the situation, it seems that this outfit will answer the demand for road machinery, so that there will be no necessity for the county to buy mules and scrapes; and that it will be an economical investment.

It is still on trial and at work showing what it can do. So far, the work has been considered good.

The party which can produce candidates of known honesty and business qualifications will have a good chance of carrying Alabama in the next elections.

They are doing a lot of "investigating" in Montgomery but do not seem to be reaching any definite conclusions. It is said that Oakley will claim that the money he used in certain transactions was only taking back what he had advanced the State. Lacy has not yet been produced. The governor got mad at what the Ledger said and demanded a retraction, which we have not seen as yet.

The editor is on the sick list this week which will account for any shortcomings.

This year seems to be trying to keep up the superstition of unlucky 13, as far as cyclones and storms can do it.

THAT SO-CALLED THOROUGH PROBE

Reports are being sent out from Montgomery with frequent repetition that the probe being conducted in connection with the scandal and embezzlement of public funds in the convict department will be very thorough.

Of course it would have been much better for the state and its tax-payers if a thorough examination of the department had been made before the rogues got away with more than a hundred thousand dollars of the state's money. But that is neither here nor there.

There is at least ground for suspicion, even on the basis of testimony submitted in connection with the probe now in progress, that Lacy was not the only thief in this offensive piece of business, but that he had accomplices directly or indirectly to put the job over. It is hoped thrt the facts may be brought out in connection with this suspicion; for it is rather hard to find a business man who believes that the big steal in the convict department was the sole work of an absconding clerk.

To lean towards a charitable construction of the whole ugly business, it is the worst mess which the people of the state have been called upon to consider. No wonder there is a strong public sentiment for an extra session of the legislature to investigate fully this as well as other scandals disclosed of late, place the blame for the misconduct and take serious steps to protect the state from the operations of scamps and scoundrels generally in future.

An extra session is needed in the public interests for the correction of the existing evils, and the people of the state generally would be better satisfied with an investigation of this character than with the so-called thorough probe being conducted to uncover villainy which has been carried on regularly for nearly two years.—Birmingham Ledger

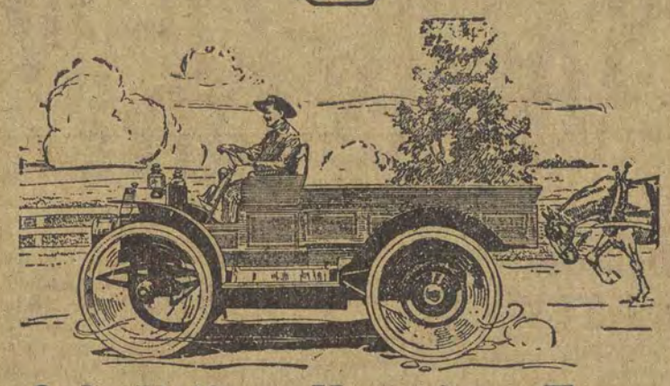
LITTLE VIEWER.



Only Half an Hour from Town

MODERN business men and farmers have ceased to measure distances by miles. Minutes serve instead. "We are just half an hour from town," says a farmer who lives seven miles out and owns an International car. "I went to town today, starting half an hour after my neighbor went by my gate with his team, and I passed him just where the main street paving begins. We visit every friend within thirty miles, hear lectures, see entertainments, have a better time in every way since I bought an

International Commercial Car

An Ohio business man says "When I am using my International Commercial Car the expense is about the same as with a team, but when it is not in use it is not eating, and, therefore, costs nothing. After a year's experience, I find the repair bills to be no more than the bills for shoeing, harness repairs, wagon repairs, painting, etc., and there is the added advantage of getting around three times as fast."

When you own an International Commercial Car you make the trips you used to neglect because you did not want to take the horses from their work. It can be used in all seasons when the road is passable to horses. The wheels are high enough to give ample road clearance. Solid tires give good traction and eliminate many tire troubles. The engine is simple and powerful. It will pay you in many ways to know all about the International Commercial Car. A letter brings full particulars with many interesting facts and figures.

HOW SOUTH PROFITS BY CORN CLUB WORK

Increased Production of Grain Keeping at Home Millions of Dollars That Formerly Went West.

Atlanta, Ga., (Special).—The Corn Club work in Georgia, Alabama and other southern states is already beginning to stop the enromous drain of money that has been going north and west every year for feed crops. The drain is still a ghastly burden on the cotton states. Georgia spent practically her entire cotton crop for corn, hay, oats and miscellaneous feeds in 1912, buying $124,496,000, of it from outside the state, but there is a bright gleam of hope, for during the past five years Georgia's own annual corn crop has increased by $30,000,000 annually.

The corn club work, with its attendant educational features, is proving the greatest constructive force now in operation toward putting southern farming on a sound economic basis. That it is doing this, not only for the territory as a whole, but for the individual farmer, is pointed out in an interview by H. G. Hastings, chairman of the agricultural committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

"By causing the corn club contestants to keep a complete record of all expenses for each acre of production," says Mr. Hastings, "sound business methods of farming are being taught in the most practical way. A few years ago the average farmer, even though he knew his land pretty well, often didn't know whether he was making money or not on a given tract of it; the corn contests are showing the farmer that farming is a business, that can be made to pay splendid dividends, like any other good business, provided it is operated on sound business methods."

QUEBEC A CITY OF THE PAST

Development of Canadian Dominion Goes Forward, but She Has Little Part In It.

Quebec herself rather endures being quaint than enjoys it, for in this day of Canadian development she has dreamed of the future after the fashion of those insistent towns further to the west. "It has not been pleasant for her," says Edward Hungerford in Harper's Weekly, "to drop from second place in Canadian commercial importance to fourth or fifth. She has had to sit back and see such cities as Winnipeg, for instance, increase from an Indian trading-place to a metropolitan center two or three times her size, while her own wharves rot. It is a matter of keen humiliation to the town every time a big ocean liner goes sailing up the river to Montreal—her river, if you are to give ear to the protests of her citizens whom you meet along the Terrace of a late afternoon—without halting at her wharves, perhaps without even a respectful salute to the town, which has been known these many years as the Gibraltar of North America."

Dig or Die!

No matter what industrial, commercial or social problem is to be solved, it always takes us back to agriculture. Human life begins with an immediate demand for food and clothing, and these in their primary state take us to the farmer. Every article of food, with the single exception of the fishes in the waters, is the product of the soil, as are the various substances from which our clothes are made. Thus human life is directly dependent on the products of the soil, and no considerable population could exist for a day without the daily necessaries of life derived from the cultivation of the land. As food and clothing must come from the farm, it is plain that the American people have got to go back to the land or starve. If they will not themselves plow and dig, they will have to employ foreign labor to do it.—New Orleans

a great improvement would be made in the condition of horses and other animals if just the proper remedy were used when they became ill or injured. If your horse could talk he would ask you not to use any external remedy containing alcohol because it stings and tortures his flesh terribly. Some liniments have alcohol and other fiery ingredients which only inflame the skin and tissue without striking down to where the pain lies. Beware of such liniments. The great humane, quick-action remedy is MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT. Made of oils, without a drop of alcohol or other torturing element, it soaks straight to the bone and muscle. Sunday afternoon at the cemetery a large concourse participated in the impressive ceremonies attendant upon the unveiling of a monument to C. W. Cox by Clanton Camp W. O. W. No. 322. The poem was read by Miss Annie Williams and an address made by Hon. L. H. Reynolds.

HOLLEY-CONNELL.

Married in Birmingham Sunday morning, Mr. C. E. Holley and Miss Pearlie Connell, daughter of Mrs. Harve Connell.

Desiring a romantic wedding the young couple left Clanton Saturday at 7 p. m. in an automobile, going to Verbena where they caught No. 8 for Birmingham. Hunting up the probate clerk, they secured a license and then rousing up the Rev. Mr. Fuller on the Southside, he joined them at 2:30 in the morning.

Mr. Holley's friends congratulate him on his charming bride.

The Easter services at the Methodist Church were especially attractive on account of the fine music. Mr. Chappelle's sermon was strong and helpful.

Several of Clanton's people made visits to other points Sunday. Some went to Mountain Creek, some to Birmingham and some to Montgomery.

A mad dog was discovered on the west side of Clanton Tuesday morning. He was chased and shot at several times and finally killed just outside of town.

County Commissioners Robinson, Shaw, Hayes and Herrod were here Monday inspecting the demonstration work of the new road machine which the county is giving a trial. They are very much pleased with the work so far.

PERSONAL.

Editor Union-Banner—Please allow me space to say a few words in regard to a report that was told about Elbert Bean. I want to say that it was false. Elbert Bean did not take one ear of corn from me and no one else has. I have lost no corn and I cannot see why anyone should want to tell such a falsehood. And I want you to publish this so the general public will know that the base report is untrue.

[Signed] Mrs. M. E. Maddox.

When they could not establish this report they jumped the creek and said that it was Mr. Ed Price's corn. But he says it is false also. Elbert Bean.

SHOULD STOP THE DRAIN.

Our farmers have for years been making the farmers of the West rich—and that, too, buying things from them that could have been produced at home. Cotton is a great money crop, but it has been an unprofitable one to the average Alabama farmer, who has spent more for corn, meat, mules, etc., to enable him to make his cotton than the cotton brought when put on the market. But we believe a brighter and better day is about to dawn for the farmers, because they are fast learning that the "all cotton" policy is suicidal,—and those who do not voluntarilearn the lesson will be taught by the boll weevil.—Greensboro Watchman.

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Keziah Coffin, supposed widow, is arranged to move from Trumet to Boston, following the death of her brother, for whom she had kept house. Kyan Pepper, widower, offers marriage, and is indignantly refused. Capt. Elkanah Daniels, leader of the Regular church offers Keziah a place as housekeeper for the new minister, and she decides to remain in Trumet. Keziah takes charge of Rev. John Ellery, the new minister, and gives him advice as to his conduct toward members of the parish. Ellery causes a sensation by attending a "Come-outer" meeting. Ellery's presence is bitterly resented by Eben Hammond, leader of the meeting. Grace apologizes for her guardian and Ellery escorts her home in the rain. Capt. Nat Hammond, Eben's son, becomes a hero by bringing the packet into port safely through fog and storm. Ellery finds Keziah writing a letter to some one, inclosing money in response to a demand. She is curiously startled when informed of the arrival of Nat. Nat calls on Keziah, and it develops that they have been lovers since youth. Daniels remonstrates with Ellery for attending "Come-outer" meeting. Ellery is caught by the tide and is rescued by Nat. They become friends. Ellery meets Grace while walking in the fields, and learns that she walks there every Sunday. The clergyman takes dinner Sundays with the Daniels. Annabel, the captain's daughter, exerts herself to make an impression on him. She notices with vexation his desire to get away every Sunday at a certain time. She watches him through a spy glass. Nat again importunes Keziah to marry him. He says he has had a quarrel with his father, who wants him to marry Grace. Ellery asks Grace to marry him. She confesses that she loves him, but says she fears to displease her guardian. Elkanah Daniels tells Eben about the meetings between Ellery and Grace. Eben declares he will make Grace choose between him and the preacher. Grace finds him in a faint, following the excitement of Elkanah's visit. Just before he dies Eben exacts a promise from Nat and Grace that they will marry. Keziah breaks the news to Ellery and later he receives a note from Grace saying she is to marry Nat, and asking him not to try to see her again. Keziah tells the story of her own marriage with a man who turned out to be a good-for-nothing, and who was reported to have been lost at sea, and of her love for Nat, whom she cannot marry because the husband is alive. Captain Nat sails for Manila to be gone two years. He says he and Grace have decided not to marry until he returns.

CHAPTER XIV.—(Continued.)

"From him," she said. "He wanted money, of course; he always does. But that wa'n't the worst. The letter was from England, and in it he wrote that he was gettin' sick of knockin' around and guessed he'd be for comin' to the States pretty soon and huntin' me up. Said what was the use of havin' an able-bodied wife if she couldn't give her husband a home."

"The scoundrel!"

"Yes, I know what he is, maybe full as well as you do. That's why I spoke of leavin' you. If that man comes to Trumet, I'll go, sure as death."

She hurried out of the room. Later, as the minister passed through the dining room on his way to the door, she spoke to him again.

"John," she said, "I didn't say what I meant to when I broke in on you just now. I meant to tell you about Grace. I knew you'd like to know and wouldn't ask. She's goin' away, Gracie is."

"Going away?"

"Yup. She's goin' to stay with a relation of the Hammonds over in Connecticut for a spell. I coaxed her into it. Stayin' here at home with all this suspense and with Hannah Poundberry's tongue droppin' lamentations like kernels out of a corn sheller, is enough to kill a healthy batch of kittens with nine lives apiece."

Ellery took his hat from the peg and opened the door. His foot was on the step when Keziah spoke again.

"She—it don't mean nothin', John, except that she ain't so hard-hearted as maybe you might think—she's asked me about you 'most every time I've been there. She told me to take good care of you."

Ellery was thinking deeply as he walked up the main road on his way to Mrs. Prince's. Keziah's words were repeating themselves over and over in his brain. She had not forgotten him altogether. Mrs. Prince was very glad to see him. He found her in the big armchair with the quilted back and the projecting "wings" at each side of her head. She was wrapped in a "Rising Sun" quilt which was a patchwork glory of red and crimson. A young girl, a neighbor, who was apparently acting in the dual capacity of nurse and housekeeper, admitted him to the old lady's presence. Mrs. Prince's good spirits were of short duration. Her conversation soon shifted to the loss of her son and she wept, using the corner of the quilt to wipe away her tears. "Eddie" had been her idol and, as she said, it was hard to believe what folks kept tellin' her, that it was God's will, and therefore all for the best.

"And there's Nat Hammond," continued Mrs. Prince. "A fine man—no better anywhere, even though his father was a Come-Outer—just goin' to be married and all, now they say he's drowned—why? Why was that necessary?"

Ellery could not reply. The old lady did not wait for him to do so. The mention of Captain Nat's name reminded her of other things.

"Poor Gracie!" she said. "It's turrible hard on her. I went down to see her two or three times afore I was took down with this backache. She's a awful nice girl. Land sakes alive! talk about angels! I snum if she ain't comin' up the road this blessed minute."

John Ellery had risen. Now he seized his hat and moved hastily toward the door. Mrs. Prince called to him to remain, but he would not. However, her good-bys delayed him for a minute, and before he reached the yard gate Grace was opening it. They were face to face for the first time since they had parted in the grove, so many months before.

She was thinner and paler, he saw that. And dressed very quietly in black. She looked at him, as he stood before her in the path, and her cheeks flushed and her eyes fell.

"Er—Miss Van Horne," he stammered, "I merely wanted to tell you how deeply I—we all feel for you in your trouble. I—I—I am so sorry. I have heard so much of the captain from—"

"From Aunt Keziah? Yes, she was Nat's warmest friend."

"I know. Er—Mrs. Coffin tells me you are going away. I hope you may hear good news and soon. I shall think of you—of him— I want you to understand that I shall."

She held out her hand and he took it. He knew that his was trembling, but so, too, was hers. The hands fell apart. Grace entered the house and John Ellery went out at the gate.

CHAPTER XV.

In Which the Minister Boards the San Jose.

"Hey, Mr. Ellery!"

It was Captain Zeb Mayo who was calling. The captain sat in his antique chaise, drawn by the antique white horse, and was hailing the parsonage through a speaking trumpet formed by holding both his big hands before his mouth.

The minister and Mrs. Coffin, the former with a napkin in his hand, had emerged from the side door of the parsonage and now came hurrying down to the gate.

"Land of Goshen!" exclaimed the captain, "you don't mean to tell me you ain't done breakfast yet, and it after seven o'clock. Why, Mr. Ellery, I tell you: Em'lous Sparrow, the fish peddler, stepped up to our house a few minutes ago. He's just come down from the shanties over on the shore by the light—where the wreck was, you know—and he says there's a 'morphrodite brig anchored three or four mile off and she's flyin' colors ha'f mast and union down. They're gettin' a boat's crew together to go off to her and see what's the row. I'm goin' to drive over and I thought maybe you'd like to go along."

A moment later the minister, having donned his hat and coat, ran down the walk and climbed into the chaise beside Captain Zeb. The white horse, stimulated into creaky trot by repeated slappings of the reins and roars to "Get under way!" and "Cast off!" moved along the sandy lane.

They found a group on the beach. A few fishermen, one or two lobstermen and wreckers, and the lightkeeper were gathered on the knoll by the lighthouse. They had a spyglass, and a good-sized dory was ready for launching.

"Where is she, Noah?" asked Captain Zeb of the lightkeeper.

"She's a brigantine, Zeb," observed

"She Ain't So Hard-Hearted as Maybe You Might Think."

the keeper, handing up the spyglass. "And flyin' the British colors. Look's if she might be one of them salt boats from Turk's Islands. But what she's doin' out there, anchored, with canvas lowered and showin' distress signals in fair weather like this, is more'n any of us can make out. She wa'n't there last evenin', though, and she is there now."

"She ain't the only funny thing along shore this mornin', nuther," announced Theophilus Black, one of the fishermen. "Charlie Burgess just come down along and he says there's a ship's longboat hauled up on the beach, 'bout a mile 'n a half t'other side the mouth of the herrin' crick yonder. Oars in her and all. And she ain't no boat that b'longs round here."

Captain Zeb, who had been inspecting the anchored vessel through the spyglass, lowered the latter and seemed puzzled. "Blessed if she don't look abandoned to me. Can't see a sign of life aboard her."

"We couldn't neither," said Thoph. "We was just cal'latin' to go off to her when Charlie come and told us about the longboat. I guess likely we can go now; it's pretty nigh smooth as a pond. You'll take an oar, won't you, Noah?"

"I can't leave the light very well. My wife went over to the village last night. You and Charlie and Bill go. Want to go, too, Zeb?"

"No, I'll stay here, I guess. The old lady made me promise to keep my feet dry afore I left the house."

"You want to go, Mr. Ellery? Lots of room."

The minister was tempted. The sea always had a fascination for him and the mystery of the strange ship was appealing.

"Sure I won't be in the way?"

"No, no! 'course you won't," said Burgess. "Come right along. You set in the bow, if you don't mind gettin' sprinkled once in a while. I'll steer and Thoph and Bill'll row. That'll be enough for one dory. If we need more, we'll signal. Heave ahead."

The rowers "hit her up" and the dory moved faster. Then Burgess, putting his hand to his mouth, hailed.

"Ship ahoy!" he roared. "Ahoy!"

No reply.

The dory slackened speed, turned in obedience to the steering oar, and slid under the forequarter of the anchored vessel. Ellery, looking up, saw her name in battered gilt letters above his head—the San Jose.

"Stand by, Thoph!" shouted Charlie. "S'pose you can jump and grab her forechains? Hold her steady, Bill. Now, Thoph! That's the time!"

Thoph had jumped, seized the chains, and was scrambling aboard. A moment later he appeared at the rail amidships, a rope in his hand. The dory was brought alongside and made fast; then one after the other the men in the boat climbed to the brig's deck.

"Ahoy!" yelled Burgess. "All hands on deck! tumble up, you lubbers! Humph! She is abandoned, sure and sartin."

"Yup," asserted Bill. "Her boats are gone. See? Guess that explains the longboat on the beach, Charlie."

"Phew!" sniffed Burgess. "She ain't no cologne bottle, is she? Well, come on below and let's see what'll we see."

The cabin was a "mess," as Bill expressed it. The floor was covered with scattered heaps of riff-raff, oilskins, coats, empty bottles, and papers. On the table a box stood, its hinged lid thrown back.

"Medicine chest," said Burgess, examining it. "And rum bottles aplenty. Somebody's been sick, I shouldn't wonder."

The minister opened the door of one of the little staterooms. The light which shone through the dirty and tightly closed "bull's-eye" window showed a tumbled bunk, the blankets soiled and streaked. The smell was stifling.

"Say, fellers," whispered Thoph, "I don't like this much myself. I'm for gettin' on deck where the air's better. Somethin's happened aboard this craft, somethin' serious."

Charlie and Bill nodded an emphatic affirmative.

"Hadn't we better look about a little more?" asked Ellery. "There's another stateroom there."

He opened the door of it as he spoke. It was, if possible, in a worse condition than the first. And the odor was even more overpowering.

"Skipper's room," observed Burgess, peeping in. "And that bunk ain't been slept in for weeks. See the mildew on them clothes. Phew! I'm fair sick to my stomach. Come out of this."

On deck, in the sunlight, they held another consultation.

"Queerest business ever I see," observed Charlie. I never—"

"I see somethin' like it once," interrupted Bill. "Down in the Gulf 'twas. I was on the old Fishhawk. Eben Salters' dad from over to Bayport skipped her. We picked up a West Injy schooner, derelict, abandoned same as this one, but not anchored, of course. Yeller jack was the trouble aboard her and— Where you bound, Thoph?"

"Goin' to take a squint at the fo'castle," replied Theophilus, moving forward. The minister followed him.

The fo'castle hatchway was black and grim. Ellery knelt and peered down. Here there was practically no light at all and the air was fouler than that in the cabin.

"See anything, Mr. Ellery?" asked Thoph, looking over his shoulder.

"No, I don't see anything. But I thought—"

He seemed to be listening.

"What did you think?"

"Nothing. I—"

"Hold on! you ain't goin' down there, be you? I wouldn't. No tellin' what you might find. Well, all right. I ain't curious. I'll stay up here and you can report."

Ellery descended the almost perpendicular ladder gingerly, holding on with both hands. At the foot he stopped and tried to accustom his eyes to the darkness.

A room perhaps ten feet long, so much he could make out. The floor strewn, like that of the cabin, with heaps of clothing and odds and ends. More shapes of clothes hanging up and swaying with the roll of the brig. A little window high up at the end, black with dirt. And cavites, bunks in rows, along the walls. A horrible hole.

He took a step toward the center of the room, bending his head to avoid hitting the fo'castle lantern. Then in one of the bunks something stirred, something alive. He started violently, controlled himself with an effort, and stumbled toward the sound.

"What is it?" he whispered. "Who is it? Is anyone there?"

A groan answered him. Then a voice, weak and quavering, said:

"Gimme a drink! Gimme a drink! Can't none of you God-forsaken devils give me a drink?"

He stooped over the bunk. A man was lying in it, crumpled into a dreadful heap. He stooped lower, looked, and saw the man's face.

There was a shout from the deck, or, rather, a yell. Then more yells and the sound of running feet.

"Mr. Ellery!" screamed Burgess, at the hatchway. "Mr. Ellery, for the Almighty's sake, come up here! Come out of that this minute. Quick!"

The minister knew what was coming, was sure of it as he stepped to the foot of the ladder, had known it the instant he saw that face.

"Mr. Ellery!" shrieked Burgess. "Mr. Ellery, are you there?"

"Come up!" called Burgess. "Hurry! It's the smallpox. The darned hooker's rotten with it. For God sakes, come quick!"

He ran to the rail, yelling orders to Bill and Thoph, who were frantically busy with the dory. Ellery began to climb the ladder. His head emerged into the clean, sweet air blowing across the deck. He drew a breath to the very bottom of his lungs.

Then from behind and below him came the voice again.

"Gimme a drink!" it wailed. "Gimme a drink of water. Ain't one of you cussed swabs got decency enough to fetch me a drink? I'm dyin' for a drink, I tell you. I'm dyin'!"

The minister stood still, his feet on the ladder. The three men by the rail were working like mad, their faces livid under the sunburn and their hands trembling. They pushed each other about and swore.

Thoph and Bill sprang over the rail into the boat. Burgess turned and beckoned to Ellery.

"Come on!" he called. "What are you waitin' for?"

The minister remained where he was.

"Are you sure—" he faltered.

"Sure! Blast it all! I found the log. It ain't been kept for a fortni't, but there's enough. It's smallpox, I tell you. Two men died of it three weeks ago. The skipper died right afterwards. The mate— No wonder them that was left run away as soon as they sighted land. Come on! Do you want to die, too?"

From the poison pit at the foot of the ladder the man in the bunk called once more.

"Water!" he screeched. "Water! Are you goin' to leave me, you d—n cowards?"

"For Heaven sakes!" cried Burgess, clutching the rail, "what's that?"

Ellery answered him. "It's one of them," he said, and his voice sounded odd in his own ears. "It's one of the crew."

The minister turned. "Hush!" he called, in answer to the voice, "hush! I'll bring you water in a minute. Burgess," he added, "you and the rest go ashore. I shall stay."

"You'll stay? You'll stay? With that? You're crazy as a loon. Don't be a fool, man! Come on! We'll send the doctor and somebody else—some one that's had it, maybe, or ain't afraid. I am and I'm goin'. Don't be a fool."

Thoph, from the dory, shouted to know what was the matter. Ellery climbed the ladder to the deck and walked over to the rail. As he approached, Burgess fell back a few feet.

"Thoph," said the minister, addressing the pair in the dory, "there is a sick man down in the forecastle. He has been alone there for hours, I suppose, certainly since his shipmates ran away. If he is left longer without help, he will surely die. Some one must stay with him. You and the rest row ashore and get the doctor and whoever else you can. I'll stay here till they come."

Thoph and his companions set up a storm of protest. It was foolish, it was crazy, the man would die anyhow, and so on. They begged the minister to come with them. But he was firm.

The oars dipped, bent, and the dory moved off. The sound of the creaking thole pins shot a chill through Ellery's veins. The water butts stood amidships, not far from the open door of the galley. Entering the latter he found an empty saucepan. This he filled from the cask, and then, with it in his hand, turned toward the black hatchway. Here was the greatest test of his courage. To descend that ladder, approach that bunk, and touch the terrible creature in it, these were the tasks he had set himself to do, but could he?

Healthy Baby is Precious Blessing

To Make It Healthy and Keep it Healthy Use a Reliable Baby Laxative

In spite of the greatest personal care and the most intelligent attention to diet, babies and children will become constipated, and it is a fact that constipation and indigestion have wrecked many a young life. To start with a good digestive apparatus is to start life without handicap.

But as we cannot all have perfect working bowels we must do the next best thing and acquire them, or train them to become healthy. This can be done by the use of a laxative-tonic very highly recommended by a great many mothers. The remedy is called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and has been on the market for two generations. It can be bought conveniently at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, and those who are already convinced of its merits buy the dollar size.

Its mildness makes it the ideal medicine for children, and it is also very pleasant to the taste. It is sure in its effect and genuinely harmless. Very little of it is required and its frequent use does not cause it to lose its effect, as is the case with so many other remedies.

Thousands can testify to its merits in constipation, indigestion, biliousness, sick headaches, etc., among them reliable people like Mrs. M. Johnson, 752 Dayton St., Kenosha, Wis. She is the mother of little Dorothy Johnson who was always in delicate health until her mother gave her Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mrs. Johnson says:

Dorothy Johnson.

"I never saw such rapid improvement in the health of anyone. Syrup Pepsin is a wonderful remedy and I shall never be without it again." Thousands keep Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the house, for every member of the family can use it from infancy to old age. The users of Syrup Pepsin have learned to avoid cathartics, salts, mineral waters, pills and other harsh remedies for they do but temporary good and are a shock to any delicate system.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin, and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 203 Washington Street, Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

SPOHN'S DISTEMPER CURE

WORMS.

"Wormy", that's what's the matter of 'em. Stomach and intestinal worms. Nearly as bad as distemper. Cost you too much to feed 'em. Look bad—are bad. Don't physic 'em to death. Spohn's Cure will remove the worms, improve the appetite, and tone 'em up all round, and don't "physic." Acts on glands and blood. Full directions with each bottle, and sold by all druggists.

KNEW WHEN TO PLEAD GULITY

Jury Selected to Try Buck Horn Were Somewhat Too Familiar With His History.

"Are you guilty or not guilty?" asked the old justice in Macon, Mo., of Buck Horn, who was before the court for stealing a chicken.

"Might's well say Ah's guilty," sullenly replied the accused. "A nigger doan git no show in dis country, no how."

"Don't, eh?" exclaimed the justice. Then he turned to the constable: "Bill, you skirmish around town and pick me up twelve of the blackest niggers you can find for jury duty. Step lively, now!"

In half an hour the little justice mill was full of black men, tall, short, young and old, all grinning knowingly at the defendant. Everyone of them knew Buck from the floor up, and Buck knew they knew. He sniffed disdainfully at the jury of his peers, and then remarked to the court, in an aggrieved tone:

"If yo's gwine ter make all dis fuss ober a two-bit pullet I pleads guilty."

Warranted in Using Cuss Words.

A small boy in Fort Scott was out playing with his wagon one day and just at the critical moment one wheel came off. The youngster walked around the wagon several times and surveyed it with the air of one accustomed to disappointments. As he dragged the wagon to his home he met a boy friend who joined him, and together they trudged on, the Fort Scott Tribune says. The owner of the wagon sat on the front step with a forlorn look; then quickly brightening up he exclaimed: "Let's cuss." "All cuss."—Kansas City Star.

THE KNOW HOW To Feed Children and Get Good Results.

There are more nervous persons made so by undigested food lying in the stomach than the average individual would suppose.

If food remains undigested in the stomach, it begins to ferment, set up gas and a large portion is thus converted into poison.

That's why imperfectly digested food may, and often does, cause irritation of the nerves and stupor of the mind—brain and nerves are really poisoned.

"My daughter had complained for some time of a distressed feeling in the stomach, after eating, which set me thinking that her diet was not right," writes an anxious and intelligent mother.

"She had been fond of cereals, but had never tried Grape-Nuts. From reading the account of this predigested food, it seemed reasonable to try Grape-Nuts for her case.

"The results were really wonderful. The little brain that seemed at times unable to do its work, took on new life and vigor. Every morning, now, before going to school, she eats the crisp little morsels and is now completely and entirely well, she seems to have a new lease on life—no more distress in the stomach, nor headache, but sound and well everyway." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

"There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

"Yes. You see, he says that when he goes to bed sober he has to bother to dress and put his shoes on again the next morning, whereas if he doesn't go to bed sober, all he has to do next morning is to wash his face."

"Improved" Bull Fight.

A bull fight in Tokio is quite as much excuse for a gala day as a bull fight in Madrid. Business men leave their offices, and women and children their homes, to hurry to the arena. Stripped of all the less exciting, or less horrible, preliminaries which characterize the Spanish bull fight, the animals are brought in and sent at each other at once. So the battle is shorter, and two or three more fights will follow in quick succession during the course of an afternoon's "entertainment."

LADY'S COMBINATION.

This design gives a good combination garment consisting of open drawers and petticoat. It is easy to make and particularly attractive looking. The design is an excellent one for the use of hand-embroidery. The drawers are trimmed with wide edging and ribbon-run beading.

The pattern (6158) is cut in sizes 34 to 42 inches bust measure. Medium size will require 2½ yards of 36 inch material and 2 yards of edging.

To procure this pattern send 10 cents to "Pattern Department," of this paper. Write name and address plainly, and be sure to give size and number of pattern.

GIRL'S DRESS.

This model gives something new in little girls' frocks. The dress has a one piece yoke, novelly cut, which adds much to the attractiveness of the garment. Below the yoke the dress is plaited, the sleeves being similarly treated. The collarless neck is cut round and the long sleeves have band cuffs.

The pattern (6159) is cut in sizes 6, 8 and 10 years. Medium size will require 2⅝ yards of 36 inch goods, or 3¼ yards of material 44 inches wide.

To procure this pattern send 10 cents to "Pattern Department," of this paper. Write name and address plainly, and be sure to give size and number of pattern.

The Proper Way.

"I wish you wouldn't growl so much," declared the wife, an ex-actress.

"Why shouldn't I growl when the meals are cold?" retorted the husband.

"You took me from the stage to be your wife."

"I did."

"Then if you disapprove of the way I play the part kindly express your disapproval by means of hisses."

Changed Vocation.

The engagement of a certain young what you might call, lawyer, was announced in the papers not long ago. An acquaintance read this announcement and said to another acquaintance:

"I see young Bilker is going to marry the daughter of old Munny bags."

"Yes, so I notice."

"Will he give up the law business?"

"Sure—and enter the son-in-law business."

Ancient Historical Objects.

The use of candlesticks and candelabra dates from earliest times. The seven-branched candlesticks fashioned for Solomon's temple live in the imagination, and all through the ages we find allusions to their use in religious and other ceremonies.

TERRIBLE AGONIES WORSE MISERY

Advices From Durant's Neck Tell of Mrs. Bazemore's Trying Ordeal, and Her Condition at Present.

Durant's Neck, N. C.—Mrs. Emma Bazemore, of this place, says: "Words fail to express my appreciation and gratitude for the benefit I received from Cardui, the woman's tonic. I suffered agonies from womanly troubles. I tried different doctors, but they didn't help. The last one I went to said I needed an operation, so I agreed to it, and bore those terrible pains. I felt better, but only for a short time, and soon the misery was worse than ever before. I began to use Cardui, and it made me feel entirely different. Now I am the picture of health, weighing 170 pounds. Before I started the treatment, I could not do my housework. Now I can do my work, and I feel so much better."

Cardui, the woman's tonic, acting in its gentle, healing way, upon the womanly organs, helps to restore your natural vigor, and to build up the womanly constitution.

If you are tired, worn-out, weak, nervous, or suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, do what over a million other women have done—try Cardui. It cannot do you harm, and is almost sure to help you, just as it has them. Begin taking Cardui today.

SKIN TROUBLE ON LEG

616 W. Grace St., Richmond, Va.—"I had a running sore on my leg for from three to five years. It burst and blood came from it, then it got red around, and was as large as a dollar. It turned white in the middle of the sore, and then began to itch and bleed. After washing it would bleed for hours at a time. Some nights I did not sleep through the whole night. I spent eighty dollars on the sore and it didn't get well. I got worse and fell off to eighty-nine pounds. This went on for four years. I was told it could not get well. One of my friends said I ought to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, so I did. After I had used them one month the sore was gone and the itching stopped, and I have never had any trouble since. That was five years ago.

"I had a fever and all my hair came out. I shampooed with a lather of Cuticura Soap and then rubbed the Cuticura Ointment over the scalp and my hair came back and now it is long and glossy." (Signed) Mrs. John Thomas, Mar. 12, 1912.

Kansas City Paper Tells Story of Encounter With Automobilist That Is Hard to Believe.

Thus cynically does the Kansas City Independent speak of the motorist who cares for something else than speed—for he does really exist, appearances to the contrary notwithstanding:

We came upon the motor car standing on the brow of the hill.

"Hello!" we said to the chauffeur. "Broken down?"

"No, sir," he responded.

"Out of gasoline?"

"No, sir. We have plenty."

"Tire punctured?"

"No, sir. The tires are in perfect condition."

"Lost your way?"

"No, sir. The country hereabouts is very familiar."

"Dropped something from the auto?"

"No, sir. Nothing of the sort."

"Then why are you standing here? Why are you not shooting down the hill and across the level at a terrific speed?"

"I do not care to do that," said the owner of the machine, who had been silent until this moment. "Whenever I come this way I have my car stopped here so that I may enjoy the magnificent view from this elevation."

With a frightened glance at him, we turned and hastened to the nearest town, to warn the officials that a person evidently insane was at large in an automobile.

URGING GREAT SALE OF CANNED FOODS

Dealers, grocers, jobbers and manufacturers all over the country are joining hands during the week of March 31st to April 5th in an effort to acquaint housewives with the economy and quality of canned foods.

It is now a well known fact that heat is the only preservative used in preparing these economical foods. The cans are sealed and sterilized at a temperature of 250 degrees, which prevents any contamination and keeps the contents fresh and wholesome as the day the tins were filled in the canneries.

National Canned Foods Week, during which dealers and grocers will make canned foods their sales-features, is for the purpose of demonstrating to housewives that the cost of living can be cut with such foods, and that they may be served in hundreds of delightful ways, and thus served daily without monotony.

The farmer's wife especially finds it advantageous to relieve herself of all the cooking possible and Canned Foods enable her to do this and at the same time improve the quality of her meals.

Women in every community should observe National Canned Foods Week by going to the dealers and putting in a supply. The saving and general satisfaction in the use of Canned Foods is entirely worth while.—Adv.

His Best Friend.

"Well, what did you do when the problem came up?"

"Wasted time. Went out and asked the advice of 17 friends."

"What did you get?"

"Seventeen different solutions."

"And then?"

"Then I took the advice of an eighteenth friend and won out."

"And who was your eighteenth friend?"

"Myself"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Directing Children Aright.

The young need to be taught that although there is sometimes a pleasure of the senses in committing sin, it is inevitably followed by remorse and punishment. Crime, remorse, punishment form an inseparable trio. On the other hand, while it is often hard to do right, the sense of satisfaction, self-respect and self-control that follow right action is worth all the effort made.

Thousands of Women

Have Been Restored to Health By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

There is no doubt about this fact. Why! during the last 30 years we have published in the newspapers of this country volumes of letters from women who have been relieved of all their suffering by the timely aid of this grand old medicine. Letters like the following, true, genuine and honest expressions of gratitude coming from grateful hearts. Surely you can believe these women.

Mrs. L. S. BRENNER, Hudson, Mich., says:—

"Sometime ago I was taken with a terrible pain in my right side, such sharp pains just like a knife sticking me. I tried hot applications but that did no good. I went to our family doctor (we were living in Fayette, Ohio, at that time) and he said it was organic inflammation. I doctored with him a while but kept getting worse. The pain was so terrible I could hardly stand on my feet. I would have that sharp pain in my right side, and a dull heavy pain the whole length of my limb. I realized that something had to be done quickly, so I looked up all of your advertisements I could find, and saw several that described my case. I got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me from the first dose, and when I had taken two bottles my trouble was gone. Your medicine has done so much for me that I am willing you should publish this letter for the sake of other suffering women."—Mrs. L. S. BRENNER, Hudson, Michigan.

Mrs. L. E. BOWERS, Girard, Pa., says:—

"I take pleasure in informing you of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had a sick spell last February, and for some months after that I was not regular and had many bad feelings. I was tired all the time, had dull headaches, not much appetite, and also what the doctor called organic inflammation. Your Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me and I feel that too much cannot be said in its praise as I am now able to do my own work. You are perfectly welcome to use my testimonial for the benefit of others."—Mrs. L. E. BOWERS, R.F.D. No. 1, Girard, Pa.

Mrs. ELIZABETH GENTILCORE, Buffalo, N.Y., says:—

"I feel that I must write to you about your wonderful remedies. About ten years ago I was troubled with female weakness and was all run down. I was tired all the time and could hardly walk without feeling dizzy. I heard about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, took it, and also used the Sanative Wash. I got stronger, and have not had those dizzy spells since. I feel that I owe my health to you, and hope your remedies will help others as they have me. I tried most everything I heard of, and yours are the best medicines for women's ailments."—Mrs. ELIZABETH GENTILCORE, 26 Glor Street, Buffalo, New York.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

THORSBY DEPARTMENT

H. L. FOSHEE, Manager. —o—THORSBY, ALA., March 27, 1913

Rev. Hopkins preached at the Baptist Church Sunday morning and Rev. Blizard preached Sunday evening.

Messrs. S. H. Herbert, S. G. Norton, H. L. Foshee J. A. Hunter, J. K. T. Daniel, Akins Mims, and Misses Erva Finch, Christena MacIntyre, Hilda Anderson, Mabel Swan, Clara Soberg, of Thorsby, attended the Alabama Educational Association in Montgomery last week.

Miss Martha Binkley has been spending her vacation with friends in Birmingham.

Mr. Clarance Graham returned Monday night after spending the Easter vacation with his parents in Montgomery.

We are very glad to learn that the Committee has decided to locate the Baptist High School in Thorsby. We feel that they made a wise selection for Thorsby is an ideal little school town.

Dr. O. E. Wilson spent Sunday and Monday in Thorsby.

Sunday evening Dr. Hopkins, President of the Southland Church work, preached a grand sermon at the Congregational Church. Thorsby is fortunate to have so many good preachers to visit the town.

Rev. E. W. Butler has accepted the pastorate of the Congregational Church and will take charge April the 1st.

Howard Bros. are cutting hundreds of beautiful carnations every day. It is a beautiful sight to look in their green houses.

T. W. Robinson spent Sunday at his home here.

The new Lutheran Pastor and his family arrived in Thorsby Saturday morning. They are delighted already with Thorsby. They are guests of Mrs. J. L. Foss.

The Fraternal Union of America made arrangements at their meeting Tuesday night for a picnic in the near future.

The Red Men of Thorsby are booming their order. They all seem to be braves. They still have a meeting every week.

The Sunday School at Pates Chapel made the best report of any S. S. in the district at the Convention held in the Baptist Church Sunday. They are alive out there, some fine young men who belong in their own neighborhood are enthusiastic over the work. They have a very nice superintendent; also a good assistant.

Last Thursday Mrs. T. W. Robinson entertained the Baptist Ladies Aid, there was a good crowd and a good time in general.

Mrs. L. E. Simonton has had the front of her tract surveyed by the county surveyor and laid off in 50 feet house lots, and has twelve fine lots that will be sold at auction on Saturday afternoon, March 29th. There will be a demand for house lots and houses, with the prospects of the State Baptist School locating here. It is also a chance to buy for an investment. There's going to be a boom in Thorsby—in fact it is already here.

The Twins.

I am glad to see such men as Prof. Pickens and Judge Reynolds advocating a County High School for we cannot have too many good schools in Chilton county. We are one of the few counties now that have failed to build a county high school, and I do not think Chilton wants to be backward in anything, especially in education, so it is time we were looking to the building of a good high school. Prof. Pickens has shown wherein the school would be a paying investment for the people at large, while Judge Reynolds has shown that it will be of still greater benefit to those who have boys and girls to educate. I know from experience that it is a very expensive thing to get an education when you have to go away from home to get it. I know that the cost is less than half where you can attend school at home. Another important feature is that there will be a larger number of our boys and girls who will take a high school course if we have a school here in the county than will if they have to go away from home to get it. It would be an advantage to Clanton in still another way. The annual report of the Department of Education shows that about one-third of the pupils attending the county high school are boarding, so it would bring several boarding pupils into the town. I would be very glad to see the people of the county take hold of the matter at once and establish the school.

LITERARY SOCIETY CONTEST.

The Second Public Contest of the Helen Keller Literary Society was held at Thorsby Institute on Wednesday night, March 19th. The Society had been divided into Reds and Blues, and each Division having a captain. The contestants had been chosen some weeks before, and had put much hard work on their preparation for the contest. The following was the program as given:

Opening Prayer—Rev. M. C. Crumpton.

Music, the Two Roses—Werner, Male Quartet.

Declamation Contest, Blue, the Miller of Lemars—Raymond Carlson.

Red, the Wreck at Sea—Hardy Sandlin.

Piano Solo Contest:

Blue, Fantasie Tarantelle, Binet—Mary Spratt.

Red, the Dying Poet, Gottschalk—Maud Robinson.

Music, Kitchen Symphony, Kling—Piano Pupils.

Debate, Resolved; That immigration should be further restricted by requiring that each immigrant be able to read in his own language.

Blues, Affirmative, Clarance Graham, Martha Parker.

Reds, Negative, James Daniel, Lonabel Bice.

Music, The Merry Heart, Denza—Institute Chorus.

The decision of the judges gave four points to the Blues and one point to the Reds. The program was enlivened by frequent yells and songs by the members of the two sides, who showed a great deal of enthusiasm. The final Contest of the year will be held during commencement week, and preparations for tnat contest will be started at once.

CLIP YOUR HORSES.

A clipped horse will do more work and keep in better condition on same amount of food than one unclipped, and he will do it with more vim and vigor—easy to keep clean, and looks so much better, in fact it makes a new horse out of him. Clip him this spring and you will never let him go through another without being clipped.

We have a first-class machine and experienced men to do the work.

Our Veterinary Department is equipped with power floats for filling horses teeth without cutting or bruising their gums and mouth like the old style hand floats. If your horse isn't doing well or doesn't respond to feed as you think he should; in the majority of cases it is on account of rough or uneven teeth, and a dollar or so spent toward the correction of the evil will pay well in the horses rapid improvement, enabling him to properly masticate his food.

Remember we can take care of your horse clipping, veterinary dental work and horse shoeing. Come to see us, we guarantee satisfaction.

You carry Fire Insurance—and why?

Because of the danger of sudden loss.

Because it protects you against this uncertainty, although your buildings may never burn down.

Do you protect them against decay—against the weather—against the dead certainty of depreciation resulting from allowing them to go unpainted. Why not?

Paint Insurance is worth even more to you than Fire Insurance—yet is often sadly neglected—and you are the loser.

MASTIC PAINT for 40 years has proven the "real protector" of buildings. For quality—service—economy—and beauty of finish it has no equal. Ask for color card.

The Rapid Vacuum Washer The Perfect Washing Machine

Perfect in Merits, Perfect in Price

This Machine is guaranteed to give as good satisfaction as any hand power machine on the market regardless of price. Delivered at your door for $2.27. Parcel postage prepaid.

This cut shows the washer complete ready to be attached to any tub or wash boiler. It is beyond all question the greatest success of any invention in the form of washing machines. With this washer the work is done by vacuum waterforce—the water and soap being forced through the goods by compressed air and suction.

This machine does the work in less time than the most expensive machine on the market—is easier operated and costs but one-fourth that of average machines. The Vacuum Washer can be attached to any tub or wash boiler in an instant—no screws to tighten—nothing to adjust—a child can operate it. It will wash a tub of clothes in from five to ten minutes, and with this machine your clothes are not subjected to the wear that is caused by the beating and batting process used by other makes. With the Rapid Vacuum it is the soap and water that does the work. It is simple in construction, but mighty in effect. Lace curtains or the most delicate fabrics can be cleaned without the slightest damage, and this is absolutely the only process by which bed-quilts can be washed without wadding the batting or breaking the stitches.

The plunger can easily be detached from lever and used in a pail or other small vessel for washing solid articles. The entire weight of the washer is four pounds, and it can be easily folded up and put out of the way when not in use.

VOL. 1 THE UNION 10th Year CLANTON, ALABAMA, THURSDAY APRIL 3, 1913 THE BANNER 20th Year NO. 51

A BUSINESS MAN'S VIEW OF THE BOND ISSUE.

To the Voters and Taxpayers of Chilton County:

I note that Chilton county is soon to vote on the proposition of issuing $150,00 in bonds for the improvement of the public roads of the county.

I desire to submit for your consideration some figures bearing on the subject.

There are estimated to be one thousand miles of road to be kept up in your county.

It will cost $10 to $15 per hundred dollars brokerage and other expenses to make the sale of these bonds. Say it will cost $15 per hundred, this would take $22,500 to defray this item of expense and would have to be deducted from the face of the bonds, leaving only $127,500 actual cash available for road construction at a cost of $472,500, or an annual debt of $12,000 for 50 years.

You would note from these figures that there possibly would be obtained from the sale of $150,000 bonds after deducting the brokerage, discounts and other expenses in making the sale, $127,500. This would make an average of $127.50 a mile for each estimated mile in the county, or $2.55 per mile per year, available for the work on the roads.

Now let's see what the cost of this bond issue will be for the fifty year period:

Amount of bonds sold	$150,000.00
Interest on same 50 years at 6 per cent	450,000.00
Total amount	$600,000.00

You will note from the foregoing figures that the county only gets $127.50 per mile for actual use on its estimated thousand miles of roads, and it would cost for the period of fiity years $600 per mile and only $127.50 per mtle to be expended on the roads during that period, or 2.55 per mile per year.

You will also note that the county will have paid during that time $472.50 per mile, or $9.45 per mile per year for interest, etc., for which the county gets but little benefit, as the amount expended for each mile is so small that the good it would do would not be very perceptible, as will be seen by comparing these figures with the amount expended on two miles of road leading from Maplesville, which I am informed has cost now $8000 and not a load of gravel put on it yet.

Now, how is this debt to be paid? Of course there is no way but to tax the people to pay it.

It will require 3 mills or 30 cents per hundred dollars on an assessed valuation of four million dollars worth of property annually to pay these bonds.

Let us see how much money can be saved to the county and applied to building of roads by direct taxation instead of issuing the bonds:

First the bonds will cost	$600,00.00
The county gets out of this amount	127,500.00
The difference going to bondholders and brokers	$472,500.00

The county derives no benefit from this difference of $472,500, which goes to pay brokers and interest, and is a total loss to the county.

A special road tax of three mills on four million dollars worth of taxable property will produce in one year $12,000,

In fifty years it will produce	$600,000.00
The bond issue will give the county for actual use	127,500.00
Difference in favor of direct taxation	$472,500.00

You will also see from these figures that it will be a pretty nice proposition for the men who get the bonds at say $10 to $15 per hundred, which added to the interest rate would make it a very profitable investment for them.

Now gentlemen: Would it not be better for you to increase your taxes one year and try this thing twelve months instead of tieing up with the bond issue for fifty years and putting upon yourselves and your children this debt of $600,000 for which the county gets so little benefit?

I do not live in Chilton county, but I paid $197.47 tax in Chilton county last year, and this is all the excuse I have for butting into this bond issue business.

I am half democrat and the other half bull moose, so I will ask both your county papers to publish this.

Joking aside, I do not think politics should have anything to do with the good roads proposition. Respectfully,

ALLEN P. HOWISON.

We think the writer of the above is mistaken when he notes "that Chilton county is soon to vote" on the bond issue proposition. We believe that the chance of the county being put to the considerable expense of an election on that question is very remote. The people don't want it, and if any parties force the issue they will, when defeated, have to bear the odium of the unnecessary expense.

FOR COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL.

Editor Union-Banner:—I am very much interested in the subject of a county high school for Chilton county. We can very plainly see that Chilton county has been sleeping over her rights and has kept closed the door of opportunity to the boys and girls of the county.

I am with Judge Deason on this question; we need a school that will teach the youths of our county about the practical methods of farming, etc. I believe in teaching the boys and girls that there is a perrennial nobleness in honest toil, not in teaching them that work is something in which nobody but savages take part.

Look at the number of boys and girls who leave the county each year to study at some institution of learning. Why? Because we havn't the schools in this county that other counties have. Simply because we haven't taken advantage of our opportunities as other counties have.

It has been very plainly shown by Profs. Pickens and Foshee Judge Reynolds, Judge Deason and others wherein the high school would be a paying investment for the county, not only in dollars and cents (which should be the least consideration) but in the number of educated boys and girls, thus bringing our county and state further toward the front in our much needed progress and educational development.

Another reason why we should have a county high school is this: Our county has never had a seventh grade elementary examination for the rural schools and will probably not have one this year. Why? Because we have no county high school for them to enter should they pass the examinations. And, by the way, I want to say here that I believe this examination is the key to the solution of the problem of grading rural schools. Each successful applicant would expect to enter a high school with all the advantages and privileges of a high school student which they could not do by going to some other county.

To build a high school is a duty which the county owes to the future generation of boys and girls, so let the people of the county get wide awake to this important matter and go about establishing a county high school for Chilton county. Respectfully,

R. A. SMITH.

WEST CHILTON.

The heavy frost of last week nipped some of the early corn in the bud and the otherwise flourishing cabbages are somewhat disfigured. Some of our people have their corn crops planted.

One day last week was a noted fertilizer day at Randolph—Messrs. Gentry & Son were delivering their goods.

On the third Sunday in April there will be an all day singing at the Waldrup schoolhouse. Books used will be Sacred Harp and Christian Harmony. Profs. Lawley, Jackson and Hayes have agreed to be present. Bring books and your dinner and spend the day singing the songs of Zion.

Mr. Monroe Atchison, one of our nice young men, was carried to the infirmary at Anuiston last week for treatment. The latest report is he is doing quite well.

A vast quantity of dogwood is being carried into Randolph where it is being sawed for shipment to Europe, to be used in making shuttles.

Our local singing class will meet for a special song service next Sunday April 6th, at 1:30 p. m. All the class is invited to be present. Don't forget to bring your books.

Thomas Waldrup, of Marvel, is spending some time with the home folks, having been sick.

On last Sunday your correspondent attended the singing at Bakers schoolhouse. There was a large crowd present, scores of beautiful girls, bright young men and old people. The singing was good. More than one was moved to tears under the influence of sacred song. A goodly number of directors were present. Mr. John Hayes was chairman. The dinner was abundant, free to all. Mr. Lee Vickers and his charming wife were there looking after their friend's comfort. Lee is a prince of good fellows. We met many other noted Chilton people there, viz. Messrs. Baker, Ward, Childress, Nix, Barrett, Kelly, Jackson, Rogers, Teel, Williams and others too numerous to mention. It was a good time.

WEST CHILTONITE.

MOUNTAIN CREEK.

The veterans received their pension money for the quarter commencing April 1. So Lacey did not get it all.

Pretty girls and "pansies" are as thick as needles on a pine tree and Prof. Eagle has taught some of them to make our mocking birds reach high notes of late.

Since there is no use for fences as a protection anainst stock a widow woman has strung a "six-wire barb warning" to all to "keep off the grass" on a 5-acre plot near here.

There is another "Richard in the field, commercially speaking. Captain Bogan purchased the stock owned by Judge Wheeler and is selling "odd lots" cheap.

Major C. A. Gunn has received a new lot of goods at his "cheap cash store," which he wants to "separate himself from before hot weather crowds the fruit.

Six carloads of fertilizer were sidetracked here last week and Mr. Emmet Thornton parcelled it out to farmers. They will do the rest.

Speaking of high winds, rain and frost, well we had ours, thank you, though everybody went to church just the same, crossing muddy roads and wading branches seems to attract some people, even timid old veterans.

W. P. T.

PROVIDENCE CHURCH.

A missionary collection in the sum of $6.10 was taken up.

We had a nice singing and think the visitors enjoyed the day. We like to have them with us. Secretary.

TEACHERS EXAMINATION.

The next State Teachers Examination for Chilton county will be held at the Courthouse in Clanton on the Third Monday in April, 1913, 21st, 22nd and 23rd days of April. All applicants should be present at 9 a. m. Monday, April 21st, 1913, as some preparations should be made before the regular work can be taken up which must begin at 10 a. m. J. W. MOORE, Co. Supt.

STANTON

Mrs. O. H. Oswald and Miss Vida Rayfield spent Saturday in Siluria.

Mr. Hazel Stanaland from Georgia has been visiting Mr. Thomas for the last week. Mr. Stanaland was quite an appreciated guest.

Misses Jettye Letcher, Estea Nelson, Tessye Nelson, Mabel Sanderson and Amelia Perry, also Mr. Stanaland, walked to Maplesville to meet Miss Rayfield, they came back on No. 15 Sunday evening.

Miss Jettye Letcher gave a singing last Sunday night. A real large crowd was present. She will visit Miss Cox at Plantersville on the 16th.

Mr. J. C. Herman was in town again Friday.

Mr. George Woolley left here a few days ago for California, He is missed very much by all the people. A Friend.

CONCORD.

There will be a box supper at this place Saturday night, April 6th, which all are invited to attend.

FROM EAST TEXAS.

Mineola, Tex., Rt. 6, March 25, '13.

Here I am again. I have had so many letters from my old friends since I wrote to your I just couldn't help from writing again. I am a subscriber to your paper now. I have read some very interesting pieces but have not seen anything from old Mt. Zion nor old Energ, the places where I used to live; will some one please write from those places that seem nearer home to me. We are having lnts of rain out here now, the farmers are badly behind with their work, not very much corn planted yet. I think Texas is the finest state iu the Union. I have been here 20 years and I expect to stay here 20 years longer if I live that long. You can raise anything here that you can there. This is a timbered country, pretty much like it is there. It is a very healthy country, good water, good schools, good churches and lots of good people. Dr. R. O. Connell has gone to Tyler this week to be treated for the pneumonia. Fred Connell, R. O.'s son, got his knee badly sprained catching on a freight train two weeks ago but is up again now. D. C. Wagoner has got his old partner B. C. Shields back with him in mercantile business here at Pine Mills. I will be glad to hear from any one back there. I will answer all letters.

J. R. CONNELL.

CARD OF THANKS.

Jemison, Ala., April 1, '13.

Editor Union-Banner:—Please allow me space in your valuable paper to express my heartfelt thanks to my friends for their contributions to me on account of the loss of my horse. Up to this writing I have received $45.00, which was a great help to me. Now friends, if it ever comes in the way for you to need my help in any way don't fail to call on me. Yours truly,

W. C. JONES.

CARD OF TAANKS.

Jemison, Rt. 2, April 1, '13.

Editor Union-Banner: — Allow me space to express my thanks to my many friends and neighbors for their kindness and help in time of distress. Myself and wife were both crippled and our new house was badly wrecked. At this writing I am able to mudge around and do some work and my wife can walk a little. My house is leveled up, but I don't know when it will be in shape to move back into. I am glad that it is no worse with us than it is. We had a narrow escape from death, as much so as any one ever had, I think. Mr. Ingraham of Shelby county, the man that leveled up my house, is a man that understands his business and is a hustler, broad shouldered, broad minded and broad hearted. Thanks to you all, friends and neighbors.

E. W. HUNNICUTT.

IN MEMORIAM.

In Mountain Creek, on Tuesday morning, March 25, God took from us one of our dearly beloved women, Mrs. Sallie E. Royal.

Mrs. Royal was about 52 years of age, the mother of three girls and two boys. She was left a widow about thirteen years ago. She moved to this place and made it her home for the past eight years, part of which she lived alone. Last Easter Sunday a year ago she was stricken with paralysis. Her youngest daughter, Alice, of Birmingham, was notified when the end seemed near, but when she entered her mother had passed over the river.

Mrs. Royal was buried Wednesday morning at the Christian church near Mountain Creek. Rev. O. W. Greer conducted the funeral services.

A FRIEND.

Southern.

Isabel G. Temple, 20 years of age, daughter of H. N. Temple of Chattanooga, Tenn., committed suicide in a New Orleans department store. Miss Temple, who went to New Orleans suffering from nervousness, was found by a shopper after she had swallowed the greater part of a vial of poison. She died before should be taken to a hospital.

J. M. Sims, president of the defunct American Trust company of Memphis, Tenn., in the United States district court, entered a plea of guilty to five federal indictments charging the use of the mails to defraud. He was sentenced to serve six years in the federal prison at Atlanta.

Every Southern state and practically every Southern city will help Atlanta make the Metropolitan opera season in the South a big success this year. The return of Caruso, the coming of Toscanini, the presentation of the new opera "Cyrano," are all causes contributing to the intense artistic interest of the occasion, and season reservations are being made from many cities.

General

Col. Pascual Orozco, Sr., father of the former northern revolutionary, has been executed by order of Emiliano Zapata, relel leader of southern Mexico, according to advices received here. Colonel Orozco visited Zapata's stronghold as a peace emissary from the Huerta government. The Mexican National railway removed all its passenger coaches from Nuevo Laredo, across the river from Laredo, Texas.

Residents of the city of Mexico are nervous because of continued rumors of friction between President Huerta and Gen. Felix Diaz, and of plots and intrigues, even to the fixing of dates when a new battle may be expected in the streets or the assassination of one or the other of the principals. So keen was the excitement that the president summoned newspaper men to the palace to issue a formal statement saying he and Felix Diaz were still friends and working in harmony, and that there was no truth in the street gossip. Huerta's statement was reiterated by Diaz.

For the first time since the diastrous tornado of Easter Sunday, the people of Omaha, Neb., began to count the cost in lives and dollars. When a resume was made it was apparently more appalling than those who had studied the result were willing to admit. Not less than 200 lives were snuffed out within the vicinity of the city proper, and not less than fifty persons in surrounding towns lost their lives.

A terrific cloudburst at Middletown, Ohio, practically marooned Middletown. Railway and interurban tracks are under water. A portion of the state dam in the great Miami river washed away. It was reported that a wall of water, six feet high, was on its way to Middletown from Dayton.

Ten solid miles of Pullman and other trains, including an eighteen-hour Chicago to New York train on the Pennsylvania railroad, extended from here to LaFayette, held up by a washout at Middle Point.

Twelve persons are known to have been drowned, while it is believed over a score more are dead at Hamilton, Ohio, as a result of the flood of the Miami river that swept Hamilton from one end to the other.

Fully 25,000 workmen employed in various industries of Youngstown, Ohio, are temporarily thrown out of employment as a result of the flood.

It was reported that a Pennsylvania wrecking train on its way to West Liberty, Ohio, to clear up the Pennsylvania passenger train wreck there, went through bridge ..o. 91 near Urbana, Ohio.

In response to a tender of assistance to flood sufferers, Governor Cox of Ohio telegraphed the American Red Cross that the condition in the flood area seemed to be critical and that aid would be welcome. The Red Cross at once instructed two of its agents to proceed to Dayton and provide such doctors, nurses and medical supplies as the situation demanded.

Secretary Daniels of the navy department has announced that he had taken a decided stand against accepting the resignation of midshipmen and other naval officers before they fulfill their contract with the government.

Old scores were forgotten and all honor was paid a former foe when Camp Jones, United Confederate Veterans, Selma, Ala., buried Joseph Meyer, 102 years old, of Indianapolis, Ind., formerly a federal soldier.

Four Montgomery men and one Birmingham, Ala., man were hanged for murder in one day.

J. Pierpont Morgan, the New York financier, died in Rome, Italy. For months his health had been declining, but the symptoms became greatly aggravated, since he had been in a comatose condition for some time. The death of Mr. Morgan was not known in Rome until several hours after it occurred, owing to the desire that Mr. Morgan's son, J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., who is in New York, should first be notified. In the death of Mr. Morgan, the world loses its greatest constructive financier. He had imagination such as makes great artists and poets, but he applied it to material things. To Mr. Morgan more than to any other man is due the credit of the wonderful development of the United States in the last generation.

Nine members of the Tennessee legislature arrived in Middlesboro, Ky. They have engaged quarters at a hotel for a term of three weeks, and declare they will remain as long as may be necessary to carry out their avowed purpose of breaking a legislative quorum and precluding the possibility of the amendment to the Tennessee election statutes becoming a law. It is an open secret that enough members of the house of representatives to break a quorum will be absent when the house is called together in a few days.

The stubbornness of Montenegro in continuing the bombardment of Scutari, contrary to the wishes of the powers, and the dilatoriness of Servia in withdrawing her troops beyond the line decided upon as the frontier of the future Albania, if not overcome by more peaceful measures, will lead to a demonstration and blockade of the Montenegrin coast and the ports of Albania occupied by Servit.

President Wilson has chosen the home of Winston Churchill, the novelest, to be his summer capital. Mr. Churchill's home is located at Cornish, N. H. Harlakendensen House, as the Churchill property is known, is a two-story brick structure, situated on a hill three miles beyond Windsor, Vt., close to Cornish, N. H.

Mrs. H. R. Emerson of Detroit, Mich., assisted by Miss Scott-Troy of San Francisco and others, is trying to enlist the good offices of a number of American woman married to titled Englishmen to obtain the release of Miss Zelie Emerson from Holloway jail in London, where she is serving a term for breaking windows with other militant suffragettes. Miss Emerson, who started a "hunger strike," has suffered much fro mforcible feeding.

The Mexican government has made a formal protest to the American government against the shipping of arms and ammunition from the United States to the rebels, and has requested that greater vigilance be exercised in guarding the frontier.

Hereafter postmaster in the larger offices of the country are to be held strictly accountable for the time and personal attention they give their official duties. Postmaster General Burleson has announced that he proposes to stamp out the practice of postmasters imposing part of their duties upon subordinates. "Clerks and carriers are required by law to serve eight hours daily," said an official statement, "and the postmaster general sees no reason why the postmaster should not give at least an equivalent in time and effort."

"If our worst fears are confirmed it will be necessary to call on the outside world for tents and supplies in order to make provision for the worst calamity that has ever befallen this state," Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio telegraphed a New York paper. At the suggestion of the governor a bill has been drawn and is to be presented to the legislature appropriating $250,000 for relief of the flood sufferers of Ohio.

The United States census bureau has issued the annual cotton report. The final estimate of the cotton crop of 1912 is 14,076,430 bales. The crop for 1911 was 16,109,349 bales, and for 1910 it was 11,965,862 bales. Expressed in 500-pound bales, the 1912 crop is 14,295,500 bales as compared with 16,250,276 bales for 1911 and 12,005,688 for 1910. Cotton not yet ginned is included in the total estimate, and is placed by ginners and delinters at 129,172 bales.

A tornado forming near Greenwood, Neb., swept over the eastern part of the state, resulting in the death of at least twenty persons, while ten or more are missing, and over a hundred are injured. Mayor Dahlman of Omaha has asked the governor to call out the militia to prevent looting. Half of Omaha was swept by the tornado, according to information gained so far. All railroad and commercial telegraph lines into Omaha are out of commission. Berlin, a small town near Omaha, damaged by the storm, caught fire.

Walter H. Page, editor of the World's Work, has been offered and has accepted the ambassadorship to Great Britain. White house officials confirmed the news, and Mr. Page will start for London within ten days. It was stated at the white house that with the exception of Mr. Page, no offers had been made for any other diplomatic posts. The president has had under consideration a list of men to whom he is favorably inclined. Mr. Page is a man of a national reputation, and his appointment will give satisfaction to all parties. He is comparatively a young man.

C. Reese Mullins Writes of His Trip.

On the morning of March the 6th first I visited the Library of Congress, and I shall not attempt to describe its grandeur to you, but will say, its interior is all of the finest of white marble and you can't possibly conceive of its grandeur and beauty without a personal visit. All around in this building are to be seen the finest of statuets of our most noted men, among whom are Christopher Columbus, Shakespeare, Fulton, and many others too numerous to mention, and to say the least of it, it is worth walking to Washington to see. Passing next on to the Treasury building; in this building is where all the greenbacks and stamps are made, and there are many other things of interest to be seen in this building. From here I visited next the George Washington monument, which stands today the loftiest memorial elevation in the world, and is the most imposing and costly monument ever erected to man. This monument is a massive shaft of pure white marble and granite, capped by an aluminum pyramid, which makes it visible by night as well as by day. The tapering design of graceful magnificent proportions reaches skyward over five hundred and fifty feet, and looks down upon the city founded and named for Washington. The base of this monument is fifty-five feet square, the lower walls fifteen feet thick and the foundation below first floor fifty-seven feet. A more beautiful site could not have been selected; the terrace seventeen feet high on which the monument stands and surrounded by forty-one acres of land selected by Washington himself for a monument to the American revolution. There is an elevator in this monument run by the government for the benefit of visitors. I went up on this elevator five hundred feet, and looking down at men and women on the ground they looked like children; the elevator makes a trip every thirty minutes, and is open from about 10 a. m. until 4 p. m. for visitors. The cornerstone of this monument was laid in 1848 and the work carried on until 1854, building up to 154 feet, at an expense of $300,000; this was accomplished by a society soliciting free will offerings, and at this time their treasury became exhausted, an appeal was made for congressional appropriations to complete the work, but complications of a political nature arose in the management of the society and as a result the monument stood for years abandoned. In 1878 the work was resumed as a result of congressional appropriations, and the mammoth column was completed December 6th, 1884, at a total expense of $1,187,710.31.

Leaving this place I took a train over the Pennsylvania railroad for Baltimore, forty miles away, making the trip in forty-five minutes, passing under a tunnel a mile long just before reaching the city. This is a great city with a population of 650,000 people, and noted as one of the best wholesale markets in the country. I spent the evening, night and the next morning in this city, taking in as many of its noted places as I could in this short space of time, among which was the Fifth regiment armory hall, which covers two blocks, erected by the government at a cost of $425,000, and in this hall is where Woodrow Wilson was nominated by the Democratic party in the spring of 1912 for President of the United States. Leaving Baltimore at 12 a. m. I took a train over the same line for Philadelphia, a distance of 98 miles, crossing first the Bush river, and a little further on the Gunpowder river, which is about three miles wide, and over which the Pennsylvania Railroad company is now building a new and longer bridge, which will be, when compelted, the longest bridge in the world. Next we came to the Susquehanna river, a beautiful stream, and passing over this into Delaware. The next point of interest we reached was Iron Hill, where we crossed the Mason and Dixon line, marked by a large white marble stone, making first stop in Wilmington. This is a city of 70,000 people.

Leaving this place we soon came to the Delaware river, runing along its northwestern bank for a distance of ten miles, making next stop in Chester, Pa. Going on from here, a distance of sixteen miles, we next rolled into the Broad street station Philadelphia at 2:20. The grandeur and beauty of this station is something wonderful. This city has a population of 2,000,000, and many things of interest are to be seen. Starting out the next morning I first went through the U. S. mint, which covers a whole block, and built at an expense of $2,325,000. There are only two more places in the U. S. where metal coins are made—Denver, Col., and San Francisco. I had the pleasure of seeing this mint in operation; there I saw the new design of nickles being made from the crude ore until sacked up and weighed and ready to be sent out to the sub-treasuries. It is all counted by weight. The nickles dropped from the stamping machine at the rate of 450 a minute. Next I passed into the exhibit room, where I saw all kinds of different coins used from the Sixteenth century up until the present day, also the greenbacks of 5, 10, 15, 25 and 50 cents denominations, known as shinplasters. I also saw the old Roman and Greek coins used before the birth of Christ. Next we passed on to the city hall, covering four and a half acres of land. Its erection was begun in 1871; cornerstone layed in 1874, and have been building on it all along ever since, and yet not completed. It is five hundred and forty-eight feet high, and there has been twenty-four million spent on it up until the present time. There is an open space in the center of this building three hundred feet square, to give light up through the center of the building. On the top of this building stands the statue of William Penn. From here I walked around to the block on which the John Wanamaker's store of Philadelphia now stands. This is the largest retail store in the U. S. It is twelve stories high, each story covering a whole block, which makes his floor space in all three miles square. In this store can be found anything on earth you want to buy. From here I took a car and went down to League Island navy yard on the Delaware river, seven miles away. Here I saw many large battleships lying in port, among them was the new battleship Maine. This brought me up to March 9th, Sunday morning, and I started out for Fairmount Park, in West Philadelphia, the largest in the United States, covering 5,000 or more acres of land, and the beautiful lakes, driveways, buildings, monuments and other things I saw are too numerous to mention, even if I could, but I must tell you a little about the Horticultural building, situated in this park and covering two whole blocks or more. In this building there are growing palm trees, orange trees, lemon trees, shrubbery, roses, and flowers of all kinds, and its granduer and beauty no one can begin to express. Passing on and on over beautiful walkways and lawns next I came to the Memorial Hall, which is too immense to begin to try to tell you very much about, but on passing inside the building and walking through I saw many things of interest collected there by the city for its thousands and thousands of of visitors and sightseers. In this building I saw General Sherman's old saddle on which he rode on his famous march to the sea. After spending the day taking in this park, I attended the night service at Fletcher Methodist church, which cost $72,000, and is equipped with a $5,000 pipe organ, and saw over 700 Sunday school children singing in the choir. The next day was spent walking through the park and museum of this great city. There I saw all kinds of animals and fowls, sea lions, and everything imaginable in the animal line. In this park I visited and went through the old home of William Penn, which was built of brick imported from England before the days of brick in this country. This man is remembered by having made a treaty of peace with the Indians. The next morning I took a fast train over the Pennsylvania railroad for New York city. This line of road has four tracks, two for freight trains and two for passengers. The tracks are very fine and smooth and they make something like a mile a minute. They do not stop to take water, as the water is taken up by a suction pipe from a trough of water in the center of the track. Passing out of Pennsylvania into New Jersey we made the first stop at Trenton, Woodrow Wilson's old home. Passing on we next came to Elizabeth, N. J., where the Singer Sewing Machine Manufacturing plant is located. This plant covers about 80 acres of land, works 8,000 people, and turns out over 2,000,000 Singer machines a year. No one can comprehend the magnitude of this plant without making a personal visit. Passing on out of New Jersey through a tunnel under the Hudson river into the new Pennsylvania station, New York City. This station is given up to be the grandest engineering feat of the world, and I shall not try to tell you of its construction, but will say, its grandeur and beauty is simply bewildering. Passing on we came to Broadway, where today is to be found more busy people than any other street in the United States, or perhaps in the world. Passing on from here we came next to Wall street, on which is situated the banks which control the money of the world, and no one can tell about the hustle and push on this street. At times almost impossible to travel, this is not an attractive street a all, as it is not at all straight. Looking up the buildings seem to be coming together at the top, and this street is very narrow. Next I visited the stock exchange, and there I saw crowds of men trading in stocks and bonds, and at times they seemed to go wild, and the whole push, it looked like to me, was trying to fight. This is beyond all doubt the greatest city in the world. It has three electric railroads, one right over the other. First, a subway, this is under ground; next on the surface, and a third overhead. It takes them all to handle the travel, and at times there is hardly standing room to be had in the cars. I rode for twenty miles under the city, the same over the city, and through the city. There is a subway railroad running into New York under the Hudson river, under the entire city, and on under the East river into Brooklyn. My next venture was to walk over the Brooklyn bridge into Brooklyn, N. Y. This bridge has only one span, which is swung on four cable wires over the East river, which at this point is one-half mile or more wide. From here I took a street car and rode down to Coney Island. This is a beautiful place, situated on the western banks of the Atlantic ocean, and noted as one of the greatest summer resorts in the world. After spending some time here walking around and picking up some sea shells on the Atlantic coast, I returned to the city, and first going to the Singer building, which stands 612 feet above the ground, and until very recently the tallest building in the world, the tallest now is the Woolworth building, situated only a short distance from the Singer, which I had the pleasure of seeing, which is just being completed. Next I went around to see the Flat Iron building. This is not so tall, but is very narrow, and built in the shape of a V. It is very attractive. The next place of interest I visited was Madison Square Garden. On this roof is where Harry K. Thaw shot and killed Sanford White. From here I visited the Tombs, in which Thaw was confined, and saw the room in which he was tried, also the bridge of sighs over which he passed from the court room to the Tombs. Going on up and around looking at the many things of interest in this great city I finally came to fifth avenue, on which the New York Millionaires live, and the fine homes I saw on this avenue are too numerous to mention. Among them I saw the home of Helen Gould, Vanderbilt, John D. Rockefeller and the home of the late John Jacob Astor, the latter being built of Italian marble, and very beautiful indeed. This took up all the time I had set apart for New York, and, of course, I did not get to see scarcely anything of this great city, but I saw enough to give me some idea of its magnitude and grandeur, and I am sure it is worth any man's time and money to visit New York. Leaving New York I came back to Philadelphia, and after spending the night there I started back home on the morning of March the 15th. This put me back through the hills of Virginia in the daytime, over which I passed at night on my way up. These blue mountains are beautiful, and there is no end to them. Stock and fruit are mostly grown in these hills, mostly apples, I was told. Coming on down southward it seemed to me the further I came the better and smoother the trains would run, notwithstanding the railroad tracks were not so good as farther back east, but Dixie's land began to look good to me, so I landed back in Clanton on Saturday evening, March the 15th, which is the garden spot of the world. Hoping this has been of some interest to you and others who may chance to read it, I am, to one and all,

Your friend,
C. REESE MULLINS.

What Novel Readers Like.

That old question whether the poor prefer to read stories about themselves rather than about the rich has been revived in England and discussed by serial writers. Some believe that most readers, whether poor or rich, prefer novels dealing with a class different from their own, and some maintain that the majority of readers are more interested in their own class. Nobody knows. But something undoubtedly depends upon the novelist himself. Dickens had no difficulty in interesting everybody in the poor. Thackeray made the well-to-do and the rich interesting. So does Mrs. Wharton. And innumerable others.

On the other hand, Jack London, Kauffman, James Oppenheim and possibly two or three others have sketched wonderful pictures of lowly and obscure lives. The "great American novel," which may have been written, but is still awaiting publication, will deal neither with the rich nor with the poor exclusively, nor with the middle class, but with all sorts and conditions of men. It will be a novel of democracy—neither aristocratic nor proletarian.

Altered His Idea.

Wrote Tomkins, the novelist:

"Woman is indeed a bright and beautiful creature. Where she is there is a paradise; where she is not there is a desert. Her smile inspires love, and raises human nature nearer to the immortal source of its being. She is the ladder by which we climb from earth to heaven. She is the practical teacher of mankind, and the world would be a void without her. Man is a wreck."

He left off just here, and went home and found that dinner wouldn't be ready for another hour yet; and the neighbors say his wife and he went at it so much that his left eye is in a sling, and he's been compelled to wear a wig till his hair grows.

A poem in six cantos, commencing "Woman is a wretch," is now in the press, and will shortly be published. Rumor whispers that the author is Tomkins.

First Idea of Sewing Machine.

The earliest attempt at sewing by machinery of which there is any authentic record was in 1755, in which year a machine was patented in England by Charles F. Weisenthal. In this machine the stitch was formed by a needle, having two points with an eye at mid-length, which passed completely through the goods in imitation of hand sewing.

SURVIVORS TELL OF FLOOD THRILLS

Lecturer Saw 28 Bodies Recovered at Delaware, O.

MEANEST MAN A BOAT OWNER

College Girls Relate Death Scenes and Heroic Rescue Work by the Students—Stories of Other Refugees.

Chicago.—Thrilling stories of the flooded districts in Ohio were told by Rev. E. O. O'Neal, who returned to this city from a lecture tour. He saw rescuers take 28 bodies from the river at Delaware, O.

"All of the small towns along the river have been swept away," he said. "The greatest problem is food. The victims are starving and freezing to death. Those who are able to work are making every effort to rescue and help others. There is no communication between towns.

"When at Delaware I saw college students make many thrilling rescues by swimming out into the swift current and swimming back with a flood victim. One young man swam out and and rescued 30 persons in one day. He was the bravest fellow I ever saw.

Women and Children Afloat.

"I saw a house with one woman and three children clinging to the roof floating down the stream. The house was whirling and bobbing up and down in the water. The woman was screaming for help. Persons on the edge of the flood had a small boat, but they could not row fast enough to caech up with the house.

"The house bore down on the Pennsylvania railroad bridge and crashed against it. The mother caught the bridge and went down. The children went down, but came up again near a tree. The eldest child helped the other two and help on to the tree. The boat put out and rescued all of them.

"A few minutes later a house with a man about 75 years and his wife floated down the stream. The woman was lying on the roof. The old man was holding her. Suddenly the house struck a tree and the brick chimney fell off. Then we saw the old man lift his wife in his arms and carry her to the chimney hole in the roof and let her down into it. When the rescuers put out in a boat and caught up with the house, one of the rescuers inquired of the woman.

"'She is dead,' said the old man. 'She died two hours ago, and I was afraid to let her lie on the roof because the water would carry her away.'

Sees Man and Woman Drown.

"I saw another house with a man and woman clinging to the chimney to keep from falling off. The house struck a tree and the chimney crumbled. Both went down before the boat reached them and we never saw them again. These are only a few instance of the horrible things seen in the flooded district.

"I went from Delaware to Prospect, and the same tragedies were repeated. At Prospect I saw the meanest man in the world. The meanest man, I think, is a farmer who owned a boat at Prospect. He lived across the river from the town. He lent his boat to a Baptist minister who used it for rescue work. They saved more than a dozen women and children during the day. It was the only boat in the town.

Farmer Demands His Boat.

"Although the minister could rescue but two persons at a time he was doing noble work. Many persons were swept away before the boat could reach them. Late in the afternoon the farmer came to the shore and announced he wanted the boat. He declared he would take the boat by force. He said he wanted the boat to go across the river and attend to some business.

"The minister refused to give up the boat, but offered to row the farmer across the dangerous river, if he could keep the boat. The farmer grudgingly assented, and a newspaper man from Marion and the minister rowed him across. It was the first attempt to take the boat across the swift river and was extremely dangerous.

"The preacher declared he would take any risk in order to keep the boat. They landed the farmer across the river with much difficulty. They started back and when in the middle of the stream the boat capsized, and both went down. With the boat hundreds of persons could have been rescued.

Bread Famine at Delaware.

"The victims need food more than anything else. There is a bread famine at Delaware. To show they were willing to do anything to help the sufferers more than 100 students at Wesleyan college volunteered to leave the city so there would be 100 less to feed. The students departed at night for their homes in different parts of the country.

"At Celina I saw the same suffering. The town was under ten feet of water. I saw them take ten bodies from the water at Massillon, O. Prospect, O., is under 14 feet of water, and the river at that point is four miles wide. I saw them take more than a dozen bodies from the water.

"The reparts of the dead have not been sent in from these small towns and the country will be appalled when the full number is known. From what I saw I do not think the reports have been exaggerated.

"Piqua and Fostoria are under water, and many people are drowned. The nearest I could get to Dayton was Piqua. Most of the town was under water. It was impossible to get to Dayton."

Co-Eds Tell of Horrors.

Four weary young women, co-eds from Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware, O., climbed from a Pullman on a delayed Lake Shore train in the LaSalle street station. They were the first arrivals in Chicago from the actual scenes of death and desolation attending the floods throughout central Ohio.

Eagerly questioned by newspaper men, the young women talked freely of their experiences and painted graphic word pictures of the horrors of the inundation of a large part of Delaware.

They were Miss Florence Wyman of 3633 Sheffield avenue, student in general work and instructor in the art school of the university; Edith and Esther Quayle of 233 North Harvey street, Oak Park, and Mabel Lees of 325 Elmwood avenue, Oak Park.

Fear Horror to Follow.

Miss Wyman, who had chaperoned the party on the trip, was the spokesman, but the other girls broke in from time to time with eager ejaculations to emphasize the horror of the tale she told.

"The thought that is uppermost in my mind," said Miss Wyman, "is not so much of the horror that has passed as of the greater horror that must inevitably come to those poor people in Delaware and elsewhere throughout the flooded district. There are some dead bodies still in the houses at Delaware, and thousands elsewhere in Ohio, and it is staggering to the imagination to attempt to conjure up the picture of desolation, famine and pestilence that will follow the recession of the waters.

"The flood itself was like a horrible nightmare. The water crept up slowly, but, oh, so steadily and relentlessly. First it was six inches deep in some of the lower streets; then a foot deep, and at last it had covered all the lower part of town and was lapping at the foot of the hills, while the houses in the flooded portion stood, many of them, with only the upper stories and roofs visible.

Hear Prayers for Safety.

"And on nearly every house there was a family, or what was left of the family, clinging to the ridgepole and chimneys and praying for deliverance.

"The university stands on the highest hill in town, and we were not affected by the flood itself. But all night, that first night, the 200 girls in Monnett hall, our dormitory, walked the floor and wept and prayed as the wails of the unfortunates only a few blocks away were borne to their ears. Closed windows could not keep out the sound. Now and then a woman shrieked above the general lamentations, and we knew when that sound reached us that some one had seen a loved relative, an aged father or mother, or perhaps a child, lose the grip of numbed fingers and slide off into the black, chill waters.

"Throughout the night the men students and members of the faculty did what they could to rescue the sufferers, but we had no boats at the university and it was almost impossible to guide a raft through the blackness of the night, which was intensified by a cold, drizzling rain.

Rescue Work Makes Heroes.

"As soon as dawn came the boys got together in an organized rescue corps. Our school produced a hundred heroes in half an hour. Every one of those students risked death on the flimsy rafts they were able to construct, but they never hesitated. They found some small boats, too, and did as well as they could with these. Prof. W. E. Dixon, the physical director of the university, headed the work of rescue. He had a dozen active lieutenants in the work of directing operations.

"Some of the houses could not be reached at all. The rafts were unmanageable, and the few boats were smashed one after another as they were caught by the eddying currents. Every time a boat was smashed two or three of the boys would be thrown into water ten or fifteen feet deep, but they all swam out in safety.

"Well, when they found how impossible it was to get actual contact with the houses they went to the nearest houses they could reach and took ropes and pulleys from a hardware store that had escaped the flood.

"They would tie a bolt to a light line and throw it over to a house where there were persons clinging on the roof. These people would catch the light line, pull over a heavier one and a pulley and set up a running line of cable by making fast to a chimney or house tower.

"The boys must have known something about breeches buoy work, for as soon as they had a line to a house they would rig up a chair and pass it over. Then the people would be hauled across. I guess they must have taken more than 100 off the different roofs. One woman, who weighed more than 200 pounds, started across in a chair. The pulley was fastened to a chimney and the chimney toppled over. The woman went into the water, but they kept hauling her in and she clung to the chair. She was half drowned when they got her up.

Take Refuge in "Frat" Houses.

"The men students have responded nobly in time of distress, and the Phi Kappa Psi, Sigma Chi, and Beta Theta Pi fraternity houses, which are on hills, have been turned over for sleeping places for women and children. A Mr. Houseman and a Mr. Sulliver manned the boats sent down by the life saving station at Toledo, and saved fifteen persons. The students are doing practically all of the work of saving people and bringing what food there is to the starving men, women and children.

"The property loss in the city, not counting personal property, is over $2,000,000. There is danger of fire, because the co-eds are using candles for lights.

"We know of thirteen deaths: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Melcher and their two sons, Ralph, 6 years old, and Lewis, 4 years old; Mrs. Silas Smith and her two sons and one little daughter, 1 year old; Miss Hazel Jones, a 15-year-old girl; Miss Hazel Dunlap, Mrs. Slosson, William Hessey, William Fielding and James Maine.

Dies After Being Rescued.

"William Fielding clung to a tree for three days and was rescued only to die of exposure. A Mr. Rainer was marooned in the top of a tree for three days and a half and was rescued. He is now ill from exposure and it is thought he will get pneumonia.

"A little girl was picked up from a raft on which she had floated five miles from Stratford. She is ill of exposure, but it is believed, she will live."

Other Refugees Arrive.

Every train that came in from the east brought men and women who had escaped from Indiana after arduous, roundabout trips and disheartening delays. Perhaps none of these refugees had a more exciting experience than that of Frank Jamieson, a commercial traveler of Muncie, Ind.

For thirty-six hours Jamieson was marooned with eighty-five other men and women guests and employes of the Barnett hotel in Logansport. The basement and first floor were flooded, water standing eight feet deep in the office. All there was to eat was some corned beef and coffee, which one of the women heated over a small gasoline stove. In the basement, under water, was $3,506 worth of fine food which could not be reached.

Wednesday afternoon a man rowed down the street near the hotel and Jamieson hailed him. He had only a small skiff and there was room for one passenger. Jamieson offered him $10 to be ferried out of town and the boatman accepted the offer. No one else in the hotel dared risk the trip, feeling safer in the building than adrift on the waters, but Jamieson climbed out of the second story window and took a seat in the boat.

Five Miles in Row Boat.

"We rowed for five or six miles, I should think," said Jamieson, in describing his experience. "The water gradually grew shallow and finally I debarked in a field, where I was about knee deep in mud and water. I got a farmer to drive me a few miles further on, where I caught a train at a crossing of the steam and interurban tracks.

"As the train was passing Warsaw we saw a horrible thing. A farmer was driving a team attached to a light wagon. He had a passenger, apparently a traveling man, and they waved at the train, which slowed down and was about to stop for them. The horses were knee deep in water and the bed of the wagon lapped the flood now and then, but they came on confidently and seemed likely to make the tracks in safety.

Suddenly, however, the wagon and horses disappeared from view. It seemed as if they must have struck a sinkhole or something, but the queer part of it was that they didn't come up. The train waited for ten minutes, but not even a bubble came to the surface of the pool where the men and horses had disappeared. It was a terrible thing, and several women on the train who saw it became hysterical and were restored with extreme difficulty."

Insanity and Suicide.

At Brookville, where the loss of life is estimated at 20 to 50, insanity and suicide followed in the wake of the flood. Five parents who had seen their children drowned or who feared they met that fate are reported to have committed suicide.

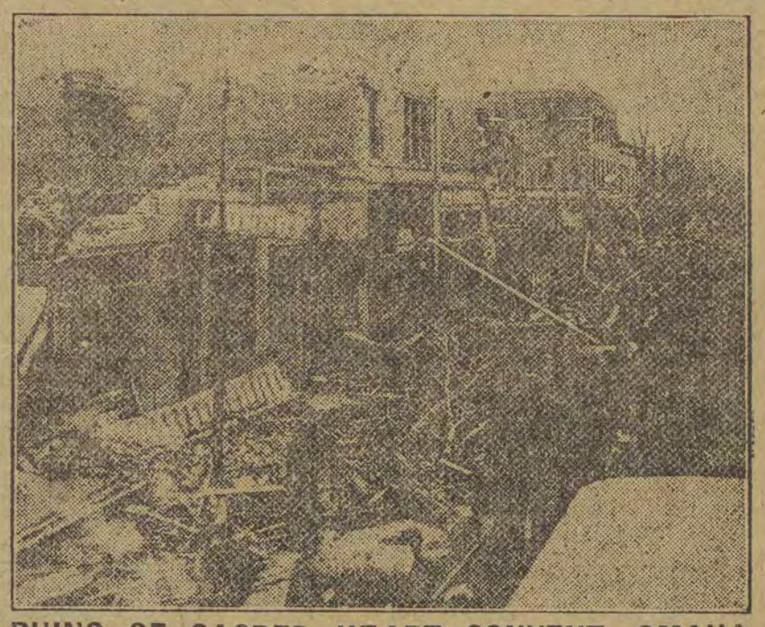
IN THE PATH OF THE OMAHA TORNADO

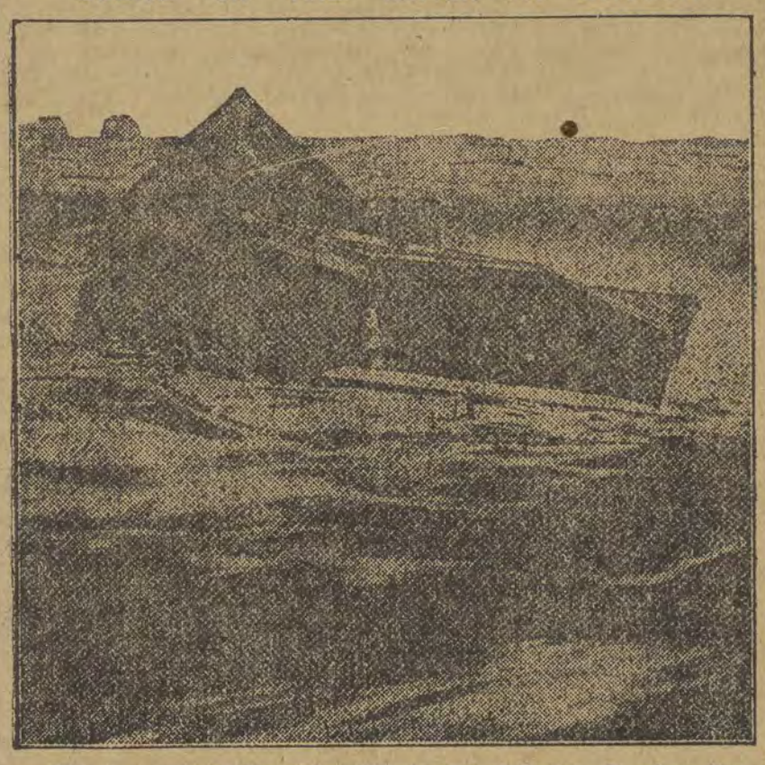
The devastation caused by the Omaha tornado is graphically illustrated by this photograph, taken at Lincoln boulevard and Thirty-fourth street directly in the path of the storm.

SCENE AT LAKE AND 24TH STREET, OMAHA



RUINS OF SACRED HEART CONVENT, OMAHA

SCENE ON THE MIAMI AT DAYTON



This is a scene on the raging Miami river at Dayton, O., where hundreds of lives have been lost in the floods.

Estimates of property losses since Sunday's tornado by real estate men who went over the entire district range from $7,000,000 to $10,000,000.

Many houses that the passer-by would say is "damaged," are found upon investigation, to be wrecked so that they cannot be repaired except by rebuilding. In some cases, where the house is still standing, even the foundation may be destroyed, and the frame work may be wrecked.

The list of houses that must be rebuilt to be replaced is estimated at 600.

Of the 200 known dead within the area covered by the storm, 152 were residents of Omaha. The remaining dead are scattered over a considerable range of territory with Council Bluffs reporting 12, Yutan, Neb., 16; Berlin, Neb., 7; Glenwood, Ia., 5; Neola, Ia., 2 and Bartlett, Ia., 3. The same cities and towns report an aggregate of 400 injured and 450 homes demolished.

Perhaps 1,500 persons are homeless. Aside from this 3,000 buildings were more or less damaged, some of these being churches and school buildings.

THE DEAREST BABY

Mrs. Wilkes' Fondest Hopes Realized—Health, Happiness and Baby.

Plattsburg, Miss.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved very beneficial to me, for now I am well and have a sweet, healthy baby, and our home is happy.

"I was an invalid from nervous prostration, indigestion and female troubles.

"I think I suffered every pain a woman could before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I think it saved this baby's life, as I lost my first one.

"My health has been very good ever since, and I praise your medicine to all my friends."—Mrs. VERNA WILKES, R. F. D. No. 1, Plattsburg, Miss.

The darkest days of husband and wife are when they come to look forward to a childless and lonely old age.

Many a wife has found herself incapable of motherhood owing to some derangement of the feminine system, often curable by the proper remedies.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

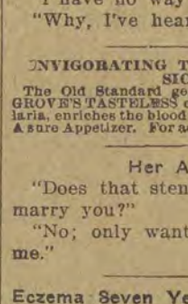
Bright Brass.

A great time and labor saver, in keeping brass, copper and other metals bright and shining, either indoors or outdoors, in any kind of weather, is to clean and scour in the usual way, and give them a coat of negative varnish, to be obtained at a store. Many ornaments which lack luster are also improved by one application.

CONSTIPATION



Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are unlike all other laxatives or cathartics. They coax the liver into activity by gentle methods, they do not scour; they do not gripe; they do not weaken; but they do start all the secretions of the liver and stomach in a way that soon puts these organs in a healthy condition and corrects constipation. Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are a tonic to the stomach, liver and nerves. They invigorate instead of weaken; they enrich the blood instead of impoverishing it; they enable the stomach to get all the nourishment from food that is put into it. Price 25 cents. All Druggists.

THE ROAD WORKING MACHINE

After a demonstration which lasted a week or more of the big road working machine which was here on trial, the Commissioners Court were satisfied as to its merits and have purchased the outfit, consisting of a thirty horse power "oil pull" traction engine, two large graders, a big plow and some cables and other accessories. The price paid was $3000.

The machine was tried on several pieces of road and the work done was very satisfactory. It is thought that the machine in the hands of a competent crew will go a long way toward solving the question of how to build and keep up our roads.

The engineer and crew will be selected by the Commissioners. The company selling the machine will leave an expert for fifteen days to train the crew.

We would suggest that in order to get efficient work from the machine and have adequate roads it will be well for all to agree to give a right of way of the proper width. It is impossible to have a good road on a fifteen foot strip. Then the road overseers should see to it that the stumps are taken up out of the road way so that the graders will have fair play. This done, the road can be shaped up in short order.

THE HOOKWORM CAMPAIGN

At the meeting of the Chilton County Board of Health Tuesday they had with them Dr. Carl A. Grote, representing the State Board of Health.

Dr. Grote, assisted by the doctors of the county, is going to begin a compaign in the county for the eradication of the hook worm disease.

The disease is to be treated free and the doctor and the movement are welcome in the county.

The campaign has been successfully conducted in thirty counties in the state and 27,000 cases treated.

We will give further notice next week.

SUMMER SCHOOLS.

All those in the county who wish to prepare for teachers examinations, or who wish to catch up with their grades, will have most excellent opportunity this summer. This issue carries the announcement of two such schools. One at Jemison to be conducted by. Profs. Henson and Collier, the other at Clanton by Profs. Pickens and Foshee. The names are guarantee that the instruction will be thorough.

Governor O'Neal says that he is tired of personal slander made against him by the press of the state, and that he has employed legal counsel to watch the reports that appear in the papers and to bring suit against them. BOYS' PIG CLUB

The success of the Boys' Corn Clubs and the Girls' Tomato Clubs has encouraged the Extension Department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn to inaugurate another movement which will probably be of equal value with the Corn Clubs. It is the Boys' Pig Club. The boys have learned how to make corn; it is well they should learn the best use to make of it.

Mr. Charles S. Jones, of Auburn, who is in charge of the movement was in Clanton Saturday in conference with the county officials and arrangements were made by which the following prizes are offered, to be awarded through the Chilton County Fair Association at their fair in October:

1. Best pure bred pig, any age, any breed, 1st $6.00, 2nd $4.00, 3rd $2.00, 4th $1.00, 5th one gallon Kreso Dip.

2. Best pig ready for butchering, pure bred or grade, 1st $6.00, 2nd $4.00, 3rd $2.00, 4th $1.00, 5th one gallon Kreso Dip.

3. Best group of four pigs, pure bred or grade, 1st $6.00, 2nd $4.00, 3rd $2.00, 4th $1.00, 5th one gallon Kreso Dip.

4. Greatest daily gains will count 40 per cent. Cheapest cost of production will count 20 per cent. Sow and pigs may be considered. 1st $6.00, 2nd $4.00, 3rd $2.00, 4th $1.00, 5th one gallon Zenoline Dip.

5. Best essay on "The value of forage crops for profitable hog raising in Alabama." 1st $6.00, 2nd 20 rods hog wire 3rd $2.00, 4th one gallon Zenoline Dip, 5th one gallon Zenoline Dip.

6. Best individual hog judge, 1st $6.00, 2nd $4.00, 3rd 10 rods hog wire, 4th $1.00, 5th one gallon Zenoline Dip.

7. For the best average in all of the above, one pure bred Berkshire pig, given by J. N. Dennis.

For any further information address Charles S. Jones, Auburn, Ala.

Any boy not under 10 years nor over 18 years, inclusive, who wishes to become a member of the Boys' Pig Club may do so by filling out the blanks below and mailing to Charles S. Jones, Auburn, Ala.

I wish to join the Boys' Pig Club this year and contest for all the prizes offered.

I agree to get at least one pig, care for him to the best of my ability, read all instructions, follow all rules as nearly as I can, keep a record of the feed and care given my pig, and at the request of the state manager fill out and send in all blank reports.

PROGRESSIVES IN THE HOUSE.

Age-Herald.

Eighteen progressive members have already agreed to attend a caucus on April 4, when Victor Murdock of Kansas will be put in nomination for speaker. More progressives may be unearthed, and it is known that there is a goodly number of near progressives in the House who lack the full courage of their convictions.

It is practically determined that the progressives in the House will hereafter act as a regularly organized party. They have asked Leader Underwood to recognize them as a party. They refuse to accept anything at the hands of Mr. Mann, the reactionary leader. The entire plan stands approved by Col. Roosevelt. "It would be," says the colonel, "an admirable thing to run Victor Murdock as our candidate for the speakership and I hope that, as you have suggested to him, he will announce himself as willing to accept the nomination of the progressives for this position. Then I think it would be a good thing for the progressive party that our men should act together and should consult one another freely and in addition that they should keep in closest touch with near progressives so as to act substantially on the same lines, with the idea that they might ultimately join with us. We should go ahead with our organization as a seperate distinct national party."

This simply means that a new and aggressive party is getting ready against 1916, and that there is nothing left for the republican party to do but to go off and die.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS

NATIONAL GOOD ROADS FEDERATION MEETS IN BIRMINGHAM.

Birmingham, March 29.—Wonderful interest is being aroused all over the United States in the coming meeting of the National Good Roads Federation, which meets in Birmingham on April 24-25. Already delegates have have been appointed from fifteen states. It is estimated that already two thousand delegates have been named to attend this convention.

The meeting will be held in the Jefferson theatre. In connection with the meeting a specially arranged hall has been erected in front of the Jefferson theatre where the National Good Roads Machinery Exhibit will take place. It will be the first one ever held in the South and will attract a great deal of attention, showing the various good roads machinery, materials, etc.

The United States government will, also, show some of the latest improved methods of building roads and material.

What

a great improvement would be made in the condition of horses and other animals if just the proper remedy were used when they became ill or injured. If your horse could talk he would ask you not to use any external remedy containing alcohol because it stings and tortures his flesh terribly. Some liniments have alcohol and other fiery ingredients which only inflame the skin and tissue without striking down to where the pain lies. Beware of such liniments. The great humane, quick-action remedy is MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT. Made of oils, without a drop of alcohol or other torturing element, it soaks straight to the bone and muscle. It soothes the wounded parts and is comforting while the healing work is progressing. Mexican Mustang Liniment is what you want because it

your work lighter, saves your livestock from suffering and keeps them in good trim for work. For all forms of Lameness, Strains, Bruises, Cuts, Burns, Galls and Harness Sores in animals, it is safe and prompt and does not promise what it cannot perform. Mustang Liniment has been doing its wonderful healing work for 65 years. The amount of money it has saved livestock owners is incalculable. One man writes that he was about to kill his valuable horse because badly injured but Mustang Liniment made him well again. A Veterinary tells us he has used Mustang Liniment fifteen years and found it best liniment for cuts, strains, etc. And many others are enthusiastic friends of this tried and true remedy. Many Kinds of Sugar.

There's lots of ignorance floating around about the things we eat, especially the sweet thing called sugar, for there is not one but many sugars varying one from the other in certain qualities. There is a sugar from the cane, from the beet and the maple. There is a sugar called glucose and another called fructose, which when combined are invert sugar. One or both of these sugars are universally distributed. They are to be found in all fruits. When cane sugar has been boiled with an acid or cream of tartar in the making of candy it is changed into glucose; in the human system all starch is digested into this glucose. Also this is the starch which gives the sweetness to commercial glucose, which, when made from the starch of the corn is known as corn syrup, and when made from starch of the potato has been called potato syrup. Then there is the sugar of milk.—Leslie's Weekly.

China's Woman Suffrage.

The International Woman Suffrage alliance, London, has received the gift of a banner from the Chinese Ladies' Mutual Helping society of Shanghai, which is to be presented to the Women's congress at Budapest next June. The banner, which is of scarlet satin, has the motto, "Helping each other, all of one mind," inscribed on it in Chinese characters. This society, which has a membership of over 200 women, was during the time of the revolution a secret society, many of its members being employed in the dangerous work of carrying arms and ammunition to the revolutionary forces. It has, however, now settled down into a quiet, peaceful organization, whose object is to obtain the vote for women by non-militant tactics and to make them fit for it by the spread of education.

Dislikes Personal Turn.

One of a woman's real difficulties in creating a free-speaking household is her natural tendency to regard opinions as personal. To differ is something she finds it difficult to tolerate. To her mind it is to be unfriendly. This propensity to give a personal turn to things is an expression of that intensity of nature which makes her, as Mr. Kipling has truthfully put it, "more deadly than the male!" Not infrequently she is loth to encourage free expression because it seems to her to disturb the peace. Certainly it does disturb fixety of views. It does prevent things becoming settled in the way that the woman, as a rule, loves to have them; but this disturbance prevents that rigid and fixed atmosphere which often drives the young from home.—Exchange.

Otters That Fish for Chinamen.

The far eastern nations are noted for their skill in training decoy birds, but it is not so generally known that the Chinese and Indians also make use of otters when on fishing expeditions, and by a curious method of training teach these animals not to swallow the fish they catch. The otter having been caught young, a collar is put round its throat. The little creature, finding itself unable for days together to swallow anything it catches, gives up attempting to do so, and seemingly develops the idea that it can only swallow such food as it receives direct from its master's hand. Accordingly it brings to the bank all the fish it captures.

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Keziah Coffin, supposed widow, is arranged to move from Trumet to Boston, following the death of her brother, for whom she had kept house. Kyan Pepper, widower, offers marriage, and is indignantly refused. Capt. Elkanah Daniels, leader of the Regular church offers Keziah a place as housekeeper for the new minister, and she decides to remain in Trumet. Keziah takes charge of Rev. John Ellery, the new minister, and gives him advice as to his conduct toward members of the parish. Ellery causes a sensation by attending a "Come-outer" meeting. Ellery's presence is bitterly resented by Eben Hammond, leader of the meeting. Grace apologizes for her guardian and Ellery escorts her home in the rain. Capt. Nat Hammond, Eben's son, becomes a hero by bringing the packet into port safely through fog and storm. Ellery finds Keziah writing a letter to some one, inclosing money in response to a demand. She is curiously startled when informed of the arrival of Nat. Nat calls on Keziah, and it develops that they have been lovers since youth. Daniels remonstrates with Ellery for attending "Come-outer" meeting. Ellery is caught by the tide and is rescued by Nat. They become friends. Ellery meets Grace while walking in the fields, and learns that she walks there every Sunday. The clergyman takes dinner Sundays with the Daniels. Annabel, the captain's daughter, exerts herself to make an impression on him. She notices with vexation his desire to get away every Sunday at a certain time. She watches him through a spy glass. Nat again importunes Keziah to marry him. He says he has had a quarrel with his father, who wants him to marry Grace. Ellery asks Grace to marry him. She confesses that she loves him, but says she fears to displease her guardian. Elkanah Daniels tells Eben about the meetings between Ellery and Grace. Eben declares he will make Grace choose between him and the preacher. Grace finds him in a faint, following the excitement of Elkanah's visit. Just before he dies Eben exacts a promise from Nat and Grace that they will marry. Keziah breaks the news to Ellery and later he receives a note from Grace saying she is to marry Nat, and asking him not to try to see her again. Keziah tells the story of her own marriage with a man who turned out to be a good-for-nothing, and who was reported to have been lost at sea, and of her love for Nat, whom she cannot marry because the husband is alive. Captain Nat sails for Manila to be gone two years. He says he and Grace have decided not to marry until he returns. Nat is overdue, and it is feared that he has been lost at sea. Keziah gets a letter from her husband saying he is coming back. Grace goes on a visit to relatives of the Hammonds. A vessel flying distress signals is discovered off the coast. Ellery goes with party to board the vessel. A man is found suffering from smallpox, the rest of the crew having deserted.

The sick man was raving in delirium when he reached him, but the sound of the water lapping the sides of the saucepan brought him to himself. He seized Ellery by the arm and drank and drank. When at last he desisted, the pan was half empty.

The minister laid him gently back in the bunk and stepped to the foot of the ladder for breath. This made him think of the necessity for air in the place and he remembered the little window. It was tightly closed and rusted fast. He went up to the deck, found a marlin spike, and, returning, broke the glass. A sharp, cold draught swept through the forecastle, stirring the garments hanging on the nails.

An hour later, two dories bumped against the side of the San Jose. Men, talking in low tones, climbed over the rail. Burgess was one of them; ashamed of his panic, he had returned to assist the others in bringing the brigantine into a safer anchorage by the inlet.

Dr. Parker, very grave but businesslike, reached the deck among the first.

"Mr. Ellery," he shouted, "where are you?"

The minister's head and shoulders appeared at the forecastle companion. "Here I am, doctor," he said. "Will you come down?"

The doctor made no answer in words, but he hurried briskly across the deck. One man, Ebenezer Capen, an old fisherman and ex-whaler from East Trumet, started to follow him, but he was the only one. The others waited, with scared faces, by the rail.

"Get her under way and inshore as soon as you can," ordered Dr. Parker. "Ebenezer, you can help. If I need you below, I'll call."

The minister backed down the ladder and the doctor followed him. Parker bent over the bunk for a few moments in silence.

"He's pretty bad," he muttered. "Mighty little chance. Heavens, what a den! Who broke that window?"

"I did," replied Ellery. "The air down here was dreadful."

The doctor nodded approvingly. "I guess so," he said. "It's bad enough now. We've got to get this poor fellow out of here as soon as we can or he'll die before tomorrow. Mr. Ellery," he added sharply, "what made you do this? Don't you realize the risk you've run?"

"Some one had to do it. You are running the same risk."

"Not just the same, and, besides, it's my business. Why didn't you let some one else, some one we could spare— Humph! Confound it, man! didn't you know any better? Weren't you afraid?"

His tone rasped Ellery's shaken nerves.

"Of course I was," he snapped irritably. "I'm not an idiot."

"Humph! Well, all right; I beg your pardon. But you oughtn't to have done it. Now you'll have to be quarantined. And who in thunder I can get to stay with me in this case is more than I know. Just say smallpox to this town and it goes to pieces like a smashed egg. Old Eb Capen will help, for he's had it, but it needs more than one."

"Where are you going to take—him?" pointing to the moaning occupant of the bunk.

"To one of the empty fish shanties on the beach. There are beds there, such as they are, and the place is secluded. We can burn it down when the fuss is over."

"Then why can't I stay? I shall have to be quarantined, I know that. Let me be the other nurse. Why should anyone else run the risk? I have run it. I'll stay."

Dr. Parker looked at him. "Well!" he exclaimed. "Well! I must say, young man, that you've got— Humph! All right, Mr. Ellery; I'm much obliged."

CHAPTER XVI.

In Which Ebenezer Capen Is Surprised.

Before sunset that afternoon the San Jose was anchored behind the point by the inlet. The fishing boats changed moorings and moved farther up, for not a single one of their owners would trust himself within a hundred yards of the stricken brigantine.

The largest of the beach shanties, one which stood by itself a quarter of a mile from the light, was hurriedly prepared for use as a pesthouse and the sick sailor was carried there on an improvised stretcher. Dr. Parker and Ellery lifted him from his berth and, assisted by old Ebenezer Capen, got him up to the deck and lowered him into the dory. Ebenezer rowed the trio to the beach and the rest of the journey was comparatively easy.

The shanty had three rooms, one of which was given up to the patient, one used as a living room, and, in the third, Capen and the minister were to sleep. Mattresses were procured, kind-hearted townspeople donated cast-off tables and chairs, and the building was made as comfortable as it could be, under the circumstances. Sign boards, warning strangers to keep away, were erected, and in addition to them, the Trumet selectmen ordered ropes stretched across the lane on both sides of the shanty. But ropes and signs were superfluous. Trumet in general was in a blue funk and had no desire to approach within a mile of the locality. Even the driver of the grocery cart, when he left the day's supply of groceries, pushed the packages under the ropes, yelled a hurried "Here you be!" and, whipping up his horse, departed at a rattling gallop.

The village sat up nights to discuss the affair and every day brought a new sensation. The survivors of the San Jose's crew, a wretched, panic-stricken quartette of mulattos and Portuguese, were apprehended on the outskirts of Denboro, the town below Trumet on the bay side, and were promptly sequestered and fumigated, pending shipment to the hospital at Boston. Their story was short but gruesome. The brigantine was not a Turks Islands boat, but a coaster from Jamaica. She had sailed with a small cargo for Savannah. Two days out and the smallpox made its appearance on board. The sufferer, a negro foremast hand, died. Then another sailor was seized and also died. The skipper, who was the owner, was the next victim, and the vessel was in a state of demoralization which the mate, an Englishman named Bradford, could not overcome. Then followed days and nights of calm and terrible heat, of pestilence and all but mutiny. The mate himself died. There was no one left who understood navigation. At last came a southeast gale and the San Jose drove before it. Fair weather found her abreast the Cape. The survivors ran her in after dark, anchored, and reached shore in the longboat. The sick man whom they had left in the forecastle was a new hand who had shipped at Kingston. His name was Murphy, they believed. They had left him because he was sure to die, like the others, and, besides, they knew some one would see the distress signals and investigate. That was all, yes. Santa Maria! was it not enough?

Dr. Parker Looked at Him.

Captain Zeb Mayo went about cheering for his parson. Mrs. Mayo cooked delicacies to be pushed under the ropes for the minister's consumption. The parish committee, at a special session, voted an increase of salary and ordered a weekly service of prayer for the safe delivery of their young leader from danger.

Keziah Coffin was, perhaps, the one person most disturbed by her parson's heroism. She would have gone to the shanty immediately had not Dr. Parker prevented. Even as it was, she did go as far as the ropes, but there she was warded off by Ebenezer until Ellery came running out and bade her come no nearer. Keziah, after more expostulation, went back to the parsonage. She wrote to Grace and told her the news of the San Jose, but she said nothing of the minister's part in it. "Poor thing!" sighed Keziah, "she's bearin' enough already."

The sick sailor grew no better. Days and nights passed and he raved and moaned or lay in a stupor. Ebenezer acted as day nurse while Ellery slept, and, at night, the minister, being younger, went on watch. The doctor came frequently, but said there was no hope. A question of time only, and a short time, he said.

Capen occupied his mind with speculations concerning the patient.

"Do you know, parson," he said, "seem's if I'd seen the feller somewheres afore. 'Course I never have, but when I used to go whalin' v'yages I cruised from one end of creation to t'other, pretty nigh, and I might have met him."

That night the sick man was much worse. His ravings were incessant. The wooden clock, loaned by Mrs. Parker, the doctor's wife, ticked steadily, although a half hour slow. Ellery, glancing at it to see if the time had come for giving medicine, suddenly noticed how loud its ticking sounded. Wondering at this, he was aware there was no other sound in the house. He rose and looked in at the door of the adjoining room. The patient had ceased to rave and was lying quiet on the bed.

The minister tiptoed over to look at him. And, as he did so, the man opened his eyes.

"Halloo!" he said faintly. "Who are you?"

Ellery, startled, made no answer.

"Who are you?" demanded the man again. Then, with an oath, he repeated the question, adding: "What place is this? This ain't the fo'castle. Where am I?"

"You're ashore. On Cape Cod. At Trumet."

"Trumet! Trumet!"

He was struggling to raise himself on his elbow. Ellery was obliged to use force to hold him down. He struggled again. Then his strength and his reason left him simultaneously and the delirium returned. He began to shout a name, a name that caused Ellery to stand upright and step back from the bed, scarcely believing his ears.

All the rest of that night the man on the bed raved and muttered, but of people and places and happenings which he had not mentioned before. And the minister, listening intently to every word caught himself wondering if he also was not losing his mind.

When the morning came, Ebenezer Capen was awakened by a shake to find John Ellery standing over him.

"Capen," whispered the minister, "Capen, get up. I must talk with you. You used to be a whaler, I know. Were you acquainted in New Bedford?"

"Sartin. Was a time when I could have located every stick in it, pretty nigh, by the smell, if you'd set me down side of 'em blindfolded."

"Did you ever know anyone named—" He finished the sentence.

"Well's I wanted to. Pretty decent feller one time, but a fast goer, and went downhill like a young one's sled, when he got started. His folks had money, that was the trouble with him. Why, 'course I knew him. He married—"

"I know. Now, listen."

Ellery went on talking rapidly and with great earnestness. Ebenezer listened, at first silently, then breaking in with ejaculations and grunts of astonishment. He sat up on the edge of the bed.

"Rubbish!" he cried at last. "Why, 'tain't possible! The feller's dead as Methusalem's grandmarm. I remember how it happened and—"

"It wasn't true. That much I know. I know, I tell you."

He went on to explain why he knew. Capen's astonishment grew.

"Judas priest!" he exclaimed again. "That would explain why I thought I'd seen— There! heave ahead. I've got to see. But it's a mistake. I don't believe it."

The pair entered the sick room. The sailor lay in a stupor. His breathing was rapid, but faint. Capen bent over him and gently moved the bandage on his face. For a full minute he gazed steadily. Then he stood erect, drew a big red hand across his forehead, and moved slowly back to the living room.

"Yup," he said, "it's him. Mr. Ellery, what are you goin' to do about it?"

"I don't know. I don't know. I must go somewhere by myself and think. I don't know what to do."

The minister declined to wait for breakfast. He said he was not hungry. Leaving Ebenezer to put on the coffeepot and take up his duties as day nurse, Ellery walked off along the beach. By and by he heard Capen calling his name.

"Mr. Ellery;" shouted Ebenezer. "Mr. Ellery, where be you?"

"Here!" replied the minister.

The old man came scrambling over the sand. He was panting and much excited.

"Mr. Ellery!" he cried, "Mr. Ellery! it's settled for us—one part of it, anyhow. He's slipped his cable. Yup. He must have died just a little while after you left and after I gave him his medicine. I thought he looked kind of queer then. And when the doctor came we went in together and he was dead. Yes, sir, dead."

"Dead!"

"Um-hm. No doubt of it; it's for good this time. Mr. Ellery, what shall we do? Shall I tell Dr. Parker?"

Ellery considered for a moment. "No," he said slowly. "No, Capen, don't tell anyone. I can't see why they need ever know that he hasn't been dead for years, as they supposed. Promise me to keep it a secret. I'll tell—her—myself, later on. Now promise me; I trust you."

"Land sakes, yes! I'll promise, if you want me to."

The next day the body of "Murphy," foremast hand on the San Jose, was buried in the corner of the Regular graveyard, near those who were drowned in the wreck of that winter. Capen remained at the shanty another week. Then, as the minister showed no symptoms of having contracted the disease and insisted that he needed no companion, Ebenezer departed to take up his fishing once more.

Ellery himself was most urgent in the decision that he should not go back to the parsonage and his church just yet. Better to wait until he was sure, he said, and Dr. Parker agreed.

Dr. Parker told him of Grace Van Horne's return to the village. She had come back, so the doctor said, the day before, and was to live at the tavern for a while, at least. Yes, he guessed even she had given up hope of Captain Nat now.

"And say," went on Parker, "what

The Old Man Came Scrambling Over the Sand.

I want to know is whether you think I could leave you for a couple of days? The Ostable County Medical Society meets at Hyannis tomorrow and I had promised myself to take it in this year. But I don't want to leave you, if you need me."

Ellery insisted that he did not need anyone, was getting along finely, and would not hear to his friend's missing the medical society's meeting. So the physician went. John Ellery did not feel cheerful that afternoon. The tired feeling he had spoken of so lightly was worse than he had described it, and he was despondent, for no particular reason. That night he slept miserably and awoke with a chill to find a cold, pouring rain beating against the windows of the shanty.

He lay down on his bed and tried to sleep, but though he dozed a bit, woke always with a start and either a chill or fever fit. His head began to ache violently. And then, in the lonesomeness and misery, fear began to take hold of him.

Night came. The rain had ceased and stars were shining clear. Inside the shanty the minister tossed on the bed, or staggered back and forth about the two rooms. He wondered what the time might be; then he did not care. He was alone. The smallpox had him in its grip. Why didn't some one come? Where was Mrs. Coffin? And Grace? She was somewhere near him—Parker had said so—and he must see her before he died. He called her name over and over again.

The wind felt cold on his forehead. He stumbled amidst the beach grass. What was this thing across his path? A rope, apparently, but why should there be ropes in that house? There had never been any before. He climbed over it and it was a climb of hundreds of feet and the height made him giddy. That was a house, another house, not the one he had been living in. And there were lights all about. Perhaps one of them was the light at the parsonage. And a big bell was booming. That was his church bell and he would be late for the meeting.

Some one was speaking to him. He knew the voice. He had known it always and would know it forever. It was the voice he wanted to hear. "Grace!" he called. "Grace! I want you. Don't go! Don't go! Grace! oh, my dear! don't go"

Then the voice had gone. No, it had not gone. It was still there and he heard it speaking to him, begging him to listen, pleading with him to go somewhere, go back, back to something or other. And there was an arm about his waist and some one was leading him, helping him. He broke down and cried childishly and some one cried with him.

GREAT FINANCIER PASSES AWAY

J. PIERPONT MORGAN SPENDS LAST DAYS IN ROME.

HE WAS 76 YEARS OF AGE

Body Will Be Embalmed and Sent from Naples to New York, Where Funeral Will Be Conducted—His Son Will Succeed to Financial Throne.

Rome.—J. Pierpont Morgan, the New York financier, died here. For months his health has been declining, but the symptoms became greatly aggravated about a week ago, and since Wednesday last he had been in a semi-conscious condition.

Dr. M. Allen Starr of New York, called into consultation in connection with Mr. Pierpont's illness, attributed the financier's breakdown to emotion caused by the investigation carried out by the Pujo committee at Washington into the operations of the "money trust."

Tonight his body, lying in the death chamber, is surrounded with flowers. Messages of sympathy have been received from King Victor Emanuel, high officials of state, diplomatic representatives and from many personal friends in all parts of the world.

The death of Mr. Morgan was not known in Rome until several hours after it occurred, owing to the desire that Mr. Morgan's son, J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., who is in New York, should first be notified.

Mr. Morgan's daughter, Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee, who has been in constant attendance, was at the death bed.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN.

J. Pierpont Morgan, banker and financier, was born at Hartford, Conn., April 17, 1837.

His father, Junius Spencer Morgan, and his mother, Juliet Pierpont, were descendants of old New England stock. Both were from noted families.

He was educated, first in the public schools of Hartford, later graduated from a Boston high school, and finished his studies at the University of Goettingen, Germany. He was an ordinary scholar, evidencing no brilliant streaks of mentality.

Entered banking house of Duncan, Sherman & Co., as clerk, in 1857. Became United States agent for London banking firm of George Peabody & Co., of which his father was a member, in 1860.

Married Amelia Louise Sturges, 1861—died 1862.

Married Louise Tracy, 1865. Had one son and three daughters.

Became member of respective firms of Dabney, Morgan & Co., and Drexel, Morgan & Co., in 1864 and 1871. The latter firm became J. P. Morgan & Co.

Floated bond issue of $200,000,000 during President Cleveland's administration.

Organized and floated securities of United States Steel Corporation, 1901; capital, $1,100,000,000.

Secured American subscriptions to the British war loan of 1901, amounting to $50,000,000.

Controlled 50,000 miles of railways, large American and British ocean transportation lines and English traction railways.

Gave $1,500,000 for site and building for lying-in hospital in New York.

Twice won the international yacht races with the yacht Shamrock, which he caused to be built.

Checked a disastrous panic in 1907 by personally taking hold of the situation and dumping millions of dollars into the New York Stock Exchange.

Testified before the Pujo committee in 1913 that there was no "money trust" and could be none.

Made famous collections of paintings, bronzes and antique art, including the famous Gainsborough painting, which he later turned over to the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City.

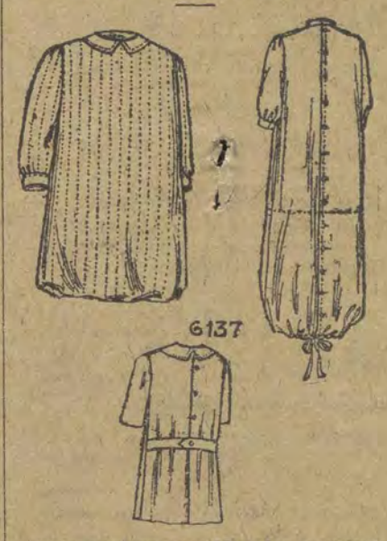
Personally he was gruff, all business, and kept a string on every venture he was concerned in.

Columbus, Ky., Levee Gives Way.

Columbus, Ky.—The levee at Columbus went out and the city is covered with from five to ten feet of water. Hope had been abandoned earlier in the day and everybody warned to leave. A few families have been caught in the second floors of their homes. The rest fled to the hills back of the town at the first signs of weakening in the levee. There is food enough on hand for three or four days, but after that suffering will be acute unless succor comes. Tents are needed badly.

Practical Fashions

CHILDREN'S CREEPING APRON.



This pattern provides for a creeping apron for a baby and also for a plain sack apron for the older tot. The creeping apron is gathered at the knees. The sack apron has belt at back and turn down collar.

Mountain Fever.

Miss Dora Keene was talking at a tea at the Acorn club in Philadelphia, about mountaineers' enthusiasm.

"The frenzy to get higher, higher, higher," she said, "is quite incredible to those who have done no mountaineering.

"There's a story, doubtless true, about a girl who climbed the Schreckhorn, a difficult rock-scramble. When the summit was reached the head guide, wiping his brow, panted:

"'Well, here we are, men, up on the top at last.'

"But the girl said, fretfully:

"'Oh, guide, can't we go any higher?'

"'Not unless you climb this alpenstock, miss,' the guide answered, thrusting it into the frozen snow."

Simple Remedy for Burns.

Common whiting, mixed with water to the consistency of a thick cream spread on linen, forms an excellent local application to burns and scalds. The whole burnt surface should be covered, thus excluding the action of the air. The ease it affords is instantaneous, and it only requires to be kept moist by occasional sprinkling of cold water.

Sure.

"There is some great force lacking in this country today," observed the sage.

"Yes," commented the wise guy. "What this country needs is a fool killer who will stay on the job."

Secret.

"Botts is a mysterious person."

"Why so?"

"He takes great credit to himself."

"Well?"

"And nobody has ever been able to find out what for."

PIMPLES CAME IN BLOTCHES

Morrison, Tenn.—"For one year I suffered from a very severe attack of acne or pimples, accompanied by eczema. It first showed itself by the formation of small red, rather hard pimples which were not only disfiguring, but were painful. They also appeared on my neck and chest. Their itching was often so intense as to cause insomnia, and they very often caused pain and burning. I tried several so-called 'sure cure' remedies, but they did little or no good. Several months ago I heard of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and wrote for a sample.

"I found them so soothing that I at once purchased a twenty-five cent cake of Cuticura Soap, and a fifty cent box of Cuticura Ointment. After using them for about a month, all of the itching and the pimples had entirely disappeared." (Signed) John Finger, Dec. 30, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston." Adv.

Personality.

Personality is just one's centralized experience of the world, and there is no way of making it greater except by making that experience greater and more centralized; in other words, being a bigger, broader, better man or woman. Every intellectual achievement, every moral victory, every bit of solid work, will leave personality richer, profounder, more delicate. In fact, to cultivate it, the plan is don't cultivate it. Let it alone and do your duty and it will grow.—E. B. Andrews, in the International Journal of Ethics.

Profound Criticism.

Kin Hubbard, the Indiana humorist—one of them, that is to say—once was assigned to cover a performance of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Hubbard had his brain-child, old "Abe Martin," report the play. This was the critique: "'Uncle Tom's Cabin' played down t' Melodeon hall las' night. Th' dogs was good, but they had poor support."—Everybody's Magazine.

"I am going to try this sleeping in the open air as a tentative proposition."

"Have you got the tent?"

His Reason.

"Why does that museum freak complain that he is a dead one?"

"Because he is a living skeleton."

FLY TO PIECES.
The Effect of Coffee on Highly Organized People.

"I have been a coffee user for years, and about two years ago got into a very serious condition of dyspepsia and indigestion. It seemed to me I would fly to pieces. I was so nervous that at the least noise I was distressed, and many times could not straighten myself up because of the pain."

Tea is just as injurious, because it contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee.

"My physician told me I must not eat any heavy or strong food, and ordered a diet, giving me some medicine. I followed directions carefully, but kept on using coffee and did not get any better.

"Last winter my husband, who was away on business, had Postum served to him in the family where he boarded. He liked it so well that when he came home he brought some with him. We began using it and I found it most excellent.

"While I drank it my stomach never bothered me in the least, and I got over my nervous troubles. When the Postum was gone we returned to coffee, then my stomach began to hurt me as before, and the nervous conditions came on again.

"That showed me exactly what was the cause of the whole trouble, so I quit drinking coffee altogether and kept on using Postum. The old troubles left again and have never returned."

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville, in pkgs.

TURKEY ACCEPTS PEACE PROPOSALS

DECLARES WILLINGNESS TO ACCEPT WITHOUT RESERVATION TERMS OF MEDIATION.

ABANDONS CLAIM TO CRETE

Bulgaria Accepts Mediation, But Persists in a Demand for Indemnity.

Constantinople.—The Turkish government declared that it unreservedly accepted the terms of peace proposed by the European powers. The foreign office handed the Ottoman acceptance to the doyen of the diplomatic corps accompanied by an expression of thanks to the powers for their mediation.

The terms of mediation offered by the European powers to Turkey and the Balkan allies were:

"1. The frontier of the Ottoman empire in Europe shall start at Enos, and, following the course of the Maritza river and then that of the Ergene, shall end at Midia. All territories situated west of this line shall be ceded by Turkey to the allied states with the exception of Albania, the delimination of which shall be fixed by the powers.

"2. The question of the Aegean islands shall be settled by the powers.

"3. Turkey shall abandon all claim to Crete.

"4. The powers cannot favorably entertain the demand for indemnity but will admit the allies to participate in the discussion of the international commission in Paris for an equitable settlement of their participation in the Ottoman debt and in the financial charges of the districts to be handed over to them. Turkey is to be asked to take part in the labors of this commission.

"The great powers declare at the same time that as soon as these bases are completed hostilities shall cease."

On March 30 Bulgaria notified her acceptance of the offer of mediation, but persisted in her demand for a war indemnity and proposed to substitute a frontier line from Midia on the Black sea to the Gulf of Saros at the top of the Peninsula of Gallipoli.

The European ambassadors in London have since been considering the situation but have not reached any definite conclusion. The fall of the fortress of Adrianople is considered likely to have some influence on future negotiations.

WELCOMED TO HIS ALMA MATER.

Undergraduate Yale Gives William Howard Taft a Big Ovation.

New Haven, Conn.—Undergraduate Yale welcomed former President Taft back to his alma mater in a manner no less hearty and enthusiastic than was the godspeed given Woodrow Wilson by the Princeton students when he left Princeton a month ago to take up the duties at Washington that Mr. Taft was about to lay down.

Mr. Taft is no stranger to New Haven, having made frequent trips here during his presidency by virtue of being a member of the Yale corporation, but it is doubtful whether he ever received a more cordial welcome. When it became known that Mr. Taft had accepted the Kent professorship of law at Yale, New Haven was anxious to give him a formal welcome, but it was omitted at Mr. Taft's request. Yale students, however, were not to be denied their wish to welcome him back.

Practically the entire student body, 3,000 strong, reinforced by a band, was at the station when Mr. Taft and his party arrived. An equally large crowd of citizens also was present. As the Taft party stepped from the train Captain Spalding, of last year's football team, strode forward and presented Mrs. Taft with a great bouquet of violets. A moment later Yale's famous "frog chorus" cheer with nine "Tafts" on the end, roared from 3,000 throats.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Taft were deeply moved by the reception. Mr. Taft's famous smile was lacking for a moment and he wore a serious look. As the demonstration grew, however, he smiled broadly, and doffed his hat in acknowledgement. Headed by the "Y" men of the athletic teams and a bull dog straining at its leash, the procession proceeded to the campus.

Visibly affected, Mr. Taft said:

"Men of Yale: You will believe me when I tel you that I am greatly touched by this student reception."

OH! MY BACK!

A stubborn backache that hangs on, week after week, is cause to suspect kidney trouble, for when the kidneys are inflamed and swollen, bending the back brings a sharp twinge that almost takes the breath away.

It's hard to work and just as hard to rest or sleep.

Doan's Kidney Pills revive sluggish kidneys—relieve congested, aching kidneys. The proof is an amazing collection of backache testimonials.

A CONNECTICUT CASE

Charles R. Phillips, 531 Elm St., New Haven, Conn., says: "I suffered from cutting backaches and dizzy spells, and my whole system was run down. I was confined to bed for three weeks and my physcian said I was bordering on Bright's disease. His medicine failed to help me, and finally I determined to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. They relieved me almost from the first and soon cured me entirely."

IN WARFARE OF FACTIONS

Snapshot of Quiet Domestic Scene When Rivals Fought for the Control of Mexico.

There was a dramatic silence.

"We need butter for supper," said the wife and mother firmly. "I don't see how we can get along without it. I'll send Johnnie to the grocer's. It's just across the street, you know. He's little and can run fast."

"No," said the husband and father firmly, "I will go."

But the wife flung herself on his breast as he took down his hat.

"No, no, John," she cried; "you can't be spared. I will go."

He caught her by the arms.

"No," he quickly said. "What would I do without you? Hark!"

They all listened.

"I can open a tumbler of jelly," said the wife and mother.

"Gimme jelly," cried the child.

So they sat down and ate their butterless supper.

And all this happened because they lived in the City of Mexico, and the rival factions were using the streets for gun practice.

ACCIDENT DUE TO A CUSPIDOR

Mother of Young Baby Stumbles And Falls. Serious Complications Set In.

Duffield, Va.—In advices from this place, Mrs. J. L. Johnson says: "When my baby was about a month old, I stumbled and fell over a cuspidor, and contracted such pains in my back, I could not stoop over without falling to the floor.

I got terribly weak, and was very uneasy about myself.

My case was certainly a serious one. I was so delicate that most people thought I was going to have consumption, and I thought so myself.

Finally my husband advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic. I tried it, and am confident that it saved my life.

The pains in my side and back have disappeared, and all of my friends here say that I am looking better than I have done for a long time.

I recommend Cardui to all of my lady friends, as I believe it will help them, just as it did me, if they will only give it a trial.

You may use this letter in any way you wish. I feel so grateful, for if it had not been for Cardui, the woman's tonic, I believe I would by this time have been in my grave."

Try Cardui for your troubles. It will help you, as it did Mrs. Johnson.

RECORD OF WORK WELL DONE

Anti-Tuberculosis Campaign Fruitful of Results for the Good of All Mankind.

Some comparisons showing the progress of the anti-tuberculosis campaign in the last eight years and the present needs of this movement are made by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis in a brief report of its work recently issued. During the eight years of its work, the national association has assisted in the organization of over 800 state and local anti-tuberculosis societies located in almost every state and territory of the Union. Over 500 hospital and sanatoria have been established, with more than 30,000 beds for consumptives. About 400 dispensaries, with more than 1,000 physicians in attendance and at least 150 open air schools for tuberculous and anaemic children, have also been provided. Laws dealing with tuberculosis have been passed in 45 states, and ordinances on this subject have been adopted in over 200 cities and towns. An active field campaign of education against tuberculosis has been carried on in 40 states and territories by means of lectures, exhibits, the press, and the distribution of over 100,000,000 pamphlets on this disease.

No Little Girl for Him.

The six-year-old son of a well-known Indianapolis family attends a dancing school. He is a chubby little fellow who has not begun to stretch out yet, and he keenly feels his "shortage." He demands that he be recognized as a little "grownup." Several days ago the teacher planned to instruct her pupils in dancing "the Butterfly." A five-year-old girl who is small for her age, and just a trifle stouter than our hero, but an adept at dancing, was assigned as his partner. He gazed at her in silence. Then he took hold of her hand and, with his mouth set firmly, walked straight over to the teacher:

"Don't you think you'd better give me a bigger girl?" he asked.—Indianapolis News.

Explaining the Needle.

A typesetter in a printing house became very adroit in explaining the large number of misprints for which he was responsible. Even when he changed his work and became a waiter in a restaurant, says Das Echo, his skill did not forsake him.

One day he had served a guest with a plate of soup, and was turning away, when he was called back sharply.

"This is an outrage!" cried the indignant diner. "I find a needle in my soup! What does this mean?"

"Just a misprint, sir," explained the former typesetter. "It should have been a noodle."—Youth's Companion.

Counter-Thrust.

"A very good retort!" said Senator Lodge in an argument in this city over the immigration bill. "A very good retort indeed! It reminds me of Weeks.

"Weeks and his wife were quarreling. Weeks, with a hard, scornful laugh, 'you acted like a fish out of water.'

"Weeks sighed.

"'But a very cleverly landed fish,' he said, in a musing voice."

Franklin and wife, and Misses Bessie Nix, Lena Franklin, Bessie Hall, Erva Finch, Christena McIntyre and Martha Binkley. They report a very good convention.

The concert given by the Olivette Concert Company here on Friday night was a success, good house and fine program.

Rev. E. W. Butler preached at the Congregational church Sunday.

Rev. T. J. Swanzey, field secretary of the Alabama Anti-Saloon League, gave a very interesting lecture at the Baptist church Sunday night. More than $60 were raised for the League at that time.

Dean Davis of the University will give a lecture here on "The Ideal City," April 10.

Col. T. C. McCorvey of the University will lecture April 24 on "The War Poetry of the South."

Mrs. H. L. Foshee and sister Miss Ochie Daniels visited friends and relatives in Calera this week.

Mrs. P. C. Smith and Mrs. T. W. Robinson made a business trip to Birmingham this week.

Mrs. Sam W. Collins visited relatives in Clanton this week.

Prof. N. W. Henson, of Cuba, Ala,, was in Thorsby last week.

The sale of lots in Thorsby Saturday resulted in all lots being sold at a minimum price of $25.

Rev. E. W. Butler has accepted the pastorate of the Congregational church here and will also teach some in the Institute next year.

Dr. A. M. Woolley of Jemison was in town Tuesday.

Miss Blannie Sanders of Dadeville and Miss Frankie Northcutt of Montevallo who have been in school here this year, have gone home.

Miss Bessie Watson of Jemison entered school here Tuesday

TheCongregational LadiesAid Society will hold a Welcome Social at the home of Rev. E. W. Butler Thursday afternoon.

The Ladies Guild will give an entertainment at the Institute April 19. Music will be rendered by the Thorsby orchestra and an illustrated lecture will probably be given at the time.

Rev. Swanlund, the newly elected pastor of the Swedish church has arrived in Thorsby.

Andrew Hanson, a bachelor, who had no relatives that he knew of, was found dead in his bed Saturday morning. The doctors said that his death was due to acute indigestion. He was buried Saturday afternoon in the the Thorsby cemetery.

I have been informed that the entire faculty of the Thorsby Institute have been re-elected for the next year.

The new boys' dormitory since being painted has added very much to the appearance of the school property in Thorsby.

THORSBY PUBLIC SCHOOL CLOSES.

The Thorsby Public School closed one of its best years work last Friday afternoon. The school has been under the management of Mr. John A. Hunter this year, with Miss Clara Soberg and Miss Bonnie Jenkins as assistants. The school has had a larger attendance this year than it has ever had and the pupils have advanced well in their studies. The Thorsby Institute vacated Friday afternoon in order for the teachers and pupils to aotend the exercises at the public school. The program included a number of recitations and essays with several songs. The graduating class sang a very beautiful song and members of the class . read some good essays. After the other exercises were over the graduating class composed of Mr. Earl Mead and Misses Grace Michelson, Vera Peterson, Mildred Johnson, Francis Horn were called forward and certificates of graduation from the state public schools were presented to them by Mr. Hunter. A large class of sixth grade pupils were promoted to the seventh grade. The prize offered for the best pupil in the graduating class was awarded to Miss Vera Peterson. Similar prizes were awarded to Misses Pauline Stanley and Olga Soberg in the sixth grade class. After this short talks were made by Mr. Hunter, Prof. Soberg and Mr. Soberg. The school was then dismissed with prayer led by Prof. Herbert.

CLIP YOUR HORSES.

A clipped horse will do more work and keep in better condition on same amount of food than one unclipped, and he will do it with more vim and vigor—easy to keep clean, and looks so much better, in fact it makes a new horse out of him. Clip him this spring and you will never let him go through another without being clipped.

We have a first-class machine and experienced men to do the work.

Our Veterinary Department is equipped with power floats for filling horses teeth without cutting or bruising their gums and mouth like the old style hand floats. If your horse isn't doing well or doesn't respond to feed as you think he should; in the majority of cases it is on account of rough or uneven teeth, and a dollar or so spent toward the correction of the evil will pay well in the horses rapid improvement, enabling him to properly masticate his food.

Remember we can take care of your horse clipping, veterinary dental work and horse shoeing. Come to see us, we guarantee satisfaction.

ABOUT BERKSHIRE PIGS

THE BERKSHIRE.

By H. L. Murphy, in the Berkshire World.

Give Peter Mow his China swine
But I'll take Berkshires every time.
With short pug nose and curly tail
He will always find a ready sale.

There are Farmworth and the red Duroc,
But none equal the Berkshire on the block.
Every inch of him is good to eat
From the end of his nose to his little white feet.

All like the Berkshire hog the best,
For he grows quicker than the rest.
On a little grain and peavine hay
He is growing larger every day.

In the North, South, East or West
Everyone loves the Berkshire best.
Slick, fat, long and deep,
He'll clear off the mortgage while you sleep.

I see it now and others will;
It is to some a bitter pill,
One will stay, the others must fall
But Berkshires will survive them all,
Take your Poland China or Duroc swine,
Hampshire or Tamworth, but for mine
I'll take the Berkshire, young or old
I can always trade him off for gold.

And in the end I wish to say,
The Berkshire hog has come to stay.
We have shown them all a little stunt,
The Berkshire hog is at the front.

From Berkshire World.

Geo. N. Runkle of Illinois won first prize on a car of Berkshire hogs, weighing 350 pounds or over, and Grand Championship of all breeds, also special prize given by American Berkshire Association. These hogs were sold at auction for $8.55 per hundred weight on foot, this being 75c higher than the market for other hogs on the same day. (p. 4. Jan. 1, 1913.)

Moral: For best prices and cheapest gains, get Berkshires.

The demand for Berkshires is very great, still they can be secured at reasonable prices. If you can't find them write us, we will help you find some good pigs.

The Berkshire is generally recognized as one of the best, if not the best of all hogs for the South. He is a number 1 rustler, and will make a good part of his living if given a chance. He can be fattened at any age and will be better than any cross bred hogs, however, if you can't grow pure bred Berkshires you can at least get one pure bred Berkshire and breed your sows to him, and you will be surprised at the improvement it will make in your young herd.

Let every boy who joins the Boys Pig Club in this county make an honest effort to secure a pure bred Berkshire pig, as by having a pure bred pig he has a better chance to win the prizes offered than if he had a grade or mixed blood pig, and it will be worth more to him in many ways to have a pure bred pig. We will be glad to assist any member in finding a pure bred pig.

Connoisseur's Cup of Tea.

Leigh Hunt, in one of his "Indicator" essays, gives a minute account of the preparation of "a cup of tea after mine own fashion. An ounce rubbed to powder and deposited in its silver receiver, with just cold water enough to saturate it. After standing twenty minutes, hot water off the boil was poured on it, and the lid was closely shut down, while the cup was placed on the spout to catch the aroma thence issuing. At the expiration of a minute it was poured out. A small portion of cream was instantly added, to prevent the escape of the essential oil floating on the surface, and just sufficient sugar to neutralize the slight bitter. Oh, heavens! to sip that most exquisite cup of delight was bliss almost too great for earth; a thousand years of raptures all concentrated into the space of a minute, as if the joys of all the world had been skimmed for my peculiar drinking."

Curious Fish Washed Ashore.

A curious fish, which at first sight looked like a whale, was recently washed up on the beach at Fortrose, Ross, Scotland. Its mouth was situated on the under side of a large rounded nose, and contained only six teeth, and these on the under jaw. Side fins were entirely wanting. Its eyes—very small—were situated in a line continuous with the mouth. In length the animal measured ten feet, its tail resembling that of a whale. The diameter of the body—measured at almost any part—was three feet. A fin, shaped not unlike a rudder, was situated on the back about midway between head and tail, and measured 18 inches in length, while two narrow fins two feet long were situated under the head. The color over the whole body consisted of yellowish white.

Crab That Had Wandered Far.

A crab about the size of an orange and almost of the same form has been brought into Lowestoft, Suffold, England, by the smack Giralda, which trawled it up near the Galloper lightship. The whole of its body and its thick, stunted legs were covered with brown hairs, which were so close as to give it the appearance of being clad in velvet. Its large pincer claws had toothed points very similar to double teeth, but of a rich carmine color. A naturalist identified it as Dromia vulgaris, a denizen of the Mediterranean, which has never previously been taken off the east coast, though specimens have appeared occasionally on the south coast. The recent gales are supposed to have accounted for its presence in the North sea.

Eiffel Now Studies Air.

M. Eiffel, the builder of the famous tower, is carrying out elaborate experiments in wind pressure by means of which he hopes to solve theoretically the problems of aviation. At Auteuil he has established an enormous aerodynamic laboratory which contains among other elaborate apparatus a system of fans capable of producing wind currents of all speeds up to forty-five yards a second. By an ingenious contrivance of balances he is able to test the pressure on a plane surface at different angles and in different positions, thus obtaining statistics most useful to French airmen. He is also giving attention to the question of wind pressure on the walls of airship shelter; also the force of different kinds of propellers used on air craft.

Authorized by Webster.

A young man was taken to police headquarters on complaint of a young woman who alleged he had called her a "chicken," the St. Paul Pioneer Press states. He later was released after explaining his position and after recourse to Webster's dictionary by the police officials. The young man, it is said, maintained he had not insulted the young woman, as she charged. He finally convinced the officers he was right. He referred them to the work of Webster for corroboration. The dictionary said: "Chicken —A young person; a child; especially a young woman; a maiden."

Mere Mediocrity.

"I used to think I possessed the artistic temperament—the sacred fire; but I was mistaken. I'm just one among the millions of common people." "You have no right to say that! You have done some splendid things —things that you could not possibly have done if you had merely been one among the millions of common people." "No, you're mistaken. I'm just an ordinary, everyday man. Why, my wife has lived with me for 11 years without ever once thinking of getting a divorce!"—Judge's Library.

All Gas.

"Laura," said that young lady's mother, "it seems to me that you had the gas turned rather low while young Smartly was here last evening. "It was solely for economy, mamma," answered the maiden. "There is no use trying to beat the gas company, my daughter. I have noticed that the shutting off of the gas is always followed by a corresponding increase of pressure." "Well, that lessens the waist, doesn't it, mamma, dear?" replied the artless girl. And her fond parent could find no answer.

Joke Cost Miner His Life.

Alejandro Ramierez, a Tucson, Ariz., miner with a penchant for "physical wit," lost his life through amusing himself by trying to step on the fingers of a fellow miner who was preceding him on a ladder down the shaft of the Twin mine, near this city. Ramierez lost his footing and fell 300 feet. The other miner dodged the falling body.

County meeting at Collins Chapel, June 19-20, 1913.

NO BOND ISSUE, BUT GOOD ROADS.

Editor Union-Banner :

Allow me a few lines on the road question. Do not saddle any debts on the coming generation, and not on the present one for that matter. There is no particle of need of that in Chilton county. Very few counties in the United States, or in the world, are better fixed. East of Collins Chappel there is practically hundreds of acres with plenty rocks, why not change the law for the county convicts and get them out there to beat rocks so much for each day. if not sick, and if they would make more a day then let that go off on their length of sentence. Of course the land must be condemned for public or county uses.

I saw in last weeks Union that they got an oil tractor, these machines are good on reasonable level roads. But here in the hills they are bad, they spoil where they take hold and slide on top where it is hard.

Nothing will beat a 10-inch road plow and three good horses to that and three slush scrapers, two going steady, the third for the plow team when not plowing and three extra men ; one filling scrapers, one on dump, and one with a mattock and shovel getting out roots, etc.

But the man who handles the plow must know what he is doing, and best if he is the foreman or overseer. Get the clay hills down in the sand dunes and let that mix first, the power and the men should be able to keep the roads in a beat in good order. Then demand all farmers in the district of the road to get three horse loads in the fall on certain days and two loads of the crushed rock to put in the soft places in the spring.

In the fall the rock to be placed in trenches at wheel tracks for the macadam soft places ; in the spring place rock in any soft hole where needed. Then in three to four years there would be good roads all over the county. If an outlet is made for water and it congeals and the road is set in shape once it will stand two or three years except in special instances.

Then we could have 'aws, first, to have four days poll tax work, two done in the fall and two in the spring, then let the farm do the road work, not the men.

Say we pool work, twenty to forty-five years of age; then a certain amount of farm taxes to go to roads in the district, and to always be worked off on the road, and, in special cases, two days could be called a year extra. The foreman or overseers receipt to be good with the tax collector, or when paying taxes. But, the five loads of rock hauled each year should be for the public good, and for good roads, without pay. Of course any farmer willing to haul more would be thanked for so doing ; but the five loads should be compulsory and one day on rock pile for each day in default.

Why do they have good roads in Europe, simply because one to twenty must get rocks or coarse gravel on their part of the road and in the spring fill all the holes. One load might be enough and it might take three or four loads.

For a 160 acre farm it would take about seven or eight loads in the fall, more or less, as to the size of the farm.

I have done road work up to 52 years, but if they change the laws to farm instead of man, then I am willing to do my part if 100 years if I can get around, and, one thing is certain, if I get hitched up so that I can plow the road from my place to Thorsby will be different from what it is now.

I was in hope that Congress during last session would do something for the rural routes.

Yours respectfully,
J. A. LINDGUIST,
Route 1, box 92,

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS
AND LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

MORE SUGGESTIONS ON GOOD ROADS.

Editor Union-Banner :

Will you please allow me space for a few lines on the good roads question. We find that some are "whooping" the bond issue, and saying that it is the only way that we can ever get our roads in good condition ; but they have never told us how much it would take to build our roads nor who would get the most of it ; nor do they ever say anything about the good roads in other counties that have the bonds hanging over them and their roads just as bad or worse than ours.

I think that when we vote the bonds then it will be here like it was under the taxation just gone out : the money will all be gone and no road worked and no one responsible for the roads or the money. The cry is made every day about the poor little overseer, he will not put his road in good shape, and how can anyone expect for an overseer to put his road up well at once and they being so bad when they got them.

It will take the overseer two years or nearly so, to get the roads back to where they was before taxation. The Commissioners are trying to help work our roads ; so let us work our roads so that we can let bonds and taxation alone, and make our roads wider and put them in good condition for traveling on, then we will feel good to think that we have good roads and out of debt when other counties have bad roads and in debt.

Is the overseers to blame for all, or is it the apportioners ? Which does the law say comes first ?

Why do men who haul logs have broad tires on their wagon wheels ? Is it not because they will not cut in the ground so bad ? Let us think for a little while and see if we all had broad tires on our wheels if they would not pack the roads and not cut them up so bad.

If a one horse wagon had two inch tires and all others in proportion would our roads be cut all to pieces or would they be packed. It would be harder on our teams at first with the broad tire, but it would not be long until we would have our roads so that we could carry a better load with more ease.

Let us think over these matters and not have the bond issue in it. W. H. WILSON.

STANTON, ALA.

Bro. Kills was in town yesterday ; he is our Methodist minister here.

Miss Willis visited Mrs. Oswald a few days since.

Mrs. Wiley Gandy came up Tuesday to see Mrs. W. O. Perry who has been very ill for the past few days. We miss Mrs. Perry at Sunday School.

Mrs. O. H. Oswald and her cook, aiso Ethel Young went fishing Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Walter Duddich and Mr. Hugh Sharp were in Plantersville one night this week.

Mrs. W. C. Dyer spent the day in Birmingham Tuesday.

Mrs. B. T. Letcher has returned here to remain a while with her children.

Mr. and Mrs. Oswald and Miss Jotty Letcher went to walk Sunday for exercise.

S. P. Letcher has been sick for a few days.

Miss Vyda Rayfield has only three weeks to spend with her friends here, we all regret her leaving and hope that she will soon return.

A tacky party has been arranged at Miss Ethel Travises. Everybody is invited.

THE BOND ISSUE.

Jemison, Ala., April 6, 1913.

Editor Union-Banner :

Please give me space in your highly esteemed paper to say a few words on the bond issue. I have been reading all the letters that have been written on the subject, and I think our Bibb County friend has written the best one on the subject.

He put the facts and figures to us in a fair and simple way. He certainly struck my opinion on it from start to finish, and, I think, if we ever have it to come to an election we ought before we take the vote think and consider what this business man nas told us. I think that the present system is a good one if it was enforced. While I think that we have several public roads that work ought to be discontinued on and the work done on roads that are more important.

I know of two public roads in this beat that, in my opinion, we do not need more than a trail as far as the traveling public is concerned. I know of one road, four miles, on which over time has been done, and only one family living on it. I asked this man about the travel over this road, and he said some weeks one or two wagons passed over it. Now such a road has no business being a public road, for it will take hands from a road that is used to work this road.

And, another thing, we will have to come down on the overseer to make a note of each days work, and have him to put in the whole ten days. I know overseers who do just what they have to do, and God forbid for just such men as them, while we have them, and always will.

Now, let us do everything we can to keep the bond issue out of Chilton county. I have three little boys I don't want to leave in debt for their lives, much less, perhaps, their grand children.

Now, as many of you approtioners as think that we ought to have the overseers to make a note of each days work and have him put in the ten days let us hear from you through the county paper.

W. C. JONES, Beat 2.

LOMAX.

The health of this community is fine, except that Mrs. Tom Jones has been quite sick.

Preaching at Jackson Chapel on last Sunday night was good. Brother Gant Rigans preached a fine sermon to an attentive congregation. He will preach here again on the third Sunday. Come and hear him ; it will do you good.

Miss Martha Henderson visited her uncle C. E. Jones.

The good people around Jackson Chapel are trying to organize a Sunday School. It is hoped that they will succeed.

The Box Supper at Jackson Chapel was grand. They raised a nice sum of money for the school house.

The literary school taught by Prof. Parrish has closed ; we all regret this ; the scholars all liked the Professor.

Wedding bells are still ringing ; the Judge will soon have more work to do.

Wishing the Banner-Union success, I am One of the Readers.

HAMPTON SCHOOLHOUSE.

All the young people of Autauga are enjoying life so much.

Mr. B. F. Bookhold left April first for Montgomery.

There will be preaching at Hampton Schoolhouse Sunday evening. I hope all the people of Chilton will be present.

Miss Dessar McDonald was the guest of her sister Mrs. J. L. Cox Monday.

Miss Ella Johnson, of Chambers, is the guest of her sister in Chilton.

Lily of the Valley.

NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

A CONDENSED RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

SEVEN DAYS' NEWS AT A GLANCE

Important Happenings In All Parts of the World Summarized for the Busy Reader.

Southern.

In an automobile accident on the Atlantic boulevard, Jacksonville, Fla., Harry Stahl 21 years of age, was instantly killed and Joseph B. Sloan was so badly injured that he died a few hours later at a hospital.

Upon breaking into the basement of a fashionable dry good store at Greenville, S. S., Leonard Smith, 17 years old, son of a prominent and wealthy family, and his 20-year-old companion, Rowlty Martin, engaged in a pistol battle with three policemen, who had concealed themselves in the store in anticipation of a burglary, with the result that the young men were shot to death, and one of the policemen severely wounded. As soon as they had entered the store, the boys placed masks over their faces.

As a result of the terrific beating of the waves against the dikes protecting the lower portion of Hickman, Ky., the levee gave way, and the Mississippi river poured through the ga pat a mad rate of speed. All persons employed in the district had been warned out earlier in the day and no loss of life is reported. The break will not relieve the river situation at other points, the water coming through being turned back to the main stream by the government, or Reelfoot lake, two miles below the low the town. The section flooded is occupied by several factories.

Disastrous consequences to the health of Griffin, Ga., are feared by the medical profession from the desecration of ghouls of the graves of two white children who died of scarlet fever in 1855. Protest has been made to the police against the graves continuing open a minute longer than is necessary and demand has been made that the bodies be reinterred at once. A doctor says: "There were enough germs in those coffins to kill a city."

Wrecked and battered until she was almost a derelict and foundered by huge seas until all hands thought that the vessel would go to the bottom, the British steamer Astotia has arrived at Savannah, Ga. She had encountered a hurricane that tore the funnel out of the ship, smashed in the officers' quarters and the saloon, ripped off the bulwark, destroyed the four lifeboats, injured seven men and drove the vessel to seek shelter in the Azore Islands.

Governor O'Neal of Alabama appeared as a witness for the state in the trial of Henry F. Vandiver, a former member of the executive's staff, who is accused of complicity in the murder of Sloan Rowan. His evidence was damagingt othe accused man. It was brought out by the state in rebuttal, after the defense had rested.

Lester Canady of Mount Vernon, Ga., will probably inherit a share of the fifteen million dollar estate left by James Tyson, who died intestate in Australia.

General

Speaker Clark was re-elected over speaker of the national house of representatives over James R. Mann, Republican, and Victor Murdock, Progressive, and other officers of the house also were re-elected. The Progressive strength was tested on the speakership, and Mr. Murdock received 18 votes.

Former Congressman Harry M. Coudrey and Harry E. Gardner were sentenced to imprisonment in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, and each was fined $1,500 in the federal district court at St. Louis, Mo. The two men were convicted of using the mails to defraud in the promotion of what was known as the "Twin Insurance companies," the Continental Life Insurance company and the International Fire Assurance company.

According to an official estimate, about one hundred and seventy acres in the northern suburbs of Memphis are inundated as a result of two breaks in the embankment along Bayou Gayoso, which serves as an outlet for "back-water" from Wolfe river, a tributary of the Mississippi. In all about seven hundred buildings, mostly small frame dwellings, are under water.

For the second time in less than six months on the face of returns available a constitutional amendment permitting woman suffrage was defeated in Michigan. The five amendments in the state constitution were lost.

Isaac McGirr, aged 84, and Andrew Horn, same age bid for a saddle at an auction near Washington, Pa., and Horn won. McGirr objected and the two agreed to fight for it. A ring was formed and they battled till parted.

An encounter with a band of pirates on the Wost river, a force of Chinese soldiers, shot one and captured six.

Berlin's police president, having failed to persuade the women to avoid pointed hat pins, or to provide protectors for them, now announces that offenders against the ordinance will be fined up to $15 for each offense, and if they do not pay they will be imprisoned.

With what appears to be pre-historic hieroglyphics carved on its walls, a mammoth cave rivaling the famous caves of Kentucky, was discovered in the vicinity of Ogden, Utah. A rancher made the discovery. The cave is located in the mountains of Promontory Point, and has probably never been visited by white men.

Rudolph Warren, son of Jere Warren, a prominent American sugar planter, died in a hospital at Havana, Cuba, from a pistol wound in the abdomen which he received in a duel with Hannibal Mesa, a member of a wealthy Cuban family. The Cuban government is taking measures to procure the arrest and extradition of Mesa, who sailed for New York City on the steamer Havana. He will be charged with homicide.

The little kingdom of Montenegro has thrown down the gauntlet to the six great powers. She declines to yield to the demand of the powers to abandon her attempts to gain possession of Scutari and has officially announced that "there wil lbe no departure from an attitude which conforms to the necessities of the state of war existing between the allies and Turkey."

Twenty-two men, including the captain of the ship, the president of a wrecking company of Portland and the representative of the Marine Underwriters, were trapped in the hold of the German ship Mimi which capsized at Bay City, Ore., after having been hauled off a reef on which she had been fast for two months. A heavy sea was pounding the wreck, and life-savers refused to attempt to rescue. They said no boat could be launched and refused to let volunteers take their boat.

The German military dirigible airship Zeppelin IV landed in the military parade grounds at Luneville, France, and was seized by the French authorities. The incident caused tremendous excitement, notwithstanding the German officers aboard the airship explained that they had been lost in the clouds and did not know they had cross the Freuch border.

To satisfy all factions in the Mexican melee, it is announced that General Huerta has agreed to the namin gof Pedro Lascurain as president. Lascurain will serve out the unexpired term of the late President Madero.

The English suffragettes, sontinuing their campaign of retaliation against the sentence of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, their leader, to a term of imprisonment in London, succeeded in destroying another large country house by fire. As in senveral previous cases of the kind, the residence, which was situated at Cherleywood, Buckinhamshire, was unoccupied, but was being prepared for the reception of a tenant. The owners of the building, a firm of contractors, estimate their loss at $12,500.

Pennsylvania joined the ranks of the states that have ratified the proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution providing for the direct elecion of United States senators.

Great Tarabosch Fort, which for months has held the allies off Scutari, is now in the hands of the Montenegrins, thanks to the sacrifice of 200 bomb throwers, every one of whom lost his life in a last desperate effort to clear the way to the town for the possession of which Montenegro is ready to give up everything. But just as Montenegro had scored her first real success by getting a foothold at Tarabosch, the key to Scutari, the warships of the powers are gathering along the coast to compel her to give up the most precious fruits of five months' fighting.

Washington

Congress has opened in extraordinary session under Democratic domination. The opening sessions were enlivened by the activities of a healthy youth, the progressive organization in the house and an invasion of petition-bearing suffragettes. The youth who disturbed proceedings was in the senate gallery and he tried to halt a recess of that body by shouts of "Mr. Chairman." Taken in charge, the youth gave his name as George B. Clemmer of Monroe, N. C., and said he was a "herald of the Prince of Peace." He was finally led outside.

GAP AT LILBOURN GIVES FALL AT CAIRO

MAIN LINE OF FRISCO CUT LETS FLOOD INTO MISSOURI.

TRAINS ARE NOW DETOURED

Reelfoot Levee Still Holds Despite Weak Spots Which Develop There —Rise Above Cairo May Cause River to Go Up.

Caruthersville, Mo.—The embankment of the main line of the Frisco railroad was dynamited just above Lilbourn, Mo., New Madrid county. Water had been flowing over the tracks at this point and the town of Lilbourn had been threatened, and the letting of the water through here is believed to have alleviated the situation both at points above and below.

Trains are being detoured and it is believed through service can be maintained between St. Louis and Memphis. Water had commenced to run over the New Madrid highlands and was backing up in the business houses at Lilbourn, and it is believed the railroad track was destroyed with the hope of relieving that condition. This part of the flood will be but little felt in Pemiscot county, as it will take its course down Little river and thence into the St. Francis river.

Cairo, Ill.—Cairo is now passing what is supposed to be the crisis of the flood. The river is practically stationary, with a falling tendency, but is expected to remain at an extremely high stage for several days.

Grave danger still menaces the city from the seepage through the levee or from the rises that might follow a high wind, which would dash the waters against the levee.

The local weather observer said the passing of the Ohio waters into the Mississippi through Cache creek and the breaking of the levees in Missouri are what relieved the great pressure on the Cairo levees and kept the water from going much higher here. However, the river above Cairo is rising, and it may cause the water here to go higher.

SHE ACCUSES AMBASSADOR

Widow of Dead Ruler Makes Charges Against Ambassador.

New York.—Senora Sara Perez de Madero, widow of the murdered president of Mexico, broke the silence she has maintained since the assassination of her husband on February 22 to lay the moral responsibility for his death at the door of United States Ambassador Wilson.

Senora Madero makes the charges filed at Washington on Saturday by Luis Manuel Rojas against Henry Lane Wilson her own.

It is a sensational series of disclosures which the widow of the Mexican martyr presents. Ambassador Wilson, she declared, had knowledge in advance of the coup d'etat which overthrew the Madero government; he conferred with Huerta on the disposition of Madero and Vice-President Pino Suarez, and advised the dictator to "do what he thought best for the interests of the country."

In so many words, Senora Madero declares Ambassador Wilson informed her that Pino Suarez could not be released, but would have to "disappear," by which the senora understood that he was to die.

She charges further that in a pathetic interview which she had with Ambassador Wilson, at which she invoked the aid of the United States to save her husband's life, the ambassador refused to accept such responsibility, and later suppressed a telegram which the mother of the murdered president had prepared to be sent to President Taft, beseeching his merciful aid.

Finally, Senora Madero details a most remarkable interview she had with Ambassador Wilson, in which the latter said to her:

"I will be frank with you, Mrs. Madero; your husband's downfall is due to the fact that he never consulted with me—he never wanted to advise with me."

GERMAN SHIP TURNS OVER

Twenty-two Men Lost When the Mimi Capsized.

Bay City, Ore.—Twenty-two men, including the ship's captain, the president of a wrecking company of Portland and the representative of the Marine Underwriters, were trapped in the hold of the German ship Mimi, which capsized off the beach here, after having been hauled off a reef on which she had been fast for two months. WATER BREAKS BAYOU LEVEE

THREE FEET OF WATER IN NORTH MEMPHIS STREETS.

HOSPITAL IN SOME DANGER

Bayou Levee Line Inclosing Heavy Backwaters in Bayou Gayoso at Memphis Gives Way, Flooding Many Streets.

Memphis, Tenn.—The water smashed the wall of the cotton shed belonging to the Gwynne estate, just west of St. Joseph's hospital. It also broke the top of the culvert confining the bayou in front of the St. Joseph's hospital.

The bayou levee line, inclosing the heavy backwaters now in Bayou Gayoso, broke at Concord and Third street Saturday morning.

People fled from houses on North Third street.

St. Brigid's church is flooded with three feet of water. North Third street is inundated.

The break in the south wall of the line is not so serious as if the break had occurred in the north wall, in which case the water works would have been surrounded by waters around the individual levee of the plant.

Four hundred county convicts at the workhouse, all the able-bodied men available from the various county camps, can be used by the city. John B. Duncan, county commissioner, offered them to the city Friday afternoon to build levees and do all protection work necessary.

DEFIES CONCERT OF POWERS

Montenegro Will Continue Efforts to Take Scutari.

Cettinje.—The little kingdom of Montenegro has thrown down the gauntlet to the six powers. She declines to yield to the demand of the powers to abandon her attempts to gain possession of Scutari and has officially announced "there will be no departure from an attitude which conforms to the necessities of the state of war existing between the allies and Turkey." An international fleet, comprising warships of Austria, Hungary, Italy, France, Germany and Great Britain, is now blockading the Montenegrin port of Antivari. These include four Austrian warships, the British cruisers Yarmouth, Inflexible and Gloucester; the German cruiser Breslau, the Italian cruiser Pisa and the French cruiser Edgar Quinet. Russia is not represented by a warship, but has acquiesced in the naval demonstration.

Tim Murphy's Stamina.

Boston.—While waiting in the wings for his entrance cue, Tim Murphy, who plays the part of a jovial priest in the "Top o' the Morning" company at the Tremont Theater, was handed a telegram. He paled and staggered back. Then the cue came and in an instant Murphy was on the stage calling forth laughter from all parts of the house. Sympathetic friends read in the telegram that Murphy's sister had been killed in a gas explosion in Washington.

LEVEE BREAKS CHECK FLOODS

DRAINAGE DISTRICT INUNDATED. TRAIN SERVICE PARALYZED.

LIVES LOST IN THE FLOOD

West Kentucky Towns Fear Big Volume of Water on the Way—Shawneetown, Ill., and Columbus, Ky., Are Deserted.

Cairo, Ill.—In response to an appeal for help from Mound City, a detail from the naval reserves was sent there to remain to aid in saving the lives of the people 2there should the levees break during the night. It is feared that they cannot stand the lashing of a strong south wind. There are a number of barges there and it is planned to put the people in them should the levee break.

Another detachment of naval reserves was dispatched to Birds Point, Mo., under the personal command of Commander McMunn. There are thirty-eight members of the Missouri National Guard marooned upon the levee there. They will be brought to Cairo.

The breaking of the levee of the Cairo drainage district and the Drinkwater levee in Missouri was responsible for a check in the rise. The drainage district levee, which had been leaking for hours, let go in a serious break at 3:30 o'clock in the morning.

The water rushed in and by 5 o'clock the water had piled up against the main line of the Illinois Central railroad, which runs down through the middle of the district. It swept the double track out for a couple of miles, even heavy concrete work being crushed as if it were putty.

The Drinkwater levee, a half mile above Greenfields Landing, broke at 2 o'clock and the water began pouring through the crevasse in a stream twelve feet deep and 300 feet wide, which was steadily widening. The result of this break will be to flood all of that section of Mississippi county which was overflowed last spring.

All West Kentucky river towns are dreading the coming af the onrushing waters, and the people are preparing to leave. Shawneetown, Ill., and Columbus, Ky., are practically deserted.

TARIFF BILL ABOUT READY

Measure Modeled in Accord With Wilson's Ideas.

Washington.—The Democratic tariff revision bill is completed, with the exception of a final decision upon sugar. From beginning to end, it is modeled in accord with ideas of President Wilson, with wool, meats and many other foodstuffs and clothing materials on the free list; low duties upon all agricultural products and foodstuffs that are not free; and with the tariff on chemicals, steel and other commercial products cut far below the present protective tariff.

Senate tariff leaders asked for an opportunity to study the bill. They will confer with Chairman Underwood of the house committee on ways and means, and later will have a final conference with President Wilson. A careful analysis of the senate will be made, in the meantime, to determine whether free wool, "one-cent sugar" and low rates on "market basket products" will prove acceptable to a majority of the Democrats.

Briefly summarized, the tariff developments of the day were:

Press Fight on Ojeda.

Nogales, Ariz.—Officials of the insurgent state government decided to press the campaign against Ojeda federals holding Naco and at the same time to move toward Guaymas, the California gulf port.

Two Boys Killed in Pistol Battle.

Greenville, S. C.—Leonard Smith aged 17, member of a wealthy local family, and Rowley Martin, aged 20 his companion, were killed in a pistol battle with three policemen. One of the latter was seriously wounded.

LEVEE BREAKS BELOW MEMPHIS

CREVASSE OCCURRED AT CROSSING OF GRAVES BAYOU.

NEAR TOP AT SCANLAN'S

250 Men and 30,000 Sacks Are on Hand to Hold Stretch of Low Levee—All Other Reports Are Favorable.

Memphis.—The main line of the St. Francis levee broke at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning where a new line of levee crosses Graves bayou.

The levee there is large and the crevasse is beyond hope of repair until the water goes down.

The levee crosses Graves bayou at a point by river some twenty-three miles below Memphis. It is about ten miles almost due south of Proctor, Ark., on the Rock Island railroad, and about four miles south of Kate.

The levee there was built in 1911 and is of soil that does not hold well.

Reports from there to O. N. Killough, president of the St. Francis levee board, are to the effect that the water began seeping through the levee about eight feet up from the base, and that the seep simply increased in vigor faster than the fighters on the line could work in stopping it.

The levee was up to standard size, and the top of it was three feet above the water.

The water will first rush down Graves bayou into Fifteen Mile bayou, thence into Blackfish bayou and thence into the St. Francis river about where that stream crosses the boundary between St. Francis and Lee counties.

It is feared that the water may back up to the Rock Island railroad, but being purely backwater, it ought not to interfere with the operation of that road.

There are some fine plantations along the river front that will suffer, notably those around Horseshoe Lake, Bledsoe and the Ninety-six Settlement will all go under.

However, most of the country where the water will go along Fifteen Mile and Blackfish bayous is still undeveloped.

It is probable that the crevasse will relieve the situation in Memphis and possibly for some distance above, and thus lessen the danger of a break that would cut the railroads going west.

The break is almost opposite the Tennessee-Mississippi state line and will relieve the pressure upon the upper part of Maj. Dabney's line, the upper Yazoo.

The river at Memphis Monday night broke all previous records. It reached 45.2 feet by 7 o'clock, which was only 0.1 below the mark set by the flood on April 6 of last year. The rise later passed the mark of 45.3, made in 1912. Previous to that time the record was 40.3, established on February 3, 1907.

CONGRESSMAN TO THE PEN

Harry M. Coudrey and Harry B. Gardner Sentenced.

St. Louis.—Former Congressman Harry M. Coudrey and Harry B. Gardner were sentenced to imprisonment of four and a half years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth and each was fined $1,500 in the federal district court here. The sentence imposed was the maximum allowed under the law, which permits a penalty of eighteen months' imprisonment and $500 fine to be imposed for each of three of the seven counts on which the men were convicted. The two men were convicted of using the mails to defraud in the promotion of what was known as the Twin Insurance Companies, the Continental Life Assurance Company and the International Fire Assurance Company.

RECIPROCITY IS ADVOCATED

Tariff Bill Would Widen Market for Our Goods.

Washington.—An attempt to widen the foreign market for American goods and to encourage reciprocity treaties with all foreign nations is embodied in the new tariff introduced, in a clause empowering the president to grant favors to any nation that gives mutual concessions to the United States. The reciprocity clause takes the place of the penalty clause of the present tariff law by which it was sought to secure special concessions to the United States. The new tariff bill proposes that the normal tariff rates shall be granted to countries that will enter into reciprocity with the United States. In the present law the normal rates are the minimum.

"Blue Sky" Bill Signed.

Jefferson City, Mo.—Gov. Major signed the "Blue Sky" law, which regulates the organization of investment companies in this state. The bill provides that stock in such companies may be sold only after an investigation and report by the secretary of state.

Berlin.—"If outside forces should threaten us, Germany must stand ready with her last man," declared Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, imperial chancellor, in parliament, while submitting the government's bills for increasing the army and for providing new forms of taxation.

Greeks Win Victory.

Athens.—The Greek destroyer Kevavnos bombarded a military camp at Vourla, near Smyrna, killing eight and wounding twelve Turks.

Farmers' Educational and Co-Operative Union of America

Matters of Especial Moment to the Progressive Agriculturist

Well planned is half finished.

In a garden there is as much chance for self-expression as in any art.

Neighborhood unity is the first essential to successful co-operation.

It's often a day off at the do-it-now time that makes failure inevitable.

Why is it that when a man takes affront he is most likely to talk back?

Take things as you find them—and if they are not right, leave them different.

Brain work is essential to profit, no matter what line of work the farmer follows.

The losses of today should be stepping stones toward the successes of tomorrow.

The modern from home has many papers. The day of the one paper man has passed.

A rose garden never yet bloomed on earth save as a symbol of the roses in some one's heart.

Aimless reading is just as disastrous as aimless work. Have a purpose in everything you do.

The man who makes the greatest success is often the one who has the hardest struggle at the start.

He also is a public benefactor who fixes things so that only one weed grows where two grew before.

Teach the boys to protect the little prairie owl. He is the enemy of the mice and the friend of the farmer.

It is cheerfully remarked that those politicians who spend their time saving the nation are willing to be paid for doing it.

Testing out theories should precede their adoption. It is better to prove a thing than to take it on somebody else's advice.

The man who keeps a daily record of his business is not likely to waste much time hanging around town after his business there is done.

KEEPING MIDDLEMAN AT BAY

Commission Men Strenuously Object to Bills Introduced in Albany—Amendment Agreed to.

Hearings on the bills providing for the licensing and bonding of produce commission merchants in New York state, thereby affording protection for the producer against dishonest and unscrupulous middlemen, have been spirited in the extreme. During one of these hearings the rafters of the great Albany capitol fairly rang with the short and ugly rejoinder. The commission men objected to the bill to the verge of apoplexy. They did not want to be inspected and bonded. They railed at the provision that merchants should furnish the names of purchasers within forty-eight hours after sales. And when all semblance of argument failed them they roared at the farmers that they were the ones to be inspected and bonded. The farmers retorted in kind. 'Twas a beautiful row with a Kilkenny flavor.

Finally exhausted, the commission men declared that really there wasn't any money in buying and selling farm products, at which there was great and continued laughter. The opponents of the bill scored one point, however, when they put themselves on record that they would withdraw all objections if an amendment were tacked to the measure making it a misdemeanor for a farmer to mark his goods as being of a quality or quantity other than they actually were. It is sound logic that if honesty is to be legislated into the middleman he is entitled to assurance the producer won't cheat.

The bill in all probability will be enacted into law, but that fact will not help the man for whose benefit it was framed unless he plays his end of the game with scrupulous honesty. The bonded and inspected commission man is bound to do business only with an honest farmer, wherefore the law should work both ways.—Country Gentleman.

WAYS TO UTILIZE RYE PATCH

Acre or Two of Rich Land Will Furnish Supply of Early Green Feed for Cows.

Rye which is sown in the fall for green feed during cold weather may be economically used in at least three ways the next spring and the early summer. One of these ways is to use it for pasture. Another way is to use it for a summer soiling crop for milch cows.

An acre or two on rich land will produce a large amount of early green feed and the crop can be used for nearly three months. To use rye as a soiling crop, keep the stock off it in the spring and when it is tall enough to cut take the mower to the patch and cut enough for two days' feeding. Rake this and store it in the barn and feed out. Then mow enough more for another two days' feeding and continue the same method till the patch is all mown.

By this time the rye of the first mowing will have grown up enough for a second cutting and in succession it may be cut several times during the early spring and summer. In this way a great number of cows may be kept on a limited area of pasture.

BANKERS AND THE FARMERS

Agricultural Interests Need Active Aid of Former—Improved Methods Increase Production.

R. L. Watts, dean of school of agriculture and experimental station, Pennsylvana State college, writes as follows:

All classes of people are now manifesting a great interest in agriculture. As the lumber and mineral supplies of the state became exhausted farmers show a great interest in improved methods of crop production. Farmers' institutes and agricultural meetings are more largely attended than a few years ago. Farm papers and books on agricultural topics are more generally read. The bulletins of the agricultural experiment stations are valued as never before. Farm demonstrations are popular and the service of country agents is in demand in all sections. Thousands of letters of inquiry are received by experiment stations and there is evidence on every hand that scientific methods are more generally employed than a few years ago.

The interest in farming and in agricultural education is manifested by the increased attendance at our agricultural colleges. At the Pennsylvania State college there were 73 students taking courses in agriculture in 1905, 94 in 1906, 111 in 1907, 202 in 1908, 337 in 1909, 479 in 1910, 638 in 1911, 824 in 1912. If proper facilities are provided, it is highly probable that 2,000 students will be enrolled in the school of agriculture at the Pennsylvania State college in four or five years from now.

Farmers are interested in banking. Many of the most prosperous ones are stockholders. All progressive farmers maintain bank accounts, which they find exceedingly valuable in the handling of their business. Others find it necessary to make loans from time to time, especially in the spring of the year, when it is necessary to purchase lime, fertilizers, seeds, implements and other supplies.

Again, farmers are interested in banking because they want improved systems of banking.

This matter is not only of interest to landowners who find it necessary to borrow from time to time, but is especially important to the hundreds and thousands of young men who are unable to buy farms on account of insufficient capital. In an audience of 200 students at the Pennsylvania State college only two owned farms, and practically all of the others would like to purchase farms if long-term loans could be secured at a reasonable rate of interest. Our college graduates are very much interested in the amortisement plan which has been introduced in Illinois.

Bankers are interested in farming because they know that the prosperity of the farmer means the prosperity of the banker. Banks lose money on small balances, and, therefore, it is to their interest that farmers prosper, and are thus able to carry a balance of $100 or more. Again, bankers are interested in keeping capital at home, and do not like to see so many thousands and millions of dollars go westward every year which should be kept in Pennsylvania. Improved methods of farming will increase production and make better citizens, because the farmers will have more money to spend for the education of their children and other home and community needs.

GOOD FEED FOR DAIRY COWS

Young Animals Must Be Given Moderate Grain Ration—Clean and Persistent Milking Needed.

Young cows with their first calves must be given a moderate grain ration, which may be gradually increased. Let the calf suck the cow for a few days; after the calf has done sucking milk out the remainder of milk every drop each time. The German dairymen milk their young cows three times a day. The extra milking develops the udder and milk veins; the result is a greater yield of milk. Young cows should be milked up to within four weeks of having the second calf. Clean and persistent milking will develop the habit of milk yield. Cows must have succulent food to milk well. Now is the time when roots may be given if ensilage cannot be had. Beets contain considerable sugar. A half bushel of sliced roots mixed with two quarts of wheat bran and one quart of flaxseed meal given morning and evening to each cow in milk will largely increase the milk yield. Give to each a good forkful of mixed clover hay and after the hay is eaten give the roots; give straw at noon. This makes an economical feed, as most of the food may be grown on the farm. Alfalfa and red clover hay should be largely grown by dairymen if their land is suited to these crops. The aim should be to grow those clovers and grasses that will give the greatest yield in tons and also in food value.

Cut Bone for Poultry.

Green cut bone is an excellent egg producer when fed judiciously, says the Poultry World. The supply should be secured fresh and it should be fed as soon as cut. Would not advise feeding it every day, as the birds are liable to overeat and a sure case of diarrhoea will be the result. Three times a week is often enough to supply this form of feed. I prefer to mix it with bran or middlings and allow the birds all they will eat in fifteen minutes. If you prefer, it may be fed clear or it may be mixed with the mash. If fed mixed with other foods as above, the birds will not fight for their share.

WILSON SUBMITS FIRST MESSAGE

Congress in Extra Session Is Told What President Expects Done

DOCUMENT UNUSUALLY BRIEF

Tariff Schedules, Says Chief Executive, Must Be Altered to Conform With Modern Conditions According to Party's Pledge.

Washington, April 8.—In his first message to congress, a document of unusual brevity, President Wilson today told the senate and house what he and the country expect in the way of revision of the tariff, the task for which mainly the extraordinary session was called. Following is the text of the message:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I have called the congress together in extraordinary session because a duty was laid upon the party now in power at the recent elections which it ought to perform promptly, in order that the burden carried by the people under existing law may be lightened as soon as possible and in order, also, that the business interests of the country may not be kept too long in suspense as to what the fiscal changes are to be to which they will be required to adjust themselves. It is clear to the whole country that the tariff duties must be altered. They must be changed to meet the radical alteration in the conditions of our ecnomic life which the country has witnessed within the last generation.

While the whole face and method of our industrial and commercial life were being changed beyond recognition the tariff schedules have remained what they were before the change began, or have moved in the direction they were given when no large circumstance of our industrial development was what it is today. Our task is to square them with the actual facts. The sooner that is done the sooner we shall escape from suffering from the facts and the sooner our men of business will be free to thrive by the law of nature (the nature of free business) instead of by the law of legislation and artificial arrangement.

Business Not Normal.

We have seen tariff legislation wander very far afield in our day—very far indeed from the field in which our prosperity might have had a normal growth and stimulation. No one who looks the facts squarely in the face or knows anything that lies beneath the surface of action can fail to perceive the principles upon which recent tariff legislation has been based. We long ago passed beyond the modest notion of "protecting" the industries of the country and moved boldly forward to the idea that they were entitled to the direct patronage of the government. For a long time—a time so long that the men now active in public policy hardly remember the conditions that preceded it—we have sought in our tariff schedules to give each group of manufacturers or producers what they themselves thought that they needed in order to maintain a practically exclusive market as against the rest of the world. Consciously or unconsciously, we have built up a set of privileges and exemptions from competition behind which it was easy by any, even the crudest, forms of combination to organize monopoly; until at last nothing is normal, nothing is obliged to stand the tests of efficiency and economy, in our world of big business, but everything thrives by concerted arrangement. Only new principles of action will save us from a final hard crystallization of monopoly and a complete loss of the influences that quicken enterprise and keep independent energy alive.

It is plain what those principles must be. We must abolish everything that bears even the semblance of privilege or of any kind of artificial advantage, and put our business men and producers under the stimulation of a constant necessity to be efficient, economical, and enterprising, masters of competitive supremacy, better workers and merchants than any in the world. Aside from the duties laid upon articles which we do not, and probably cannot, produce, therefore, and the duties laid upon luxuries and merely for the sake of the revenues they yield, the object of the tariff duties henceforth laid must be effective competition, the whetting of American wits by contest with the wits of the rest of the world.

Development, Not Revolution.

It would be unwise to move toward this end headlong, with reckless haste, or with strokes that cut at the very roots of what has grown up amongst us by long process and at our own invitation. It does not alter a thing to upset it and break it and deprive it of a chance to change. It destroys it. We must make changes in our fiscal laws, in our fiscal system, whose object is development, a more free and wholesome development, not revolution or upset or confusion. We must build up trade, especially foreign trade. We need the outlet and the enlarged field of energy more than we ever did before. We must build up industry as well and must adopt freedom in the place of artificial stimulation only so far as it will build, not pull down. In dealing with the tariff the method by which this may be done will be a matter of judgment, exercised item by item.

To some not accustomed to the excitements and responsibilities of greater freedom our methods may in some respects and at some points seem heroic, but remedies may be heroic and yet be remedies. It is our business to make sure that they are genuine remedies. Our object is clear. If our motive is above just challenge and only an occasional error of judgment is chargeable against us, we shall be fortunate.

We are called upon to render the country a great service in more matters than one. Our responsibility should be met and our methods should be thorough, as thorough as moderate and well considered, based upon the facts as they are, and not worked out as if we were beginners. We are to deal with the facts of our own day, with the facts of no other, and to make laws which square with those facts. It is best, indeed it is necessary, to begin with the tariff. I will urge nothing upon you now at the opening of your session which can obscure that first object or divert our energies from that clearly defined duty. At a later time I may take the liberty of calling your attention to reforms which should press close upon the heels of the tariff changes, if not accompany them, of which the chief is the reform of our banking and currency laws; but just now I refrain. For the present, I put these matters on one side and think only of this one thing—of the changes in our fiscal system which may best serve to open once more the free channels of prosperity to a great people whom we would serve to the utmost and throughout both rank and file.

WOODROW WILSON.

PULLED THE POETRY STUFF

Actor Doing a Double In an Emergency Follows Instructions of Stage Manager.

William Gilette, in the course of an address made to the graduates of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts at the Empire theater, told a story.

"When I was in Booth's company years ago," the actor said, "we had to be up in many parts. Frequently the actors would have to double in a performance when the roles outnumbered the people. I remember one time we were playing 'Hamlet.' When the time came, in the players' scene, for the man to poison the king, it was found that the particular actor selected for the part was on the stage in another role.

"Immediately the stage manager grabbed an actor who was getting ready to continue in another role. The actor was wrapped in a big mantle, handed a bottle and told to hurry on the stage and do the poisoning. Nobody would recognize him, said the stage manager.

"'But,' protested the actor, 'what are my lines?'

"'Oh, you know,' replied the stage manager.

"'That poetry stuff?'

"'Sure!'

"'All right,' said the actor. Then he strode on the stage with his bottle, and, bending over the king, said:

"'Nobody here, nobody near!

"'I'll pour the poison in his ear!'"

Frowned on Innovation.

Montrose, Scotland, is to be an aviation station, and the appearance of flying machines there is enough, according to the London Chronicle, to bring some of the good old ladies of that town out of their graves. It was one of them, as Dean Ramsay records, who protested against steam vessels, as counteracting the decrees of providence in going against wind and tide. "I would hae naething to say ta thae impious vessels," she insisted. Another was equally shocked by the introduction of gas in place of oil, demanding: "What's to become o' the puir whales?"

Much for His Money.

At the suffrage portrait show at the Glaenzer galleries in New York, John Sloan told a story about the nude in art.

"An old farmer and his wife," said Mr. Sloan, "once visited an exhibition where the nude predominated. They seemed a good deal impressed, they seemed almost stupefied, by all the white and gleaming pictures. As they left, I heard the old man say with a sigh:

"'Well, Hannah, I never expected to see as much as this for a quarter!'"

Roses From Italy.

The rose, so long considered the floral emblem of England, was not known in that country until the early part of the fifteenth century. Rose trees were then brought from Italy and planted in the royal gardens. They were sent as presents from the holy father and highly esteemed by royalty. It became the custom to carve them over the doors of the confessional as holy flowers, hence the term sub rosa (under the rose) used to mean "with secrecy."—Ave Maria.

Guy de Maupassant as a Clerk.

Guy de Maupassant's manner of life as a junior clerk in the French education office is the subject of an interesting article by one of his old colleagues. We gather that he absented himself from his duties on the ground of illness on an average about three days a week, and that was how he obtained leisure for literary composition. None the less he was very anxious to retain his clerkship until his literary prospects were secure.—Westminster Gazette.

ALABAMA BREVITIES.

With an average migratory movement, the boll weevil will infest a good part of Montgomery county by frost this fall. However, these weevils will arrive too late to affect this year's cotton crop and their numbers will be too few to injure seriously the crop in 1914. Nineteen and fifteen, provided always that the average eastward rate of movement is maintained, will be Montgomery county's first year of serious damage, to be followed by as severe or worse ravages in 1916 and 1917, according to a statement of State Demonstration Agent Moss.

SELECT TREES FOR PLANTING

Nurseryman Not Always to Blame for Inferior Stock That Buyer Receives—Easy to Tell Age.

(By J. G. MOORE.)

Although nearly every person who buys fruit trees is particular as to the character of the tree which he buys, nevertheless, thousands of trees are planted every year which are not suitable for orchard purposes. That this condition should exist may be due to the combination of a number of causes. There are three, however, which will account for the planting of the greater portion of inferior trees.

Very frequently the buyer has no well-defined idea as to what the tree should be. A second cause is that he does not state exactly in his order just what kind of trees he wants Even if he fulfills the first two requirements, he often fails to refuse stock which has been sent to him which does not come up to the specifications in his order. Even though he knows that they are practically worthless he plants such trees simply because he does not care to take the trouble to make the nurseryman furnish him good goods or because of the delay that will be entailed.

The nurseryman is not always to blame because a buyer gets inferior trees. There are many things which makes the filling or nursery orders difficult, but probably the chief reason why so many poor trees are sent out from the nursery is because the average buyer is dissatisfied unless he gets a large tree with a heavy top. In his attempt to satisfy the demand for large trees, the nurseryman very frequently is obliged to sacrifice the very things which would make the tree most valuable.

Unfortunately, nursery trees are commonly sold by size rather than age. Size is not necessarily a criterion of the worth of a tree. In fact, it is a worthless factor in judging unless considered in connection with age. A six-foot tree may be four or five years old, but it would be a much poorer tree than one of the same variety four feet high and three years old. A great many trees are being carried in the nursery until they are long past the best age for planting, simply to get them to a large size. This is particularly true of slow-growing varieties.

To be certain your trees are not too old, determine their age by counting the bud scars. The union of the stock and scion is shown at A; the end of the first year's growth at B; the end of the second year's growth at three points, C, C, C; and the three years' growth at D; a scale ring is shown at B.

The tree standard then, for buying trees, is the age. In this, of course, size should be considered to the extent that the trees should be of good size for the variety at that age.

It is very easy to determine the age of a nursery tree. The age is counted from the budding or grafting. The end of each year's growth is marked by a row of rings or scars around the trunk and branches. To tell the age of a tree, begin at the tip of a branch and follow back to the base of the tree counting the scale rings. The tree will be one year older than the number of rings. It is best to use the branches at the top. In trees on which the tips of the branches have been injured or removed, during the summer, some difficulty may be experienced in determining definitely, but this method will serve in most cases without difficulty.

The best age at which to plant trees is a much-mooted question. The present tendency is to plant trees which are too old. The upper limit of age for an apple tree is three years. Two-year-old trees will be found better than older ones in most cases.

Another factor which tends to give inferior trees where they remain long in the nursery is the fact that they are grown very close together, and this forces the branches to grow more in one plane which result is lop-sided trees. The shorter the period the tree passes in the nursery the more likely it is to be a good tree when the grower receives it.

Entered April 15, 1903, at Clanton, Ala., as second-class matter, under act of congress of March 3, 1879.

We notice that the Montgomery Advertiser has resumed its "patent inside," on Sundays. She will now let up on lecturing some of the rest of the state papers.

Birmingham has an embalmers' convention "in her midst."

It is easy to draw fancy pictures of the delights of good roads, all of them true, but it is difficult to get any one to tell how many miles of good roads you can get for $127,000, first cost. From some examples before us, it would take over $4,000,000, first cost, to do the work in Chilton.

The letter by Allan P. Howison in last week's paper was a very plain and convincing statement of the ultimate cost of bonds and one you cannot get around.

HOOKWORM CAMPAIGN.

The doctors of Chilton county have come to realize that hookworm disease is a great menace to the people of the county. Thus they have inaugurated an active campaign for the eradication of this disease, and are now asking every citizen in the county to co-operate in this great work.

The State Board of Health has sent Dr. Grote here to conduct the campaign, and the County Court of Commissioners has made an appropriation to aid in this work for better health. Every citizen in the county should be examined for hookworm disease, and if infected should be treated, for he is not only having his own health impaired, but he is a danger to other people and to generations yet to come.

Hookworms are small parasites (worms) about one-half an inch long that live in the intestines (bowels) and attach themselves to the mucous membrane. If there were just a few of these worms in an individual we might disregard them, but a single individual is often found to be infected with thousands of these parasites. The signs and symptoms of hookworm disease are many and varied. We may be infected and show no symptoms at all, but simply have a lowered vitality and a lessened mentality. But, usually, the patient is pale, (anemic), sallow and lifeless looking; his hair is dry, skin cold and dry; often the feet and hands swell, (dropsy), and they are thought to have kidney disease. Indigestion is one of the most common symptoms in long standing cases; constipation, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath and a tenderness in the region of the stomach are commonly found.

The "ground itch," "toe itch," "dew poison," etc., are usually the beginning of hookworm infection. An individual with hookworm disease is throwing off thousands of hookworm eggs each day. These eggs when scattered over the soil will hatch out into embryos (baby hookworms), so small that they cannot be seen with the human eye; so, when a child's feet come in contact with damp, infected soil he catches the ground itch. The circulation (blood) takes up the little worms, and, finally they localize in the bowels and become full grown worms.

Then, how are we to stop the hookworm disease? Stop soil pollution; build and use sanitary privies.

EXAMINATION FREE.
TREATMENT FREE.

Dr. Grote will examine and treat patients free of cost. He expects to be in this county almost two months. Watch for his appointments.

Cooper, Friday night and Saturday, April 11 and 12.

Concord School, on Monday night, April 14.

At the above places stereopticon lectures will be given and other dates made later.

The only positive diagnosis of hookworm disease is made with the microscope. The patient must bring a small specimen of the bowel movement, (about the size of an acorn) in a small box, closed tightly with name and age thereon.

Dr. Grote will be in Clanton, Monday, April 14.

DELEGATES TO THE NA NATIONAL GOOD ROADS FEDERATION.

Clanton, Ala., April 5, 1913.
Editor Union-Banner:

The following is a list of the delegates appointed by authority vested in me, to attend the National Good Roads Federation to convene in Birmingham, April 24 and 25, to-wit:

W. H. Shaw, E. J. Hayes, W. T. Harrod, Moses Robinson, T. A. Curry, W. T. Callen, W. L. Popwell, M. D. Foshee, J. D. Collins, A. F. Mims, William Walker, H. B. Oliver, R. H. Honeycutt, S. E. Waldrop, W. J. Sorrell, James Franklin, L. H. Reynolds, B. F. Atkinson, C. J. Cobern, W. Y. Nix, W. D. Nix, C. L. Glass, W. T. Hand, J. W. G. Kicker and T. G. Wyatt.

The object of the Federation is to organize the advocates of improved highways in one grand consolidated body; to aid in securing Federal, State and County aid for building improved highways; to conduct an educational campaign and to awaken an activity in highway improvements.

I have written a personal letter to each of these gentlemen urging them to attend this meeting, and I hope they will do so.

Yours truly,

PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE

The L. & N. Railroad must act in a dual capacity: it must grapple with the myriad details incident to the operation of a railroad and fight in the railroad world of competition for its own existence and the industrial existence of the territory through which it operates; and it must plan ahead, husbanding its resources that they may be expended in development and anticipation of industries to follow.

It is this planning ahead which is not always apparent and is sometimes confusing to the general public. The L. & N. has investments totalling many hundreds of thousands of dollars on which not one dollar of return has been realized and on which not one dollar of return will be realized for some time to come. Additional investments of a similar nature are being made all the time.

These investments are in anticipation of results that will mean the upbuilding of the territory through which the road operates, provided the people in the territory where the investments are made take advantage of the opportunity and co-operate with the L. & N. for the development of the natural resources.

Money is required for development. The L. & N. must make a fair return on its investment, plus an amount sufficient to expend in the development of its territory. A hand-to-mouth policy would be suicidal to the business interests of both the L. & N. and the people. The tracks and equipment would depreciate, the territory would lie dormant and the service would soon become seriously impaired.

A railroad struggling under the burden of debt, a railroad which does not earn a fair return on its investment, a railroad which suffers imposition at the hands of self-seeking politicians is incapable of supplying that service to which the people are entitled and which is to the best interests of the territory through which the road operates.

Saved $150 in Six Months

AN Illinois farmer whose specialty is poultry bought an International Commercial Car for no other reason than that of spending more time with his chickens. At the end of six months he wrote the agent, "That car I bought from you has put $150 in my pocket already. When I am at work my time is worth a dollar an hour, sometimes more. On the road it's worth about half as much. That car has saved me two hours a day for six months, 300 hours, one hundred and fifty dollars."

You may be able to profit quite as much by the purchase of an

International Commercial Car

The Car That Has Made Its Way by the Way It's Made

An International Commercial Car does two or three times as much work as a horse and wagon, at a cost per delivery much lower. It enables you to cover twice as much territory. On hundreds of farms the car has earned enough to pay for itself in a couple of seasons. Its usefulness is almost endless. Its solid rubber tires reduce tire troubles and expenses to a very low figure. The wheels are high enough to give ample clearance on bad roads. The ignition system is of the best. The motor is simple and easy to understand. One lever controls the car. Brakes are positive and powerful.

BANQUET TO THE OFFICERS OF THE ALABAMA POWER CO. AND McARTHUR BROS.

The business men of Clanton have extended an invitation to the officers of the Alabama Power Company and McArthur Bros., contracters, to attend a banquet on Monday evening, April 14th.

The committee of arrangements is Dr. E. A. Matthews, W. I. Mullins and W. H. Sartor.

The committee on invitations and program is L. H. Reynolds, Dr. Matthews and E. M. Pinckard.

There will be something over forty guests.

The purpose of this social gathering is to make an opportunity for the officers of the company and the citizens of Clanton to become acquainted with each other and to show our guests that Clanton appreciates the magnitude of the enterprise which has come into our county and the manner in which it has been conducted.

The gentlemen will be welcomed by all our citizens, not merely by the few who will be able to meet them at the banquet table.

The importance of this work to Clanton in its future development is very great and we should cultivate a feeling of friendliness and co-operation with those who have it in charge. This work is backed by some of the best known business men of the financial world and they are, as a matter of business, bound to select as their officers the best of men. Their success also depends on the develoement and increased prosperity of the country in which they place their capital, so it is apparrent that co-operation is essential—both sides working to one end.

THE ROAD TO THE RIVER

The movement to build a first class road from Clanton to the dam on the river has been quietly worked up by those who have it in charge and they report that success is probably in sight. A fifty foot right of way has been secured for the whole distance and citizens of Clanton and along the line have subscribed near $1,500, with others still to hear from. A large delegation of those interested went before the Commissioner's Court Tuesday to show cause why the county should assist in building this bit of road, and it is understood that the Commissioners are favorable to it.

Such a road means much to this part of the county and those in charge of the movement should push the matter through. Another winter should not find Clanton without a smooth, hard highway to the dam. It will mean much to the future growth of the town.

IMPROVEMENTS AT THE RAILROAD STATION.

In order to make room for a "team track" on the west side of the tracks the tanks have been moved down the road and the baggage room has been moved across back of the passenger rooms. The new track will be a great convenience to all who have to load and unload freight.

The freight room is to be lengthened fifty feet; material is on hand and work will soon commence.

Mr. W. W. Fox was thrown out of a buggy Sunday by a runaway horse. He spread himself over a good bit of real estate but was not hurt seriously.

The Merchants Conclave of Montgomery are preparing to make a visit to Clanton some day next week. They will be heartily welcomed and encouraged to do business with Clanton. Montgomery is a good and should do a good wholesale business here.

Mr. Victor J. Heard, one of Montgomery's most capable young lawyers has resigned from the law firm of Ball & Samford and has gone to Clanton, where he will practice his profession in the future.

Mr. Heard is a graduate of the University of Alabama Law School and made one of the best records of any member of his class. He came to Montgomery in January, 1912, and has remained with Ball & Samford since that time.

His record while here has been a splendid one and every one who knows will regret that he will not reside here in the future. His field is broader at Clanton, however, and he leaves with the best wishes of the host of friends he leaves behind.—Montgomery Advertiser.

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Keziah Coffin, supposed widow, is arranging to move from Trumet to Boston, following the death of her brother, for whom she had kept house. Kyan Pepper, widower, offers marriage, and is indignantly refused. Capt. Elkanah Daniels, leader of the Regular church, offers Keziah a place as housekeeper for the new minister, and she decides to remain in Trumet. Keziah takes charge of Rev. John Ellery, the new minister, and gives him advice as to his conduct toward members of the parish. Ellery causes a sensation by attending a "Come-outer" meeting. Ellery's presence is bitterly resented by Eben Hammond, leader of the meeting. Grace apologizes for her guardian and Ellery escorts her home in the rain. Capt. Nat Hammond, Eben's son, becomes a hero by bringing the packet into port safely through fog and storm. Ellery finds Keziah writing a letter to some one, inclosing money in response to a demand. She is curiously startled when informed of the arrival of Nat. Nat calls on Keziah, and it develops that they have been lovers since youth. Daniels remonstrates with Ellery for attending "Come-outer" meeting. Ellery is caught by the tide and is rescued by Nat. They become friends. Ellery meets Grace while walking in the fields, and learns that she walks there every Sunday. The clergyman takes dinner Sundays with the Daniels. Annabel, the captain's daughter, exerts herself to make an impression on him. She notices with vexation his desire to get away every Sunday at a certain time. She watches him through a spy glass. Nat again importunes Keziah to marry him. He says he has had a quarrel with his father, who wants him to marry Grace. Ellery asks Grace to marry him. She confesses that she loves him, but says she fears to displease her guardian. Elkanah Daniels tells Eben about the meetings between Ellery and Grace. Eben declares he will make Grace choose between him and the preacher. Grace finds him in a faint, following the excitement of Elkanah's visit. Just before he dies Eben exacts a promise from Nat and Grace that they will marry. Keziah breaks the news to Ellery and later he received a note from Grace saying she is to marry Nat, and asking him not to try to see her again. Keziah tells the story of her own marriage with a man who turned out to be a good-for-nothing, and who was reported to have been lost at sea, and of her love for Nat, whom she cannot marry because the husband is alive. Captain Nat sails for Manila to be gone two years. He says he and Grace have decided not to marry until he returns. Nat is overdue, and it is feared that he has been lost at sea. Keziah gets a letter from her husband saying he is coming back. Grace goes on a visit to relatives of the Hammonds. A vessel flying distress signals is discovered off the coast. Ellery goes with party to board the vessel. A man is found suffering from smallpox, the rest of the crew having deserted. He is taken to an abandoned shack on shore and Ellery helps nurse him. Before he dies it is discovered that he is Keziah's husband. Ellery, left alone in quarantine, is found wandering in a delirious condition by Grace. She takes him back to the shanty and sends for help.

CHAPTER XVI.—(Continued.)

Early the next morning, just as day was breaking, a buggy, the horse which drew it galloping, rocked and bumped down the lighthouse lane. Dr. Parker, his brows together and his lips set with anxiety, was driving. He had been roused from sleep in the hotel at Hyannis by a boy with a telegram. "Come quick," it read. "Mr. Ellery sick." The sender was Noah Ellis, the light keeper. At the ropes, early as it was, he found a small group waiting and gazing at the shanty. The lightkeeper was there and two or three other men. They were talking earnestly.

"How is he, Noah?" demanded the doctor, jumping to the ground.

"I don't know, doc," replied Ellis. "I ain't heard sence last night when I telegraphed you."

"The devil!" Dr. Parker swore impatiently. "Who is with him then? You haven't left him alone, have you?"

"No-o," Noah hesitated once more. "No-o, he ain't alone. She's there."

"She? Who? Keziah Coffin?"

"I don't cal'late Keziah's heard it yet. We was waitin' for you 'fore we said much to anybody. But she's there—the—the one that found him. You see, he was out of his head and wanderin' up the lane 'most to the main road and she'd been callin' on Keziah and when she come away from the parsonage she heard him hollerin' and goin' on and—"

"Who did?"

"Why"—the lightkeeper glanced at his companions—"why, doc, 'twas Grace Van Horne. And she fetched him back to the shanty and then come and got me to telegraph you."

But Parker did not wait to hear the rest. He ran at full speed to the door of the shanty. Grace herself opened it.

"How is he? demanded the doctor.

"I think he seems a little easier; at any rate, he's not delirious. He's in there. Oh, I'm so thankful you've come."

"Is that the doctor?" called Ellery weakly from the next room. "Is it?"

"Yes," replied Parker, throwing off his coat and hat. "Coming, Mr. Ellery."

"For God's sake, doctor, send her away. Don't let her stay. Make her go! I've got the smallpox and if she stays she will die. Don't you understand? she must go."

"Hush, John," said Grace soothingly. "Hush, dear."

Dr. Parker stopped short and looked at her. However, he waited no longer, but hurried in to his new patient.

CHAPTER XVII.

In Which Keziah Decides to Fight.

The news was flying from house to house along the main road. Breakfasts were interrupted as some neighbor rushed in to tell the story which another neighbor had brought to him or her. Mr. Ellery was very sick and it was feared he had the smallpox. Grace Van Horne was with him, had taken him back to the shanty, and insisted upon staying there until the doctor came.

At the Daniels's house the servant girl rushed into the dining room to serve the toast and the story at one swoop. Captain Elkanah's dignity deserted him for an instant and his egg spoon jingled to the floor. Annabel's face turned a dull red. Her eyes flashed sparks.

"Pa!" she cried, "I—I—if you don't do something now I'll never—"

Her father shook his head warningly. "Debby," he said to the maid, "you needn't wait."

Debby departed reluctantly. After the kitchen door had closed, Captain Elkanah said: "My dear, we mustn't be too hasty in this matter. Remember, Mr. Ellery is very sick. As for—for the Van Horne girl, we haven't heard the whole truth yet. She may not be there at all, or it may be just an accident—"

"Accident! Pa, you make me boil. Accident! Accidents like that don't happen. If you let her stay there, or if— Oh, to think of it! And we were calling him a hero and—and everything! Hero! he stayed there just so she might—"

"Hush! hush, child!"

"I shan't hush. Pa, are you going to let him disgrace himself with her?"

"No, no. Probably there ain't any idea of his marrying her. If there is—"

"If there is you put him out of the church and out of town. And as for her— O-oh! And we've been having him here at dinner and—and I have— Oh, I shall die! I wish I was dead!"

Then followed hysterics and agony, greedily listened to by Debby, whose ear was at the crack of the door. Captain Elkanah soothed and pleaded and tried to pacify. It ended by his promising to investigate and, if necessary, take steps 'immejitly."

Lavinia Pepper sprung the mine on her brother. Kyan was horrified. He had grown to be one of Ellery's most devoted worshipers.

One of the very first to hear of the minister's illness was Keziah Coffin. Mrs. Parker told her and Keziah started for the beach before the tale of Grace's part in the night's happenings reached the village. She did not wait for a conveyance, hardly waited to throw a shawl over her shoulders, but began to cover the three miles on foot. She had walked nearly two-thirds of the distance when Captain Zeb Mayo overtook her and gave her a seat in his chaise.

They said little during the drive, the shock and anxiety forbidding conversation. At the ropes was the same group, larger now, and Dr. Parker's horse was hitched to one of the posts.

"You can't go in, Mrs. Coffin," said Thoph Black. "The doctor give us his orders not to let nobody get by. I guess nobody wants to, but all the same—"

Keziah paid not the slightest attention to Mr. Black. She stooped beneath his arm, under the rope and was on her way to the shanty before they realized her intention. The living room was empty, but at the sound of her step some one came from the room adjoining. That some one was Grace.

"She Must Marry Him, Or He'll Die."

Dr. Parker appeared, holding up a hand for silence.

"Hush!" he cried. "He's quiet now and I think he will sleep. Don't talk here. Go outside, if you must talk—and I suppose you must."

Grace led the way. Fortunately, the door was on the side not visible from the spot where Captain Zeb and the rest were standing. Keziah, bewildered and amazed at the girl's presence, followed dumbly.

"Now, auntie," whispered Grace, turning to her, "you want to know how he is, of course. Well, I think he is better. The doctor thinks so, too. But why did you come here?"

"Why did I come? Why, because my place was here. I belonged here. For the love of mercy's sakes what are you doin' here? With him? And the smallpox!"

"Hush. I can't help it. I don't care. I don't care for anything any more. I'm glad I came. I'm glad I was the one to find him and help him. No matter what happens—to me—I'm glad. I never was so glad before. I love him, Aunt Keziah. I can say it to you, for you know it—you must know it. I love him and he needed me and I came. He was calling my name when I found him. He might have died there, alone in the wet and cold, and I saved him. Think what that means to me."

The door opened softly and Dr. Parker came out.

"He's asleep," he said. "And he's better, much better. And I'll tell you something else, if you won't make too much noise about it—he hasn't got the smallpox. He is pretty close to brain fever, though, but I guess he'll dodge that this time, with care. On the whole, Keziah, I'm glad you came. This young lady," with a movement of the head toward Grace, "has done her part. She really saved his life, if I'm not mistaken. Now, I think she can go away and leave him to you and me. I'll pretty nearly guarantee to have him up and out of this—this pesthole in a fortnight."

Here was joyful tidings, the better for being so unexpected. Keziah leaned against the boards and drew a long breath. Grace said nothing, but, after a moment, she went into the house.

"That's a good thing, too," commented Parker, watching her as she went, "I wanted to talk with you, Keziah Coffin, and right away. Now, then, there's something up, something that I don't know about, and I rather guess you do. Young women—even when they're her kind and that's as good a kind as there is—don't risk smallpox for any young man they pick up casually."

Keziah considered. "All right, doctor," she said, when she reached a decision, "all right; I'll tell you the whole thing."

She went on to tell all she knew of her parson's love story.

Dr. Parker listened.

"Hum!" he said thoughtfully, "I see. What made her change her mind so suddenly? You say, or you gather from what Mr. Ellery told you, that she had all but agreed to marry him. She cares for him, that's sure. Then, all at once, she throws him over and accepts Nat. Of course her uncle's sudden seizure was a shock and he wanted Nat to have her, but she isn't the kind of girl to be easily swayed. But never mind that, that doesn't count now. Let's look at things as they are this minute. She's here and folks know it. As they do know it they'll begin to talk, and the more they talk the farther from the truth they'll get—most of 'em. Nat, poor chap, is dead, so her promise to him is canceled. Ellery will get well if he isn't troubled. If she leaves him he'll go to pieces again, so she mustn't leave. And she can't stay without an explanation. I say let's give the explanation; let's come right out with the announcement that they're engaged."

"But she's a Come-Outer and—there's the church."

"Well, I know it. But he never was so popular as he is now. And she isn't by any means a steady-going Come-Outer. Why, Zeke Bassett and the rest have been finding fault with her and calling her a backslider. That'll help. Then you trust me to whoop up her heroism and the fact that without her he would have died. We can do it, Keziah. Come on! I've tackled a good many jobs, but matchmaking isn't one of 'em. Here goes to tackle that."

Keziah was delighted; here was work after her own heart. But she still hesitated.

"Doctor," she said, "you've forgot one thing, that's Gracie herself. Would she marry him now, knowing it may mean the loss of his ministry and all, any more than she would at first? I don't believe it."

"That's your part, Keziah. You've got to show her she must marry him or he'll die; see?"

Keziah's hesitation was at an end. Her face lit up.

"I say good!" she cried. "And now I want to give you a piece of advice, your course for the first leg, as you might say: you see Cap'n Zebedee Mayo."

"Humph! Cap'n Zeb is the first man I mean to see."

Captain Zeb listened with his mouth and eyes and ears open. Mrs. Mayo was with him when the doctor called, and she, too, listened.

"Well!" exclaimed the captain, when the plea for support was ended. "Well, by the flukes of Jonah's whale! Talk about surprises. Old lady, what do you say?"

"I say go ahead, Zebedee. Go ahead! If Mr. Ellery wanted to marry Jezebel's sister, and I knew he really wanted to, I'd—I do believe I'd help him get her. And Grace Van Horne is a good girl. Go ahead."

"Say, doc, there'll be a lively row, and I kind o' like it," said Captain Zeb.

There was, and it was lively enough to suit even Captain Zeb. Dr. Parker, on his calls that day, was assailed with a multitude of questions concerning Grace's presence at the shanty. He answered them cheerfully, dilating upon the girl's bravery, her good sense, and the fact that she had saved Mr. Ellery's life. Then he confided, as a strict secret, the fact that the two were engaged. Before his hearers had recovered from the shock of this explosion, he was justifying the engagement. Why shouldn't they marry if they wanted to? It was a free country. The girl wasn't a Come-Outer any longer, and, besides—and this carried weight in a good many households—what a black eye the marriage would be for that no-account crowd at the chapel.

Captain Zebedee, having shipped with the insurgents, worked for them from sunrise to sunset and after. Zeb was something of a politician and knew whom to "get at." He sought his fellows on the parish committee and labored with them. Mrs. Mayo and the doctor's wife championed the cause at sewing circle. They were lively, those sewing meetings, and the fur flew. Didama Rogers and Lavinia Pepper were everywhere and ready to agree with whichever side seemed likely to win.

It was by no means a one-sided struggle. Captain Elkanah, spurred on by the furious Annabel, marshaled his forces and proclaimed that Ellery, having disgraced the Regular Society, should no longer occupy its pulpit. He hinted concerning a good-sized contribution toward a parish house, something the society needed. If Ellery was discharged, the contribution would probably be made, not otherwise. And this was a point worth considering.

Daniels also wrote to his influential friends of the National Regular Society. But Captain Zebedee had forestalled him there and both letters were laid on the table to await further developments. As for the Come-Outers, they were wild with rage and Grace was formally read out of their communion.

Meantime Keziah, installed as head nurse at the shanty, was having her troubles. The minister was getting better, slowly but surely getting better. The danger of brain fever was at an end, but he was very weak and must not be excited, so the doctor said.

He had expressed a wish to talk with his housekeeper. "I've got something to tell you, Aunt Keziah," he said weakly. "Some news for you and—and——"

"Cat's foot!" snapped Keziah briskly, "don't start in tellin' me news now. I've got my hands full as 'tis. News'll keep and you won't, if you talk another minute."

She could manage him; it was with Grace that she had her struggle. First, and bluntly, she told the girl that her leaving was useless. The secret was out; it had been made public. Everyone knew she was in love with John and he with her. Their engagement was considered an established certainty. Grace was greatly agitated and very indignant.

"Who dared say so?" she demanded. "Who dared say we were engaged? It's not true. It's a wicked lie and—Who is responsible, Aunt Keziah?"

"Well, I suppose likely I am, much as anybody, deary."

"You? You, Aunt Keziah?"

"Yup; me. You are in love with him; at any rate, you said so. And you're here with him, ain't you? If you two ain't engaged you ought to be." She argued and pleaded and coaxed, and, at last, when she began to think she had prevailed, Grace brought forward another objection. She had given her word to her uncle. How could she break that promise to a dying man? She would feel like a traitor.

"Traitor to who?" demanded the housekeeper, losing patience. "Not to poor Nat, for he's gone. And don't you suppose that he and Eben understand things better now, where they are? Do you suppose that Nat wouldn't want you to be happy? I know he would, for I knew him."

It was still unsettled when the long talk was over, but Grace agreed not to leave the minister at present. She would stay where she was until he was himself again, at least. Keziah was satisfied with the preliminary skirmish. She felt confident of winning the victory, and in the prospect of happiness for others, she was almost happy herself. Yet each time the mail was brought to the shanty she dreaded to look at it, and the sight of a stranger made her shake with fear. Ansel Coffin had threatened to come to Trumet. If he came, she had made up her mind what to do.

The parish committee was to meet. Captain Elkanah had announced his intention of moving that John Ellery be expelled from the Regular church. There was to be no compromise, no asking for a resignation; he must be discharged, thrown out in disgrace. The county papers were full of the squabble, but they merely reported the news and did not take sides. The fight was too even for that.

One afternoon a few days before the date set for the meeting Elkanah and two or three of his henchmen were on the piazza of the Daniels home, discussing the situation. They were blue and downcast. Annabel was in the sitting room, shedding tears of humiliation and jealous rage on the haircloth sofa.

When Fish Go to Bed.

Did you know that fish go to bed in the winter? Prof. Dyche, state fish and game warden for Kansas, says: "Sure thing, fish have beds. I have seen them piled up four and five fish deep for a space at least 3 by 10 feet. Usually they find a place below a log or some kind of an obstruction in a stream where there is an eddy. They can maintain their positions there without much effort. I don't know whether they sleep or not, but fish will spend most of a winter in that way.

"When the water gets extremely cold the fish become sluggish. They can move around a little, but they lose all their alertness. They can even be caught by hand. All you need to do is to cut a hole in the ice after it has been frozen over for some time. Some fish will come to the hole for air. It is an easy matter to slip your hand under the fish slowly and you may lift him clear of the water before he makes a wiggle.

Cypress water tanks defy decay for more than a quarter of a century.

TRADE OUTLOOK IS SATISFACTORY

Normal Activity Will Follow Floods. Operations Active.

New York.—Dunn's Review of Trade says:

The general trade outlook is satisfactory, although conservatism in all branches is manifest. The disastrous floods of last week caused more or less interruption to transportation and distribution agencies but as these are restored a return to full normal activity is expected. Fortunately the flood damage, while great, was by no means as large as first reports indicated.

March bank clearings were 2.4 per cent less than last year, though 5.1 per cent larger than in 1911. Railroad earnings in the four weeks of March, on the other hand, made the important gain of 7 per cent.

While the iron and steel industry was disorganized by the floods, mills and furnaces are rapidly resuming work and fundamental conditions remain distinctly favorable. Reports from textile trades indicate a healthy demand. With the advantage of settled weather, retail and wholesale domestic trade is expected to expand greatly. Building operations are generally active. Winter wheat conditions are excellent. The balance of merchandise exports over imports in eight months amounted to $474,000,000 and the favorable foreign trade situation continues.

New York.—Bradstreet's Weekly Review of Trade says:

Irregularity with a tendency toward more or less depression is the chief characteristic of trade advices.

Retail trade has improved somewhat and returns fro mthe northwest generally and parts of the southwest show activity, but on the other hand conditions in the south, as well as in other areas, is such as to curtail buying while in the east there is a disposition to mark time.

In fact, it is possible there is a general desire to go slow especially as tariff matters are well to the front while money and credit matters demand attention.

As expected by those having advices from the flooded and storm swept sections of Ohio and adjoining valleys the loss of life and property has been rather less than earlier feared.

Still the toll has been heavy, especialy in Ohio.

Business failures for the week ending April 3 were 237, which compares with 261 in the like week of 1912.

There were 27 failures in Canada.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending April 3 aggregate 4,081,478 bushels, against 4,231,542 bushels this week last year.

NEWS BREVITIES.

Wickliffe, Ky.—Four thousand refugees from the adjacent inundated territory are being cared for here.

Washington.—The interstate commerce commission announced the appointment of Fred W. Sweeney as chief examiner of carriers' accounts, succeeding Charles A. Lutz, resigned.

Hamilton, O.—The city has offered a reward of $10 for each body recovered from the debris left by the flood. So far 71 bodies have been recovered. Canvasses of the city place Hamilton's death list at 150.

Dayton.—Accompanied by members of the Ohio flood relief commission, Governor Cox thoroughly inspected his flood stricken home city.

Washington.—Two or three revenue cutters will for ma federal escort of honor at the Commodore Perry celebration at Put in Bay, on Lake Erie, in July and August. Acting Secretary Williams of the treasury department has assured the Perry Memorial commission, headed by Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, that the cutters would participate.

New York.—George E. Kendall, president of the New York Banknote company, has turned over to the attorney general documentary evidence which Kendall says will prove that State Senator Stephen J. Stilwell tried to induce him to offer a bribe of $3,500 to have certain stock exchange bills reported out of legislative committees.

Boston, Mass.—Governor Foss thinks Massachusetts interests are menaced by what he believes to be the democratic plan of tariff revision. In a long special message he urged the legislature to memorialize Congress in favor of reciprocity as the basis of tariff changes.

New York.—Hunting trips, private cars, palatial residences and ornate office buildings are luxuries which directors of the St. Joseph Lead company, a $20,000,000 corporation, enjoyed at the stockholders' expense in the course of an alleged mismanagement of the company's affairs, according to the plaintiffs in a suit filed in the supreme court.

Washington.—Charges that Miss Zelie Emerson, the American militant suffragette now in prison for window smashing, has been subjected to "cruel and unusual treatment" are unfounded, according to a report to the state department from Irwin B. Laughlin, charge of the American embassy at London.

St. Louis.—Mrs. Jeannett O. Ferris of Michigan, told the Mississippi Valley Suffragette Conference here that woman suffrage was counted out fraudulently in the November election in her state.

GIRL SUFFERED TERRIBLY

At Regular Intervals—Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured her.

Adrian, Texas.—"I take pleasure in adding my testimonial to the great list and hope that it will be of interest to suffering women. For four years I suffered untold agonies at regular intervals. Such pains and cramps, severe chills and sickness at stomach, then finally hemorrhages until I would be nearly blind. I had five doctors and none of them could do more than relieve me for a time.

"I saw your advertisement in a paper and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took seven boxes of it and used two bottles of the Sanative Wash, and I am completely cured of my trouble. When I began taking the Compound I only weighed ninety-six pounds and now I weigh one hundred and twenty-six pounds. If anyone wishes to address me in person I will cheerfully answer all letters, as I cannot speak too highly of the Pinkham remedies."—Miss JESSIE MARSH, Adrian, Texas.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

RESINOL RELIEVED ITCHING INSTANTLY

And Completely Cured Skin Humor.

If you have eczema or any other itching, burning skin trouble, the best evidence of what Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment can do for you is the word of one who was cured by them after weeks of suffering. Adolph Schoen, 742 Shepherd Ave., Brooklyn, writes:

Nov. 1, 1912.—"At first little red spots were seen on my arms and body, which I noticed were getting larger every day. They itched me so much that I scratched myself until I bled. There were times when I stood up all night and scratched. I was troubled about three weeks, during which time I used ——, which seemed to do me no good whatever. Then, finally, I thought of trying Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. As soon as I applied Resinol Ointment I felt much relief. After using it a few times, I noticed the sore spots slowly fading away, and in about a month I was cured completely."

The soothing, healing balsams in Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, penetrate every tiny pore of the skin, clearing it of all impurities, driving away eczema, rashes, ringworm, psoriasis, and other eruptions, and making pimples and blackheads impossible. Prescribed by physicians for eighteen years. For free samples write to Dept. 8-K, Resinol, Baltimore, Md. Every druggist sells Resinol Ointment (50c) and Resinol Soap (25c), or sent by parcel post on receipt of price.

Sphinxes.

An American archaeologist is said to have solved the riddle of the sphinx by boring into its head and removing the sand. Many a sphinx would be one no longer after the head was subjected to a similar process. Not until after its head was bored into was it suspected that the sphinx-head in Egypt was hollow. It is so with many other sphinxes.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Going Half Way.

Rutgers Jewett, the literary adviser, was urging a young novelist to take up his residence in New York.

"Come to New York," he said, "and then, in every emergency, the publishers and magazine editors can turn to you.

"Men continually tell me," Mr. Jewett continued, "that things never come their way. I feel like shouting in reply:

"'But why not try putting yourself in the right place?'"

Bear's Grease and Baldness.

In a recent volume of reminiscences the writer states that baldness is much more common now than in his early days, and ascribes the modern man's loss of hair to the decrease in the use of "bear's grease." This pomade was made principally of lard, colored and scented, but "hairdressers, many of whom called themselves 'professors,' used to advertise 'the slaughter of another fine bear,' exhibiting a canvas screen depicting in glaring colors a brown animal of elephantine proportions expiring in a sea of gore."

Look to Truth for Progress.

Progress by precedent is like a sailor steering his boat today by his course yesterday, or like a lost hunter guiding himself by his own footsteps; the result being, in both cases, that the only progress is in a circle. The past has its use, which is mostly for warning. To get on humanity must not look to the past, not to the present, not to the future, but to truth, which is "the same yesterday, today and forever."

THE RIGHT SOAP FOR BABY'S SKIN

In the care of baby's skin and hair, Cuticura Soap is the mother's favorite. Not only is it unrivaled in purity and refreshing fragrance, but its gentle emollient properties are usually sufficient to allay minor irritations, remove redness, roughness and chafing, soothe sensitive conditions, and promote skin and hair health generally. Assisted by Cuticura Ointment, it is most valuable in the treatment of eczemas, rashes and other itching, burning infantile eruptions. Cuticura Soap wears to a wafer, often outlasting several cakes of ordinary soap and making its use most economical.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston." Adv.

Sinecure Had Lasted Long.

Pensions are not the only things commanded and forgotten. An inquisitive member of the British house of commons was struck one day by the presence of a policeman in one of the lobbies. He wondered why this particular lobby should always have a guardian strolling up and down and made inquiries. The records of the house were searched and it was found that fifty years previously, when the lobby was being decorated, a policeman had been stationed there to keep members from soiling their clothes. The order never having been countermanded, the constable had kept his beat for half a century.

CHARGE ON THE COMMUNITY

Care of Those Afflicted With Tuberculosis Plainly a Drag on the General Welfare.

Dr. H. L. Barnes, superintendent of the Rhode Island state sanatorium, has recently demonstrated by some interesting studies of patients discharged as "apparently cured" from that institution, that a sanatorium is a sound investment for any state or city. The gross earnings of 170 ex-patients of the sanatorium living in 1911 amounted to $102,752, and those of 211 cases in 1912 to $112,021. By applying the same average earnings to all ex-patients of the sanatorium living in 1911 and 1912, Dr. Barnes concludes that their incomes in these two years was $551,000. This sum is more than three times the cost of maintenance of the sanatorium, including interest at 4 per cent. on the original investment and depreciation charges. Dr. Barnes concludes, however, "While institutions for the cure of tuberculosis are good investments, there is good reason for thinking that institutions for the isolation of far advanced cases would be still better investments."

SHE TURNED GREENISH YELLOW

Her Sons, From Suggestion of Friend, Paved Way for Mother's Recovery.

Wicomico, Va.—In an interesting letter from this town, Mrs. Senora C. Seawell says: "I want to say that I cannot express the gratitude which I owe to Cardui, the woman's tonic. To me it was indeed a God-send.

Before I began taking Cardui, seemingly, my days were numbered, and my relatives and friends despaired of my life, and why not? I had always been so happy and cheerful, which changed quickly to misery and wretchedness. My complexion turned to a greenish yellow, I had no appetite, and, altogether, I was a wreck.

I had often seen Cardui advertised, and spoke of it to one of my friends. She told my boys, who sold Cardui, and next time they came home, they brought me a bottle. I had been suffering tortures for eight or more years. I commenced taking Cardui, and before I had used half of the first bottle, I felt like my old self again. I look so well now my friends tell me they don't believe anything would kill me. I certainly feel that I am a true friend of, and a living advertisement for, Cardui, the woman's tonic."

The above letter explains itself. If your health is low, and your strength is waning, take Cardui, the woman's tonic.

Something Seemed Lacking.

One of the best known London newspapers, in a review of "Lincoln's Own Stories," collected by Anthony Gross, commented on the anecdote which Lincoln was fond of telling of a family of such migratory habits that they were able to get everything into one wagon, and even the chickens were so used to being moved that when ever they saw the wagon sheets brought out they laid themselves on their backs and crossed their legs, ready to be tied. The British reviewer, with an insular sense of humor, remarked: "One feels a little as though something must have been accidentally left out of this and of many other stories in the book."

Thirteen Not Unlucky for Him.

Dr. Nansen has good reason to regard thirteen as a lucky number. The crew of the Fram, in which he made the most successful of his expeditions, consisted of thirteen men, who all, after an absence of three years, returned to their homes in perfect safety. Dr. Nansen arrived back in Norway on August 13, 1896, and on the same day the Fram emerged from her long drift on the ice into the open sea. Moreover, during the voyage, as the doctor records, "Kirk presented us with thirteen pups, a curious coincidence—thirteen pups born on December 13, 1893, for thirteen men."

CONSTIPATION

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are unlike all other laxatives or cathartics. They coax the liver into activity by gentle methods, they do not scour; they do not gripe; they do not weaken; but they do start all the secretions of the liver and stomach in a way that soon puts these organs in a healthy condition and corrects constipation. Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are a tonic to the stomach, liver and nerves. They invigorate instead of weaken; they enrich the blood instead of impoverishing it; they enable the stomach to get all the nourishment from food that is put into it. Price 25 cents. All Druggists.

A HIDDEN DANGER

It is a duty of the kidneys to rid the blood of uric acid, an irritating poison that is constantly forming inside.

When the kidneys fail, uric acid causes rheumatic attacks, headaches, dizziness, gravel, urinary troubles, weak eyes, dropsy or heart disease.

Doan's Kidney Pills help the kidneys fight off uric acid—bringing new strength to weak kidneys and relief from backache and urinary ills.

A Kentucky Case

THORSBY DEPARTMENT

H. L. FOSHEE, Manager. —o— THORSBY, ALA., April 10, 1913

Dr. Grote, of the State Board of Health, gave a very interesting illustrated lecture on hookworm disease at the Institute on Tuesday night. He also examined a large number of people Wednesday.

Several of our young people attended the concert Collin's Chapel last Friday night and had a fine time.

Prof. S. H. Herbert spent last Sunday and Monday in Birmingham.

The Baptist Ladies' Aid and Mission Society held their regular monthly business meeting on Monday with Mrs. P. C. Smith.

The Christian Endeavor Society held a social on last Saturday night.

Do not forget to attend the lecture Thursday night to be given by Dean Davis of the University on the "Ideal City."

We had an interesting game of ball on Saturday between Clanton and Jemison. The result was a victory for Jemison by a score of 25 to 13.

Last Friday evening the Ladies of the Congregational Church gave a reception for their new pastor at his home. A good crowd gathered. The evening was spent in a general good time. Music and other things for the entertainment of guests was furnished. Refreshments were served consisting of ice cream and cake.

Mayor Bice organized a Sunday School at Jackson's Chappel on Sunday. Mr. Taylor was appointed Superintendent and Mr. Bussy, Assistant Superintendent. Mr. Bice gave them all good advice and instructions. They are on the road to success if they follow the heedings of the organizer.

W. B. Tomlin reports a good attendance at the Sunday School at Bates Chapel.

Mrs. L. E. Simonton made a trip to Clanton on Thursday evening.

Mr. E. F. Mead visited Clanton on Monday.

The case of small pox here is being guarded. There is no danger of the disease spreading.

E. W. Butler preached at the Congregational Church Sunday morning. It was regular communion day and several were added to the church.

Dr. A. M. Wolly is often seen in town—we wish he would come to stay.

The Lutheran people gave their new pastor a surprise last Thursday evening which was a grand success. The porches were decorated with lights, the refreshments were delicious and plentiful. The evening was spent in a good time every way. Our people know how to make a ruccess.

Mr. Calvin Pugh was in town Sunday. There seems to be an attraction here for him. Who knows what?

Mrs. Olsen, the aged mother of Mrs. T. O. Swan, who had the misfortune to break her hip recently, is progressing rapidly under the care of Dr. Martin.

CLIP YOUR HORSES.

A clipped horse will do more work and keep in better condition on same amount of food than one unclipped, and he will do it with more vim and vigor—easy to keep clean, and looks so much better, in fact it makes a new horse out of him. Clip him this spring and you will never let him go through another without being clipped.

We have a first-class machine and experienced men to do the work.

Our Veterinary Department is equipped with power floats for filling horses teeth without cutting or bruising their gums and mouth like the old style hand floats. If your horse isn't doing well or doesn't respond to feed as you think he should; in the majority of cases it is on account of rough or uneven teeth, and a dollar or so spent toward the correction of the evil will pay well in the horses rapid improvement, enabling him to properly masticate his food.

Remember we can take care of your horse clipping, veterinary dental work and horse shoeing. Come to see us, we guarantee satisfaction.

IN MEMORY.

Mrs. Elizabeth Martin died at her home near Mineral Springs on April 1st at 10 o'clock. The next day her remains were laid to rest in Union Grove cemetery, where loving hands laid her away in her last resting place. The funeral services were couducted by Mr. R. M. Honeycutt in the presence of a large concourse of people who gathered to pay their final tribute of respect to the dead. A great number of her friends with love and tenderness looked far their last time at that familiar face in the coffin, now wearing the signet of death.

Mrs. Martin spent her life in the section of the country where she died. Her friends were many. She was a public spirited woman; she loved her country and her people; a woman of kindness, generous and lovely. She obtained salvation in her early life and at her death she waa a member of Union Grove Baptist Church. She was 82 years old and leaves an aged husband and four sons and one daughter, 36 grand children and 45 great grand children and a host of friends to mourn her death.

To her bereaved family we tender our sympathy, yet, we know our words are inadequate to bind up the bleeding hearts when the silver cord is loosed, but in the words of love:

Certainly I will be with thee,
Child of my love why fear,
Whatever the path before thee,
I will be forever near.

Certainly I will be with thee,
Calm thy soul, be still,
My love enfolds, surrounds thee,
And none may pass my will.

Certainly I will be with thee,
Child of my love why fear—
In life, in death, in eternity,
I am forever near.

Her Loving Friend.

THE CHILTON COUNTY BOARD OF AWARD.

HAVE YOUR LETTER HEADS AND ENVELOPES PRINTED

Every farmer, especially those on the R. F. D's, should have his stationery printed with the number of his route and post-office on it, and if possible with the name of his farm also. To encourage this we make the following One Dollar offer: We will furnish 150 envelopes and 250 sheets of note paper neatly printed as above for $1.00. We cannot mail them at that price as printed matter is unjustly deprived of the parcel post rate.

THANKS FOR CHILTON COUNTY KINDNESS.

Editor Union-Banner:

Feeling that we, the recipients of the kindness of the people of Chilton county, who are truly poor and infirm, should express thanks for the manner in which our sad lots are so materially benefitted, we most respectfully beg a little space in your esteemed columns to do so.

First, we desire to say that Mr. Huckabee, our highly esteemed Superintendent deserves our sincere gratitude, owing to the fact that he is ever solicitous regarding our welfare, and is an exception in the way of kindness to all and we, the poor castaways, are thankful to him and the Commissioners who have seen proper to retain him in office so long, and hope they may see proper to retain him indeffinitely.

Mrs Huckabee—who is no ordinary lady—joins Mr. Huckabee in his labor of kindness to us, and is esteemed by all.

This is not a "poor house," nor is the least stigma attached to the fact of one becoming an inmate here, but it is a comfortable home, with all the comforts necessary to make our declining years pleasant.

The most fastidious epicures never enjoyed finer Jersey butter, purer milk, fresher eggs, better vegetables and other things in the market than we do. I have been where the living was not so good and still $12.50 per month per capita was allowed. I venture to say that few people have more comforts than we, the grateful wards of Chilton county.

I came here scarcely able to walk, with no money and a stranger; I could not feel otherwise than grateful to the county officials, as well as to Mr. Huckabee and wife, as the treatment of myself is humane and good. I am thankful to my Maker that He has seen proper to create good men as well as bad ones. This is written of my own accord, as I think the good people of the county should know how much we appreciate their charity.

In conclusion, we tender our thanks to the Commissioners, the Probate Judge and to Mr. Huckabee and wife, and hope, should adversity and sickness fall to their lot, that they may be as fortunate as we have been in the way of being cared for, but hope that each mentioned may glide safely down the turbulent stream of life, and, at last arrive at the haven of the blest.

Truly,
W. A. SEALS.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS
AND LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

NOTICE.

Everybody that is interested in the public road leading from Clanton to the Coosa River, where the dam is now being erected, is requestad to meet at the Court house in Clanton next Tuesday night, the 22nd, at 8 o'clock p. m. Committee.

THE NATIONAL GOOD ROADS CELEBRATION.

To the People of Chilton County, and especially those opposed to the bond issue :

On the 24th and 25th inst. the National Good Roads Federation will meet in Birmingham, and at it will be some bright lights from at least twenty-five states. There will be men among them of wide experience and extensive knowledge. Whether you are open for discussion and subject to conversion or not. I insist that as many of you go as possibly can. As a member of the State Highway Board I offer you a special invitation to attend.

I have the honor of being on the entertainment committee and if you will go it will be my pleasure to see you are given a hearty welcome and entertained. Incidentally, I want to state that at our meeting in Birmingham in last October I pledged for Chilton county $25 to help bear the expenses of the good roads effort in Alabama. I am going to pay it while up there, and I shall insist that each citizen of Chilton county feel that he should take part in reimbursing me.

Seven years ago I gave the Southern Cotton Association for the people of Chilton county an extra hundred dollars. I, through the county paper, asked the good people to give it back to me. I am still waiting for it.

Remember, this pledge of $25 is extra of my time, efforts and means spent in the interest of good roads heretofore. Many of our people have never seen Birmingham, and very few have ever seen a real Yankee. I assure you that if you go up there on the 24th I will show you both. The railroad fare will be very low and even the poor should go to this big gathering. I fully concur in the splendid delegation appointed by our worthy Judge of Probate. Yours truly, F. A. Gulledge.

MT. PLEASANT.

The weather is beautiful and the farmers are as merry and busy as they can be.

Our teacher, Prof. R. L. Duffey, was called to the bedside of his father last Friday, who resides in Chambers county. Mrs. Duffey is taking his place in the school house.

Miss Alice Hawkins of near Cooper, is visiting friends and relatives in this community this week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Robinson spent a part of last week with friends and relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Woody Pate spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Price.

Mr. J. W. Doster and family spen- Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Vickerst

Miss Lizzie Sharbutt and niece, Miss O. D. Lindsey, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. T. C. Sharbutt near Cooper.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Davenport of Mulberry visited the latters parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Smith, on Saturday night.

We all enjoyed Mr. C. R. Mullins' letter on his trip to Washington and the east very much. Little Viewer.

MOUNTAIN CREEK NEWS.

Head stones for 85 of the graves occupied by dead Confederates have been received at the Alabama Old Soldiers' Home. This completes an order from the Daughters of the Confederacy for supplying properly marked stones for all neglected graves in the Home cemetery.

Ben Hughes says: "If there are any trout in Chestnut Creek you can't prove it by me."

Prof. Hughes gave a pleasing entertainment at the Soldiers' Home last week. Major Cyrus A. Gunn closed the store and attended.

"Buck" Beshears has finished cleaning up the campus, and, now visitors can rest their tired feet on earth carpeted with violets.

It was chilly last Sunday in this vicinity of Chilton county ; however this did not interfere with Capt. W. J. Bethune picking nearly a quart of strawberries from four plants.

Veteran James Payne is the champion mole catcher in all Alabama. "Jim" three weeks since observed that the earth on the Home farm commenced to swell in places into minature Alleghany ridges. He took after the velvet-coated creature with a nine-toothed set steel dead fall. In three weeks time "Jim" had his game trapped on a six-inch steel prong. He brought him into camp with bright red blood trickling over the velvety coated body.

Mr. Emmet Thornton and wife, and Misses Zula Kicker and Ellen Glenn, attended the 30th Alabama State S. S. Convention held at Huntsville during last week. W. P. T.

ON THE ROAD QUESTION FROM BEAT 14.

Editor Banner-Union :

I see a good many letters on our road proposition and I would like to say a few words. First, permit me thank Mr. Allen P. Howison for the information he has furnished our people on a bond issue. In my estimation he has given us information that is on the right side of the question—in other words if you want a fine horse you first want to know what he will cost, and the next thing is how are you going to pay for him. You can readily see this bond issue is buying a fine horse and getting the hide, and in doing this you take the money out of something else to pay for it.

Now, if a bond issue would fix our roads and keep them up for fifty years, then, I would say to issue them, but, you see it would not fix our leading roads nor keep them up.

What would the poor farmer do that lived off of these main roads? He would have to make him a road or remain at home and work out his taxes and turn it over to some man who is riding his automobile in some city. We can tax ourselves the amount it would take to get the bonds and do nearly five times the work and not be in debt if it is handled right.

I think that the people have their eyes open, A bond issue coming through our settlement would be treated the same as a mad dog : killed on sight.

I see that the river dam people and Clanton are figuring on a public highway to the dam, and that they have applied to our commissioners for help, and, it is reported that they are in favor of it. Now, I hope that they will open their minds and remember that we people over on the west side help to put this money in the treasury, and we need roads as bad as anybody. We are forced to pay this quarter per cent tax and if we get it back we pay another quarter per per cent, and we are not able to keep paying and working too. So it leaves it in this shape : the man with the money gets the money and the poor man gets the work and a bad road.

I am not saying this with any feeling against Clanton and the river dam people, I would be glad for them to get this highway, I am sure they need it, but it looks unjust to take the money from the west side of the county for the east side. I believe that the money is being divided up.

I hope to see that big oil machine up this way soon. We have a road machine standing at Jemison which the rust is eating up; it looks like we could get it into service some how if nothing else it could be sold and get some money for it. I don't think that it or another machine has ever been up in this part of the county ; it looks as if it is a city machine and it is hoped that the oil machine will not catch the same disease.

We have one of the leading roads from Randolph to Jemison a road that is traveled as much as any road in the county, and when it rains it is almost impassable. There are just a few negroes to work this bad road of three miles out from Jemison in beat two. I think that this is a good place for our commissioners to spend some money.

H. Honeycutt.

NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

A CONDENSED RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

SEVEN DAYS' NEWS AT A GLANCE

Important Happenings in All Parts of the World Summarized for the Busy Reader.

Southern.

Ernest Moschner, aged 35, murdered his four children and then killed himself by shooting at his home at Fitchburg, Mass. Continued ill health made the man temporarily insane, the police blieve. Moschner's wife, upon returning from work, discovered the bodies of her children and husband with bullet holes in their heads.

In Meigs county, on the Tennessee river, a few miles above Chattanooga, Charles W. Goodlake, a well known tinner, fired five bullets into the body of his wife, killing her instantly. He also fired at his son, but the boy escaped. Goodlake then fortified himself in his house, where the body of his murdered wife lay. He defied a sheriff's posse for hours. Finally, in an effort to escape, the desperate man fired on the posse. Instantly every man in the crowd returned the fire. Goodlake fell pierced with six pistol balls and many buckshot.

W. J. Harris, Democratic state chairman of Georgia, will be nominated by President Wilson to be director of the census to succeed E. Dana Durand.

A blue sky law similar to the Kansas law to drive from the state fraudulent land and investment companies will be introduced in the Florida legislature. This will kill off a number of companies now handling Everglades land on the instalment plan.

David L. Brown, aged 60 years, a prominent druggist of Macon and proprietor of two stores in that city, went into the lobby of the Dakota hotel, in Atlanta, Ga., and walked up to the head clerk's desk. He had been stopping at the Dakota for five days, which he had been spending in Atlanta on a business trip. "Let me have my key," he said. "I'm going to the room and take a good, long sleep. You needn't call me." Thirty minutes later a telegram came for the Macon man. The clerk went upstairs to deliver the message, and found the man lying on the bed, doubled up as though in pain. A bottle of carbolic acid, the contents drained, lay nearby upon the floor. He was dead.

Five babies were born to Mrs. Charles Smith of Danby, a few miles south of Ithaca, N. Y. The five are well and healthy and the physician says that they will live.

"Uncle John Butler," known to almost every resident of Ocean Grove, N. Y., is dead in his 104th year. Until two years ago Mr. Butler was more agile than most men 80 years old.

The body of J. P. Morgan is at rest at Hartford, Conn. It was buried on the crest of Cedar Hill cemetery, the sixth of the house of Morgan to find resting place there.

For the third time in his reign King Alfonso narrowly escaped being the victim of an anarchist attempt against his life. Three shots were fired at the king in the streets of the capital by a native of Barcelona, Rafael Sanchez Allegro, who was immediately overpowered. King Alfonso owes his escape to his own courage, quickness and skilled horsemanship.

The steamship France from Havre bearing the body of J. Pierpont Morgan and members of the family who were with him when he died in Rome, reached quarantine at the entrance of New York harbor, and were taken ashore.

The first active movement in preparation for a great general strike in Brussels, Belgium, has been made by sending out of the country many children of the four hundred thousand-odd workers, who will lay down their tools at the bidding of the Socialist party.

Troops with fixed bayonets held no terror for the striking carmen of the International Railway company and their sympathizers at Buffalo, N. Y., and the riotous scenes of former days of the strike were not only as numerous, but of a more serious nature. All efforts to resume traffic were blocked and all the cars were withdrawn at nightfall after an intermittent operation of less than four hours. A woman and man were wounded and a boy received a thrust from a bayonet. The woman will die.

A monument to Major Archibald W. Butt, military aide to President Roosevelt and Taft, lost with the Titanic, will be dedicated May 30 in Arlington national cemetery upon a spot Major Butt, in 1903, selected for his burial place.

After year of effort to remove Robert Small, negro collector at Beaufort, S. C., Senator Tillman succeeded when President Wilson sent to the senate the name of Franklin P. Colcock for the post. Colcock is white.

The railway strike in Australia has spread rapidly and is alarming in its scope.

Jose Fernandez, a prominent liberal politcian and known throughout Cuba as "Chichi" Fernandez, was shot and killed in the principal restaurant of Cienfuegos.

The great strike of the workingmen in Belgium to force the government to grant manhood suffrage began at Brussels, Belgium and it is estimated that 200,000 men had quit work. This number is at least 10,000 short of the Socialist predictions. Nevertheless the strike has shown much greater strength than was expected by impartial observers.

Gen. Pedro Ojeda, commanding the remnants of his federal garrison of 300 troopers at Naco, Senora, Mexico, surrender to United States troops on border patrol at Naco, after having withstood a siege of state troops which lasted for five days and in which more than half his troopers were killed.

Albert C. Frost, former president and promoter of the Alaska Central railroad, and his four co-defendants, all interested in the development of the road, were found not guilty in the federal court at Chicago of conspiracy to obtain control illegally of millions of dollars' worth of coal lands in the Matanuska valley, Alaska. Disputes over the methods of coal claim locators caused the coal lands to be withdrawn from entry during President Roosevelt's last administration.

The weekly attempt of suffragettes to hold a meeting in Hyde Park against the opposition of the anti-suffragettes was made again. The crowd howled down the speakers and hurled missiles at them until the police were forced to intervene and esvort the suffragettes from the park. Wild disorder occurred at Wimbledon Common, where an enormous force of police was engaged in protecting suffragettes holding an open-air meeting. Mouted police were obliged to charge several times before they were able

Two sailors of the United States cruiser California were killed and three others wounded in a street fight at Mazatlan, Mexico. Two or three Mexican police were wounded in attempting to arrest the American sailors.

The Servian troops which have been assisting the Montenegrin army in the siege of Scutari have withdrawn and are now marching back to Servia. This leaves Montenegro standing practically alone in its defiance of the powers.

Bulgaria is making formal claims to the possession of Saloniki, now occupied by the Greek troops, according to a dispatch from Belgrade, Servia. The dispatch adds that Bulgaria is taking military measures to support her claims, while Greece is concentrating her army along the railway leading to Saloniki.

It is announced that the Constitutionalist party of Mexico will repudiate any loan contract made with the Huerta government in Mexico. This statement was given out on the authority of the governor of Coahuila, military leader of the forces which are working to overthrow Huerta.

For the second time in less than six months on the face of returns available a constitutional amendment permitting woman suffrage was defeated in Michigan. The five amendments in the state constitution were lost.

Washington

President Wilson believes the tariff bill meets the general approval of the country; that no healthy business will be interrupted and that while in most cases the cost of living will not be immediately reduced, the consumer will feel at once the benefit of a reduction in the sugar duty. These views were expressed by the president in an open talk with newspaper men at the white house. He explained that his main reason for desiring a reduction on sugar was that the consumer deserved it and the public would be speedily benefited.

Vice President Marshall served warning on men of vast wealth and on "special privilege" that the temper of the American people had reached a point where it no longer would brook oppression.

President Wilson let it be known that the federal government would not interfere with pending legislation in California by which aliens who have not declared their intention of becoming naturalized as American citizens, are prohibited from owning land or property. He communicated this decision informally to Representative Baker. Though the measure is aimed primarily at the Japanese, the fact that it makes no discrimination of race in its contents, as well as the desire of the president not to interfere wit hthe sovereignty of the state, has precluded any action by the federal government.

President Wilson, when told that Connecticut had ratified the constitutional amendment providing for the election of senators by direct vote, remarked: "I am sincerely glad that the amendment has been ratified so promptly and a reform so long fought for at last accomplished."

William F. McCombs, chairman of the national Democratic executive committee has, in accordance with the action of the national committee, appointed a finance committee of five to raise the funds necessary to maintain a national committee headquarters at Washington until the next campaign. Chairman McCombs has held that an admirable purpose would be served if the committee kept its regular organization and headquarters intact, meeting conditions as they may develop and keeping thoroughly in touch with Democratic organizations throughout the country.

WILSON WELCOMES D. A. R. DELEGATES

FIRST PUBLIC ADDRESS SINCE HIS INAUGURATION.

BUSINESS SESSION STORMY

Mrs. William Cummings Story of New York Achieves Partial Victory in Authorization for Appointment of Committee.

Washington.—Delegates to the Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which began its twenty-second annual session here Monday, were welcomed to Washington by President Wilson in his first public address since his inauguration. Addresses of welcome were also made by Secretary of State Bryan and the French ambassador, M. Jusserand. Both the president and Secretary Bryan told the Daughters that it was their duty to apply the principles of their revolutionary ancestors to modern problems.

The afternoon session, given over to addresses of welcome, came after a stormy business meeting which resulted in a partial victory for the forces of Mrs. William Cummings Story of New York, one of the candidates of the strenuous contest for president-general of the society. Mrs. Story's partisans gained authorization for the appointment of a collateral committee of representatives of each of the candidates for president-general to pass upon the seating of contested delegations.

Among the notable women who occupied boxes at the afternoon session were Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, Mrs. William J. Bryan, Mrs. A. S. Burleson, Mrs. Franklin Lane, Mme. Chinda, wife of the Japanese ambassador, and Mrs. John Hays Hammond.

Secretary Bryan in his address told the Daughters that they must throw their influence on the side of the people in their struggle for liberty. "Then, and then only," he declared, "will you be true Daughters of the American Revolution."

WEAK SPOTS IN LEVEES

Work Redoubled as Crest of the Flood Approaches.

Memphis, Tenn.—As the lower tributaries of the Mississippi river empty their waters into the stream and the crest of the flood approaches, fears for the breaking of levees from Helena southward increase. At almost all the points affected last year fears are entertained for breaks this year and the levees are being strengthened.

Reports from Oldtown, Ark., Laconia Circle and a point on the Arkansas river opposite Friars Point, Miss., caused the chief alarm.

Weak spots were also noticed at Natchez, where parts of the embankment began falling in at Alsatia, La., where a break occurred last year, and at Rosedale, Miss. At the latter place, where sloughing and sand boils developed Sunday, repairs were pushed sufficiently Monday to give the authorities much hope that they would be able to hold the protection there.

At Manila, Marked Tree and points along the St. Francis river water from breaks in the Missouri and Arkansas levees is passing out rapidly. A decrease in the rate of rise was felt Monday at Marked Tree

Gov. Futrell of Arkansas was appealed to to send aid to Osceola, Deckerville and Tyronza. At Deckerville meningitis has broken out and setps have been taken to prevent an epidemic.

Lowlands in the vicinity of Arkansas City and McGehee, Ark., are being flooded. All trains into the former city have been annulled and the Tensas levee board has established a patrol of the levees. The break at Lake Jefferson has not given these places much relief.

The Mississippi levee board will be furnished with $50,000 additional with which to fight the flood, ararngements for borrowing that amount having been made at Greenville Monday.

There have been no more breaks or weak spots developed in the St. Francis levee system.

J. P. MORGAN LAID TO REST

Is Buried on the Crest of Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Hartford, Conn.—The body of J. P. Morgan is at rest. It was buried on the crest of Cedar Hill cemetery, the sixth of the house of Morgan to find resting place there. His grave is to the west of the great monument of red granite that marks the family plot. To the east lie his father, Junius Spencer Morgan; his mother and a brother, who died in boyhood. To the north are the graves of his grandparents, Joseph and Sarah. Like the others, the new grave will be marked by a small brown headstone, inscribed: "John Pierpont Morgan, 1836-1913."

Doctors Hope for Pope.

Rome.—The pope has rallied in wonderful manner from the serious attack from which he suffered. He appeared to be on the point of death; the physicians' reports stated that the danger point, for the present at least has been passed.

Workmen Go to France.

Quievrain, Belgium.—Everything is closed here. Half the workmen have gone over the frontier into France to find temporary occupations.

LEVEE SLOUGHS NEAR ROSEDALE

LARGE FORCE OF MEN RUSHED THERE SUNDAY.

AN IMPROVEMENT AT BEULAH

Weak Places There Holding and Conditions Are Satisfactory — Rosedale Probably Will Be Flooded if Break Occurs.

Rosedale, Miss.—A solugh in the levee between three and a half and four miles south of Rosedale occurred Sunday and a large force is now at work in an effort to prevent a break. This point has been considered weak for several days and a great deal of work has been done there.

If the levee should break at this place it is probable that Rosedale would be overflowed, though some claim that the ridge south of town should prevent water entering the town.

The weak place below Beulah is still holding and conditions at that point are improved. W. P. Belcher, in a gasoline boat, went out to the old government gauge Sunday and reports that the water lacked twenty-one inches of being as high as at its highest stage last year.

FAIR WEATHER FOR WEEK

Temperatures Will Be Higher, With Less of Rainfall.

Washington.—Slightly warmer temperatures, less rainfall and fair weather generally east of the Rockies during the fore part of the week are the probabilities offered by Chief Willis L. Moore of the weather bureau in his weekly bulletin issued Sunday night.

"The distribution of atmospheric pressure over the northern hemisphere," says the bulletin, "is such as to indicate that temperatures will average near or above the normal the coming week in all parts of the country east of the Rocky mounains and slightly below normal on the Pacific slope. The rainfall during the week will be generally below normal."

THREE TOWNS UNDER WATER

Deckerville, Tyronza and Lepanto, Ark., Submerged.

Marked Tree, Ark.—The water rose nineteen inches in twenty-four hours and is still rising at a decreased rate. This puts it within about nine inches of last year's highest record here. Steamboats are now loading at the Frisco tracks, leaving for Lepanto and upper river points. So far little suffering has been reported and no drowning or other accidents. Deckerville, Tyronza and Lepanto are all under water, but no great depth, as they are on high ground. The town here is in darkness on account of the light plant being put out of commission.

Bryan on Religion.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan addressed two large audiences here Sunday on the benefits of religion and the necessity for training the young.

Eighty Sailors Ill.

Charleston, S. C.—Under orders from the commandant of the Charleston navy yard, medical officers are conducting rigid inquiry as to the cause of sudden illness among eighty enlisted men of the station ship Hartford.

House Floated, Man Asleep.

Hickman, Ky.—Alec Barnes, a promfuent citizen of this place, had a narrow escape from drowning when his house floated off its blocks and went into the river. Barnes was awakened just in time.

Huerta Seeks Peace.

El Paso, Tex.—Provisional President Huerta's peace envoys here invited Emilio Vasquez Gomez, who asserts he is provisional president of Mexico, to go with them to Mexico City for a conference with Gen. Huerta relative to their presidential claims.

Dr. Osler Is Here.

New York.—Among the passengers arriving from England on board the steamer Campania was Sir William Osler.

LOWER VALLEY READY FOR FLOOD

ESTIMATES AS TO VOLUME OF WATER ARE DECREASED.

BEULAH IS STRENGTHENED

Levees Will Be Raised From Helena Southward—Falling Cairo to Helena—St. Francis Levees Show No Breaks.

Memphis.—With the Mississippi river at St. Louis stationary; with a fall of almost a foot at Paducah and a slight fall in the Ohio at Cairo; a stationary river from there to Luxora, Ark., and falling water from there to a point somewhere between Memphis and Helena, Ark., fighters of the Mississippi river flood in the St. Francis levee district believe the worst of the flood is past.

The Mississippi river at Helena is rising at a lower rate than was expected, and preparations are going on below there for the increased flood expected from the Arkansas and St. Francis rivers. On both sides of the river levees will be raised at least two feet higher and it is believed they will be held.

By hard work at Beulah the sinking of the levee near the old break has been built up, and every effort is being made to strengthen it. While the great danger coming during the next ten days or so is not minimized, the outlook is regarded as materially improved.

It will take a longer time for the swollen waters to come out of the tributaries through Arkansas and points west, and this is also regarded as a favorable condition and will probably decrease the estimate as to the ultimate height of the river through the bends below Helena.

TRIED TO ASSASSINATE KING

TRIED TO ASSASSINATE KING.

Spanish Ruler Forces Horse to Rear—Animal Gets Bullet.

Madrid.—For the third time in his reign King Alfonso narrowly escaped being the victim of an anarchistic attempt agains his life. Three shots were fired at the king in the streets of the capital by a native of Barcelona, Rafael Sanchez Allegro, who was immediately overpowered. King Alfonso owes his escape to his own courage, quickness and skilled horsemanship. Accompanied by his staff, he was riding along the Calle de Alcala, returning from the ceremony of swearing in recruits, when a man sprang from the sidewalk and seized the bridle of the king's horse with one hand, presenting a revolver point blank with the other. The king, realizing the situation, with lightning rapidity dug spurs into his horse, which reared violently. His quickness saved his life. The bullet, instead of burying itself in the king's breast, struck the horse on the neck, but so clase was it that the king's left hand glove was blackened by the powder discharge.

Americans Killed in Mexico.

Guaymas, Sonora, Mexico.—The killing here of J. C. Kleslow and W. W. Corrie and the wounding of three other sailors from the United States cruiser California resulted in a request from Americans at Mazatlan that a cruiser be detailed to the Pacific port.

"Wilson Will Be Beaten."

Washingon.—"President Wilson is going to make the greatest fight of his life, but he will ultimately be beaten." This was the prediction of Helen Keller, the famous blind girl.

To Stamp Out Malaria.

St. Louis.—A malarial commission was organized as a department of the National Drainage Congress to make a careful investigation of malaria throughout the United Staets and report at the drainage congress next year a plan for a systematic warfare on the disease.

Georgian Census Head.

Washington.—W. J. Harrison, formerly Democratic state chairman of Georgia, will be nominated by President Wilson to be director of the census, to succeed E. Dana Durand.

THE WILSON LEVEE BREAKS

FEAR AT OSCEOLA, LUXORA AND MOUND CITY, ARK.

DANGER TO WHOLE SYSTEM

Cloudbursts in Arkansas and Heavy Rains in Upper Valley—Second Flood Is Coming—Record Stages Are Passed.

Wilson, Ark.—The St. Francis levee broke at a point about opposite this town at 5:30 Wednesday afternoon. The break occurred at a point where it was least expected, and in a few hours a stream 500 feet wide was running through the crevasse and rapidly widening. No loss of life is reported. The people had been warned for several days that a break was imminent.

Other weak spots developed Wednesday afternoon and night at Mound City, Ark., at Osceola, Ark., where the water overtopped the levee, and at Luxora, Ark., where boils appeared. It was stated that through heroic efforts workers might be able to hold the levee at all of these points.

Torrential rains, assuming the proportions of cloudbursts, occurred Wednesday throughout Central, Northern and Eastern Arkansas.

Rapid rises are expected from the Ohio river and the upper Mississippi tributaries as well, which will bring another flood on top of the present one, and fears are entertained for levees being overtopped or broken through the entire St. Francis system.

Late reports from Wilson are that the St. Louis division of the Frisco railroad had been cut. This will not affect traffic to a great extent, as the line has already been out of use from the cut at Lilbourn, Mo. The water from Wilson will eventually cut off railroad traffic west from Memphis on all except perhaps the Frisco railroad.

Blytheville, Ark.—An alarm was sounded through the northern part of the county Wednesday night that a break in the St. Francis levee was imminent at Barfield Point.

A special train was made up and left at midnight loaded with citizens, who will go to work on the levee in an effort to hold it against the rising waters. People are fleeing to places of safety.

A HORSE SAVED FEDERALS

Prevented Soldiers Passing Over a Row of Dynamite Bombs.

Laredo, Tex.—The neigh of a rebel soldier's horse saved Gen. Tracy Aubert's entire column of 900 federals from annihilation near Bustamente on the march to the border, according to soldiers who arrived at Nuevo Laredo. The federals were preparing to take a short cut through a canyon when the neigh of the horse apprised them of danger. A reconnoitering force found a rebel horseman ready to touch off a string of ninety-one dynamite bombs as soon as Aubert's forces entered the defile. The federals were twice badly defeated on the march, admitting a loss of 125 killed. Gen. Aubert reported to President Huerta the entire country between Saltillo and the border is unfriendly to the government.

SALONIKA GOES TO BULGARIA

Triple Alliance Will Support Contention Against Greece.

Vienna.—The powers composing the Triple Alliance—Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy—advocate, according to the Neue Freie Press, that Saloniki should be given to Bulgaria as compensation for the cession of Silistria and a strip of Bulgarian territory to Roumania. Russia and France, on the other hand, are of the opinion that Greece should have Saloniki, while England appears to favor the view of the Triple Alliance. It was announced a few days ago that Greece had transferred a division of her army from the province of Epirus to Saloniki.

Boycott on Austria.

Belgrade.—The Chambers of Commerce and Industry in Servia have declared a general boycott on Austro-Hungarian goods. The banks here have decided to cancel the credits of merchants dealing in Austrian merchandise unless Austria promptly abandons her hostile attitude toward Servia.

Morgan's Body Arrives.

New York.—The body of J. Pierpont Morgan reached New York on the steamer France in a driving rain Friday afternoon, and at dusk was taken from the ship's mortuary chapel, somber in heavy velvet and resplendent in silver and gold, to a motor hearse, which conveyed it from the pier to the library.

Danger Past at Reelfoot.

Hickman, Ky.—Although the river is falling, work is being continued on Reelfoot levee and the greatest danger is now past.

PROVISIONS OF THE NEW TARIFF BILL

Congressman Underwood Explains What It Means to the Country.

REDUCE REVENUE $80,000,000

Places Raw Wool on the Free List, and Heavily Reduces the Sugar Duty—Raises Rates on Several Items.

Washington, D. C.—Removal of all tariff from many articles of food and clothing, broad reductions in the rates of duty on all necessaries of life, an increase of tariff on many luxuries, and a new income tax that would touch the pocket of every American citizen whose net income exceeds $4,000 are the striking features of the new Democratic tariff revision bill.

Sugar would be free of duty in 1916, the bill proposing an immediate 25 per cent. reduction and the removal of the remaining duty in 1916.

Raw wool would be made free at once, with a corresponding heavy reduction in the tariff on all woolen goods.

Placed on the Free List.

Other articles are put on the free list as follows: Meats, flour, bread, boots and shoes, lumber, coal, harness, saddlery, iron ore, milk and cream, potatoes, salt, swine, corn, cornmeal, cotton bagging, agricultural implements, leather, wood pulp, Bibles, printing paper not worth more than 2½ cents a pound, typewriters, sewing machines, typesetting machines, cash registers, steel rails, fence wire, cotton ties, nails, hoop and band iron, fish, sulphur, soda, tanning materials, acetic and sulphuric acids, borax, lumber products, including broom handles, clapboards, hubs for wheels, posts, laths, pickets, staves, shingles.

These principal items are taken from the free list and taxed: Rough and uncut diamonds and precious stones, furs, coal tar products, 10 per cent.; volatile oils, 20 per cent.; spices, from 1 cent to 2 cents per pound.

Chairman's Comparative Table.

Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee, in his statement accompanying the new bill, gave a comparative table to show reductions in tariff duties made upon necessaries. In each item both the present tariff and the proposed tariff had been reduced to an advalorem basis.

The new rates are estimated to reduce the customs revenue approximately $80,000,000 a year. This is expected to be made up by the income tax.

Indorsed by President Wilson, the measure represents the efforts of the president and house tariff makers to carry into effect Democratic pledges of downward revision and of concessions to the American consumer.

Protection to the farmer would be cut throughout by more than 50 per cent. in an effort to reduce the cost of food. Protection to the steel and implement manufacturer would in turn be cut by fully as wide a margin. Heaviest reductions fall upon foodstuffs, agricultural products, woolen and cotton clothing.

Free Wool and Free Sugar.

The free wool proposal, backed by President Wilson and accepted by the house committee, is expected to provoke a severe fight within the Democratic ranks of both houses. It had not become clear whether the Democratic opponents of free wool and free sugar in the senate would be able to force a compromise on one or both these provisions.

The decision to make a gradual reduction in the sugar tariff was reached by the president and the house committee after Louisiana cane growers declined a compromise that would have established a one-cent per pound tariff for three years, with free sugar in 1916.

Duty Cuts in Detail.

Chairman Underwood's statement giving the changes in detail continues as follows:

"In the chemical schedule the rates on certain commodities show heavy reductions. For instance, boracic acid is cut from 78.70 per cent. to 21.43 per cent., glue from 35.06 per cent. to 14.29 per cent. and red lead from 60.35 per cent. to 25 per cent. Moderate reductions have been made on medicinal preparations, which are cut from 25 per cent to 15 per cent., blacking from 25 per cent. to 15 per cent., drugs from 12.55 per cent. to 10 per cent., and olive oil from 35.18 per cent. to 21.05 per cent. The schedule contains a number of articles on which either no reduction has been made or an advance provided for.

"Rates on all brick have been cut on the average from 30.23 per cent. to 10.28 per cent., tile from 47.84 per cent. to 23.36 per cent., asphalt from 37.05 per cent. to 9.62 per cent. Ordinary earthenware, which was already relatively low, being subject to an average duty of 24.67 per cent., has now been cut to 15 per cent., while window glass has been given an average reduction on all glasses of from 46.38 per cent. to 28.31 per cent. Plate glass, which may be considered a luxury, still retains a duty of nearly 40 per cent., the average being 38.45 per cent., in place of the duty of 63.95 per cent. in the law.

Pig Iron and Forgings Hit.

"Pig iron and slabs, which were 16.35 per cent. and 17.79 per cent., have been cut to 8 per cent. in each case; beams, from 23.20 per cent. to 12 per cent., and forgings from 30 per cent. to 15 per cent. On the other hand, bicycles, a much more highly manufactured product, are dutiable at 25 per cent. as against 45 per cent., and razors at 35 per cent. as against 77.68 per cent.

"The idea of the large extension of the free list for the unmanufactured products has been the fundamental conception, while the effort has been made to improve the status of the manufactured lumber. Thus, sawed boards, other than cabinet wood, have been carried to the free list, while sawed cabinet woods, which were 12.75 per cent. in 1912, are now 10 per cent.; casks, barrels, etc., which were 30 per cent., are now 14.77 per cent., and house furniture, which was 35 per cent., is now 15 per cent.

"Tobacco and spirits have been found to be good producers of revenue and have, therefore, been left at the same rates as in the present law.

Would Reduce Cost of Living.

"In the effort to relieve the consumer and to mitigate the high and rising cost of living, schedule G, which deals with agricultural products, has been thoroughly revised and important reductions have been made. For instance, the duty on horses has been reduced from 25 per cent. to 10 per cent., cattle from 25.07 per cent. to 10 per cent., sheep from 16.41 per cent. to 10 per cent., barley from 43.05 per cent. to 23.07 per cent., macaroni from 34.25 per cent. to 23.81 per cent., hay from 43.21 per cent to 26.67 per cent, fruits from 27.21 per cent. to 15.38 per cent, figs from 51.53 per cent. to 42.10 per cent., lemons from 68.85 per cent. to 24.03 per cent., live poultry from 13.10 per cent. to 6.67 per cent., and vinegar from 33.03 per cent. to 17.39 per cent. Other changes are in proportion, and the general effect has been to reduce in a very material proportion the heavy taxes upon imported foodstuffs.

"In schedule I, dealing with cotton, comparisons of the principal items show reductions on cotton thread from 31.54 per cent. to 19.29 per cent.; on spool thread from 22.95 per cent. to 15 per cent.; on cotton cloth from 42.74 per cent. to 26.69 per cent.; on water proof cloth from 50.56 per cent. to 25 per cent.; on ready made clothing from 50 per cent. to 30 per cent.; on collars and cuffs from 64.03 per cent. to 25 per cent.; on plushes from 51.40 per cent. to 40 per cent.; on handkerchiefs from 59.27 per cent. to 30 per cent.; on stockings, 75.34 per cent. to 50 per cent.; on gloves from 89.17 per cent. to 35 per cent.; on underwear from 60.27 per cent. to 25 per cent., and on cotton damask from 40 per cent. to 25 per cent.

"Flax, hemp and their products have been similarly dealt with. Raw flax and raw hemp have been reduced from $22.40 and $22.50 per ton, respectively, to $11.20 each; jute yarns have been cut from 26.90 per cent. to 15 per cent.; cables and cordage from 6.43 per cent. to 4.55 per cent.; oil cloths for floors from 44.29 per cent. to 15 per cent.; handkerchiefs from 50 per cent. to 35 per cent.

How Schedule K Fares.

"Schedule K, dealing with wools and woolen manufactures, has been the center of criticism for many years and the committee has given it very careful study. The result has been to make raw wool free of duty, to reduce yarns from 75.34 per cent to 20 per cent; blankets from 72.69 per cent to 25 per cent; flannels from 93.29 per cent to 25 and 35 per cent; dress goods from 99.70 per cent to 35 per cent; clothing from 79.56 per cent to 35 per cent; webbings, etc., from 82.7 per cent to 35 per cent, and carpets from rates ranging from 60 per cent to 82 per cent, to rates ranging from 20 per cent to 35 per cent.

"Inasmuch as silk and silk goods are distinctly to be classed as luxuries, it has been deemed wise to make only very moderate reductions in the rates of duty. Partially manufactured goods have been cut from 21.01 per cent to 15 per cent; spun silk yarn from 37.09 per cent to 35 per cent; sewing silk from 35 per cent to 15 per cent; silk goods from 52.55 per cent to 50 per cent; silk handkerchiefs (plain) from 50 per cent to 40 per cent; ribbons from 50 per cent to 40 per cent; artificial silk yarns from 41.79 per cent to 35 per cent. and braids, embroideries and the like of artificial silk, from 68.49 per cent to 60 per cent.

Print Paper on the Free List.

"Print paper, whose cost of production is as low in this country under favorable conditions as it is anywhere in the world, has been transferred to the free list when worth less than 2½ cents per pound, while the higher grades have been given a tariff of 12 per cent in place of 15.80 per cent. Copying paper has been cut from 42.32 per cent to 30 per cent, bag envelopes, etc., from 49.92 per cent to 35 per cent, parchment papers from 47.92 per cent to 35 per cent, photographic paper from 29.99 per cent to 25 per cent, writing paper from 45.18 per cent to 25 per cent; common wrapping paper from 35 per cent to 25 per cent and books from 25 per cent to 15 per cent.

"Trimmed hats are given only a moderate reduction, being cut from 50 per cent to 40 per cent, while brooms are substantially reduced, being cut from 40 per cent to 15 per cent.

Jewelry Only Slightly Reduced.

"Jewelry has been only slightly reduced, falling from 75.74 per cent to 60 per cent. A good illustration of the attitude adopted with respect to the application of the tariff is seen in the item, precious stones uncut, which are given a rate of 10 per cent notwithstanding they were on the free list under the act of 1909.

"Where the tariff rates balance the difference in cost of production at home and abroad, including an allowance for the difference in freight rates, the tariff must be competitive, and from that point downward to the lowest tariff that can be levied will continue to be competitive to a greater or less extent.

Strikes Blow at Monopoly.

"On the other hand, when the duties levied at the custom house are high enough to allow the American manufacturer to make a profit before his competitor can enter the field, we have invaded the domain of the protection of profits. In the committee's judgment the protection of any profit must of necessity have a tendency to destroy competition and create monopoly, whether the profit protected is reasonable or unreasonable.

"Which course is the wiser one for our government to take? The one that demands the protection of profits, the continued policy of hothouse growth for our industries—the stagnation of development that follows where competition ceases—or, on the other hand, the gradual reduction of our tariff to a basis where the American manufacturer must meet honest competition; where he must develop his business along the best and most economic lines; where, when he fights at home to control his market, he is forging the way in the economic development of his business to extend his trade in the markets of the world. The future growth of our great industries lies beyond the seas."

ANTI-ALIEN LAND OWNERSHIP BILL

CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE HAS PASSED MEASURE BY VOTE OF 60 TO 15

DESIGNED AGAINST JAPS

After a Lengthy Debate Bill Goes to Roll Call Without Opposition. Defeated Amendment.

Sacramento, Cal.—An anti-alien land ownership bill, designed primarily to prevent Japanese from acquiring title to real property within the state but so worded as to prohibit any alien from owning land more than one year except upon a declaration of his intention to become a citizen, was passed by the lower house of the legislature by a vote of 60 to 15.

After lengthy debate on proposed amendments the bill went to a roll call without a word of argument.

The measure was drafted by a subcommittee of the judiciary committee as a substitute for bills previously introduced, all of which specifically provided that "aliens ineligible to citizenship should not hold lands." The committee, however, proceeded on the theory that such a statute might be held in violation of the treaty rights of Japanese subjects and broadened the measures to include all aliens who had not declared their intention of becoming citizens. In order not to embarrass foreign corporations the committee did make the corporation clause of the bill apply only to "aliens not eligible to citizenship."

Several proposed amendments were defeated in quick order before Assemblyman W. A. Johnson proposed to put back in the bill throughout the "aliens not eligible to citizenship" clause.

"Many a young Englishman," he said, "coming to America with money to invest has promised his parents that he would never surrender his allegiance to the mother country, but he made no worse neighbor for that, and his children have grown up as good citizens as any of us."

"It is a question greater than dollars and cents," replied Assemblyman Bloodgood. "It amounts to another great race problem. Ten miles from Sacramento I saw a Japanese man and a white woman living together. There was a baby. What was that baby? It was the beginning of a new race problem, a problem of the fusion of races unassimilable."

The amendment was defeated 56 to 20.

NEWS BREVITIES.

New York.—Arrangements were completed whereby the Lamport and Holt line will start a steamship service from New Orleans to South America. Montevideo, Buenos Ayres, Rosario and other cities will be ports of call. The first steamer in the new service will sail from New Orleans on May 15.

London.—"Urgent representations" have been twice addressed by the British government to the Cuban governmetn against the granting of new concessions for the construction of a railway on the north coast of Cuba, according to a reply given in the house of commons by the foreign office.

Chicago.—Mrs. Sarah Mueller, formerly the keeper of a disorderly house, testified before the Illinois vice commission that because she refused to pay "protection" money to the police she was put out of business.

Washington.—Thirty-three veterans of the Union army in the civil war, who compose the "old soldiers roll" of the senate are in danger of demotion and reduction of salary and republican senators are up in arms.

Washington.—The senate judiciary committee agreed to report favorably the bill to create an additional judgeship in the Fourth circuit, composed of West Virginia, Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina.

Washington.—Formal notice of the ratification by the Tennessee legislature of the constitutional amendment providing for the direct election of United States senators was received at the state department.

Chicago.—The dying confession of Thomas Connelly, 73 years old, who died here supposedly a pauper, was admitted as a will in the probate court. Connelly wrote to a parish priest in Escanaba, Mich., that twenty years ago he had robbed a woman now living there of money and jewelry amounting to $300. To make restitution was his last wish and the old man had more than fifteen hundred dollars for that purpose sewn in his underclothing.

North Providence, R. I.—After renouncing their connection with the Industrial Workers of the World and signing an agreement not to join the organization again under penalty of dismissal the six hundred operatives at the Esmond blanket mills returned to work.

London.—John Westlake, who held the professorship of international law at Cambridge University in 1888-908, died. He was one of the members for the United Kingdom of the International Court of Arbitration under The Hague convention.

TRADE IS IRREGULAR.

Not Yet Recovered From Flood Effects—Progress is Good.

New York.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly trade review says:

General trade is quiet for the time being, many railroads and industrial centers not having as yet fully recovered from the effects of the western floods.

Satisfactory progress, however, is reported at many points. The readjustment of the tariff now in progress produces more or less hesitation in some trades, but in spite of these two unfavorable factors there is no indication of a permanent setback in business.

An encouraging development of the week was the favorable report on the condition of winter wheat, which is far above the average.

Bank clearings this week were 5 per cent under those of last year, but 3.7 per cent above 1911. The prevailing dullness in the speculative markets no doubt accounts in part for the decrease. Railroad gross earnings in March were 5.5 per cent better than last year. Pig iron output during March showed a falling off from February, while the Steel corporation's unfilled orders at the end of March were 187,758 tons less than at the end of February.

The copper situation has improved materially. Better weather favors building operations. The dry goods markets are experiencing a steady tnough quiet trade. Lumber shows steady improvement. Foreign commerce maintains its imposing dimensions, statistics for the latest week at New York showing a total trade in and out of $38,189,413, against $36,227,770 last year, and $34,488,872 in 1911.

New York.—Bradstreets trade review says:

Trade is irregular, ranging from slow to activity according as prints of primary or final distribution are correspondingly considered.

Footwear effects of past or prospective lines are about normal as regulated by the weather conditions, and not by former demand, and last and not least of all the tariff agitation.

Reports from the northwest are improved and also from contiguous territory. Demand for all lines is fair in the Missouri valley, while in the southwest the primary textile goods markets are reported in a waiting stage, and some of them much unsettled with little doing pending clearer views of possible tariff changes.

Viewed from another angle it may be said that retail trade and farming operations have been checked by rains or snows, jobbing trade for the current season being quite active, but future trade, however, for distant deliveries is still closely restricted to conservative limits. The one important crop now growing, that of winter wheat, is in excellent shape.

Irregularity was shown in the securities markets, sentiment being adversely affected by the successive announcements of several large issues of new securities by railroad corporations.

Business failures for the week ending April 10 were 213, which compares with 234 in the like week of 1912.

There were 22 failures in Canada. Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States for the week ending April 10 aggregate 4,190,384 bushels, against 2,940,831.

FIVE AMERICANS KILLED.

State Department to Investigate Slaying of American Sailors at Gauymas by Mexican Chief of Police.

Gauymans, Sonora , Mexico.—The killing here of J. C. Kleslow and W. W. Corrie, and the wounding of three other sailors from the United States cruiser California, resulted in a request from Americans at Mazatian that a cruiser be detailed to the Pacific port. Anti-American feeling is said to prevail at other points down the west coast. This feeling is said to have occasioned the fight between American sailors and police here.

An official consular report from an eye witness of the fight says the Americans were intoxicated. The men are said to have been shot by the chief of police. For some time irritation on the part of Mexicans had been evident, admittedly caused by the presence in Mexican waters of American ships of war.

All sailors permitted to go on shore leave had been given strict orders to maintain friendly relations.

Washington.—The attention of the state department which lately has been given to a vexatious problem arising from the repeated wounding of American soldiers and other American citizens along the Mexican borders, was directed to the serious situation resulting from the slaying of a petty officer and a sailor from the battleship California at Guaymas, Charles D. Taylor, consular agent at Guaymas, in reporting the deaths to the department, said a strict investigation was being made.

The shooting was done by the chief of police of Guaymas and as American sailors going ashore in a foreign country invariably go unarmed, officials here will insist that the circumstances of the slaying be probed to the bottom.

If the Mexican authorities are unable to show that there was provocation for the attack by the armed police, serious consequences may ensue. It was pointed out that the double killing might be taken as an indication of the inadequacy of the present government.

Practical Fashions

LADY'S WAIST.

This design represents a fascinating waist model and one of the new styles. It may be made plain or accordion plaited and with long or short sleeves. The collarless neck is finished with a plaiting of lace or chiffon and the short sleeves have turned-back cuffs edged to correspond.

The pattern (6152) is cut in sizes 34 to 42 inches bust measure. Medium size will require 5⅞ yards of 36 inch goods for plaited waist or 2⅞ yards of 36 inch goods for plain waist.

To procure this pattern send 10 cents to "Pattern Department," of this paper. Write name and address plainly, and be sure to give size and number of pattern.

Pencil Case for Travelers.

When one is traveling and puts a pencil into the traveling bag it is so apt to slip into unhandy crevices, that a small flat pencil case, well filled, is a convenience not to be despised on a trip. Red leatherette cases may be had, filled. They contain three pencils, a small case of pen points, a rubber and a penholder, each fastened in place.

Gen. Felix Diaz, the power behind the throne in Mexico, was educated in France and England. Returning home he entered the army, but never showed a trace of military genius.

Alfalfa Reduces Temperature.

It has been learned by actual experience that alfalfa planted on the south and southwest of the homes of those western farmers will reduce the temperature from six to fifteen degrees on one of those hot, sultry days. There is a cool breath from the alfalfa field all the time. The difference in temperature from the south to the north side of a large field of alfalfa is shown by actual tests.

Of two men, the weaker will get all the love. And he needs it.

Kitchen Sink.

The pipe that is hidden from view should be kept just as clean as the porcelain part. Greasy water, and little bits of this and that finding their way into the pipe soon clog it. This sometimes occasions a plumber's bill and sometimes illness. A sink strainer should be in every sink and all liquids should be poured through this, as a protection to the pipe. Every dish to be washed should be cleaned of particles of food before going into the water. Milk should never be poured down the sink. These are preventions, in sink care. Correctives are clean boiling water and common washing soda dissolved in it. A good flushing with this every two days or so will keep the pipe sweet and wholesome.

Chain Has Outlasted Bible.

The Village church of Walton-on-the-Hill possesses the only leaden font in Surrey, England. It is of fine design and workmanship, and an object of much interest to visitors. The same may be said of the chained Bible, which, however, may mislead the visitor who does not examine it closely. The chain does, indeed, date from the days when the scriptures in churches in churches were thus guarded, but the Bible which it secures is not much more than a century old.

Mountain Creek, Ala., April 13, 1913.

On July 1, 1913, the survivors of the Union and Confederate armies are to meet on the old battle field of Gettysburg. Just an even fifty years will have passed since this, the greatest event in military history, occurred, and, for the men who wore the blue and the gray to come together again is certainly an occurrence most memorable.

This time it will not be with drawn swords, loaded muskets and cruel canons belching destruction; but the same men, fifty years older, will assemble and mingle together in friendship, talk in a kindly manner over the bloody events that occurred fifty years ago when they met seeking the life of each other.

Surely there is room for congratulation that to-day there are yet living a goodly number of these veterans who anxiously look forward to this notable event.

The United States government has made provision to entertain 50,000 men on this occasion, and that will consist of tents, blankets, provisions and the necessary dishes, all of these the men will be permitted to retain as souvenirs.

An elaborate program has been arranged for the four days set apart for this reunion of the Confederates and Federals of 1861-5 who fought the battles for Southern recognition and Federal supremacy fifty years ago.

Confederates are to be as welcome there wearing their suits of gray as the Federal in his blue. The fifty years have wiped out all bitter feeling, and now, as old age has slowly crept on us, and, as but a few short years remain for all us, then, it is fitting that since "all is over" as to the differences that existed during the years 1861-5, we meet, shake hands and mingle together before we "cross over the river" to enter another world. This is the sentiment which seems uppermost in the minds of men who followed the great leaders during the dark and stormy days of the civil war.

Yes, come and go with us, we will take our old bullet-pierced Southern cross flags and unfurl them beside the starry banners, fall into line and march to the soul-stirring strains that, fifty years ago, caused our hearts to leap and flutter.

Yes, our "Dixie" will be played in its turn with "Yankee Doodle" and "Star Spangled Banner," and there family friendship will prevail by the influence these inspiring airs will create; and feel proud of the galaxy of States that make this the grandest nation on earth.

Let us all go to Gettysburg and enjoy this, our last reunion; let us go and stroll over the fields now green but were made red with the blood of our brothers just fifty years ago.

Yes, come and go with us and witness the fraternal greetings between the men who shot to kill during the years 1861-5.

THE UNION

AND BANNER.

Published Every Thursday at Clanton Chilton County, Alabama.
UNION PUBLISHING CO.

FRANK B. TICKNOR, Editor and Manager.

Subscription price, in advance, per year, $1.00.

Entered April 15, 1903, at Clanton Ala., as second-class matter, under act of congress of March 3, 1879.

VOLUME TWO.

With this number of the Union and Banner begins the second year of its combined existence; the twenty-first year of the Banner and the eleventh year of the Union.

The combination of the papers was made under Mr. Crutcher who remained with it four months and skipped out, the management falling on Mr. F. Crichton, who was in bad health and soon was stricken with paralysis which totally disabled him.

The present management has had the paper six-and-a-half months. It has striven to make it the people's paper of the county, looking to the interests of the people as a whole and giving to them an opportunity to express their feelings freely on all subjects. It was to some extent instrumental in the substantial victory won by the people of the county in the last campaign under the banner of the Progressive party, and it hopes to keep the people united in a firm front for the state wide campaign in which the Progressive party will rid the state of the present ring domination which is responsible for the state of affairs now being brought to light at the capitol.

The publishing company wishes to thank the people for the liberal support given the paper, and, now that many difficulties have been overcome and bits of hard luck passed by, can give promise of a better paper than has ever been known before in Chilton County.

Our readers can take part in this by using its columns freely to express their opinions and giving the news of their community, and by being prompt in paying their subscriptions. It takes a lot of money to run a good paper and every dollar held back is a hindrance. We want you to be proud of your paper, to feel that it is yours; so do your part in making it what it should be.

Governor O'Neal comes back on those who charge him with bad judgment in appointing Mr. Oakley president of the convict board by showing that Oakley had the endorsement of nearly all the prominent democrats of the state. Very well, let the blame rest where it belongs. Turn the whole set out of power and break up the ring.

The Chilton County Fair Association issue their Annual Premium List this week. It has a goodly number of substantial premiums, which should bring out a fine array of the best products of the county. The management are determined to make it the best fair ever held here, and are going about it enthusiastically.

The book is a product of this office which is proud of the work.

We read of counties here and there which are so carried away with good road enthusiasm that they run their county in debt for a little stretch of the desired roads, but we have not yet heard of a county that had tried a bond issue and were satisfied with the outcome. Ask the citizens of our neighbor, Autauga, what they have got for their money.

All the pleas for good roads are valid, but we have not yet seen an argument advanced which would show that it would be profitable to borrow a large sum, at considerable expense, and pay interest on it indefinitely, when with the amount of the first expense and the interest a system of road building could be carried on which would meet the needs of the county, all over the county, and the money expended be kept in the county and not turned over to the contractors and brokers and capitalists abroad.

MONTGOMERIANS WELCOME

The Montgomery boosters who are with us this (Thursday) evening are heartily welcomed by all the business men of Clanton, who will take charge of them and do the honors of the town in fine style.

It is a good move on the part of the Montgomery merchants for their city should do much more business here than they have been doing, which will probably be the result of the closer acquaintance gained with our merchants.

The Union-Banner extends a welcome to them, one and all, and assures them that if they wish to make known their business to Chilton county at large the Union-Banner can furnish them the medium which reaches a majority of the farmers in the county.

As the democrats have been in power but a few days, it is rather nervy for them to be boasting that they have not affected the general prosperity of the country. They have, so far, gone back on their promise to cut down expenditures and have made most extravagant appropriations out of the public funds.

GOING TO LIVE AT HOME.

According to a news item in the columns of the Anniston Star and Hot Blast, the Cudahy Packing Company has announced the closing of its depot for cold storage meats and meat products in Anniston, giving as the reason that in the words of the Star and Hot Blast, "the reason for the exodus is that the farmers in the Anniston district are raising so much feed stuff for their own consumption that the packers are finding their business so curtailed that there is a constantly decreasing demand for Western meats and cold storage products."

Prosperity will be really here when all the western meats, hay, corn, etc., are kept out by the home grown supply. And we can do it if we will—there is not a thing shipped in from the west which cannot be profitably grown here.

SCOTT'S EMULSION improves the quality of breast milk—it supplies the material for bone and muscle—if scanty or thin, it makes it rich and abundant.

For bottle babies a few drops of emulsion with every feeding produces marvelous effects—makes new, firm flesh and ruddy health.

SCOTT'S EMULSION is the cream of the purest cod liver oil delicately emulsified into tiny particles resembling maternal milk and each particle is coated with glycerine—no alcohol or stimulant—a wholesome, nourishing, strength-making food.

Mothers everywhere are enthusiastic about Scott's Emulsion.

Why Mastic Paint?

BECAUSE

FIRST—It's pure—every atom of it—real paint manufactured from the finest raw material obtainable.

SECOND—It is made of pure white lead, re-inforced with zinc oxide in the correct proportion, and pure linseed oil. Will outwear, two to one, any straight lead or hand-mixed paint.

"THE KIND THAT LASTS"

THIRD—Warranted to contain no adulteration. The formula appears on every can. Guaranteed to give satisfaction.

FOURTH—Being full-bodied and machine ground, less MASTIC is required to paint a given surface than any other kind of paint or lead and oil. A SAVING OF MANY DOLLARS TO THE OWNER OF THE BUILDING.

FIFTH—In time to come, when painting is again desirable, a surface previously coated with MASTIC remains in perfect condition for repainting.

Specify MASTIC PAINT for your home and secure a beautiful hard, enamel-like finish that will resist best the smoke and gases of the city, the hot sun and severe weather exposure. MASTIC Outside Gloss White is the very whitest house paint made. MASTIC Paint does not discolor and go flat like keg lead in oil, nor peal and crack like the cheap ready mixed paint.

CLANTON MATTERS

LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

THE "GET TOGETHER" MEETING.

As published last week, a committee of Clanton business men invited the officers of the Alabama Power Company and McArthur Bros. Co., contractors, to meet with them at a reception and a dinner on Monday evening where they could get better acquainted with each other and talk over matters.

The invitations were accepted and the guests came down on the evening trains and were carried to the Palmer House, where at 7:30 a number of citizens met them. At 8:30 all were invited to the dining room where a very choice seven course dinner was served. When the inner man was satisfied Hon. J. O. Middleton, acting as toastmaster, introduced Hon. Tipton Mullins who welcomed the guests and gave a short account of conditions in Chilton county; he was followed by the Hon. L. H. Reynolds who spoke for the merchants of Clanton, assuring the officials of the company of the kindly feeling of the Clanton people toward the great enterprise they represented.

Responses were made, first by Hon. James Mitchell, of England, President of the Interstate Power Company: He told something of the immensity of the operations his company was involved in, and of the importance to them of the good will and cooperation of the communities they sought to serve. He showed wherein Clanton would profit by the proximity of the great works—aot merely while the work of construction was going on, but in the subsequent development. He drew a pleasing picture of the beautiful lake to be formed above the dam, which he prophesied would be the great summer resort of all Alabama.

He was followed by Capt. W. P. Lay, of Gadsden, who for many years has been working for the development of the Alabama water power, and was the chief factor in inducing the English company to take hold of the matter. He gave an interesting account of his work in that connection.

The next speaker was Mr. W. W. Freeman, Vice President of the Alabama Power Company. He spoke of their appreciation of the good feeling manifested on this occasion, and of the clearing away of any possible misunderstanding between the citizens and the company. He gave a cordial invitation to all to visit and inspect the work, stating that a guest house had been prepared for all who would come and that every courtesy would be shown them. He said that he hoped to be able to invite all to the opening of the works next fall.

The Chief Engineer of the works, Mr. E. A. Yates, then told something of the construction and size of the works and what they would be expected to do.

Then Mr. M. Webb Offutt, Sec'y-Treas. of the Alabama Power Co., brought out some valuable business suggestions. It is his end of the business to market the product of the plant, power, and he thought that in and near Clanton would be a very good location for cotton mills, furniture factories and other industries, and he promised to co-operate with the Clanton people whenever they made any serious effort to have such industries located here. It is well to bear in mind here that he can only co-operate and can do nothing until the Clanton people do something of their own accord.

As the guests had to return on the 10:30 train, there was not time for more talk.

It was a very pleasant occasion and, not only enjoyable, but important to Clanton in the results which may follow.

The guests of the occaslon were:

Hon. James Mitchell, President of the Inter-State Power Co.

Mr. W. W. Freeman, Vice President of the Alabama Power Co., and General Manager.

Mr. M. Webb Offutt, Secy-Treas. of the Alabama Power Company.

Mr. E. A. Yates, Chief Engineer Alabama Power Co.

Mr. Smith Harrison, Asst. Chief Engineer Alabama Power Co.

Capt. W. P. Lay, of Gadsden, Ala.

Mr. A. Polk, representing McArthur Bros. Co.

Messrs. W. W. Hamm, G. H. Pinglase, Warnum, T. L. Stewart, C. W. Cox, M. Robinson, W. H. Shaw, F. B. Ticknor.

The committeemen present were:

Messrs. E. A. Matthews, J. P. VanDerveer, E. M. Pinkard, W. H. Sartor, L. H. Reynolds, W. I. Mullins, C. F. Jones, P. I. Hopkins, Tipton Mullins, E. E. Upchurch, M. L. White, W. W. Fox, J. E. Gowan, M. D. Foshee, J. O. Middleton, V. J. Gragg, J. A. Thomas, J. E. Robiuson, F. R. Woodyard.

TO ENTERTAIN THE MONTGOMERY BOOSTERS.

A meeting of Clanton citizens was held at the court house on Thursday afternoon to consider the entertainment of the delegation of Montgomery merchants who will visit us Thursday evening.

There will be about thirty of them coming in a private car, about 5 o'clock. They wish to meet all the merchants and other citizens of Clanton, and especially the ladies.

The meeting appointed the following committee: L. H. Reynolds, E. M. Pinckard, Wiley Littlejohn, M. C. Broadhead, B. E. Jones, J. E. Evans and J. R. Mullins. These gentlemen will take charge of the visitors when they arrive, see that they have a good supper, show them around, and take them to the court house at 8 o'clock where the whole of Clanton is invited to meet them and hear what they have to say. The following were appointed speakers for the Clanton side: W. I. Mullins, T. B. Curry and J. O. Middleton, but most of the talking is to come from the Montgomerians.

Be sure and be there and see that the ladies come too.

D. T. POPWELL BITTEN BY MAD DOG.

Thursday afternoon Mr. D. T. Popwell was walking on the railroad track near the section houses south of Clanton. A dog passed him and then turned and made a fierce attack on him. Mr. Popwell fought him off but was bitten on the thumb and forefinger. The dog ran off and was at large all night, he bit several dogs before he was killed Saturday morning. All the dogs known to have been bitten have been killed. The head of the dog was sent to the Pasteur Institute and the report returned that he had rabies. Mr. Popwell then left for Montgomery where he will take the Pasteur treatment.

This case emphasizes what has been before said, that active measures should be taken to stamp out the danger that menaces all. By killing out all dogs found running loose and keeping up those considered worthy of preservation for a year, the disease would be stamped out in this locality. This may seem too harsh to dog lovers, but human life is more important than the sentiment surrounding the pet dog.

We are far from being alarmists, but this is a matter that forces itself upon the attention of the public. There have been so many mad dogs at large and the time of the development of the disease is so uncertain that no one can be certain that any dog he may chance to meet will not prove mad and bite him—or his children.

So it is time to take some action.

DEATH OF MR. E. J. HAYES

News was received Tuesday morning of the death of Mr. E. J. Hayes, County Commissioner from the 2nd district. Mr. Hayes was sick only a few days, having contracted a severe case of pneumonia. He was about forty-five years old and was a much respected in the county. His associates on the board of commissioners are deeply concerned over his death.

The Agricultural Department

For the past several years the Louisville & Nashville Railroad has maintained a General Immigration and Industrial Bureau.

The business of that bureau is to induce immigrants to settle along the lines of the L. & N., in order that undeveloped territory might be developed and made to yield wealth to the people and to the state, and traffic to the L. & N.

Many thousands of dollars have been spent in this effort, millions of pieces of literature being sent out to the far West and Northwest, exploiting the advantages of the section traversed by the L. & N. Much of the effort was devoted to Alabama.

The result was that thousands of immigrants were brought to this section. Many of them were unfamiliar with Southern farming conditions. They did not know the most practical methods of producing maximum yields at minimum cost. In spite of this, the natural fertility of the soil and the high class of intelligent citizenship has brought a most encouraging degree of success.

The L. & N. has determined on a more far-reaching constructive policy, and to this end has established an Agricultural Department, composed of experts of known ability and practical experience. These experts have been retained by the L. & N. and are placed at the service of the farmers of Alabama living along the lines of the L. & N.

The agricultural work has been followed by the L. & N., some fifteen years. The additions to the work were established so as to have every phase of farm life handled by experienced, practical and scientific men.

L. H. and John Lister are two of the most prominent members of the Agricultural Bureau.

L. H. Lister has for thirty five years been associated with the largest and most reliable commission firms in the country. To his skill is credited the practical and remarkable development of the Rocky-Ford cantaloupe; he also introduced the honey industry in the Eastern States. He is an authority on strawberries and other fruits. His work grew so rapidly that the services of his son, John Lister, who was carefully trained by his father, were also employed.

T. E. McElroy is originally from Texas, where he was a teacher of horticultural work. He was also Assistant Entomologist for the state of Oklahoma. It was while he was taking a post graduate course at Cornell University, that the attention of the L. & N. was called to him by two of the professors at the University and he was induced to take up the general work along the lines of the L. & N. Mr. McElroy has had wide experience in Southern crops. In connection with several states and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, he has given much expert and scientific demonstration to cotton—its growth, diseases, enemies, etc.

J. X. Kessack will devote much of his effort to the procurement of fruits, vegetables, cereals and other products to be exhibited in distant cities to demonstrate what is being produced by the farmers of the South.

S. A. Scott is a practical, carefully trained farmer with an experience extending over forty years. His specialty is the live stock industry in all of its branches and he will devote his efforts to a development of this important branch of farm life.

Karl W. Wundt is one of the leading experts in his chosen profession. He has a diploma from the greatest agricultural college in the world, Cornell University. After many years' practical experience he was fitted for the special course in agriculture required by Cornell University, treating on subjects of horticulture, entomology, botany, chemistry, soil technology, plant physiology, plant breeding, plant pathology, farm crops, farm management, pomology, biology, animal, poultry and dairy husbandry, rural economy, forestry, agronomy and agrostology.

William James is one of the leading experts, and an authority on cereals, forage, farm management and seed selection and kindred subjects, in the United States. His services have for years been sought by the various state fairs to judge exhibits. To him, possibly more than any one else, is due the credit of the great Northwest becoming the grain and live stock center it is to-day. He is a farmer himself, knows the needs and how to apply the essentials that insure success.

Such general attainments are possessed by but few professors of the state colleges and experiment stations. We believe these attainments, together with the practical experience of the experts, give the L. & N. a staff without a superior in the South. The work is conducted under direct supervision of Mr. G. A. Park, General Immigration and Industrial Agent. The services of the experts are available to any farmer living along the lines of the L. & N. making request of Mr. Park, who is located in Louisville, Ky.

The primary portion of this effort is directed to diversified farming. The farmers of the South know all about cotton. But there are unlimited possibilities for wealth and prosperity along the general lines of diversification and rotation of crops. Taxable and farm values will be increased and the section greatly enriched.

We know the Agricultural Department will be of great value to the people of the state, and trust the farmers will cheerfully avail themselves of its knowledge and facilities.

WOMAN'S ILLS DISAPPEARED

Like Magic after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

North Bangor, N. Y. — "As I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with great benefit I feel it my duty to write and tell you about it. I was ailing from female weakness and had headache and backache nearly all the time. I was later every month than I should have been and so sick that I had to go to bed.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me well and these troubles have disappeared like magic. I have recommended the Compound to many women who have used it successfully."—Mrs. JAMES J. STACY, R.F.D. No. 3, North Bangor, N. Y.

Another Made Well.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done wonders for me. For years I suffered terribly with hemorrhages and had pains so intense that sometimes I would faint away. I had female weakness so bad that I had to doctor all the time and never found relief until I took your remedies to please my husband. I recommend your wonderful medicine to all sufferers as I think it is a blessing for all women."—Mrs. L. E. WYCKOFF, 112 S. Ashley St., Ann Arbor, Mich.

There need be no doubt about the ability of this grand old remedy, made from the roots and herbs of our fields, to remedy woman's diseases. We possess volumes of proof of this fact, enough to convince the most skeptical. Why don't you try it?

Willow Switches Given Away.

The small boy whose father has time to apply the switch should beware with a little more than his usual caution. The United States government is giving away willow switches.

The department of agriculture has an experiment farm at Arlington, Va., and some parts of it were found to be too wet for raising ordinary crops. Therefore the experts set willows out in the wet places, and there has been so smart a growth that the government wants to get rid of the willow switches. It offers to give them away under the guise of willow cuttings to make baskets or bottom chairs, but no smart boy will ever be deceived by that kind of talk. He may be safe only in the assurance of the government that only one hundred of the cuttings will be given to one person.—Worcester Telegram.

Meat-Bearing Tree.

In Mexico grows a tree called the Avocado, whose pear-shaped fruit is reputed to be composed of the substances which are to be found in meat. It contains about twenty per cent. of fat and many other ingredients of great food value, and one good-sized "meat" pear is quite sufficient to make a meal for the average man.

The reason why the fruit is so little know at present is because it is grown nowhere on a large scale, what few trees there are grown round the huts of the natives, where they flourish with little care and afford easy meals for the indolent owners.

Cultivated on extensive lines it might have an important bearing on that serious subject, the high cost of living.

FRIENDS HELP.
St. Paul Park Incident.

"After drinking coffee for breakfast I always felt languid and dull, having no ambition to get to my morning duties. Then in about an hour or so a weak, nervous derangement of the heart and stomach would come over me with such force I would frequently have to lie down."

Tea is just as harmful, because it contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee.

"At other times I had severe headaches; stomach finally became affected and digestion so impaired that I had serious chronic dyspepsia and constipation. A lady, for many years State President of the W. C. T. U., told me she had been greatly benefited by quitting coffee and using Postum; she was troubled for years with asthma. She said it was no cross to quit coffee when she found she could have as delicious an article as Postum.

"Another lady who had been troubled with chronic dyspepsia for years, found immediate relief on ceasing coffee and using Postum. Still another friend told me that Postum was a Godsend, her heart trouble having been relieved after leaving off coffee and taking on Postum.

"So many such cases came to my notice that I concluded coffee was the cause of my trouble and I quit and took up Postum. I am more than pleased to say that my days of trouble have disappeared. I am well and happy."

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Keziah Coffin, supposed widow, is arranging to move from Trumet to Boston, following the death of her brother, for whom she had kept house. Kyan Pepper, widower, offers marriage, and is indignantly refused. Capt. Elkanah Daniels, leader of the Regular church, offers Keziah a place as housekeeper for the new minister, and she decides to remain in Trumet. Keziah takes charge of Rev. John Ellery, the new minister, and gives him advice as to his conduct toward members of the parish. Ellery causes a sensation by attending a "Come-outer" meeting. Ellery's presence is bitterly resented by Eben Hammond, leader of the meeting. Grace apologizes for her guardian and Ellery escorts her home in the rain. Capt. Nat Hammond, Eben's son, becomes a hero by bringing the packet into port safely through fog and storm. Ellery finds Keziah writing a letter to some one, inclosing money in response to a demand. She is curiously startled when informed of the arrival of Nat. Nat calls on Keziah, and it develops that they have been lovers since youth. Daniels remonstrates with Ellery for attending "Come-outer" meeting. Ellery is caught by the tide and is rescued by Nat. They become friends. Ellery meets Grace while walking in the fields, and learns that she walks there every Sunday. The clergyman takes dinner Sundays with the Daniels. Annabel, the captain's daughter, exerts herself to make an impression on him. She notices with vexation his desire to get away every Sunday at a certain time. She watches him through a spy glass. Nat again importunes Keziah to marry him. He says he has had a quarrel with his father, who wants him to marry Grace. Ellery asks Grace to marry him. She confesses that she loves him, but says she fears to displease her guardian. Elkanah Daniels tells Eben about the meetings between Ellery and Grace. Eben declares he will make Grace choose between him and the preacher. Grace finds him in a faint, following the excitement of Elkanah's visit. Just before he dies Eben exacts a promise from Nat and Grace that they will marry. Keziah breaks the news to Ellery and later he received a note from Grace saying she is to marry Nat, and asking him not to try to see her again. Keziah tells the story of her own marriage with a man who turned out to be a good-for-nothing, and who was reported to have been lost at sea, and of her love for Nat, whom she cannot marry because the husband is alive. Captain Nat sails for Manila to be gone two years. He says he and Grace have decided not to marry until he returns. Nat is overdue, and it is feared that he has been lost at sea. Keziah gets a letter from her husband saying he is coming back. Grace goes on a visit to relatives of the Hammonds. A vessel flying distress signals is discovered off the coast. Ellery goes with party to board the vessel. A man is found suffering from smallpox, the rest of the crew having deserted. He is taken to an abandoned shack on shore and Ellery helps nurse him. Before he dies it is discovered that he is Keziah's husband. Ellery, left alone in quarantine, is found wandering in a delirious condition by Grace. She takes him back to the shanty and sends for help. Keziah and Grace nurse Ellery, who is suffering from brain fever. The doctor and Keziah spread a report that Grace and Ellery are engaged.

CHAPTER XVII.—(Continued.)

Some one was talking excitedly on the sidewalk beyond the lilac bushes at the border of the Daniels property. Voices answered. Didama Rogers darted out of her yard and past the house in the direction of the sounds. Salters rose and walked down to the gate. Emulous Sparrow, the fish peddler, was seated in his cart, which was surrounded by men and women, neighbors of the Danielses. There was a perfect storm and questionings and ejaculations. Salters opened the gate and joined the group. A moment later he came running back, up the walk toward the piazza.

"Cap'n," he shouted. "Cap'n Elkanah, here's news! What do you think? A telegram's just come from Nat Hammond. He's safe and sound in New York, and he'll be here day after tomorrow."

They could not believe it and rushed out to hear more. Emulous, glowing with importance, affirmed that it was so. He had seen the telegram at the store. It was for Grace Van Horne and they were just going to send a boy over to the shanty with it.

Captain Elkanah seized Salters by the arm and led him out of the group. The old man's face was alight with savage joy and his voice shook with exultation.

"I'll tell you one thing it means," he whispered. "It means the end of Ellery, so far as his marrying her is concerned. She gave her word to Hammond and she'll keep it. She's no liar, whatever else she is. He may be minister of the Regular church, though I'll never set under him, but he'll never marry her, now."

CHAPTER XVIII.

In Which a Reception Is Called Off.

Far out on the Pacific coast there are two small islands, perhaps a hundred miles distant from one another. The first of these is uninhabited. On the other is a little colony of English-speaking people, half-breed descendants of native women and the survivors of a crew from a British vessel cast away there in the latter part of the eighteenth century.

On the first of these islands, the smaller one, the Sea Mist had been wrecked. Driven out of her course by a typhoon, she staggered through day after day and night after night of terrific wind and storm until, at last, there was promise of fair weather. Captain Nat, nearly worn out from anxiety, care, and the loss of sleep, had gone to his stateroom and the first mate was in charge. It was three o'clock, the wind still blowing and the darkness pitchy, when the forward lookout shrieked a warning, "Breakers under the lee!" Almost the next instant the ship was on a coral reef, full of water, and the seas breaking over her from stem to stern.

Morning came and showed a little patch of land, with palm trees and tropical vegetation waving in the gusts and green in the sunshine. Captain Nat ordered the boats to be lowered. Much as he hated the thought, he saw that the Sea Mist had made her last voyage and must be abandoned. He went to the cabin, collected papers and charts and prepared to leave. The ship's money, over ten thousand dollars in gold belonging to the owner and to be used in trade and speculation among the East Indies, he took with him. Then the difficult and dangerous passage through the opening in the reef was begun.

Only the captain's boat reached the shore. The mate's was caught by a huge breaker, dashed against the reef and sunk. Captain Nat, his second mate and five of his men were all that was left of the Sea Mist's company. And on that island they remained for nearly two weeks. Provisions they had brought ashore with them. Water they found by digging. Nat hid the gold at night, burying it on the beach below high-water mark.

Then, having made sure of his location by consulting the chart, he determined to attempt a voyage to the second island, where he knew the English colony to be. Provisions were getting short, and to remain longer where they were was to risk starvation and all its horrors. So, in the longboat, which was provided with a sail, they started. Charts and papers and the gold the skipper took with them. None of the crew knew of the existence of the money; it was a secret which the captain kept to himself.

A hundred miles they sailed in the longboat and, at last, the second island was sighted. They landed and found, to their consternation and surprise, that it, too, was uninhabited. The former residents had grown tired of their isolation and, a trading vessel having touched there, had seized the opportunity to depart for Tahiti. Their houses were empty, their cattle, sheep, goats, and fowl roamed wild in the woods, and the fruit was rotting on the trees. In its way the little island was an Eveless Eden, flowing with milk and honey; but to Captain Nat, a conscientious skipper with responsibilities to his owners, it was a prison from which he determined to escape. Then, as if to make escape impossible, a sudden gale came up and the longboat was smashed by the surf.

"I guess that settles it," ruefully observed the second mate, another Cape Codder, from Hyannis. "Cal'late we'll stay here for a spell now, hey, Cap'n."

"For a spell, yes," replied Nat. "We'll stay here until we get another craft to set sail in, and no longer."

"Another craft? Another one? Where in time you goin' to get her?"

"Build her," said Captain Nat cheerfully. Then, pointing to the row of empty houses and the little deserted church, he added, "There's timber and nails—yes, and cloth, such as 'tis. If I can't build a boat out of them I'll agree to eat the whole settlement."

He did not have to eat it, for the boat was built. It took them six months to build her, and she was a curious-looking vessel when done, but, as the skipper said, "She may not be a clipper, but she'll sail anywhere, if you give her time enough." He had been the guiding spirit of the whole enterprise, planning it, laying the keel, burning buildings to obtain nails and iron, hewing trees for the largest beams, showing them how to spin ropes from cocoanut fiber, improvising sails from the longboat's canvas pieced out with blankets and odd bits of cloth from the abandoned houses. Even a strip of carpet from the church floor went into the making of those sails.

At last she was done, but Nat was not satisfied.

"I never commanded a ship where I couldn't h'ist Yankee colors," he said "and, by the everlastin'! I won't now. We've got to have a flag."

So, from an old pair of blue overall, a white cotton shirt, and the red hangings on the church pulpit, he made a flag and hoisted it to the truck of his queer command. They provisioned her, gave her a liberal supply of fresh water, and, one morning, she passed through the opening of the lagoon out to the deep blue of the Pacific. And, hidden in her captain's stateroom under the head of his bunk, was the ten thousand dollars gold. For Nat had sworn to himself, by "the everlasting" and other oaths, to deliver that money to his New York owners safe and, necessary expenses deducted of course, untouched.

For seven weeks the crazy nondescript slopped across the ocean. Fair winds helped her and, at last, she entered the harbor of Nukahiva, over twelve hundred miles away. And there—"Hammond's luck," the sailors called it—was a United States man-of-war lying at anchor, the first American vessel to touch at that little French settlement for five years. The boat they built was abandoned and the survivors of the Sea Mist were taken on board the man-of-war and carried to Tahiti.

From Tahiti Captain Nat took passage on a French bark for Honolulu. Here, after a month's wait, he found opportunity to leave for New York on an American ship, the Stars and Stripes. And finally, after being away from home for two years, he walked into the office of his New York owners, deposited their gold on a table, and cheerfully observed, "Well, here I am."

But Trumet did not hear the yarn immediately. All that it heard and all that it knew was contained in Captain Nat's brief telegram. "Arrived today. Will be home Thursday." That was all, but it was enough, for in that dispatch was explosive sufficient to blow to atoms the doctor's plans and Keziah's, the great scheme which was to bring happiness to John Ellery and Grace Van Horne.

Dr. Parker heard it, while on his way to Mrs. Prince's, and, neglecting that old lady for the once, he turned his horse and drove as fast as possible to the shanty on the beach. Fast as he drove, Captain Zebedee Mayo got there ahead of him. Captain Zeb was hitching his white and ancient steed to the post as the doctor hove in sight.

"By mighty!" the captain exclaimed, with a sigh of relief, "I'm glad enough you've come, doctor. I hated to go in there alone. You've heard, of course."

"Say, ain't it wonderful! I'm tickled all up one side and sorry all down t'other. Nat's a true-blue feller, and I'm glad enough that he ain't shark bait; but what about the minister and her? She's promised to Nat, you know. Are you goin' to tell Mr. Ellery?"

"Certainly not. And I hope he hasn't been told. He's getting well fast now, but he mustn't be worried, or back he'll go again. We must see Mrs. Coffin. Keziah is our main hold. That woman has got more sense than all the rest of us put together."

But it was Grace, not Keziah, who opened the shanty door in answer to their knock. She was pale and greeted them calmly, but it was evident that her calmness was the result of sheer will power.

"Won't you come in, doctor?" she asked. "Good afternoon, Captain Mayo."

Dr. Parker entered the building, but Captain Zeb remained outside, stammering that he cal'lated he'd better stay where he could keep an eye on his horse. This was such a transparent excuse that it would have been funny at any other time. No one smiled now, however.

"Is—is Mrs. Coffin—er—Keziah aboard?" the captain asked.

"No, she isn't. She went to the parsonage a few hours ago. Mr. Ellis brought the mail and there was a letter in it for her. She said it was important and that she must go home to see about some things. She'll be back pretty soon, I suppose."

Parker found his patient sleeping soundly and had not disturbed him. Returning to the living room he spoke to Grace.

"Humph!" he grunted, watching her from under his brows, "everything seems to be all right in there. He mustn't be told anything that will upset him. He's getting well fast and I want it to continue."

"Yes, I understand."

"Hum! Er—have you heard— Has anyone been here?"

"Yes. I have heard. The telegram came and I answered it."

"You did? Well, it's a miracle and we're all thankful, of course. Did you—er—er——"

"Doctor, I must go home. I mustn't stay here any longer. You know why not. I must be at home when he comes. You must get some one to take my place. Aunt Keziah will stay, of course, and perhaps Mrs. Higgins would come."

"But stay through tomorrow, at any rate. Nat won't get here until Thursday, and I may be able to find another nurse by that time. And what I shall say to him," motioning toward the other room, "I don't know."

"Must you say anything? Just say that I have been called away for a few days on—on some business. Don't tell him. Don't tell him the truth, doctor, now. He is too weak and I am afraid——"

She stopped and turned away. The doctor watched her pityingly. He would have liked to say much more, but he could not, under the circumstances. He stammered a good-by and, with a question concerning Mrs. Coffin's whereabouts, went out to join Captain Zeb.

"Well?" queried the latter anxiously. "How is it? What's up? What's the next tack?"

"We'll go to the parsonage," was the gloomy answer. "If anybody can see a glimmer in this cussed muddle Keziah Coffin can."

Keziah was on her knees in her room, beside a trunk, the same trunk she had been packing the day of the minister's arrival in Trumet. She was working frantically, sorting garments from a pile, rejecting some and keeping others. She heard voices on the walk below and went down to admit the callers.

"What's the matter, Keziah?" asked Dr. Parker sharply, after a look at her face. "You look as if you'd been through the war. Humph! I suppose you've heard the news?"

Keziah brushed back the hair from her forehead. "Yes," she answered slowly. "I've heard it."

"Well, it's great news, and if it wasn't for—if things weren't as they are, I'd be crowing hallelujahs this minute. Trumet has got a good man safe and sound again, and the Lord knows it needs all of that kind it can get."

"Yes."

"Yes. But there's the other matter. I've been to see Grace. She didn't say so, but it was easy enough to see; the man she promised to marry and thought was dead, is alive. She's a girl of her word—she promised him and she promised her dying uncle—and she'll marry him. And then what will become of John Ellery? He'll go downhill so fast that a ship's anchor wouldn't hold him. If he doesn't die I'll have to send him away somewhere and the Regular church will lose the minister we've fought so hard for."

"Yes," concurred Zebedee, "and them blasted Danielses'll run the shebang and the rest of us'll have to sing small, I tell you."

"So we've come to you, Keziah," went on the doctor. "Do you see any salvation?"

"Yes, I do."

"You do? Where?"

"In Nat Hammond. If he knows Grace doesn't want to marry him, do

"Doctor, You Leave This to Me."

you suppose he'll hold her to her promise? But"—she hesitated—"doctor, you leave this to me. So far as John and Grace are concerned you needn't worry. I'll take it on myself to see that they have each other, as the Almighty meant 'em to. Leave it to me. Just leave it to me. I know I can do it."

Captain Elkanah Daniels and his friend were feeling better and they were busy. Trumet had a new hero now. On Wednesday the Boston papers printed excerpts from Captain Hammond's story, and these brief preliminary accounts aroused the admiration of every citizen. It was proposed to give him a reception. Elkanah was the moving spirit in the preparations. Captain Nat, so they learned by telegraphing, would arrive on the noon train Thursday. His was not to be a prosaic progress by stage all the way from Sandwich. A special carriage, drawn by the Daniels' span and escorted by other vehicles, was to meet the coach at Bayport and bring him to Trumet in triumphant procession. All this was to be a surprise, of course.

Wednesday afternoon the Daniels following was cheered by the tidings that Grace Van Horne had left the beach and was at her old home, the Hammond tavern. And Mrs. Poundberry reported her busy as a bee "gettin' things ready."

Thursday was a perfect day, and the reception committee was on hand and waiting in front of the Bayport post office. The special carriage, the span brushed and curried until their coats glistened in the sunshine, was drawn up beside the platform. The horses had little flags fastened to their bridles, and there were other and larger flags on each side of the dashboard. Captain Daniels, imposing in his Sunday raiment, high-collared coat, stock, silk hat and gold-headed cane, sat stiffly erect on the seat in the rear. The other carriages were alongside, among them Captain Zebedee Mayo's ancient chaise, the white horse sound asleep between the shafts. Captain Zeb had not been invited to join the escort, but had joined it without an invitation. Kyan Pepper was there also, not yet fully recovered from the surprise which Lavinia's gracious permission had given him.

Natural Advantage.

"I suppose," said Mr. Meekton, "it would be in a certain sense a saving of time to let the women run the affairs of the country."

"For what reason?"

"When a man discusses politics he wants to stop everything else, but a woman can go right on with any sort of animated conversation and never drop a crochet stitch."

Woman Who Can Do Things.

Gen. Sir Robert Baden-Powell believes in the woman who can do things, and the other day he held up Lady Baden-Powell as an exponent of this much-desired art. The chief and founder of the Boy Scout movement was describing a tour that his wife and he recently made in Algeria. "I saw Lady Baden-Powell," he said, "not so long ago in—what is the feminine for shirt sleeves?—scrubbing out a saucepan. We were living the simple life in the desert. We had only one pan, and that was a saucepan. It had to do for frying our fish in the morning and also for boiling our coffee in. After the lady had done the fried fish she had to get some grass roots and sand and scrub the pot out so that we could make our coffee in it. The lady was quite able to do it, and she did it well. She also did the washing. But," General Baden-Powell added, "I must stand up for the Scouts and the mere man—she had to fall back upon me to do the ironing."

FARM STOCK

FEED FOR THE YOUNG LAMBS

Wheatbran Is Excellent to Begin With, Says Flockmaster—Give Exercise and Pasture.

A good flockmaster holds that for young lambs wheatbran is most excellent to begin with, and after they become stronger the bran should be mixed with corn meal in equal quarters. He says that oat meal, or oats when they can eat it, should be added to balance the ration for oats is nearly a balanced food itself. After growing a little they will shell their own corn, if given to them on the cob. The lambs that are to be raised on the farm should not be forced so fast. They need plenty of food, but the grain ration should be small and no corn should be used. They should be given plenty of exercise and an abundance of good pasture if possible.

Corn tends to fatten and will produce uncertain breeders of short season. Wheatbran and oats are probably the two safest materials of food that can be used. When the grass becomes stronger and good in the spring, grain feeding is not needed for those lambs that are to remain on the farm, and only the corn will remain as the dry feed ration for the market lambs.

The grass is better than any other nitrogenous food.

BUILDING A GOOD BEEF HERD

Mate Pure-Bred Sires With Common Cows If Better Are Not Available—Save Calves.

(By J. L. TORMEY, Wisconsin Agricultural College.)

To build up a herd of good beef cattle secure pure-bred sires of type and breed desired. Mate these with common cows, if better cows of pure breeding are not available. Save the female calves which most closely conform to the desired beef type. Continue to mate these with good, pure-bred bulls and save the best female offspring as before. Although total purity of blood will never be obtained, in case only common or grade cows were available for foundation stock, the desired type can be obtained and a world of good along the line of improvement can be accomplished.

In selecting bulls for breeding choose from the so-called beef breeds, viz: Shorthorn, Hereford, Aberdeen, Angus and Galloway. The West Highland breed is also classed with beef cattle. The Poled Durham may be classed with the Shorthorns, and the Poled Herefords with the Herefords.

Hog on Alfalfa.

A Kansas farmer, who raises between 500 and 600 hogs every year, says that his hogs have turned into pork by running on alfalfa pasture with an average of about one ear of corn per day until the last six weeks, when they are given all the corn they will eat, in addition to alfalfa. This farmer, who seems to know his business, says he does not pasture so closely, but that he is able to get two and sometimes three cuttings per annum from them and these will average from three-quarters to a little over a ton per cutting. Some brains in this plan.

The Growing Stock.

Do not neglect the ration of the growing stock. Some people of the old-fashioned school never give it a thought. It may be well to note that their returns correspond with their old-fashioned methods. The kind of ration to feed the growing stock is one composed of as many different kinds of grains as it is possible to get. Where the fowls are housed up, some kind of animal food must be had, either in the form of meat scraps or milk. Perhaps milk is the better. Green food must also be supplied. Keep them growing at all costs.

Patience With the Runt.

A little patience may bring the runt out all right, but if you see it is hopeless, kill it at once, for few runts are ever worth anything even though they may grow large and strong, unless it be for meat.

Solving the Labor Problem.

Cheap pasture lands, good fences and a flock of sheep will solve the labor problem in a way that makes the dairy farmer stare and the profits are not very much less.

ALABAMA BREVITIES.

At the regular meetings of the commissioners court, held in Greensboro, the road engineer was instructed to begin work on the Greensboro and Gallion road, beginning at the corporate limits of this city, and also to start the work on the Centreville road. Each of these roads carries a large amount of gravel, and the improvements will be of great advantage to both sections. Under the orders of the court, the engineer is pushing all of the work on the roads in Hale county, and it is planned to get all of the improvements contemplated by the terms of the bond issue well under way, now that the weather is favorable for road construction.

The eleventh biennial session of the Grand Lodge of Alabama, Knights and Ladies of Honor, was held in Birmingham April 14 and 15. Following is the program as carried out:

April 14, 7:30 p. m., initiation of candidates; 8:30 p. m., banquet at Gold Lion Cafe; address by George D. Tait, of Indianapolis, Ind., Supreme Protector; question box.

April 15 the Grand Lodge held its sessions at Fraternal Hall, commencing at 9 a. m. President W. P. G. Harding or Secretary W. C. Radcliffe of the Chamber of Commerce, delivered the address of welcome; Louis B. Schwarz, Past Grand Protector, delivered an address of welcome in behalf of the Evening Star Lodge; Hon. J. H. Locke, Past Grand Protector, from Mobile, made the response in behalf of the State, and George D. Tait, the Supreme Protector in behalf of the Supreme Lodge.

At 10:30 a. m. the Grand Lodge meeting was called to order by Dr. James Sharp, Grand Protector. During the morning the reports of the Grand Protector and Grand Secretary were received, committees were appointed and Grand Lodge degrees conferred. In the afternoon the reports of committees were received, officers elected for the ensuing term, officers installed and miscellaneous business transacted. The election of a Mobile man to the position of Grand Protector was predicted.

The commissioners of Madison county instructed Probate Judge Lawler to make application to the state for aid in building the third model highway in this county. It is understood that the sum of $2,000 is available from the state treasury for this purpose. The people living along several roads leading out of this city have entered a lively competition for the new road, and it is not known which direction it will take. There are already two highways in this county built by the aid of the state.

The Alabama oyster commission will meet at Coden in the near future for the purpose of investigating rightful ownership of property of the Dauphin Island Improvement company at Dauphin Island. The oystermen in that vicinity claim the beds are the property of the state, while the Improvement company allege that the beds belong to them through the riparian right. According to an official report of the government in the survey of 1911 there are 46,876 bushels of oysters on the reefs.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of wonderful success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

Marquess of Sligo In Indian Mutiny.

Lord Altamont, who through the death of his aged father, the other day, has become marquess of Sligo, was through the Indian mutiny. His father, who was in the Indian civil service, was stationed at Bankipur when the mutiny broke out.

Lord Sligo's wife and infant son, seven months old, the new marquess, were sent for safety to a place which was surrounded by rebels for a fortnight. The child, however, was safely taken through the sepoy lines by a faithful Indian nurse, who dyed his skin as a ruse to pass him off as her own son. A long time passed before the boy was restored to his anxious parents, who meantime had to go through a further siege at Monghyr. The new marquess recently celebrated his silver wedding. On the actual anniversary day he had to be in Scotland, but he sent his wife a telegram with the characteristic message, "Twenty-five years without regret."

HEAD FULL OF DANDRUFF

1802 Reynolds & 34th St., Savannah, Ga.—"My head began to get sore and all around the edges got white with the disease until I was quite scared. I thought all my hair would drop out. It came out by handfuls, and my head itched so I nearly scratched the skin off. It was full of dandruff which showed plainly in my hair. I also had trouble with my hand. It peeled every time I put it in water, and it was so badly disfigured that everybody noticed it and asked me what it was. It was red, and burned awfully.

"My mother tried several things but they were unsuccessful, and it seemed as if nothing did it any good until I started to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. It had lasted about four weeks, but then it started getting well and my hair stopped falling completely. Now it is cured. My hair is now nice and thick and is growing to a nice length. I also used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment for my hand and completely cured it." (Signed) Miss Hattie M. Jones, Nov. 8, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston." Adv.

MANY IDEAS ABOUT THE PIN

Superstition of All Kinds Has Been Gathered Around Humble Household Implement.

During the reign of James I., the metal pins come into fashion. In 1817 a machine for producing entire pins was invented by an American, Seth Hunt, but it remained for Samuel Wright of Massachusetts to patent in 1824 the wonderful pin-making machine which is generally used today.

A certain amount of witchery and romance has always been associated with the humble pin. In olden times it was regarded as a charm against, and also as an implement of witch craft. Witches were supposed to force their victims to swallow pins, while, on the other hand, pins stuck in the heart of an animal and carefully preserved were considered the appropriate antidote to evil influences. In Wales there existed a grim superstition that a toad pierced with pins would cause the life of an enemy to wither as the poor creature itself slowly died. In Russia it is considered unlucky to meet a priest on leaving a house—a state of affairs which can only be remedied by throwing a pin at him; and in Iceland if a man is suspected of walking after death, pins and needles are thrust into the feet of the corpse.

Readers of romance will remember how people were believed to be bewitched and led to lingering death by regularly sticking pins into wax effigies of them. Even today in the back country a favorite "charm" to make the cream churn into butter is the dropping of hot pins into it.

All Fool's Day.

When freakish April lifts the latch all wits and wags consider themselves free to vent their nonsense upon the victims whom they would fool by their tricks. The gay Parisian calls such "April fish;" in bonnie Scotland on this day they make merry "hunting the gowk," whilst in England and this country a man keeps a sharp lookout lest he be caught at a disadvantage by the joker who glories in his smartness if he only can make some one look ridiculous. But it is just as well not to be too smart. The boomerang has a wicked habit of coming back. Silly as All Fool's day custom may seem to the solemn, it has an ancient ancestry. Its origin is obscure, but somewhere from the far-off times when those old Romans felt the lilt of the vernal equinox, and went on the spree accordingly, comes this rollick which still trills forth its merry ditty in our streets. Deeper still, the calm, contemplative Hindu, for some reason or other, from time immemorial has gone a-fooling on the first of April. It was probably from France, whence all things vivacious come, that Europe got the unruly itch for turning this day into a comedy of errors.

Woman's Beauty is Based on Health

To Have Health, Bowel Movement is Absolutely Necessary—How Best to Obtain it

Mrs. Jennie Snedeker.

If woman's beauty depended upon cosmetics every woman would be a picture of loveliness. But beauty lies deeper than that. It lies in health. In the majority of cases the basis of health and the cause of sickness, can be traced to the action of the bowels.

The headaches, the lassitude, the sallow skin and the lusterless eyes are usually due to constipation. So many things that women do habitually conduce to this trouble. They do not eat carefully, they eat indigestible foods because the foods are served daintily and they do not exercise enough. But whatever the particular cause may be it is important that the condition should be corrected.

An ideal remedy for women, and one especially suited to their delicate requirements, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which thousands of women endorse highly. Mrs. Jennie Snedeker, 1041 West Monroe St., Chicago, testifies that she is "cured of grave stomach and bowel troubles by using Syrup Pepsin and without the aid of a doctor or any other medicine." All the family can use Syrup Pepsin, for thousands of mothers give it to babies and children. It is also admirably suited to the requirements of elderly people, in fact to all who by reason of age or infirmity cannot stand harsh salts, cathartics, pills or purgatives. These should always be avoided for at best their effect is only for that day, while a genuine remedy like Syrup Pepsin acts mildly but permanently.

It can be conveniently obtained at any drug store at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. You will find it gentle in action, pleasant in taste, and free from griping, and its tonic properties have a distinct value to women. It is the most widely used laxative-tonic in America today and thousands of families are now never without it.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 203 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

If We Saw the Beyond.

Now I do not for a moment believe that, if those mysterious portals were flung wide, and we could see without hinderance all the secrets of the great beyond, we should necessarily be either better or happier. On the contrary, the probability is that, average human nature being what it is, sacred realities would be degraded to the ordinary levels of the human intercourse in this world; in our knowledge of life we cannot rise above what we are. What is wanted is a certain quality of life itself which will carry with it the assurance of the nearness and sweetness of the best and highest in the eternal kingdom of love.

What

a great improvement would be made in the condition of horses and other animals if just the proper remedy were used when they became ill or injured. If your horse could talk he would ask you not to use any external remedy containing alcohol because it stings and tortures his flesh terribly. Some liniments have alcohol and other fiery ingredients which only inflame the skin and tissue without striking down to where the pain lies. Beware of such liniments. The great humane, quick-action remedy is MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT. Made of oils, without a drop of alcohol or other torturing element, it soaks straight to the bone and muscle. It soothes the wounded parts and is comforting while the healing work is progressing. Mexican Mustang Liniment is what you want because it

CALL OF CONSCIENCE.

It is admitted on every hand that the letters of Gov. O'Neal in reply to that of C. Walter Jones, written when earthly hope was gone and death must be met, was a noble and able production of the Governor, which from any standpoint does him great credit and reveals the best side of His Excellency. There is however another letter that can be written by the talented Chief Executive of the state that would give him greater credit cause a profound impression throughout the state and make for the public good. It will require more courage and decision than the production of the Jones letter, but if written will make the name of Emmett O'Neal immortal in Alabama. It calls for a quickened conscience, clear brain and consecrated heart, but with that the result will more than compensate, aye a thousand times. Let the Governor simply write a frank and fearless letter to old John Barleycorn putting that wiley foe to the human race in general and the writer in particular, on notice in no uncertain terms that from this good day all relations, alliance or connection is severed forever. In giving the reason why, Governor Emmett O'Neal can easily make the document as interesting as the Declaration of Independence. A truthful recitation of his wrongs at the hands of this treacherous arch fiend and his henchmen will be of startling import. Aside from any personal grievance, he can well charge John Barleycorn with being the moving cause of the disgrace and scandal and humiliation that has fallen on the administration, all along from the pardon of blind tigers to the murders that caused five hangings in one day. It will be remembered that C. Walter Jones had to tank up in a dram shop before he assassinated Sloan Rowan. Arnold Gilmer murdered Mrs. Tippett while drunk. All along red liquor, or drugged fire water, produced the condition that caused crime and corruption. The last known of Theo. Lacy he was in a saloon. A week earlier he had while drunk quarreled at his Club and was put out. Oakley, now in prison, killed his step-father, Wood, a few feet from the Governor's office while drunk. Our space will not permit of amplification but the open letter should advise Chas. M. Lewis to keep out of the state and notify the distillers and brewers national organization that they must not meddle with the affairs of Alabama. The letter should frankly say that experience has demonstrated that tne regulation of open dram shops and the suppression of blind tigers is a fearful failure.

The Governor should lead the thousands of otherwise strong and brave men of the state who have felt the deadly bite of the serpent and sting of the adder in an uncompromising crusade for the extermination and banishment of John Barleycorn from the state. This opportunity for great and noble good knocks at the door of the Chief Executive. It is for him to decide the momentous question which means so much to the individual and to the welfare of the homes of the state.—Bullock County Breeze.

FROM C. B. COX

Mr. Editor:—Please allow me to say a few words on the road question. I have been thihking seriously of this matter for some time and feel that I am able to express the opinion of a large number of the voters of this county—particularly of my immediate neighborhood.

There are so many and varied opinions on the question that it seems a difficult matter for us to come to an understanding.

It occurs to me that the thing to do is to issue bonds and then get all the other money we can by taxation and at the same time work all of our men who are subject to road duty and thereby secure good roads in the shortest time possible, and at the least expense.

Some seem to think that if we issue bonds every one will be permitted to sit on the road side and see the money expended without ever making any personal effort to assist in building the roads; this would be ideal, indeed, but the better way would be for every one to assist and thereby have the work done in the shortest time possible—the result would be vastly more beneficial.

It appears that all the writers who oppose bonds forget that we have no other way to work our roads; we have tried the old system since the county was organized and we are now in worse condition than when we first begun; but under a bond issue we would have what we now have and the additional amount derived from bonds, besides skilled intelligence to direct the building of the roads.

If it could be arranged—and it seems that other counties have so arranged—it would not be a bad idea to employ our convicts on the roads; this would be an additional help, and surely they would be worth more to us on the roads than we derive from them on contracts outside the county. I am not in favor of issuing bonds and then permitting every one to suggest how and where the funds sheuld be expended—we have elected a Board of County Commissioners for that purpose, let them have charge, and do not undertake to tie their hands with a multiplicity of suggestions or complaints; they are capable and worthy men, and we should trust them to do that for which they are chosen. Secure the services of a road expert—one who knows his business—and let him do the work under the direct supervision of the Commissioners; let him first survey our mail routes in every section of the county and complete them (this will reach more than eighty per cent of the resident citizens) and then let him undertake the building of the other roads. If this is done and our Commissioners are alert there will be no opportunity for graft, and surely it can be done.

I believe that seventy-five per cent of our roads could be made permaneut good roads if they were properly drained and had a little gravel placed upon them; we now have a road machine for this purpose which can do the work properly and in a limited time, and we should have roads all over the county equal to the roads of any other county within a year's time.

Let us not give up the discussion of good roads or the work for a bond issue until we have accomplished something definite; until we have secured for our county roads for which no citizen shall have occasion to blush when the stranger enters our gates or rides over our thoroughfares. Respectfully,

C. B. Cox.

GOOD ROAD SUGGESTIONS

Maplesville, Ala., Apr. 20, 1913

I notice the people of Chilton county are talking lots about improving our roads. Some are on extremes one way and some extreme the other way. We in beat 3 want good roads and are going to have them if we have to build them ourselves. Our good Commissioner Hayes, who died this week, bought a machine to work our roads with in this beat, which we are very proud of. The road machine got in too late to do much work on the roads this spring, for we are very busy on the farms just now.

In the summer we expect to organize; to get teams, and take our road machine and do ten or fifteen times the work on our roads, as was done by our beat overseer in 1911 and 1912. He believed in narrow roads and mud, judging from the condition they were found in when the many overseers took them in charge last summer.

We want more money for our roads but want a better system than the one people fought so hard last summer. We were like lots of people in this county; we did not think enough of the money collected was spent to improve the roads.

We hope to hear from all the beats calling on commissioners court for more money to build the roads, and I want them to use this threat: If your court won't help us to build roads in our beat, we will build them ourselves. If the court would offer a prize for the beat that would build the best roads in one year's time it would be money well spent.

MULBERRY.

The beautiful weather now enjoyed by the farmers has been a great favor to them, the farms which a few days past sent out fragant odors from the blossoms growing therein are now practically all made into seed beds.

Bro. Connell filled his regular appointment at Mulberry church Saturday, 19th, and Sunday following delivered an excellent sermon both days. The church received for membership Bro. M. B. Manning, formerly of Coosa county, and Brother and Sister R. J. R. Moore of Ebenezer church, who all received a hearty welcome.

The Sabbath School at this place is still increasing and becoming more and more interesting.

The health in the community is fairly good, and all are at peace one with another.

Mr. Wilber Spear returned home from school the 19th and was met with many 'schveet schmiles'.

Miss Gladys Parnell and Mrs. Freeman, of Thorsby, visited Mrs. Maud Veazey at this place.

Mr. J. E. Fox's relatives of North Alabama are visiting him this week.

Mr. John Deshazo has purchased him a mule, he will now have to raise more of Conway's corn and a large amount of Hastings cotton to keep him busy.

Our community will now try to improve their roads as the county has furnished them the little Winner machine for this beat 3. A CITIZEN.

WEST CHILTON.

Everybody busy, some done planting cotton.

Mr. Monroe Atchison has returned from the infirmary at Anniston where he was treated by Dr. Sellers. His many friends wish for him a complete recovery.

Mr. Sullivan, of the People's Pulpit Association of Brooklyn, lectured here 2nd and 3rd inst., the attendance was good. He gave one lecture for the public, subject "Life beyond the grave," showing that all the dead were resting in a quiet sleep waiting for the judgment, and under the favorable conditions of the judgment day all the willing ones could secure life, while the finally impenitent would be lost in the second death from which there is no hope. His other talks were for the church, urging the church to holy living. He gave some heavy blows to church people using tobacco. He was quite an earnest speaker, a man of experience and intelligence.

The singing Sunday was fine, Lawley, Hayes, Jackson, Blankenship and Holdritch were the leaders. The crowd was large. One feature of the service was the singing of Easter anthem with all of the leaders on the floor at once. The bass of Blankenship and the alto of Jackson were just fine. That "anthem" is the essence of the good tidings of great joy.—"Hear O ye nations, Hear it O ye dead," It was nicely rendered.

Mr. Newt Atchison of West Lawley came up to the singing.

Also Randolph was well represented.

Young Mr. Lawley of Dogwood came down on 27 Saturday evening, of course just to see the girls.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered here Sunday night; it being the anniversary of the institution of that rite, quite an appropriate time.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION

The Chilton County Singing Convention No. 3, will meet at Cedar Grove church, about one mile south of Thorsby on the 1st Sunday in May and Saturday before. Books used will be Sacred Harp and Christian Harmony. Singers coming by rail will stop off at Thorsby, from there is an excellent road to the convention. We learn that the Cedar Grove people will meet the morning trains both days at Thorsby. Singers wishing to be met can notify Mr. John Hayes, Thorsby, Ala., R. F. D. All lovers of sacred music are invited to attend. Let all parts of the convention be represented. Bring your books and spend two days in sacred song.

Health of this community is fine at present except bad colds.

Farming is all the go around here now.

We were very glad to see Rev. Buford Lawrence at home Sunday, he has been going to school at Jacksonville, Ala

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely under the careful management of Mr. Noah Latham as our superintendent. We have a large attendance every Sunday.

Rev. Bilbro preached an excellent sermon last Sunday night at Pleasant Hill with a large attendance.

With much success to the Union - Banner and its many readers. SISTER DINAH.

JEMISON.

Rebekah Lodge, No. 42, met in regular session Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Roper as Noble Grand. This Rebekah lodge is growing more interesting every meeting. They have been invited over to Union Grove on the 26th of April for the purpose of organizing a Rebekah Lodge at that place. We hope to accomplish much good in this work and we will be very much pleased to meet all the sisters who are expected to be with us on the 26th from Montgomery.

I am also pleased to say that the Rebekahs of Jemison Lodge are wide awake to their duty. A box for the Orphans Home at Cullman will be ready by the last of this week. We will be glad if all the ladies who are entitled will come in and join us in this great work, as we are out to lend a helping hand to the needy.

Editor Union-Banner :

Dear Sir:—If you will allow me space enough in your paper I will write concerning the Atlantic Fleet and Spring target practice.

On Monday night, March 31st, all liberty was up at midnight as we were to sail on the next morning. We shoved off from the pier at 9 a. m., and after getting hauled down the Boston Harbor we had a little difficulty in getting out as there was an ocean liner (the Cedric) coming in from Liverpool up the harbor, and of course all ocean liners having the right of way of all battle chips in time of peace, and the channel was not so wide we had to go her port beam and we came very near running aground, but as luck was with us we came to a stop in time, and the excitement was soon over and we got under way again. Then we came out to sea, finding it very rough and the wind was verp high. At 11:45 a. m., we passed the Pilgrim's Monument which is erected at Provenstown, Mass.

While being so near land the sea was not so rough, but, by 6 p. m. it certainly was getting rolly, and as we had on board a great number of new men who had never been to sea before, and who were enjoying the sight, but when the sea got so rough they had to come below decks as the ships bow was digging through the heavy seas, and then came the sights, you could see a man here and there all stooped over as they were engaged in prayer, but there were only feeding the fishes.

Well, I will not put so much on the poor rockies, you could see a few of the regular old sea ducks sick too. I am not a sea duck and I was just as sick as any of them.

The storm lasted for one day and a half, the second day was the roughest of all. We were to have drills, but all that were not on watch were sleeping around decks on paper or anything they could get.

On the third day we arrived at the Southern drill grounds. There we met the U. S. S. Delaware and anchored at 12:45, and we got under way at 2 p. m., putting out a small target for target drill. General quarters sounded and all men having gun stations went to them and fired one-pounders the rest of the afternoon when the ship was brought to anchor at 5:45.

At 6:30 torpedo defense was put out, and, with this out went all lights which lasted until 7:30; no one was allowed to get their hammock until 10 p. m., then we turned in, but very little sleep I had for I went on watch at 12 o'clock. four hours on and six off. All hands turned out at 5 a. m., carried out the morning work and had breakfast at 7:-30

At nine o'clock general quarters sounded, and, then it was more drills—in fact it was drills from morning until night. At night they take a new start. Now, at 5 p. m., every one tired out, they seek for a place to snooze. But, no, our time was not done, and unless we were on watch they served out clean bags and hammocks, and while we rested we had to scrub bags, hammocks and our clothes, and this is not the funny part, the evaporators had gone on the bum, and so we had no water to scrub with, and half enough drinking water for the men, but by 9 o'clock they had been repaired and started up and we had plenty of fresh water, and by 12 o'clock we had finished our evening's "rest" and all the boys and hammocks had to be turned in on the fifth, and the fifth was not so bad as it was to be pay day; but instead of having a pay day we had more drills. I was on the twelve to four watch, force draft. This force draft watch is nothing to laugh at. The temperature is from 135 to 165 in the fire room, and just imagine a man near a fire having three boilers to attend to, with 260 pounds of steam up.

On the sixth we got under way at 5 o'clock and I was on the four to eight watch. We sailed from the Southern drill grounds to Tanguier Sound arriving at 11:30.

I want to say to Clanton boys that this is the first six days of battle practice, and it is the best six days of all. The worst is to come. How would you like the navy? I will tell you all about it before I return to Boston where I expect to arrive on the 20th of May.

Regards to all friends. I am the same old kid, Jadie Wagoner.

NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

A CONDENSED RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

SEVEN DAYS' NEWS AT A GLANCE

Important Happenings In All Parts of the World Summarized for the Busy Reader.

Southern.

The first serious break in the main levees of the lower Mississippi river occurred when the Woodlawn levee just north of Mayersville, Miss., went out. Within a few minutes the crevasse was 200 feet wide, and the space through which the waters are pouring is increasing.

Chief of Police Elliott of Augusta, Ga., sprang a sensation by committing to jail W. E., alias "Bud" Kennedy, Ed Coursey and W. E. Trumper, charging them with being principals in the famous "street car murder mystery." In January, after working on the case several months, the Burns detective agency had a man by the name of W. E. Kennedy, not the same man arrested by the chief; J. Gary Johnson and Lester R. Young arrested on the charge of murder, as perpetrators of the murder.

While running forty-five miles an hour down grade just east of Lovejoy, Ga., the Central of Georgia passenger train No. 15 from Macon to Atlanta, struck some obstruction and the four rear cars jumpedf the track Several of the train crew and many passengers were injured.

When a package supposed to contain $5,000 sent to the Central Bank and Trust corporation of Atlanta from the Brunswick (Ga.) Bank and Trust company of Brunswick, Ga., by the Southern Express company, was received in the offices of the Atlanta concern, it was found to contain nothing but blank paper. While detectives of Atlanta, Brunswick and the Southern Express companies are scouring the state for some clew which may lead to the arrest of the robber, so far as is known no clew has been found and no arrest has been made.

General

Kidnaping her husband for the purpose of getting him out of the state before a divorce suit could be brought to trial, Mrs. Frank Kasmandell is alleged to have hired a stranger to impersonate a United States officer and spirit her husband away at Pueblo, Cal.

John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers of America and vice president of the American Federation of Labor, was designated by Governor Sulzer to be state labor commissioner of New York. The nomination has been sent to the senate.

"I commit my soul into the hands of my Savior, in full confidence that having redeemed it and washed it in His most rpecious blood He will present it faultess before the throne of my heavenly Father; and I entrust my children to maintain and defend at all hazard and at any cost of personal sacrifice, the atonement for sin, through the blood of Christ, once offered and throuhg this alone." This is the extraordinary and striking utterance which begins the last will and testament of John Pierpont Morgan, who died at Rome, Italy, on March 31, and whose body, heaped over with flowers from the crowned heads of Europe, was, a fortnight later, brought back to his own land and was borne to its last resting place at Hartford, Conn.

The English suffragettes had plenty of evidence that the public has tired of militancy and only the protection afforded by large bodies of police saved the women from the hands of angry mobs. At Brdighton the suffragettes were chased off the esplanade and took refuge in a nieghboring house. This was surrounded by howling thousands who bombarded the place with stones and smashed every window. In defiance of the ban on meetings in Hyde Park, the Women's Social and Political Union attempted to carry on its propaganda there.

After pursuing them for five months throuhg several states in this country and a part of Canada, central office detectives arrived in New York from Charleston, S. C., with F. R. Tarbaux and Albert A. Carter, who are accused of having swindled G. M. Jones of Pittsburg out of $20,000 and E. J. Pendleton of Washington out of $55,000. After the arrest of the men in Charleston, they were ordered released on a writ of habeas corpus, but Governor Blease ignored the colrt order and honored extradition papers.

Bombardment of the Turkish city of Scutari is going on in spite of the threats by the powers. The European governments have handed an ultimatum to Montenegro, but the Greek government refuses to take the alarm.

The superdreadnaught Bretagne was launched in France, this being the second French warship launched within two days. France is rushing naval construction work since the German-French jingoes have become so active.

Another officer of the French military aviation corps was killed at the flying grounds at Villacoublay.

James S Douglas, president or the Cananea (Mexico) Consolidated Copper company, was driven out of Cananea by a mob of 2,000 idle miners and smeltermen. The mob presented its demand to Douglas that he leave, and he departed by automobile for the international border; in the mob was J. N. Durazo, prefect of the Arispe district, and Colonel Alvarado, in command of the Sonora state troops at Cananea. Neither offered to interfere.

The federal district court dismissed the petition of the Oceanic Steam Navigation company, limited, as owner of the White Star liner Titanic, for a limitation of liability resulting from the loss of the Titanic The court held that the company's liability is to be determinled by the law of Great Britain, which would make the owners of the Titanic liable for about three million dollars.

Herman Coppes, whose mentality is so low that at 16 years of age he has been only able to advance to the fourth grade in school, at Elgin, Ill., confessed that he was the slayer of Mrs. Manny Sleep and her two small children, whose bodies were found in a cistern under the kitchen of the Sleep farm house, five miles west of Elgin. Coppes says the killing resulted from Mrs. Sleep saying that she "would see about it," when he had refused to do one of his accustomed chores after school.

Mrs. William Cummings Story of New York City, head of the conservative faction, was elected president-general of the society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, in session at Washington, D. C.

Undisguised pessimism is manifested in the capital as to the future of the Huerta government. In neither official nor unofficial cricles are the statements of General Obregon, commander of the Sonora insurgents, and Venutiano Carrana, ex-governor of Coahuila, of the probable overthrow of Huerta longer derided. Without exception the newspaper aver that the only hope of salvation lies in the flotation of a loan. Practically all of them admit that non-recognition of the present administration makes this indeed doubtful.

A 15-year-old girl, Teresa Sasso, of Wilmington, Del., complained to the police that her father had sold her in marriage, taking a sum of money from Antonio Cotillo in her presence and that her father compelled her to go through a marriage ceremony. The chief of police said that after an investigation he had ascertained that Cotillo had paid the father $130. Attorney General Wolcott directed that the girl be committed to an institution pending his application for an annullment of the marriage.

Jersey City, N. J., voted to adopt a commission form of government, favored by Woodrow Wilson as governor. Hoboken, Bayonne and Union Hill reported the proposition. Jersey City is the first large municipality in the east to adopt this form of government. Last January the proposition was defeated in Jersey City by about 2,000 votes, but this time it was carried by nearly 4,000 the figures being 11,368 ayes and 7,455 nays. Scarcely more than half the voters appeared at the polls.

Not the exclusion of the Japanese farmer, but the probable effect of the proposed alien land law on European capital invested in the state is now the principal issued involved in discussion of the bills proposing to restrict the rights of foreigners in California, one of which was passed by the assembly.

Washington

In a special message to congress, President Wilson urged the immediate adoption by the United States of the international anti-opium legislation, in which practically all the nations of the world have concurred.

The announcement that President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan are making efforts to bring about a compromise in the proposed California legislation with respect to the alien land ownership bill and that Gov. Hirah Johnson is opposing the bill, has softened Japanese ire and public opinion has now become more optimistic. The alleged unwillingness of the American missionaries to assist in resisting the bill is the subject of harsh criticism in the Japanese papers.

Speaker Champ Clark and Secretary W. J. Bryan met at a private luncheon in Washington, shook hands and issued public statements declaring that they had buried the hatchet and had put the personalities of the Baltimore convention with the by-gones.

Professor Willis L. Moore, chief of of the weather bureau since 1895 and an appointee of the Cleveland administration, was summarily removed from office by President Wilson. His resignation recently had been accepted to take effect July 31, but after an investigation of his alleged efforts to become secretary of agriculture in the present cabinet, grave charges of irregularity were preferred, and the president withdrew his acceptance of the resignation, dismissing Professor Moore.

News of the determination of the legislative leaders in Sacramento to frame and pass an alien land-owning bill for California, directly discriminating against the Japanese, unofficially conveyed to the white house and state department, was received with grave concern and disappointment. Such a development had not been expected in view of the first favorable comments in California upon the president's suggestion of that regard he had for the preservation of the friendly relations between this country and the Oriental nations and other countries.

SOCIAL WORKERS OF STATE MEET

ALABAMA SOCIOLOGICAL CONGRESS HOLDS SESSION IN MAGIC CITY

MANY ATTEND GATHERING

Problems Dealing With Human Suffering and Weakness Topics of Discussion.

Birmingham.—The Alabama Sociological Congress convened here April 22 and remained in session for three days, April 22, 23, 24.

Some of the most prominent social and settlement workers and health experts in the United States attended the congress. Problems dealing with human suffering and weakness, with vice and ignorance, and toiling children and derelict men and women were the topics of discussion.

The Sociological Congress which convened here is the first gathering of the kind ever held in Alabama. In 1911 a Child Labor Conference met in Birmingham, but only questions concerning the child were dealt with.

Speakers of nation-wide prominence were heard. Julia Lathrop, head of the children's bureau, is one of the sociological experts who spoke. Dr. A. J. McKelway, secretary of the Southern States National Child Labor committee, made an interesting address.

John Ihlder, of New York, field secretary of the National Housing association, is another celebrity who spoke at the congress, and Dr. Cressy L. Wilbur, chief statistician of the bureau of census at Washington, made an address. Miss Gertrude B. Knipp, secretary of the Association for the Study and Prevention of Infant Mortality, was also heard.

Judge C. B. Roe, ex-secretary of the Vigilance association; Dr. E. Stagg, Whitin, general secretary of the National committee of prison labor, and Frank J. Hayes, vice-president of the United Mine Workers of America, were among the list of celebrities from without the state who assisted in the congress.

Among the well-known social workers of Alabama to speak were Dr. William H. Oates, state prison inspector; Judge W. T. Thomas, of Montgomery; C. C. Thatch, president of the Alabama Polytechnic institute; Rabbi A. G. Moses, of Mobile; Dr. B. L. Wyman, Dr. E. M. Mason, Dr. Cabot Lull, George Settle, Dr. Cunningham Wilson Charles A. Brown, Dr. Harry T. Inge, W. M. McGrath, Mrs. W. L. Murdock, Miss Ethel Armes, Mrs. C. B. Spencer, Judge S. D. Murphy, Mrs. R. D. Johnston, H. J. Willingham and Dr. G. H. Denny.

Following is the program as previously announced:

April 22—8 P. M.

Addresses of welcome to all the delegates.

On behalf of the Chamber of Commerce (twenty minutes)—President W. P. G. Harding, Chairman.

Atlanta will have the meeting of the Southern Sociological Congress immediately following the state gathering in Birmingham, and several persons from this city will attend. Governor O'Neal and James L. Davidson, secretary of the Alabama Coal Operators' association, have been asked to speak at the congress, but have not yet decided whether they will appear before the body.

Among those from Birmingham who have decided to attend the gathering are Mrs. W. L. Murdock and William McGrath, secretary of the Associated Charities.

The convention to be held in the Georgia city is the second meeting of the Southern Sociological Congress Nashville had the first convention last spring.

Six departments will be treated by the seventy-eight speakers at the congress

Virtually all of the celebrated speakers from outside of Alabama who were heard in Birmingham will appear at the Atlanta congress, which follows the one in this city, beginning April 23 and lasting until April 29. Besides these, many other great students of sociology will be on the program of the Southern congress.

Birmingham's convention was much more modest, for its scope did not extend beyond Alabama. Subjects bearing on living conditions in this state were discussed adequately and reconstructive methods outlined.

EXCERPTS FROM REPORT OF FACTORY INSPECTOR

The laws pertaining to the employment of children in Alabama are conspicuous by their ambiguity, inefficiency, inexplicitness and inadequacy.

The idea of working a colt or a calf in harness would seem preposterous to the average farmer. Can we not put our children of the laboring classes in the same category as the farmer puts his beasts of burden?

* * *

The ultimate solution of this problem, in my opinion, will have to be compulsory education with local taxation for schools.

* * *

Almost universal indifference is evidenced on the part of the parents of these children as to sending them to school.

* * *

Likewise the children are apathetic, indifferent and negligent, and on every occasion try to evade the school.

* * *

Cotton mill operatives are recruited from the rural districts, usually from farms.

* * *

They are absolutely illiterate—cannot read or write—and eke out a miserable existence by ignorantly farming a few acres of land. In a vast majority of cases they have hookworms, are dull, listless and apathetic, have little to say and in fact, I might say, are a race within a race.

State Factory Inspector.

NATIONAL GOOD ROADS MEET HELD

REPRESENTATIVE BODY OF MEN HOLD CONVENTION IN BIRMINGHAM

MANY STATES REPRESENTED

Practically Every Good Roads Organization in the Country Was Represented.

Birmingham.—The National Good Roads Federation, as its name denotes, a national organization, convened in Birmigham for a session of two days.

Perhaps never in the history of the Magic City has it entertained a more representative body of men than those gathered together here in attendance upon the National Good Roads Convention. Men in various walks of life attended. Delegates from practically every state in the Union were present.

The federation met in the Jefferson theater on the morning of April 24, at 10 o'clock. The registration of delegates, organizing of convention, the addresses of welcome and the appointment of committees and the address of Senator John H. Bankhead, occupied the morning session.

The afternoon session convened at 1:30. Reports from various roads associations and state delegations were made at this session.

One of the objects of the committee in charge of the convention was to obtain the co-operation of as many of the national good roads organizations as possible, in this it did not fail, as practically every organization of this kind in the country was represented by its president or some other high official, as a list of representatives from the following organizations will show:

Charles Henry Davis, of Cambridge, Mass., president National Highways association; John A. Stewart, of New York City, president International League for Highway Improvement; Samuel H. Lea, of Pierre, S. D., president Meridian Road Gulf Highway association; S M. Johnston, of Roswell, N. M., general organizer Southern Highway association; Howard P. Hadley, of Prattsburg, N. Y., president Quebec-Miami International Highway association; A. G. Batcelder, of New York, chairman executive committee of American Automobile association good roads board; J. M. Lowe, president National Old Trains Ocean-to-Ocean Highway association; Leonard Tufts, president Capitol-to-Capitol Highway association, Pinehurst, N. C.; Southern Appalachian Good Roads association, by representative or president, J. Hyde Pratt.

Following is in part a list of speakers scheduled to talk before the good roads federation. The speeches were in the most part brief. This was done in order that the delegates could have as much time as possible for discussion:

E. J. Watson, commissioner of agriculture of South Carolina; H. E. Blakeslee, commissioner of agriculture of Mississippi; E. O. Bruner, commissioner of agriculture of Louisiana; Congressman C. B. Slemp, of Virginia; Senator John H. Bankhead, of Alabama; E. R. Kone, commissioner of agriculture of Texas; T. T. Peck, commissioner of agriculture of Tennessee; Joe M. Long, editor Road Maker, Des Moines, Ia.; Thomas L. Cannon, of St. Louis, Mo.; Benjamin F. Hennessy, chairman of board of agriculture of Oklahoma; Congressman R. P. Hobson, of Alabama; T. T. Fauntleroy, of St. Louis; John H. Page, commissioner of manufactures, mines and agriculture of Arkansas; James R. Marker, state highway engineer of Ohio; State Senator H. B. Terrell, of Texas.

The following is the official program as previously announced:

This is to notify you to appear before the Probate Court of this county at the next term thereof, commencing Monday, the 19th day of May, 1913, then and there to show cause, if any you have, why a decree for the sale of said real estate should not be made for the payment of the taxes assessed upon the same, fees and costs.

This the 21st day of April, 1913.

E. B. DEASON,
Judge of Probate.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Under and by virtue of the powers contained in a certain mortgage executed on the 24th day of April, 1912, by the Chilton Warehouse & Manufacturing Company, a corporation duly organized under the laws of the State of Alabama, to E. A. Matthews, securing a certain indebtedness, default in the payment of which has been made, said mortgage being recorded in the office of the Probate Judge of Chilton County, Alabama, in Mortgage Record 121, page 332, I, E. A. Matthews, as mortgagee, will proceed to sell the hereinafter described real estate to the highest bidder for cash, at public outcry, before the Court House door of Chilton County, at Clanton, Alabama, during the legal hours of sale, on Monday, the 26th day of May, 1913, to-wit:

The following described real property lying and being situated in the Town of Clanton, in the County of Chilton, in the State of Alabama, to-wit, a certain lot or parcel of land west of the South and North Alabama Railroad, described and bounded as follows, to-wit: commencing at a point on the line of the right of way of the South and North Alabama Railroad Company two hundred and ten (210) feet south of the intersection of the said right of way and Main Street, said Main Street now being known as Second Avenue, and runing thence in a westerly direction, parallel with said Main Street, four hundred and eighty-five (485) feet, more or less, to the line of W. D. Sartor's land as said line of W. D. Sartor's land was known or existed on the 10th day of August, 1893, thence in a southerly direction, along the line of said Sartor land line, and a continuation thereof, three hundred (300) feet thence in an easterly direction, parallel to said Main Street, four hundred and eighty-five (485) feet more or less, to said right of way, thence in a northerly direction, along said right of way, three hundred (300) feet, to the point of beginning, being a part of the land which was conveyed to John Randolph by F. C. Randolph, on the 12th day of February, 1902, by a deed which is recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama, in volume 24 of Record of Deeds, on page 387. The said lot or parcel of land above described is known by the Official Map of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, and marked upon said Map "E. Y. McMorries University School." (The words Main Street wherever they occur in the foregoing description refer to the street now known as Second Avenue); and also a tract or parcel of land described and bounded as follows; to-wit: Beginning at the northeast corner of a certain lot, west of South and North Alabama Railroad, and south of and bordering on Second Avenue, marked on the Official Map of the Town of Clanton, "W. M. Wilson & Brother," and running thence east along said Second Avenue forty (40) feet, thence south two hundred and ten (210) feet, to the lot marked on said Official Map "E. Y. McMorries University School" thence West forty (40) feet, thence north two hundred and ten (210) feet to the point of beginning, and also a lot of parcel of land west of the South and North Alabama Railroad, described and bounded as follows, to-wit: beginning at the southeast corner of the lot marked on the official map of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, "E. Y. McMorries University School," and running thence west one hundred and sixty (160) feet, thence south eighty (80) feet, thence east forty (40) feet, thence south two hundred and eighty (280) feet, thence east to the right of way of the South and North Alabama Railroad Company, thence north to the point of beginning; also a lot or parcel of land west of the South and North Alabama Railroad, described and bounded as follows, to-wit: beginning at the north east corner of the lot marked on the official map of the Town of Clanton, Alabama "E. Y. McMorries University School," and running thence west thirty (30) feet, thence north sixty (60) feet to the lot of the South and North Alabama Railroad Company, thence east thirty (30) feet to the right-of-way of the South and North Alabama Railroad Company, thence south along said right-of-way to the point of beginning, and also a lot or parcel of land west of the South and North Alabama Railroad, described and bounded as follows, to-wit: beginning at the southwest corner of the lot marked on the official map of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, "E. Y. McMorries University School" and running south twenty (20) feet, thence east to within one hundred and sixty (160) feet to the right of way of the South and North Alabama Railroad Company, thence north twenty (20) feet to the south line of the said E. Y. McMorries University School lot, thence west, along said line to the point of beginning; together with all the buildings, machinery and appurtenances belonging to any, and all of the hereinbefore described tracts or parcels of land, and also a lot or parcel of land west of the South and North Alabama Railroad described and bounded as follows, to-wit: beginning at the northwest corner of the Episcopal Church, on the south side of Second Avenue, and running thence west along said Second Avenue one hundred and twenty (120) feet to the northeast corner of the Chilton Warehouse and Manufacturing Company's lot, thence south along the east line of said lot, two hundred and ten (210) feet to the Chilton Warehouse & Manufacturing Company's property, thence east along the north line of said property one hundred and twenty (120) feet, thence north two hundred and ten (210) feet to the point of beginning.

Said sale will be made for the purpose of paying in whole or in part the indebtedness secured by said mortgage.

This the 24th day of April, 1913.

Does Backache Worry You?

Many who suffer with backache and weak kidneys are unnaturally irritable and fretful. Bad kidneys fail to eliminate all the uric acid from the system, keeping you "on edge" and causing rheumatic, neuralgia pains.

When your back aches, and you notice signs of bladder irregularities, suspect your kidneys and begin using Doan's Kidney Pills, the best recommended special kidney remedy.

A Tennessee Case

Mrs. Bayliss Marshall, Fayetteville, Tenn., says: "I was treated by the best physicians in this locality but nothing helped me and I steadily ran down until I weighed but 85 pounds. My back ached terribly, kidney secretions were irregular and I felt all worn out. I steadily improved under the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, however, and when I had used 6 boxes, was entirely cured. I now weigh 185 pounds and enjoy the best of health."

His Business.

"There is one man who can be safe always in taking his customers at their face value."

'Who might he be?"

"The beauty doctor."

Both True.

"I heard quite a paradoxical remark the other day."

"What was it?"

"That though there is no excuse for crime, there is generally a warrant for it."

Cook and the Cuckoo.

Mistress—Bridget, what ails the cuckoo clock? I haven't heard it today.

Bridget—Well, mum, there do be a strange cat around the kitchen an' likely the poor bur'rd's afeared to come out.

Who's Doing the Talking?

"A business man should never take his stenographer out to lunch."

"Why not?"

"Oh, it causes talk."

"Of course it causes talk, but if the business man will abstain from cocktails, he won't talk to her half as much as he might."

The Right of the Strong.

Three-year-old George and his sister, slightly older, were having a tete-a-tete luncheon. "Why," she demanded, "do you take the last ginger-snap, when you've had two and I haven't had any?" The young philosopher pondered for a moment, then condescended to elucidate.

"Because," he said, kindly, "I'm a boy and you're a girl."

All He Wanted.

A Boston man tells of a certain irrepressible bore who always made use of a formula when anyone sought to put him off and thus spare the objects of his attention the annoyance of an interview with him. This formula was: "But I assure you I want but one word with him—only one word!"

On one occasion he sought out a noted lawyer. The latter's clerk met him very solemnly with: "Why, haven't you heard? Mr. Blank died last night."

The words were scarcely out of the clerk's mouth when the applicant was saying, conciliatingly: "But I assure you I want but one word with him—only one word!"

Entered April 15, 1903, at Clanton, Ala., as second-class matter, under act of congress of March 3, 1879.

The editor made a flying trip to Birmingham Tuesday. He enjoyed a few hours in the busy and well organized offices of the Western Newspaper Union which provides us such admirable service for our "insides" and takes pleasure in acknowledging the courtesies shown.

Also, the courtesies of the Ledger; that wonderful press they have, turning out complete papers at ever-so-many a minute, is a sight worth seeing.

The main streets were crowded as usual and the stores were being decorated for the "potlach" festival now underway.

TAX VALUATIONS.

The State Tax Commission has advised the County Tax Commissioners that unless the low valuation on certain property in the county is raised by the county commissioners, they will themselves come up here and raise them. They have had a representative from the capitol investigating the deeds and mortgage records of the county as to values, so they will have facts to go upon.

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION FOR THE PROGRESSIVE PARTY.

New York, April 17.—At the close of their meeting late today members of the Progressive party's national executive committee issued a statement declaring there is no possibility of the new party ever amalgating with either of the old parties. They criticized the action of the Democrats in Congress with regard to the tariff.

"There is neither prospect nor possibility of any amalgamation of the Progressives with either of the old Tory parties," says the official statement. "The Republican party under permanently reactionary leadership presents no hope of genuine progressive achievement. There can be no progressive Democracy because the Democratic theory of states' rights and progressive legislation are incompatible with each other. The method by which the Democratic party at this moment is handling the tariff is precisely the method that has given rise to abuses in the past; the method that insures preference to special influences and prevents a genuine non-partizan effort to reduce excessive rates."

DRUGGIST GIVES MONEY BACK

Dodson's Liver Tone Gets a Four Square Guarantee from Alred Drug Co.

When an article is sold a druggist who is willing to give it his personal guarantee, it's a mighty strong proof of real merit.

That's exactly the case with Dodson's Liver Tone. It is a pleasant tasting, vegetable remedy for a slow and sluggish liver. Since Dodson's Liver Tone came on the market the sale of calomel has gone 'way down. The reason is simply this: Dodson's Liver Tone is safe and harmless and guaranteed to be satisfactory—Calomel is often uncertain, sometimes dangerous, and no druggist wants to guarantee that it won't knock you out of a day's work and maybe send you to bed.

Alred Drug Co. sells Dodson's Liver Tone and guarantees it. For you and for your children, it's a good thing to keep a bottle always in the house.

Alred Drug Co. will give you your money back if you think Dodson's Liver Tone is not worth the price. "Keep your liver working and your liver will not keep you from working," is good advice to go by.

IN MEMORY OF COMMISSIONER E. J. HAYES.

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God to take from our midst and from the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, our esteemed friend and co-worker, E. J. Hayes, therefore be it resolved:

1st. That in the death of Bro. Hayes the Commissioners Court has lost a good and useful and agreeable member; one who we always found standing for right and justice to all citizens alike;

2nd. That we bow in humble submission to the will of our Heavenly Father who does all things well;

3rd. That we extend to his bereaved wife and three little boys our heartfelt sympathy and commend them to God's care who has promised to take care of the widow and orphans;

4th. That a copy of this be given to each of the county papers for publication, and a copy sent to his family, and that the same be spread on the Minutes of the Court.

E. B. Deason, Judge of Probate.
W. H. Shaw, W. T. Herrod, Moses Robinson, Commissioners

IN MEMORIAM—E. J. HAYES

In memory of Brother E. J. Hayes who departed this life April 15th, 1913, at his home, to the sad regret of his multitude of friends and relatives.

Bro. Hayes was born in Chilton county April 8th, 1854, and lived to be 59 years old. Reared in our community he became a Christian in early manhood, spending near thirty years of his life a devoted Christian and was clerk of his church at the time of his death. During his life of Christian work he had accumulated a large number of friends. He was elected County Commissioner of the Second Commissioners District of Chilton county in November 1910, and contracted his death in the discharge of his duty as officer. Several days before his death he was called upon to attend a special meeting of the Commissioners court; he walked from his home to Clanton to occupy his seat in the court, after that he was never well again, having contracted a severe case of pneumonia which terminated in his death,

The funeral services were conducted by Bro. P. G. Maness at his home church, the interment being at Mulbery cemetery.

Bro. Hayes leaves a wife and three little boys to mourn his untimely taking away. To them in this hour of bereavement we extend our sympathy and prayer.

Written this 19th day of April, 1913, by order of his church.

REPORT OF CHILTON COUNTY HEALTH OFFICER FOR MARCH

During the month of March there were reported the following births:

White males	18
White females	15
Total	33
Colored males	1
Colored females	1
Total	2
Sum total of births	35

Deaths were reported as follows:

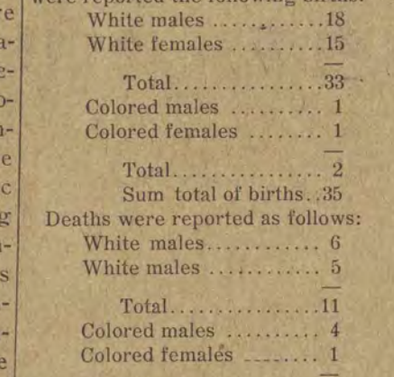
White males	6
White males	5
Total	11
Colored males	4
Colored females	1
Total	5
Sum total of deaths	16

It would be easy to believe from these figures that there were three times as many births as deaths with the white population of Chilton county and nearly three times as many deaths as births with the colored race in the same county; however, this is not so, as the doctors and midwives of our county sometimes fail to report all deaths and births happening in their practice.

The failure to make the above reports to the County Health Officer on or before the fifth day of the following month makes the doctor subject to a fine of not less than $10.00 nor more than $50.00, and the midwife to a fine of not less than $5.00 nor more than $25.00 for each report so neglected.

We sincerely hope that all our doctors and midwives will not forget this very important matter and give us the benefit of these figures as well as avoiding violating the law and thereby becoming subject to prosecution.

V. J. GRAGG,
County Health Officer.



THE HOOKWORM CAMPAIGN.

Editor Union-Banner:—If you will give me a small space, I desire to say a few words through your paper in regard to the Hookworm Campaign now on hand in Chilton County.

I am greatly surprised at the general public's lack of information regarding this disease, as well as the carelessness with which we all treat a subject of such vital importance. Besides those who are very much incapacitated, there are hundreds of people in our county suffering only slight infection, but heavily enough infected to be a menace to the public and an injury to themselves, without suspecting that they are the host of these parasites.

Hookworm is one of the most common infections in the South, and is one of the easiest diseases transmitted, when no effort is made to avoid infection, yet one of the easiest to avoid if we know how.

Dr. Grote will be with us several weeks and will give free demonstrated lectures, and examine and treat patients free of all charges. Now, do not delay but come to see and hear the doctor. Bring a specimen to his dispensary and know whether you are carrying the infection.

Dr. Grote is in position to make this work entirely free. He is employed by the Hookworm Commission as well as the State and County, and is here to do much good if our people will avail themselves of this opportunity now offered.

Watch our county papers, keep up with his dispensary days, and be on hand. V. J. Gragg,
County Health Officer.

The country people will take notice that in an unguarded moment Gov. O'Neal, the democratic leader, speaks out his mind and refers to them as "gaping rustics."

TO PLACE FLOWERS ON THE GRAVES OF DEAD CONFEDERATES

By W. P. Thompson.

On Sunday, April 27th, the Daughters of the Confederacy belonging to the Marbury Chapter, of which Miss Craig is president, assisted by Mrs. Carrie McMasters, daughter of Capt. J. M. Simpson the Commandant of the Alabama Soldiers Home at Mountain Creek, will, with the assistance of school children and others, strew flowers on the graves of the dead Confederates now sleeping in the Home cemetery. The cemetery has been placed in first class condition; new and elegant white marble headstones having been placed over each grave by the Daughters of the Confederacy recently.

The Hon. T. Sidney Frazier, of Union Springs, Ala., will deliver an address. Suitable music will be furnished, and, in fact, all that can be done to make visitors pleased has been arranged.

The people of Clanton, Marbury, Verbena. Cooper, Deatsville and all the surrounding country are invited by the Marbury Chapter and the Commandant of the Home, Captain J. M. Simpson, to come and help strew flowers over the graves of the dead.

Capt. W. J. Bethune intends to have all the men at the Home, who are able, help the ladies and children in honoroing the memory of our departed dead.

Men who wore the blue and their families are especially invited to be present. "The war is over," so far as we old men who fought each other during the dark days of 1861-5 are concerned.

So come and let us, now, as old age is slowly thinning our ranks, meet each other in a friendly manner.

Come, bring your wives and children and visit the handful of old and honored men who wish to pay the respect due to the dead who fought the battles of 1861-5.

Yes, come everybody in whose heart sectionalism finds no lodgment, and let us mingle together on terms equal.

Refreshments will be sold on the grounds at reasonable prices.

NOTICE.

The Chilton County Singing Convention will meet in a special called session with the Collins Chapel Church, two miles east of Thorsby, on the first Sunday in May, the 4th, beginning at 9:30 a.m. All singers and others interested in better music are urged to attend this meeting. Help to keep the county in the line of progress along all lines.

Attorney J. O. Middleton testifies For Dr. J. V. Higgins.

When last Friday at 11:20 a. m. Mr. Middleton called in Dr. Higgins' office and stated as follows:

"Well, I believe in giving the devil his dues. These glasses you fitted for me fit me better than any I ever had, and I have been wearing glasses for the last fifteen years. They feel better to my eye every day I wear them."

I only asked Mr. Middleton to please accept my sincere thanks for having had respectable manhood enough to step to the front and speak for my work before the good citizens of Clanton and Chilton county. "There's a reason" Why? Because Dr. Higgins has made a special study of the human eye.

CLANTON MATTERS

LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

THE RECEPTION OF THE MONTGOMERIANS.

The Montgomery Boosters came in on time in their special car Thursday at five o'clock and found Clanton theirs. Stretched across the street was a banner inscribed "Welcome Montgomery," and in every store window and every residence was a poster bidding all to come out and welcome the visitors at the courthouse at 8 o'clock. As the alert business men of the capital city swarmed out of the car they were met by the reception committee who led them up the business street where they were busy for a time greeting old acquaintances and making new. A number of the school girls pinned a carnation on the coat of each. Then they were led over to the Palmer House for a nice little supper, after which they proceeded to the courthouse where about all of Clanton was on hand to greet them and hear what they had to say.

At this meeting Judge L. H. Reynolds was in the chair and made bright remarks in his introductions. The speeches of welcome were made by J. O. Middleton and Thos. A. Curry, responses by F. G. Salter, President of the Business Mens League and S. J. Winter, of the Credit Mens Association. Talks were made by Mayor Matthews, W. I. Mullins, of Clanton, and Alex Rice, Bernard Frank, T. L. Hackett, A. H. Rawlins, C. D. Tallman, Louis Steiner, T. T. Greil, J. M. Kennedy and Bruce Kennedy of the Boosters.

The business speech of the evening was made by Bernard Frank, who explained the object of the visit: to impress upon the towns in Alabama the advantage and importance of buying from the wholesale houses in their own state. He brought out some good points and made a good showing for Montgomery.

To make the meeting more interesting and keep the talk from being tedious, the musical talent of Clanton interspersed musical numbers, and gave a remarkably creditable concert. In fact, it was very fine music. Those taking part were Misses Marguerite Chappelle, Elna Sartor, Beverly Hester, Glennie Evans, Mamie Foshee, Willie Reynolds, Alice Stanfield, Mrs. J. H. Middleton and Mr. Newton Aldridge. Clanton had every reason to be proud of her "talent" and the visitors were loud in their praises.

The management of the reception was carried out in a well conceived and harmonious manner, that is indicative of an awakening to life in the town.

The success of the two matters taken in hand last week by the citizens shows the value and power of harmony and co-operation. There was little trouble in bringing about the desired results and it leads to the hope that more important matters will be taken in hand in the same spirit.

WHOLESALE TRADE

Hon. L. H. Reynolds,
Clanton, Ala.

Dear Judge Reynolds:—At a meeting of the merchants and manufacturers who visited Clanton last Thursday, resolutions were passed directing me to express through you to the people of Clanton the deep appreciation of this party for the many courtesies shown us. We were especially grateful for the kind treatment shown the party by the gracious women of Clanton, and I trust you will express this appreciation to them.

In my humble judgment a great deal of good was accomplished by the fraternal feeling brought out at the meeting and I am sure that both communities will profit.

With all good wishes, and again assuring you of my personal appreciation of the many kindnesses shown us, I am,

Cordially yours,
Bruce Kennedy,
Gen'l Secretary.

Heed the Cough That Hangs On.

The seeds of consumption may be the cause, and a cough that hangs on weakens the system. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound checks the cough, heals the inflamed membranes and strengthens the lungs. E. D Rountree, Stillmore, Ga., says: "Lagrippe left me a deep seated, hacking, painful cough which Foley's Honey and Tar completely cured." Upchurch Drug Co.

Misses Lillie and Della Hayes and Joeanna Dunovan, of Maplesville, were visitors here last week.

Misses Effie Cox of Billingsley, Edna Smith of Rt. 5, Alice Bean of Thorsby, Jewel Bratton of Jemison, and Mr. Reuben Smith of Birmingham, were in town Saturday.

Mrs. C. O. Keen of Maplesville and Mrs. J. H. Owens of Rt. 3 were visitors here Monday.

Mrs. W. J. Williams and Misses Essie Burmister, Evie Williams, and Mrs. John Burmister, of Rt. 3, were in town last week.

Messrs. Samuel Kanjutzky and Clifford Giles spent Sunday last in Montgomery taking in the ball game.

Rheumatism as a result of kidney trouble, stiff and aching joints, backache and sore kidneys will all yield to the use of Foley Kidney Pills. They are tonic in action, quick in results, curative always. W. S. Miss Minnie Muse has reduced the prices on all her spring millinery, call and see her. Also has a line of new American Beauty and Madame Grace Corsets; don't fail to see them before purchasing.

Mr. M. C. Williams of Billingsley Rt. 1, was in to see us Wednesday.

No matter how long you suffered, or what other remedies have failed to cure, Foley Kidney Pills will surely help you. They are genuinely tonic, strengthening and curative, build up the kidneys and restore their regular action. John Velbert, Foster, Calif., says: "I suffered many years with kidney trouble and could never get relief until I tried Foley Kidney Pills which effected a complete cure." Upchurch Drug Co.

Mr. G. W. Thomas of Cooper, was here on business Monday.

The corps of teachers of the District School of Wetumpka, honored our little city with a short visit between trains Thursday afternoon.

Miss Pearl Cooke of Mississippi, is the guest of the families of Mr. W. I. and J. T. Mullins. She will remain some time.

Mrs. John Cooper, of Jemison, was a visitor to Clanton Friday.

Miss Annie Reynolds, of Jemison, came down to see Lena Rivers played Wednesday night.

Miss Corinne Polk, of Sylacauga, has been the guest of her brother, Mr. George Polk. She returned home Tuesday morning, taking with her the infant of Mrs. Polk, who is in quite feeble health.

A CARD

This is to certify that all druggists are authorized to refund your money if Foley's Honey and Tar Compound fails to cure your cough or cold. Commissioners Court was in session Monday, Messrs. Shaw, Herrod and Robinson being present. Nothing but general routine business was attended to.

Judge Deason, Commissioners Robinson and Herrod went over to Maplesville Tuesday to look after the two large bridges which the county has had constructed on the state aid road.

Work on the new vault at the Courthouse was commenced on Monday. The old room adjoining the Probate Judge's office is being torn away and a vault will be built on modern plans. This additional vault is necessitated by the rapidly increasing record work in the Probate office.

Mr. Fate Deason, brother of Judge E. B. Deason, is here on a visit. Mr. Deason left this country about 17 years ago and his relatives rarely ever heard from him. He resides now in Oklahoma where he has acquired considerable interest.

Recommended For a Good Reason

C. H. Grant, 230 Waverly St., Peoria, Ills., says: "Backache and congested kidneys made me suffer intense pains. Was always tired and floating specks bothered me. Took Foley Kidney Pills and saw big improvement after third day. I kept on until entirely freed of all trouble and suffering. That's why I recommend Foley Kidney Pills. They cured me." SPRING TERM OF CIRCUIT COURT

Court will begin on Monday, May 12, Judge W. W. Pearson, presiding. The civil docket is the largest ever known and the criminal docket is heavy. There will be three murder cases.

SAW MILL BURNED

The saw mill of the Pine Tree Lumber Co., about eight miles east of Clanton, burned Sunday morning about three o'clock. Parties living near discovered the fire in time to save much of the lumber. The machinery and tools was ruined except that the boiler and engine may be repaired. The loss was about $2,500.

New machinery has been purchased and the mill will be in operation again in about a week.

COUNTY WATER WORKS.

The new well, tower and tank which is to supply the courthouse and jail with water, have been completed by Mr. Ed Driver, who had the contract. It is a good job and will no doubt give an abundant supply of water.

HORSE THIEF CAUGHT.

Sunday morning a white man, giving his name as Williams, but having letters in his pocket addressed "Walter Jones," was arrested here by Chief of Police Mr. Hayes on a telephone request from Montgomery, charged with stealing a horse, buggy and harness on Friday. He had traded the horse off to Lonie Dawson, below Verbena, and the buggy to a negro. He was carried back to Montgomery Sunday evening.

ANOTHER NEGRO KILLED AT THE DAM

Saturday a lot of negroes at the dam got possession of some whiskey and started a regular "rough house." In a quarrel over a bottle of booze one shot another dead. The shooter was then set on by the crowd and so maltreated that he will probably die. He and three of the negroes who beat him up were arrested and brought here to jail by Deputy Sheriff Smitherman. Mr. Smitherman says that it was a hard proposition to make the arrests with the mob of drunken savages howling around, but he brought them in.

THE ROAD TO THE DAM

Tuesday evening, pursuant to a call through the papers, a goodly number of the business men of Clanton assembled at the Courthouse to consider the building of the road to the dam at Lock 12.

W. W. Fox was elected Chairman; B. M. Roberts, Secretary and W. H. Sartor, Treasurer.

Committee on Survey: Charlie Cox, Earl Gowan, V. J. Gragg.

Committee on Finance: W. W. Fox, W. H. Sartor, Charlie Cox.

The speeches made indicated that the road would be put through at once.

It was informally reported that the right of way has been practically all secured; that the finance committee are meeting with liberal response; that McQueen Smith, of Autauga, had been secured as surveyor, and that the survey would begin Monday and be completed before the next meeting of the Commissioners Court.

STATE TEACHERS EXAMINATION.

There were fifty-four applicants present at the Courthouse Monday morning to stand the State Teachers Examination in Chilton county; the largest number that has applied in many years. Thirty-eight of them applied for 3rd grade; Fifteen for 2nd, and One for 1st.

This is a day of specializing in practically every line of human endeavor. With aggressive competition on all sides there is little chance for the Jack-of-all-trades. The wise man decides on his life work and shapes his training and education to develop the highest efficiency of which he is capable.

This is a principle recognized in nature. The great cotton belt of the fertile South permits of maximum yield of the fleecy staple at minimum cost of production. Millions of dollars may be spent on soil unsuited to the cultivation of cotton, and the yield would be insignificant.

Coal and iron deposits are found in soil little adapted to agricultural production. Fish abound in the waters, while fowls of the air have wings with which to fly.

You go to a railroad for transportation, just as you go to a doctor when you are ill or to a lawyer when you are in a legal tangle. The L. & N. has made a specialty of operating a railroad and is capable of supplying THE BEST in its specialized line.

We try to understand the needs of the traveler and shipper. We endeavor at all times to supply the best possible service to meet those needs. We purchase the best equipment and develop our organization to its highest efficiency. While the L. & N. benefits in the same proportion that our efforts are successful, the public also gets the benefit of a highly specialized, efficient service, unexcelled by any railroad system on earth.

A Distinction With a Difference

YOU may not always get what you pay for. It takes a good judge of values to do that, but if there is one sure rule in business it is—you pay for all you get. You may not be able to see the difference between engines of similar appearance at different prices, but if you buy from a reputable firm you may be sure the difference in quality is there.

I H C Oil and Gasoline Engines

cost more than some others because they are more carefully made, and more thoroughly tested. Skillful designing, better material, better workmanship, more careful assembling, and more thorough testing, tell in the long run. Given equal care an I H C engine costs less per year of service than any other engine you can buy. If an I H C engine is given all the work it will do, pumping, sawing wood, running the grindstone, feed grinder, hay press, silage cutter, repair shop machines, cream separator, churn, washing machine, etc., etc., it will pay for itself in a very short time in money and labor saved.

I H C engines are made in every style—horizontal, vertical, air and water-cooled, stationary, portable and mounted on skids, to operate on gas, gasoline, kerosene, naphtha, distillate or alcohol, in sizes from 1 to 50 H. P. Kerosene-gasoline tractors, 12, 15, 20, 25 and 45-H P.

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Keziah Coffin, supposed widow, is arranging to move from Trumet to Boston, following the death of her brother, for whom she had kept house. Kyan Pepper, widower, offers marriage, and is indignantly refused. Capt. Elkanah Daniels, leader of the Regular church, offers Keziah a place as housekeeper for the new minister, and she decides to remain in Trumet. Keziah takes charge of Rev. John Ellery, the new minister, and gives him advice as to his conduct toward members of the parish. Ellery causes a sensation by attending a "Come-outer" meeting. Ellery's presence is bitterly resented by Eben Hammond, leader of the meeting. Grace apologizes for her guardian and Ellery escorts her home in the rain. Capt. Nat Hammond, Eben's son, becomes a hero by bringing the packet into port safely through fog and storm. Ellery finds Keziah writing a letter to some one, inclosing money in response to a demand. She is curiously startled when informed of the arrival of Nat. Nat calls on Keziah, and it develops that they have been lovers since youth. Daniels remonstrates with Ellery for attending "Come-outer" meeting. Ellery is caught by the tide and is rescued by Nat. They become friends. Ellery meets Grace while walking in the fields, and learns that she walks there every Sunday. The clergyman takes dinner Sundays with the Daniels. Annabel, the captain's daughter, exerts herself to make an impression on him. She notices with vexation his desire to get away every Sunday at a certain time. She watches him through a spy glass. Nat again importunes Keziah to marry him. He says he has had a quarrel with his father, who wants him to marry Grace. Ellery asks Grace to marry him. She confesses that she loves him, but says she fears to displease her guardian. Elkanah Daniels tells Eben about the meetings between Ellery and Grace. Eben declares he will make Grace choose between him and the preacher. Grace finds him in a faint, following the excitement of Elkanah's visit. Just before he dies Eben exacts a promise from Nat and Grace that they will marry. Keziah breaks the news to Ellery and later he received a note from Grace saying she is to marry Nat, and asking him not to try to see her again. Keziah tells the story of her own marriage with a man who turned out to be a good-for-nothing, and who was reported to have been lost at sea, and of her love for Nat, whom she cannot marry because the husband is alive. Captain Nat sails for Manila to be gone two years. He says he and Grace have decided not to marry until he returns. Nat is overdue, and it is feared that he has been lost at sea. Keziah gets a letter from her husband saying he is coming back. Grace goes on a visit to relatives of the Hammonds. A vessel flying distress signals is discovered off the coast. Ellery goes with party to board the vessel. A man is found suffering from smallpox, the rest of the crew having deserted. He is taken to an abandoned shack on shore and Ellery helps nurse him. Before he dies it is discovered that he is Keziah's husband. Ellery, left alone in quarantine, is found wandering in a delirious condition by Grace. She takes him back to the shanty and sends for help. Keziah and Grace nurse Ellery, who is suffering from brain fever. The doctor and Keziah spread a report that Grace and Ellery are engaged. News comes that Nat has arrived safely in Boston. The story of the wreck of Nat's vessel comes out and a home-coming is arranged.

"Here she comes!" shouted Ezra Simmons, the postmaster. "Right on time, too."

Sure enough! A cloud of dust in the distance, rising on the spring wind, and the rattle of rapidly turning wheels. The reception committee prepared for action. Captain Elkanah descended from the cariage and moved in stately dignity to the front of the post office platform.

The stage, its four horses at a trot, swung up to the platform.

"Hurrah!" shouted the committee, its uninvited guests and the accompanying crowd of Bayport men and boys which had gathered to assist in the welcome. "Hurrah!"

A passenger or two peered from the coach window. The stage driver ironically touched his cap.

"Thank ye," he said. "Thank ye very much."

Captain Elkanah frowned his disapproval.

"We are cheering Cap'n Nathaniel Hammond of Trumet," he explained haughtily. "We are here to meet him and escort him home. Where is he? Where's Cap'n Hammond?"

"Well, now, I'll tell ye; I don't know where he is."

"You don't? Isn't he with you?"

"No, he ain't. And he didn't come on the train, nuther. He was on it The conductor told me he see him and set along with him between stations as fur as Cohasset Narrows. But after that he never see hide nor hair of him. Oh, that's so! Here's the mail bag, Ezry."

Captain Zeb stepped beside the stage and put one foot on the wheel.

"Say, That," he whispered, "is that all you know? Where did he go to?"

"Well," the driver's voice dropped lower. "Well," he whispered, "I did hear this much. A chap I know was on the train and he said he see Cap'n Nat get off the cars at the Cohasset Narrows depot and there was a woman with him."

"A woman? A woman? What woman?"

"Blessed if I knew! And he didn't nuther. So long! Git dap!"

The reception committee and its escort drove slowly back to Trumet. The Daniels following was disgusted and disappointed.

Trumet spent that evening wondering what had become of Nat Hammond. Captain Zeb Mayo wondered most of all. Yet his wonderment was accompanied by vague suspicions of the truth. And, at eleven o'clock, when the village was in bed, a horse and buggy moved down the Turn-off and stopped before the Hammond gate. A man alighted from the buggy and walked briskly up to the side door. There he knocked and then whistled shrilly.

A window overhead was opened.

"Who is it?" asked a feminine voice.

"Don't be frightened, Gracie," replied the man at the door. "It's me—Nat. I've come home again."

CHAPTER XIX.

In Which the Minister Receives a Letter.

John Ellery was uneasy. Physically he was very much better, so much better that he was permitted to sit up a while each day. But mentally he was disturbed and excited, exactly the condition which the doctor said he must not be in. Keziah and Grace had gone away and left him, and he could not understand why.

Mrs. Higgins, Ike's mother, was at the shanty and she did her best to soothe and quiet him. She was a kind soul and capable, in her way, but she could not answer his questions satisfactorily.

He rose from the chair and started toward the living room. He would not be put off again. He would be answered. His hand was on the latch of the door when that door was opened. Dr. Parker came in.

The doctor was smiling broadly. His ruddy face was actually beaming. He held out his hand, seized the minister's, and shook it.

"Good morning, Mr. Ellery," he said. "It's a glorious day. Yes, sir, a bully day. Hey? isn't it?"

Ellery's answer was a question.

"Doctor," he said, "why have Mrs. Coffin and—and Miss Van Horne gone? Has anything happened? I know something has, and you must tell me what. Don't try to put me off or give me evasive answers. I want to know why they have gone."

Parker looked at him keenly. "Humph!" he grunted. "I'll have to get into Mrs. Higgins's wig. You sit still. No, I'm not going to tell you anything. You sit where you are and maybe the news'll come to you. If you move it won't. Going to obey orders? Good! I'll see you by and by, Mr. Ellery."

He walked out of the room. It seemed to Ellery that he sat in that chair for ten thousand years before the door again opened. And then——

"Grace!" he cried. "O Grace! you—you've come back."

She was blushing red, her face was radiant with quiet happiness, but her eyes were moist. She crossed the room, bent over and kissed him on the forehead.

"Yes, John," she said; "I've come back. Yes, dear, I've come back to—to you."

Outside the shanty, on the side farthest from the light and its group of buildings, the doctor and Captain Nat Hammond were talking with Mrs. Higgins. The latter was wildly excited and bubbling with joy.

"It's splendid!" she exclaimed. "It's almost too fine to believe. Now we'll keep our minister, won't we?"

Mrs. Higgins turned to Captain Nat.

"It's kind of hard for you, Nat," she added. "But it's awful noble and self-sacrificin' and everybody'll say so. Of course there wouldn't be much satisfaction in havin' a wife you knew cared more for another man. But still it's awful noble of you to give her up."

The captain looked at the doctor and laughed quietly.

"Don't let my nobility weigh on your mind, Mrs. Higgins," he said. "I'd made up my mind to do this very thing afore ever I got back to Trumet. That is, if Gracie was willin'. And when I found she was not only willin' but joyful, I—well, I decided to offer up the sacrifice right off."

"You did? You did? Why, how you talk! I never heard of such a thing in my born days."

"Oh, well, I— What is it, Grace?"

She was standing in the doorway and beckoning to him. Her cheeks were crimson, the breeze was tossing her hair about her forehead, and she made a picture that even the practical, unromantic doctor appreciated.

The captain went to meet her.

"What is it?" he asked.

"Nat," she whispered, "will you come in? He wants to see you."

John Ellery was still seated in the chair by the window, but he no longer looked like an invalid. There was no worry or care in his countenance now, merely a wondrous joy and serene happiness.

He held out his hands and the captain shook them heartily.

"Mr. Ellery," he said, "as they used to say at the circus, 'Here we are again.' And you and I have been doing all kinds of circus acrobatics since we shook last, hey? I'm glad you're pretty nigh out of the sick bay—and the doctor says you are."

"Captain," began Ellery. Hammond interrupted him.

"Hold on!" he said. "Belay right there. If you and I are to cruise in the same family—and that's what I hear is likely to happen—I cal'late we'll heave overboard the cap'ns and Misters. My name's 'Nathan'el'—Nat' for short."

"All right. And mine is 'John.' Captain—Nat, I mean—how can I ever thank you?"

"Thank me? What do you want to thank me for? I only handed over somethin' that wasn't mine in the first place and belonged to you all along. I didn't know it, that was the only trouble."

"But your promise to your father. I feel——"

"You needn't. I'm doin' the right thing and I know it. And don't pity me, neither. I made up my mind not to marry Grace—unless, of course, she was set on it—months ago. I'm tickled to death to know she's goin' to have as good a man as you are. She'll tell you so. Grace! Hello! she's gone."

"Yes. I told her I wanted to talk with you alone, for a few minutes. Nat, Grace tells me that Aunt Keziah was the one who——"

"She was. She met me at the Cohasset Narrows depot. I was settin' in the car, lookin' out of the window at the sand and sniffin' the Cape air, somebody tapped me on the shoulder. I looked up and 'twas her. I was surprised enough to see her, I tell you. Way up there at the Narrows! I couldn't have said a word, anyway, and she never gave me a chance. 'Nat,' she says, 'don't talk now. Come with me, quick afore the train starts. I've come here on purpose to meet you. I must talk with you; it's important. You can go to Trumet on the next train, tonight. But now I must talk with you. I must. Won't you please come, Nat?'

"Well, I went. The engine bell was beginnin' to ring and we had to move lively, I tell you. I swung her off the step just as the car begun to move. So into the waitin' room we went and come to anchor on the settee. And then, John, we had our talk. Seems she left Trumet Wednesday afternoon. Got the livery stable man to drive her as fur as Bayport, hired another team there and come on to Sandwich. Stayed overnight there and took the mornin' train which got to Cohasset Narrows just ahead of the one I was comin' on. She'd been so fraid of be in' late, she said. She must see me afore I got to Trumet.

"Well, she saw me and told me the whole yarn about you and Grace. She tried to break it to me gently, so I wouldn't feel too bad. She knew it would be a shock to me, she said. It was a shock, in a way, but as for feelin' bad, I didn't. I think the world of Grace. I'd do anything she wanted me to do; but most the way down on the train—yes, and long afore that—I'd been dreadin' my comin' home on one account. I dreaded tellin' her that, unless she was real set on it, she'd better not marry me."

"Nat, I want to tell you something. Something that only one other person knows. Grace doesn't know it yet. Neither does Aunt Keziah—the whole of it. And if she knew I told you even a part I'm afraid she would, as she would say, 'skin me alive.' But I owe her—and you—more than I could repay if I lived a thousand years. So I'm going to tell and take the consequences.

"Nat, when—that morning after your father died and after you and Grace had agreed to—to——"

"To do somethin' neither of us wanted to do? Yes, I know. Go ahead."

"That morning Aunt Keziah came home to the parsonage and broke the news to me. She did it as only she could do such a thing, kindly and pityingly and I made a fool of myself, I expect; refused to believe her, behaved disgracefully, and at last, when I had to believe it, threatened to run away and leave my work and Trumet forever, like a coward. She made me stay."

"Did, hey?"

"Yes. She showed me it was my duty to face the music. When I whimpered about my troubles she told me her own story. Then I learned what trouble was and what pluck was, too. She told me about her marriage and—excuse me for speaking of what isn't my business; yet it is mine, in a way—she told me about you."

"Yes, John," She Said, "I've Come Back to You."

Captain Hammond did not answer. His good-natured face clouded and he shifted in his chair.

"She told me of you, Nat, all about you—and herself. And she told me something else, which explains why she felt she must send you away, why she thought your marriage to Grace would be a good thing."

"I know. She told you that that darn scamp Anse Coffin was alive."

The minister started violently. He gasped in surprise.

"You knew it? You knew it?" he stammered.

"I know it now. Have known it for over a year. My findin' it out was one of the special Providences that's been helpin' along this last voyage of mine. My second mate was a Hyannis man, name of Cahoon. One day, on that pesky island, when we was eatin' dinner together, he says to me, 'Cap'n,' he says, 'you're from Trumet, ain't you?' I owned up. 'Know anybody named Coffin there?' says he. I owned up to that, too. 'Well,' he says, 'I met her husband last trip I was in the Glory of the Wave.' I stared at him. 'Met his ghost, you mean,' I says. 'He's been dead for years, and a good thing, too. Fell overboard and, not bein' used to water, it killed him.'

"But he wouldn't have it so. 'I used to know Anse Coffin in New Bedford,' he says. 'Knew him well's I know you. And when we was in port at Havre I dropped in at a gin mill down by the water front and he come up and touched me on the arm. I thought same as you, that he was dead, but he wa'n't. He was three sheets in the wind and a reg'lar dock rat to look at, but' twas him sure enough. We had a long talk. He said he was comin' back to Trumet some day. Had a wife there, he said. I told him, sarcastic, that she'd be glad to see him. He laughed and said maybe not, but that she knew he was alive and sent him money when he was hard up. Wanted me to promise not to tell any Cape folks that I'd seen him, and I ain't till now.'

"Well, you can imagine how I felt when Cahoon spun me that yarn. First I wouldn't b'lieve it and then I did. It explained things, just as you say, John. I could see now why Keziah gave me my walkin' papers. I could see how she'd been sacrificin' her life for that scum."

"Did you tell her—Aunt Keziah—when you met her at the Narrows?"

"No. But I shall tell her when I see her again. She shan't spoil her life—a woman like that! by the Lord! what a woman!—for any such crazy notion. I swore it when I heard the story and I've sworn it every day since. That's what settled my mind about Grace. Keziah Coffin belongs to me. She always has belonged to me, even though my own pig-headedness lost her in the old days."

He was pacing the floor now, his face set like granite. Ellery rose, his own face beaming. Here was his chance. At last he could pay to this man and Keziah a part of the debt he owed.

Nat stopped in his stride. "Well!" he exclaimed. "I almost forgot, after all. Keziah sent a note to you. I've got it in my pocket. She gave it to me when she left me at Cohasset."

"Left you? Why! didn't she come back with you on the night train?"

"No. That's funny, too, and I don't understand it yet. We was together all the afternoon. I was feelin' so good at seein' her that I took her under my wing and we cruised all over that town together. Got dinner at the tavern and she went with me to buy myself a new hat, and all that. At first she didn't seem to want to, but then, after I'd coaxed a while, she did. She was lookin' pretty sad and worn out, when I first met her, I thought; but she seemed to get over it and we had a fine time. It reminded me of the days when I used to get home from a voyage and we were together. Then, when 'twas time for the night train we went down to the depot. She gave me this note and told me to hand it to you today.

"'Good-by, Nat,' she says. 'We've had a nice day, haven't we?'

"'We have, for a fact,' I says. 'But what are you sayin' good-by for?'

"'Because I'm not goin' to Trumet with you,' says she. 'I'm goin' to the city. I've got some business to see to there. Good-by.'

"I was set back, with all my canvas flappin'. I told her I'd go to Boston with her and we'd come home to Trumet together tomorrow, that's today. But she said no. I must come here and ease your mind and Grace's I must do it. So at last I agreed to, sayin' I'd see her in a little while. She went on the up train and I took the down one. Hired a team in Sandwich and another in Bayport and got to the tavern about eleven. That's the yarn. And here's your note. Maybe it tells where she's gone and why."

The minister took the note and tore open the envelope. Within was a single sheet of paper. He read a few lines, stopped, and uttered an exclamation.

"A Mighty Man Was He."

At a concert for charity in a country town Miss Carter obliged by reciting "The Village Blacksmith." At the conclusion of her recital the rural audience cheered. "Ancower!" they cried. "Ancower!" Miss Carter was about to grant the request when a burly fellow, very much out of breath, tapped her on the shoulder. "I've just come around from in front," whispered this man, excitedly. "I want yer to do me a favor." "Well, what is it?" queried Miss Carter. "It's this," whispered the intruder. "I happen ter be the fellow you've been talkin' about, and I want you to put in a verse this time saying how I let out bicycles."

Ox Made Investigation.

At a recent auction sale in Echt, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, a good deal of amusement was occasioned when a large ox, which the auctioneer was trying to dispose of, took into it head to walk into the auctioneer's box, and, after he had cleared the office of officials, made a minute inspection of the books, and retired from the rostrum evidently quite pleased with the way the sale was being conducted and also with the state of the books. It is needless to say that the officials were much more excited than the ox, and made a quick exit, while the ox walked with the utmost deliberation

NURSE HELPS YOUNG GIRLS

She Knew From Experience Just What Was Needed. Describes One Remarkable Case.

Watonga, Okla.—Mrs. Ida Bollinger of this town, makes the following interesting statements for publication:

"I suffered for 20 years, with womanly troubles, and in this time, tried several different treatments, but got no better.

I finally got hold of a Ladies' Birthday Almanac, and read about Cardui, the woman's tonic.

I had not taken very much of it, before I was entirely well.

I do some nursing, and have given Cardui, the woman's tonic, to lots of women, with good results.

I use this medicine a great deal in treating young girls. A young girl came to my house one day last summer. She had taken cold at the wrong time, and was in a terrible condition. I went to the druggist, bought her a bottle of Cardui, and the third dose she took did the work.

She is now entirely well.

You may use my name in any way you desire, as I am anxious to do anything I can to help suffering women."

For more than 50 years, Cardui has been in widely extended use, by women of all ages, and has given perfect satisfaction, as a remedy for helping rebuild womanly strength and health.

Try Cardui yourself. It will help you. Your druggist sells it.

"Papa, what is a conflagration?"

"It is a big fire, my son."

"And what do they call a little fire?"

"There is no special name for a little fire. Oh, they sometimes call it an incipient fire and—let's see—well, it is sometimes called an inconsiderable fire. Why?"

"Well, I see your coat-tail is on fire, and I was wondering whether it was a conflagration or an incipient fire."

In a few minutes the young man had reason to think it was a conflagration.

LEGISLATORS ON EXTRA SESSION

FORTY-ONE FAVOR EXTRA SESSION OF LEGISLATURE; NINETEEN OPPOSE IT

FOUR ARE NON-COMMITTAL

State Solons Give Their Views Why Legislature Should Convene.

Birmingham.—Of 64 members of the state legislature who have expressed themselves, 41 favor an extra session, 19 oppose an extra session, and four are noncommittal. Jefferson county representatives are not included in the calculation.

This information in Age-Herald is gathered from the files of John John W. Altman, chairman of the Birmingham citizens' committee appointed for the purpose of securing an extra session in that the new amendment eliminating the fee system in Jefferson county might be put into operation. The chairman, some time ago, mailed letters to all members of the legislature living out of the bounds of Jefferson, requesting them to aid this county in making a quick riddance of the fee system. He has so far received 64 replies.

The petition bearing the forty-odd signatures will be presented to the governor in the immediate future. It is the hope of the committee that he will issue a call for an extra session.

The four gentlemen who are noncommittal in reference to the extra session openly confess their antipathy to the fee system.

Senator Godbold writes that he would be in favor of an extra session but for fear lest other legislation would be attempted. This fear is shared by Mr. Rylance, of Tallapoosa.

Mr. Johnston, of Clarke, states that inasmuch as he has always been one of the minority in the present legislature, he does not feel disposed to ask the governor to call the extra session. Mr. Darden, Blount's representative, writes that he is heartily opposed to the fee system, but that he could not consistently urge the governor to call the lawmakers together.

The majority of those who favor an extra session simply authorized the committee to use their names. Some, however, explained themselves at more or less length. Those who oppose the extra session gave almost invariably reasons for their positions.

Senator Curry, of Chilton, prefers to leave the necessity of an extra session to the governor. Senator Crumpton, of Conecuh, declares that the anti-fee amendment is not of sufficient importance to warrant the governor in calling an extra session. Senator Merrill, of Cleburne, considers the plea for an extra session unwise. He takes occasion, however, to register himself in favor of taking the convicts out of the mines. Senator Justice of Elmore considers a demand for an extra session inexpedient. Senator Atkins of Dallas holds that the governor should be given time to clear up the embarrassing affairs of the state.

Senator Stevens of Mobile opposes the extra session because of his opinion that it would bring about a renewal of the fight in regard to local option. He declares the recent disclosures in the convict department to be a reason why there should not be an extra session, rather than a reason why one should be called. He concludes his letter: "I am so thoroughly convinced that an extra session would be hurtful that I think I would resign were one to be called."

The following are among other reasons advanced against the expediency of calling the legislature together:

Dr. Huddleston of Elmore relies on the intelligence and patriotism of the governor of Alabama; Dr. Quinn of DeKalb also relies on the judgment of the governor; Mr. Bell of Autauga thinks that the call should come directly and voluntarily from the governor; Mr. Twombly of Lowndes "because all they would do would be to create new offices and raise salaries;" Mr. Richeson of Franklin would favor an extra session if he had "assurances that he could get a few local bills through for his county," but he would not force the governor to issue a call; Mr. Whatley of Houston "because the session would be an incubator for state politics;" Mr. Hood of Etowah fears disturbances to business; Mr. Lavender of Bibb thinks the extra session is not needed and would not be desired; Mr. Stollenwerck of Montgomery is unable to see the advisability of the extra session; Mr. Waddell of Russell is very much opposed, and states that the governor knows his views in regard to the extra session; Mr. Jenkins of Bullock opposed because it would force the farmers to leave their fields at the time when their attention is most required.

Mr. Paige of Conecuh, in opposing the extra session, writes: "It is too late to lock the stable after the horse has gone."

That it is the imperative duty of Governor O'Neal, especially in the light of recent disclosures as an arm of the state government, to call an extra session of the legislature, is the opinion of Senator Sherrod of Lawrence, Mr. Bell of Pickens, Mr. Lawson of Talladega and Mr. Avery of Randolph. These gentlemen express themselves very candidly.

Senator Moody of Tuscaloosa and Mr. Mathews of Clarke trust that the extra session if called will be called for a time in which the farmers can leave their crops to the least disadvantage.

Other needs for an extra session are expressed as follows:

Mr. Helms of Crenshaw would put all county officials throughout the state on a salary basis; Mr. Johnston of Elmore would abolish the jail inspector, discharge unnecessary and high salaried clerks, and cut down the annual county high school appropriation from $3,000 to $2,000; Mr. Jones of Monroe would make the new amendment apply to every county of the state; Mr. Cranford would return to the custom of biennial sessions of the legislature.

WOULD INVESTIGATE THE STATE CONVICT DEPARTMENT

Mr. Fuquay of Tallapoosa favors giving the administration a chance to make a thorough investigation of the convict department, from which department he states, have emanated the "most foul odors to eevry honest citizen." He refers to the recent disclosures as proof of "wanton rascality," to which "the graft in the New York police force scarcely compares," etc.

Senator Plowman of Talladega is of the opinion that while the cost of an extra session would probably amount to $25,000, the state from an extra session would reap a benefit far more valuable than that sum of money.

Mr. Letson of Marion makes the only sensational statement. He expresses himself as favoring the extra session, but as having no hope that one will be called on account of "certain influences" which he declares to be opposed to the extra session.

REALLY A SOUND INVESTMENT

Sanatorium Where Tuberculosis May Be Cured Is Worth Much to Any State or City.

Dr. H. L. Barnes, superintendent of the Rhode Island State Sanatorium, has recently demonstrated by some interesting studies of patients discharged as "apparently cured" from that institution that a sanatorium is a sound investment for any state or city. The gross earnings of 170 ex-patients obtained in 1911 amounted to $102,752, and those of 211 cases in 1912 to $112,021. By applying the same average earning to all ex-patients of the sanatorium living in 1911 and 1912, Dr. Barnes concludes that their income in these two years was $551,000. This sum is more than three times the cost of maintenance of the sanatorium including interest at 4 per cent. on the original investment and depreciation charges. Dr. Barnes concludes, however: "While institutions for the cure of tuberculosis are good investments, there is good reason for thinking that institutions for the isolation of far advanced cases would be still better investments."

ITCHING, BURNING ECZEMA

317 S. Wolfe St., Baltimore, Md.—"My trouble was caused by a severe sprained ankle; the bruised blood not having been drawn off caused a skin affection which the doctors pronounced eczema. It first started with an itching and burning, with very dry skin. Constant scratching, especially during the night finally broke the skin, and during the day the watery fluid that came from it would dry and peel off like fish scales. My stocking would stick to my ankle as if it were glued. I also had it on my fingers.

"I was treated without getting any benefit. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment as directed and then applied the Cuticura Ointment and bound the ankle with a soft bandage, after bathing it with Cuticura Soap. They cured me in about two months." (Signed) T. W. Henderson, Dec. 2, '11.

Alarmed for His Mother.

Little Harry, hanging about the kitchen, saw a stuffed fowl sewed up before roasting. He was much impressed by the sight. A few nights later his mother, hastily dressing to go out, found that a new frock had been sent home without the proper allowance of hooks and eyes. Summoning aid, her sister basted the frock together up the back.

"Grandma," said Harry, seeking the source of perennial sympathy and comprehension, "come and see what auntie's doing to mamma. I think she's going to roast her, for she's sewing her all up."

Scissors for Memorial Wreaths.

The police of Berlin applied the censorship of the scissors to a recent demonstration at the cemetery where are buried the socialists and anarchists who fell in the revolution in Berlin March 18, 1848. Hundreds of visitors brought wreaths, the socialists red and the anarchists black, to lay on the graves. The police, with scissors, stood at the entrance to the cemetery. Every wreath was submitted to them, and the sentiments on the ribbons had to undergo the censorship of the scissors.

HAS A PETRIFIED WATERFALL

One of the Natural Wonders of the World That Is Located in Country of Algeria.

With all the beauty of a cataract of living water, there is in Algeria a remarkable petrified waterfall which recently has been engaging the attention of scientists. This is the Hammam-Meskhutin, which means "The bath of the damned," and is located 62 miles from Constantine. This solidified cascade is the production of calcareous deposits from sulphurous and ferruginous mineral springs, issuing from the depths of the earth at a temperature of 95 degrees centigrade.

"The bath of the damned," even from a near viewpoint, looks for all the world like a great wall of water dashing into a swirling pool at its foot, yet its glowing, graceful curves and the apparently swirling eddies at its base are as fixed and immovable as if carved from the face of a granite cliff.

Many centuries have, of course, gone to the making of the deposits, and the springs were well known to the ancient Romans. The name Hammam-Meskhutin was given to the stone cataract in an allusion to a legend that the waterfall was petrified by Allah, punishing the impiety of unbelievers by turning all the members of the tribe into stone. At night, so the story runs, its stone dwellers of the remote ages are freed from their strange fetters, come to life and resume their normal shapes.

Kaiser's Long Pedigree.

Among the curiosities of the New Palace, Potsdam, which has been the scene of a fire, is a genealogical tree showing the name of King David engrossed at the root of it, with that of the kaiser at the top, the descent being traced through his mother's family.

According to this genealogy the reigning house of Great Britain is descended from David through the eldest daughter of Zedekiah, who fled to Ireland in charge of the Prophet Jeremiah, and eventually married Heremon, king of Ulster. Apparently the kaiser is fond of gazing upon this proof of his ancient lineage, for it occupies a conspicuous position in his study.

How Long Will the Women Stand 'Em?

"I am a mean man," confessed the Erratic Thinker. "My father bore the same unenviable reputation, and I had an uncle who served a term in the penitentiary and was twice mentioned for the legislature. WHY SUPERIOR?

BOND'S LIVER PILLS are far superior to the ordinary purgative medicine on the market.
Because the dose is small. ONE SMALL PILL at bedtime.
Because they NEVER GRIPE or act violently in appropriate doses. You never feel them!
Because they act directly on the liver, stimulating it to perform its functions in a natural and GENTLE way.
Because they tone up the muscular coat of the bowels and induce the natural "peristaltic" motion without so much direct "purgative force."
Because they regulate the ENTIRE SYSTEM.
If your druggist cannot supply you send to us—Bond's Pharmacy Co., Little Rock, Ark. Adv.

Nothing to Fear.

"George, dear," said the girl, "did you ever drink anything?"

"Yes, occasionally," George reluctantly admitted.

"But, dear," she went on anxiously "what do you suppose papa would say if he should discover that the future husband of his only daughter drank?"

"He discovered it this morning."

"Oh, George, and what did he say?"

"He said: 'Well, George, my boy, I don't care if I do.'"

Women of Middle Age

From 40 to 50 Woman's Critical Period.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, severe headaches, melancholia, dread of impending evil, palpitation of the heart, irregularity, constipation and dizziness are promptly treated by intelligent women who are approaching the period of life.

This is the most critical period of woman's life and she who neglects the care of her health at this time invites incurable disease and pain. Why not be guided by the experience of others and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? It is an indisputable fact that this grand old remedy has helped thousands of women to pass through this trying period with comfort and safety. Thousands of genuine and honest testimonials support this fact.

From Mrs. HENRY HEAVILIN, Cadiz, Ohio.

Fort Worth, Texas.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and derived great benefit from its use. It carried me safely through the Change of Life when I was in bad health. I had that all gone feeling most of the time, and headache constantly, I was very nervous and the hot flashes were very bad. I had tried other remedies and doctors, but did not improve until I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has now been sometime since I took the Compound and I have had no return of my old complaints. I always praise your remedies to weak women."—Mrs. Henry Heavilin, R. F. D. No. 5, Cadiz, Ohio.

From Mrs. EDWARD B. HILBERT, Fleetwood, Pa.

Fleetwood, Pa.—"During the Change of Life I was hardly able to be around at all. I always had a headache and I was so dizzy and nervous that I had no rest at night. The flashes of heat were so bad sometimes that I did not know what to do.

"One day a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me a strong, well woman. I am very thankful that I followed my friend's advice, and I shall recommend it as long as I live. Before I took the Compound I was always sickly and now I have not had medicine from a doctor for years. You may publish my letter."—Mrs. Edward B. Hilbert, Fleetwood, Pa.

From Mrs. F. P. MULLENDORE, Munford, Ala.

Munford, Ala.—"I was so weak and nervous while passing through the Change of Life that I could hardly live. My husband had to nail rubber on all the gates for I could not stand to have a gate slam.

"I also had backache and a fullness in my stomach. I noticed that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was advertised for such cases and I sent and got a bottle. It did me so much good that I kept on taking it and found it to be all you claim. I recommend it to all women afflicted as I was."—Mrs. F. P. Mullendore, Munford, Ala.

BIG COTTON CONVENTION

DALLAS, APRIL 28-MAY 1

Every man, concerned in the best interests of the Southland, owes it to himself to attend the big Cotton Convention to be held in Dallas, April 28th to May 1st.

This will be a monster rally, attended by thousands of people in all walks of life, and from all parts of the South.

The Convention will doubtless place prominently before the world the wonderful work being accomplished by the Southern States Cotton Corporation, in establishing a stable price for cotton, and a dependable market system for the future.

The convention will be held at the Fair Park coliseum, and aside from the advantages of a trip to Dallas, the broadening benefits derived by contact with leading men of the South concerned in cotton, cannot be estimated. Reduced railroad rates.

ATTEND THE BIG COTTON CONVENTION AT DALLAS, APR. 28-MAY 1

A monster rally that will inaugurate in full effect the campaign for the coming season for a legitimate value for King Cotton.

Long held in subjugation by the arbitrary hand of "finance," it is proposed now to liberate the fleecy staple from the low price. The plan of the Southern States Cotton Corporation is no experiment, but is already in active operation in more than 250 cotton growing counties, and has afforded relief to thousands of farmers.

The convention will be held at the Fair Park coliseum, and thousands of people in all walks of life will be in attendance. Reduced rates on railroads.

FIFTEEN CENT COTTON AND FREEDOM!

This is the clarion cry of the Cotton Growers' convention to be held in Dallas, April 28 to May 1. Come and meet people from all parts of the South concerned in the best interests of cotton. Arrange today to make the trip. Reduced railroad rates.

An epoch-making convention, that is destined to establish a new standard in the cotton growing industry of the Southland, will be held in Dallas, April 28 to May 1. Low rates on all railroads.

DECIDE TO GO TO DALLAS APRIL 28-MAY 1

Dallas will do honor to the cotton growers of the entire South, April 28 to May 1. This is to be a record-breaking convention that will emphasize to the world the fact that the movement for 15c cotton is the development of an economic principle that must be reckoned with. Aside from contact with prominent people concerned in the cotton growing industry of the Southland, the trip will be worth the time and money of any man. Decide to see Dallas, the bustling, thriving city of the Southwest, with its mammoth commercial and manufacturing concerns, its million dollar hotels, magnificent "sky-scrapers," miles of macadamized streets, and more than a hundred thousand people waiting to give you a welcome, April 28 to May 1.

Fifteen-cent cotton and freedom! The world recognizes that this is a principle that must be reckoned with in the future. It realizes that the movement inaugurated by the Southern States Cotton Corporation having for its object a stable price for cotton, means a dependable market system for the future. The South will show her patriotism in a mammoth rally, Dallas, April 28 to May 1.

Ask your railroad agent today about the low rates to Dallas, account the big Cotton Growers' rally to be held April 28 to May 1.

The Cotton Convention, at Dallas, April 28 to May 1, will not only launch the campaign for 15 cent cotton with renewed vigor for the coming season, but will place before the world a plan worked out to maintain a dependable basis for our product that will largely relieve it of the element of guesswork in marketing. This convention will be held at Fair Park coliseum four days, commencing April 28, and promises to have a record-breaking attendance. Low rates on railroads.

All Texas will do honor to the Cotton Growers of the South at the Cotton Growers' rally, Dallas, April 28 to May 1. This convention will doubtless establish a new standard in the cotton growing industry, and should be attended by every man who is concerned in the best interests of the South.

A world-demanded utility is entitled to a stable valuation. Fifteen cents for your cotton. Attend the Cotton Growers' convention, Dallas, April 28 to May 1, and help make it a reality.

Buller Won the V .C.

There is not in the whole history of British battles any more glorious or thrilling page than that which records the deeds for which Buller won the Victoria Cross. It was won at the Inhlobauc mountains in North Zululand, during the Zulu war of 1879. Buller was the first to ascend these mountains in the gray dawn of the morning, and when he and his forces had to retreat before a body of 28,000 Zulus, and down mountains that would test the skill of a monkey or a goat, he was the last to descend. Again and again he remained behind everybody else, covering the retreat of those he had sent down, and when with seven men trying to keep at bay a whole army of triumphant foes, and in that retreat he saved the lives of no fewer than four men, thus practically earning the V. C. four times.

Meerschaum.

Meerschaum is a German word designating a soft white mineral found floating on the surface of the Black sea. In appearance it is rather suggestive of seafoam, whence arose the French name for the same substance ecume de mer, and the popular supposition that it is sea foam. Most meerschaum is obtained from Asia Minor, chiefly from the plains of Eski-Shakr where it occurs in irregular nodular masses in alluvial deposits. It occurs also less plentifully in Greece, Euboea and Samoa, and also exists in chemical combination as serpentine in Utah, South Carolina, Pennsylvania in the United States. The principal use to which it is applied is the manufacture of a rare kind of pipe.

Artist In Haste.

M. Helleu, the French portrait painter, who is in New York, delights to tell of an incident that occurred a few years ago in Paris. "A certain artist," M. Helleu says, "advertised he would draw a perfect likeness of any one in 15 minutes. I went to see him, and agreed to have my picture drawn. He did not know me. He set to work and after ten minutes showed me the completed work. "It was not bad, but in fun I said, 'Huh, I think I can do that just as well, and in less time.' The man becoming angry, challenged me. We exchanged places, and in about five minutes the sketch was finished. The man looked at it, looked at me and exclaimed, 'You must be either the devil or Helleu!'"

Ingenious Opium Smugglers.

The ingenuity of the Chinese opium smuggler is astonishing and as is well-known this ingenuity manages to baffle the scent of even the most sleuth-like detectives and searchers, as it is common knowledge that opium is exported from Hong Kong in fairly large quantities despite all the precautions to prevent it. An example of the cleverness exercised in defeating the detectives is furnished by a revenue officer's recent discovery on the steamer Persia. He found that a steel mast of the ship had had a piece cut out, a cavity made, and the cover screwed on. In the cavity were found 542 tins of prepared opium.

Poisoning by Wholesale.

Microbe poisoning has always been a fascinating pursuit in the east, and its introduction to America illustrates the old saying "Ex Oriente Lux." But they do it on a large scale in these older and greater civilizations. You take a cholera or plague victim and just throw him into the village well. If he is not already dead he soon will be. So will every one who drinks the water. We may eventually reach the larger vision here, but in the meantime it is almost as hard to get a complete cholera or plague patient as it is to get a cobra.

Buried Village Uncovered.

In the year 1605 the sea rolled up to the village of Eccles, on the Norfolk coast of England, engulfed it and drowned every inhabitant, covering the whole with tons and tons of sand. Only a tower of the parish church remained above to mark the place where a whole community had lived for centuries. In 1893 the tower collapsed. Recently, after a terrific gale, the covering sand was found to have been swept right away from the Eccles beach, leaving the church and village exposed.

Could Not Tell Speed of Car.

Several motorists were lined up on an unfrequented road in England the other day and required to estimate the speed of a car driven at a predetermined rate with the aid of a speedometer. Out of four trial runs at various speeds only two speeds were guessed by one person correctly. The test emphasized that it is practically impossible, without extensive practice, to judge of the speed of a car by merely watching it pass.

Advance In Photography.

There is soon to be placed on exhibition in the Smithsonian institution an interesting and valuable array of 5,000 photographs demonstrating the progress and history of photography from the time of the earliest discoveries of Niepce in 1824. This collection has been made by Thomas W. Smillie, who is the official photographer of the Smithsonian, and who has been at work many years in getting the data together.

Wills Her Ashes to Flower Bed.

That her body be cremated and her ashes scattered into the central flower bed in front of the crematory at Fresh Pond, Queens, N. Y., was the wish expressed in the will of Mrs. Margaret Carmichael Webster, who was burned to death in her home in Washington street, Flushing.

THORSBY ITEMS.

Last Saturday night the Ladies Guild held an old fashion spelling match. The Orchestra furnished splendid music. Ice cream was served during the evening. Miss McIntyre took the prize in the first match, and E. W. Butler took the prize in the second. The evening was very much enjoyed by all present.

Grover A. Bice left Thorsby last week to accept a position in Birmingham. Grover's young friends are not the only ones who will miss him, his older friends are also sorry to have him leave our town. We all wish him success.

Rev. E. W. Butler filled the pulpit at the Congregational church last Sunday morning. In the evening after the Christian Endeavor meeting a short service was held by the older folks, and a very interesting report was given by the various delegates who attended the State Sunday School Convention at Huntsville last week.

Mayor Bice attended the Sunday school at Lomax last Sunday. Mr. Bice organized there a few weeks ago. He reports fine progress in the school and much interest shown.

The young people of Thorsby took a hay ride last Tuesday night and a jolly good time.

Salves Can't Cure Eczema

In regard to skin diseases, medical authorities are now agreed on this:

Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all eczematous diseases can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid.

WASH THE GERMS OUT.

A simple wash: A compound of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, and other ingredients as combined in the D.D.D. Prescription. This penetrates to the disease germs and destroys them, then soothes and heals the skin as nothing else has ever done.

A 50 cent bottle will start the cure and give you instant relief.

We have made fast friends of more than one family by recommendating this D.D.D. Prescription to a skin sufferer here and there, and we want you to try it now on our positive pay guarantee. D.D.D. Soap keeps the pores clean; ask us.

County meeting at Collins Chapel, June 19-20, 1913.

THE CO-OPERATIVE SPIRIT.

Editor Union-Banner:—There is great power in co-operation. Last week we saw eighteen plows at work in the field of County Doorkeeper F. C. Collins who is just recovering from an attack of measles, and one mule left at the barn, as it appeared, for the lack of a place to work.

While watching those teams at work in a small field, my mind was led to think along the line of co-operation.

Co-operation starts in the home and is carried to the building of great railroads and large cities. When a community gets the co-operative spirit that community will get out of the old way of everyone for himself. A stranger passing through can discover the difference. He finds the roads in good shape, a nice dwelling and good barn, fine cows and hogs, a large poultry plant and a well kept flower yard. And the whole family busy, either with hand or brain. He is certain that family has the co-operative spirit.

He passes on and finds the whole community to be in fine shape and there is always something done when anyone needs assistance. He finds the farmers have purchased some farm machinery on the co-operative plan and the local union has been the means of getting better livestock in the community.

Some brother has suggested that we get permanent pastures to head off the boll weevil; another rises and says bermuda grass and bur clover is best for permanent pasture, which will be good ten months in the year, for he has tried it.

The subject for the next meeting is the value of legume crops.

Boys, get the co-operative spirit, and don't forget to help your neighbor over a rough place. Co-operator.

The great calamity in Omaha was quickly over shadowed by the terribly disastrous floods in Ohio. Great suffering and sickness from colds and exposure resulted. L. Poole, 2217 California St., Omaha, writes: "My daughter had a very severe cough and cold but Foley's Honey and Tar Compound knocked it out in no time." Refuse substitutes. Upchurch Drug Co.

THE HOOK WORM CAMPAIGN.

Dr. Grote, having made a preliminary survey of the county reports that he finds much interest aroused among the people, and among those examined has found a large number of cases.

He reports the number as follows:

	Examined	Infected
Thorsby	30	10
Cooper	42	21
Clanton	32	20
Maplesville	23	15
Mountain Creek	33	18
Verbena	46	24

The dispensary for the examination and free treatment of the disease will be opened at the following places and dates and continued four weeks:

Maplesville, May 6, 13, 20.
Jemison, May 1, 8, 15, 22.
Verbena, May 2, 9, 16, 23.
Clanton, May 3, 10, 17, 24.

Barbed wire cuts, ragged wounds, colar and harness galls heal up quickly when BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT is applied. It is both healing and anteseptic. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

A WARNING.

GET READY FOR BOLL WEEVIL

United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Plant Industry, Farmers' Co-operative Demonstration Work,
Washington, April 8, 1913.

To Agents and Demonstrators in the boll weevil territory.

The comparitively mild winter has been favorable to the overwintering of the boll weevil, so it behooves all farmers to take every precaution to be prepared to offset the ravages of this pest. The necessary steps for making a successful crop under weevil conditions are:

1. Clear up and burn all rubbish on ditch banks, hedgerows and other places about the fields,
2. The ground selected for cultivation should be well drained.
3. Prepare a good seed bed before planting.
4. Secure seed of an early maturing variety and of high vitality.
5. Delay planting until all danger of frost is past and the soil is warm enough to produce rapid germination and growth. Extra early or extra late planting is not recommended,
6. On most soils the judicious use of commercial fertilizers will be found profitable and will hasten the maturity of the crop.
7. The use of the section harrow before planting and after planting, and again as soon as the plants are up to a stand, is advised.
8. Practice intensive and shallow cultivation of the crop. It is better to continue cultivation until the cotton begins to open.
9. When the boll weevil first appears on the buds of the young cotton plants, carefully hand pick and destroy them until the cotton plant begins to set squares,
10. When the cotton plant begins to put on squares and the weevil punctures them, go over the fields carefully once each week, ahead of the cultivator, and pick all of the punctured and fallen squares and burn them. Continue to pick up and burn the squares until the 10th of August.

On damp, alluvial lands, and on all lands during the wet spells, this picking up of squares must be prosecuted with extra vigilance as it is the only sure method of holding the weevil in check. In semi-arid sections and on sandy uplands, during periods of drouth and great heat, it may not be necessary to pick up the squares. Picking the weevil and squares, coupled with intensive and thorough cultivation, will go far toward insuring a profitable cotton crop. The neglect of these essentials will be sure to result in failure.

Do not be afraid of the expense of this extra work. You will find that fields can be inspected once each week for weevils and squares until the 10th of August for a total cost of not more than $2.00 or $3.00 per acre.

We have records of hundreds of farmers who have succeeded in growing profitable crops of cotton each year, with the weevil, for the past five years by following these instructions, and we know that any farmer can succeed who will follow instructions closely.

May we not count on your co-operation in making a thorough, effective fight against the boll weevil?

Very truly yours,
H. E. SAVELY,
Agriculturist and Field Agent.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS
AND LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

ABOUT THE ROADS.

Rt. 3, Jemison, April 28, 1913.

Editor Union - Banner: — Well, it seems as though the people can't get settled on the road subject. Mr. H. Honeycutt wrote a good piece in the paper a week or two ago; ceme again Mr. Honeycutt, we like your pieces.

I guess if they get the bond issue they can build a road from Clanton to the river dam that will be a credit to Chilton county. I think if the people in Clanton and at the dam want such a road as they say they do, the way for lhem to get it is to do like we do—build their own road. We would like to have a fine macadamized road from here to Jemison. I believe there is about as much travleling done on this road as any road in the county, but if we have such a road we will have to build it or isue bonds, and then—well, that would not build a road, it would still take work to make a road.

Some will say we can hire it done. What a foolish idea. Borrow money to hire men to work the road when you can get them without hiring them. You have the men, what they need is tools to work with. Give us tools and we will show yon what we can do. Listen; the bond issue money would be like the road tax money, swallowed up at one mouthful, and then they would say there was not quite enough, give us another little bite. Don't you see the point? Watch out for the bond issue, and if it comes to a vote don't have any more mercy on it than you would on a snake, kill it. Debt is what has ruined the South, and it will ruin Chilton county. If you should find a well 100 or 150 feet deep would you jump in there unless you wanted to kill yourself? Well you had just as well to jump in there as to issue $100,000 or $150,000 in bonds, financially speaking. You will then and there kill your freedom and rights.

Some may say such and such counties issued bonds. Well, what is the use to find a hole some other fellow has jumped in and can't get out and you jump in there too, just because the other fellow did!

The road tax money should be divided up like the school money: each beat receive its own part. And if that will put up some fine roads in some of the beats, why, let them have fine roads. But do not take money from any one beat to build fine roads in some other beat away off from there. Why, we people up here don't need a fine road from Clanton to the river dam. Then, under the circumstances, why take Beat 2's money to build it with?

I will say in conclusion that I do not think we need any bond issue. What we need is tools to work the roads with. Give us tools and try us.

Yours for good roads,
JACK SCOTT.

LOMAX.

The health of this community is fine.

Farmers are busy planting cotton, while some are through planting.

Sundayschool at Jackson Chapel is fine, good attendance, all seem to take an interest in the work. We are proud that Mr. Bice, of Thorsby, came down and organized it for us. We are glad that Mr. Bice still visits the school, he is ever welcome.

There will be a box supper at Jackson Chapel on May 10th. We hope to see everybody there and bring their box, but after anyone buys it, please don't want it back.

Mr. Gant Riggins will preach at Jackson Chapel next Sunday at 11 o'clock. Come early and lets sing before preaching time.

Boys you need not come to the box supper at Jackson Chapel with your booze, for it will sure get you into trouble. A Reader.

NEW SALEM.

There will be Memorial Services held at this place on the first Sunday in May. Everybody is invited to come, especially those that have relatives and friends buried here. Bring flowers and a basketful of dinner.

A Member.

NOTICE—To all persons who are members of New Salem Church. Please meet on Friday, May 2nd, with tools sufficient to do the work. Hoes, shovels, pitchforks and wheelbarrows will be needed. G. W. Maddox, J. L. Vines, D. H. Gentry, Committee.

A man living at Auburn, New York, had a severe attack of kidney and bladder trouble. Being a working man, not wanting to lose time, he cured himself completely by using Foley Kidney Pills. A year later he says: "It is a pleasure to report that the cure was permanent." His name is J. A. Farmer. Upchurch Drug Co.

MORE POINTS ON ROAD WORKING.

Editor Union-Banner:—Please allow me a few words more on the road question for explanation of my views of two weeks ago.

In the first place, I am against a bond issue to saddle any debt on future generations, but not against taxation of real estate.

Secoud, I am against convicts working the roads, because it is an unnecessary expense, as there must be guards and movable vans to house the convicts.

Third, In regard to the road graders: I did not refer to any person, myself included, doing good or bad work. Where ground is reasonably level you can work teams and graders to the sides where you want it. But in hills, ditches and gullys no man can work a grader where it should be as you must get a footing for the grader, then the road will be from two to four feet narrower than before, then forming another ditch and still closer road bed for another year. For that reason I advocate a good ten-inch plow and three good slush scrapers to a gang of men.

Fourth, in regard to rocks and camp east of Collins Chapel, will say: I have not been towards Maplesville, or south of Clanton, so I do not know if there are any rocks or hills with coarse gravel.

I believe in a law to condemn any coarse gravel bed, hill or level land and all rock hills for public uses. Then, if there gets to be too great a surplus of rocks or gravel, one inch or less, sell it to the people for concrete work, thereby helping for the upkeep of convicts, also cheapening the cost of concrete work to the people.

Now I know that some money must be had to get tools, etc., and that could be easily raised, and the people would not notice it much, but the most essential thing is willingness to work the road. As I have seen it, if it was not for justices of the peace and fines there would be none to work the roads at all.

PROPOSITION.

Let us discuss through the Union the sentiment of the people to the following:

First, Wipe off the present laws except certain points in county and in state if needed; then as stated last time enact a law for poll tax of 4 days a year, between age of 20 to 45 years, that is manual labor. Every man able to work, at home or out, to work regardless of means and color, who has resided in the Beat 30 days.

Second, Preferably by vote of the citizens. Vote a tax of 10c on $100.00 on real estate property, to run for five years, then compel every farmer and saw mill man or others, not real estate owners, but doing heavy hauling on streets or roads, to haul one load for each 10 acres owned from the nearest rockpile or gravel hill each year, a drayman, a load for each $200.00 income (one without real estate) of course a resident of an incorporated town to work and haul for the town limits only.

Penalty —One day on rockpile or gravel pit for each load in default.

We will say: The overseer gives notice in July where rocks should go in; the property owners could haul their quota any time from August 1 to September 15 and place it on the side so as not to impede travel. Then the overseer gives notice two days in advance to work at such a place. The road bed to be wide enough for two hayloads to meet anywhere (except that on bridges and ten feet on each side could be narrow). All macadam to be laid a little over center and on one side.

Further. On April 1 to 15 each farmer get a load to fill in soft holes or washes, etc. Then willingness to set road in shape as fast as you can go. Then in five years time with the ten cents tax voted for tools, we could have roads we could haul a load over and roads second to few.

Class of Roads. Class One. Near cities, etc. Bed for four teams abreast and bridges two teams.

Class Two. Bed two teams, bridges one team.

Private Road. One rod wide, cut out, with county help for bridge stuff, and one slush scrape for every three miles of private road (and help to cut out as now.) Those using a private road to grade it and keep it passable without reduction of time on public roads.

All rural routes should be made first into second class roads; then the present shortest roads from one town to another. Then the others follow as soon as possible.

W. H. Wilson's points in issue of April 10 are good, though I differ a little. Every heavy one-horse wagon to have three inch wide tires and every two-horse wagon or truck five inch, or wider, tires, with felloes as high as possible to get the easier pulling.

W. C. Jones I differ with. Bear in mind we must have some money for tools. Taxation is the safest for all.

Then is there any justice in a young man not of age having to work the road for one who has 200, or 1000 acres, who shall do no nothing because over 45 years old? The poor devils, either black or white, who can scratch up enough at 75c a day barely to subsist, works ten days a year so that the burgoise can ride in a surrey at good speed. Never such justice.

Yours Respectfully,
J. A. LINDQUIST.

COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL CAMPAIGN.

FROM MAY 11 TO MAY 19.

To Be Held at Ten Places in the County.

The most thorough Sunday School campaign ever planned by the Alabama Sunday Association was arranged Wednesday, April 23rd, at a conference between General Secretary Palmer of the State Association and E. L. Thornton and Miss Mary Carr Gibson, President and Secretary respectively of the Chilton County Sunday School Association. The conference was held at Verbena and resulted in a plan providing for a nine days campaign with four workers (two from the State Association and two from the County Association) beginning at one corner of the couuty and sweeping around in a circle, with from two to six meetings in each of the six districts of the county.

In this way every section of the county will be touched, and it is hoped that as nearly as possible every one of the sixty-three Sunday schools of all denominations in the county will be reached and helped.

The campaign will begin on Sunday, May 11th; and close on Monday, May 19th. The widest publicity will be given to the meetings throughout the county, every Sunday school of every denomination invited to attend. The speakers will be Leon C. Palmer, General Secretary, and Miss Myra Batchelder, Field Secretary and Elementary Superintendent, of the Alabama Sunday School Association, of Montgomery, and E. L. Thornton, of Mountain Creek, and Miss Mary Carr Gibson, of Verbena, President and Secretary respectively of the Chilton County Sunday School Association. The meetings will be held as district Sunday school conventions and the topics discussed will be strictly of a practical nature, designed to help in the actual working of the Sunday school.

The Itinerary is as follows:

New Cedron, Sunday, May 11.
Stanton, Monday, 12th.
Mt. Nebo, Tuesday, 13th.
Mulberry Church, Wednesday, 14th.
Macedonia. Thursday, 15th.
Jemison, Friday, 16th.
Liberty Hill, Saturday, 17th.
Clanton, Sunday, 18th.
Salem, Monday, 19th, morning.
Cooper, Monday, 19th, night.

READING CIRCLE.

The Chilton County Reading Circle will meet at the Courthouse, Clanton, May 3, 1913. All teachers are requested to be present.

Cecil E. Harris, Sec.

MINERAL SPRINGS

There will be a box supper at the Blow graveyard near Mineral Springs, for the benefit of the Church, Saturday night, May 3rd. Everybody is invited to come and bring a box.

PROVIDENCE.

Editor Union-Banner:—We wish to say a few words in regard to our Ladies Aid Society. On April 14 we met and with the assistance of Miss Addie Horseley, Mrs. Mattie Show and Mrs. C. W. Reynolds, from Jemison, we organized with twelve members, with Mrs. W. A. Sims as president. On Monday, April 29th, we again met and welcomed to our society five new members and chose Miss Esther Shaw for Secretary and treasurer. We hope that by our next meeting others of our community will open up their hearts and join us in trying to do something for the uplift of our church and community. We feel that some good will be accomplished through our organization, having one of our best women for our leader. We are thankful to see so much interest shown as was at our last meeting. Each member seemed enthused and more than anxious to do their part.

Our society will give an ice-cream supper for the benefit of Providence church on Saturday night, May 3rd, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pitts. "Everybody" is invited to come who wishes to enjoy the good time with us.

Several of our good ladies have promised to furnish strawberries and cake to make the cream much better.

We assure you that every gentleman and lady present will receive a warm welcome. Besides the welcome of our society, Mr. and Mrs. Pitts as individuals will show you courtesy at their home and we feel sure that all will enjoy their supper.

Wishing for all who will be there a good time, we remain,

The Ladies Aid.

SAFER THAN CALOMEL

Dodson's Liver Tone at Night Will Straighten You Out By Morning. Calomel May Knock You Out of a Day's Work.

If you are a calomel user, next time you are tempted to buy it ask your druggist if he can absolutely guarantee the drug not to harm you. He won't do it because he CAN'T do it.

But here is a perfect substitute for calomel which the druggist does guarantee—the famous Dodson's Liver Tone. Alred Drug Co. will refund your money without question if you are not thoroughly satisfied.

Go to Alred Drug Co. whom you are acquainted with—and find out about the great number of people who are taking this remarkable remedy and feeling better, keener, healthier, and better able to enjoy life than they ever were when taking calomel.

Why? Because calomel is a poison—one that may stay in the system, and while seeming to benefit you temporarily, may do harm in the end. If you haven't felt these ill-effects so far, it is because you are fortunate enough to have a strong constitution.

Don't take the risk any longer. Get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone (50c.) and note how easily and naturally it corrects all bilious conditions, how it clears away that sick headache and coated tongue, how it sets you right without ache or gripe. The most wonderful thing in the world for constipation.

All this without the slightest interference with your regular habits. Alred Drug Co.

APPLICATION FOR PARDON.

Notice is hereby given that application will be made to the Governor of Alabama for the pardon or parole of John Ellison, convicted at the spring term of the Circuit Court of Chilton County of the offense of grand larceny.

A CONDENSED RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

SEVEN DAYS' NEWS AT A GLANCE

Important Happenings in All Parts of the World Summarized for the Busy Reader.

Southern.

The long-threatened break in the main line Mississippi river levees along the west bank in upper Louisiana came when the Lake St. John levee, 12 miles north of Ferriday, La., went out, turning the flood waters loose upon the fine farming lands and villages of lower Tensas and Concordia parishes. The flood waters from the break will cover the lower end of Tensas parish, practically all of Concordia and a part of Catahoula and Franklin parishes. The water will turn back to the Mississippi through the Black and Red rivers.

Freedom came to Mrs. Carrie Scott Appelbaum when the jury had been out but 36 minutes before clearing her of the crime of murdering Jerome A. Appelbaum, her husband. With the verdict of acquittal came a collapse that stopped her as she was shaking hands with the jurors and sent her to the Baptist Tabernacle infirmary for a complete rest from the terrific strain of two months in the Atlanta, Ga., jail and three days in the crowded courtroom.

"Night breaks to morning, when we have such men as have spoken tonight," said Mrs. Anna Russell Cole, founder of the Southern Sociological Congress, after the first meeting of that body in the Wesley Memorial church, Atlanta, Ga., surrounded by hundreds of members of the congress.

Convictions and sentences of twenty years each were secured by the state of Georgia against the four men whom it is alleged broke into the Lumpkin County Bank on February 14, and were frightened off just after they exploded the safe.

General

Mrs. Nellie Paugh, 36 years old, threw her two sons, Donald, 12, and Delbert, 6, from a bridge into Deer creek and jumped into the stream, at Logansport, Ind. The mother and the younger boy were drowned, but Donald swam ashore. Before throwing the boys off the bridge the mother told them she was doing so because no one loved them.

After being urged to eat a little meat and plenty of peas, beans and eggs, sixty meat-eating Pittsburg ministers took off their coats and tried to touch fingers to the floor without bending the knees. Few succeeded, but progress was noted by a lecturer who came here to teach Pittsburg preachers "how to get well and stay well." "The food for a laboring man must be different from the food of a professional man," it was stated. "Every minister ought to eat at least two apples a day and plenty of cabbage. You must eat onions, too."

Frank P. Cady, deputy game warden, and Joseph Mililgan, his assistant, were shot and severely wounded by Indians whom they had arrested at Tule lake, this county, for violations of the game laws of California. One Indian was killed in the fight. The officers had arrested eleven redskins, and were taking them to Madeline, when one of the prisoners struck Cady on the head, and snatching his rifle shot him through the body.

Robert G. Fowler, the American aviator, made a flight across the Isthmus in a hydro-aeroplane with a passenger. Fowler left Panama beach at 9:45 a. m. He circled over Panama City and the entrance to the canal for more than half an hour, ascending to a considerable altitude, and then turned in the direction of Colon. He met strong wind currents over Culebra, but in spite of this was able to carry out various evolutions. Low clouds occasionally hid the earth from view.

Conditions in the fortress of Scutari when Essaad Pasha, the Turkish commanders, surrendered to the Montenegrins, were appalling. The Turkish troops and the whole population were in a state of such extreme exhaustion from lack of food that Essaad Pasha had been threatened with death unless he agreed to capitulate.

Divergent views regarding the right of the United States to exempt its coastwise vessels from the payment of Panama canal tolls were expressed in papers read before the seventh annual meeting of the American Society of International Law at Washington, D. C.

At Jefferson City, Mo., the state supreme court issued an injunction restraining 182 fire insurance companies from terminating contracts now in force. The court did not restrain the companies from ceasing to write new business in the state.

Secretary Lane told Senator Kern that no man would be appointed commissioner of pensions who was not not a civil war veteran. This would eliminate many candidates from getting the appointment.

A continuous flight of over 1,000 miles by aeroplane was completed in Holland by a French aviator.

It was announced in New York City at the apartments of Dr. Fredrich F. Friedmann that he had signed a contract for the disposition of his tuberculosis vaccine by a company through institutes to be established in every state. The contract, it is said, provides for the free treatment of the poor in all localities. No details of the financial end of the contract were made public.

A day of conference between Secretary of State Bryan and Governor Johnson and members of the California legislature over proposed anti-alien land laws ended with the conference adjourned to await replies to messages that were sent to Washington by Mr. Bryan. The impression prevailed in Sacramento when the conference adjourned that the resolution of the majority leaders previously announced, to enact a bill specifically debarring "aliens ineligible to citizenship" from owning land in California remained unchanged. Mr. Bryan advised against such action.

Fragments of a bomb hurled by a native adherent of the pretender to the Annamite throne, burst among a large group of French officers, government offcials and foreign presidents seated on a cafe terrace, Hanoi, Indo-China, killing Captain Marie Jean Leon Mongrand of the Ninth Colonial infantry, and Captain Frederic Chapuis of the Annamite rifles. Eight persons were hurt. The police discovered a number of bombs, which it was believed the followers of the pretender, Prince Kwong-Te, intended to carry out a revolution plot.

Further evidence of the aggressiveness of the northern Mexican rebels was given when several hundred of them, well armed and mounted, captured the town of Venegas, on the National railway, in the state of San Luis Fotosi. They cut the railway to the north and they moved over to Matchuala, a minnig town and smelting center. The rebels continue to cover new territory and cripple transportation facilities. More than 2,500 miles of the National railway system are out of commission. To this is added a long stretch of the Southern Pacific south of Guaymas and other short independent lines.

The 95-year-old frigate Granite State, the largest wooden vessel ever built for the United States navy, which seemed doomed by fire which broke out on board her, was saved from destruction in New York City, but not before serious damage had been done throughout her forepart.

Eastern railroad firemen are granted an increase of pay estimated at from 10 to 12 per cent. by the award of the Erdman act arbitration board in their case. Other claims of the firemen are allowed, but the demand for two firemen on large locomotives is denied except in case of necessity. Another request for which the firemen fought, namely, the standardization of wages, based on the weight of locomotives on drivers, was granted.

Protection for the cotton trade of Lancashire, England, by fostering the supply of cotton independent of America, was the gist of Chancellor Lloyd-George's argumenlt on introducing in the house of commons a resolution permitting the British government to guarantee a Soudan loan of $15,000,000 for the development of cotton growing along the Nile.

Washington

President Wilson told callers he considered the controversy with Great Britain over the exemption of American coastwise shipping from payment of tolls through the Panama canal a very debatable one. The president gave no intimation as to what his previous view had been but Democratis senators who talked with him had the idea that he opposed the exemption and favored the Root amendment to repeal it. When Mr. Wilson discussed the question he said he felt he should keep his mind absolutely open until some action was necessary.

James Bryce, on the eve of his departure for home, after six years as ambassador to the United States from Great Britain, said his farewell to the American people in an address at Washington, D. C.

In a statement Secretary Garrison, pointing to the American army scattered in small units throughout the country, impossible to coalescence for practical instruction in the larger tactical measures of battle, urged the importance of assembling brigades and divisions periodically and temporarily in times of peace for war training, pending the adoption of a governmental policy for the adequate distribution of the army.

Secretary of State Bryan's preliminary outline of his proposed international agreement for peace which he laid before the senate foreign relations committee developed wide differences of opinion. Nevertheless, it was understood that with the endorsement of President Wilson, the secretary of state will soon undertake to open negotiations with leading powers, for such treaties as his proposal contemplates.

A "war speech" in support of the proposed California anti-alien law, was delivered in the house by Representative Sisson of Mississippi. "If we must have war or submit to this indignity, I am for war," cried Mr. Sisson. "I am with the people of California in their efforts to prevent these aliens from acquiring land. I believe," said Mr. Sisson, "that no non-resident aliens should be allowed to hold a single foot of land in the territory of the United States. What would Washington say in answer to the question, war or submission? What would Jackson say? What would Cleveland say?

REORGANIZING DOES NOT CANCEL DEBTS

SUPRREME COURT HALDS CREDITORS CAN COLLECT.

COURT STOOD FIVE TO FOUR

Court Holds That Transfer by Stockholders From Themselves to Themselves Cannot Defeat Claim of Non-Assessing Creditor.

Washington.—In a decision of momentous importance, especially as to railroads, the supreme court Monday laid down the general principle that a creditor of a corporation, not a party to its reorganization, may hold its successor for his debt.

In this specific case the court, five to four, in a decision which Justice Lurton, who dissented, declared was "alarming," held the Northern Pacific Railway Company responsible for a $125,000 judgment against the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, which it succeeded, despite the fact that the court expressly stated that no moral wrongdoing was to be found in the reorganization.

Corporation lawyers who heard the decision declared it was a direct blow at the practice of reorganizing corporations, to get rid of onerous contracts, or escape payment to unsecured creditors. Its effect, they said, would be far-reaching.

The principle as laid down by Justice Lamar was stated in this language:

"Corporations insolvent or financially embarrassed often find it necessary to scale their debts and readjust stock issues with an agreement to conduct the same business with the same property under a reorganization. This may be done in pursuance to a private contract between bondholders and stockholders, and though the corporation property is thereby transferred to a new company having the same shareholders, the transaction would be binding between the parties.

"But, of course, such a transfer by stockholders from themselves to themselves cannot defeat the claim of a non-assenting creditor. As against him the sale is void in equity, regardless of the motive with which it is made. For, if such contract reorganization was consummated in good faith and in ignorance of the existence of the creditor, yet when he appeared and established his debt the subordinate interest of the old stockholders would still be subject to his claim in the hands of the reorganized company.

"There is no difference in principle if the reorganization instead of being effectuated by private sale is consummated by a masters deed, under a consent decree.

ASKS THAT BILLS BE DROPPED

Bryan Admits Right of California to Pass Anti-Jap Law.

Sacramento, Cal.—A day of conferences between Secretary of State Bryan and Gov. Johnson and members of the California legislature over proposed anti-alien land laws ended Monday with the conference adjourned to await replies to messages sent to Washington by Mr. Bryan.

The impression prevailed here when the conference adjourned that the resolution of the majority leaders previously announced to enact a bill specifically debarring "aliens ineligible to citizenship from owning land in California remained unchanged, although Mr. Bryan advised strongly against such action. Gov. Johnson indicated this in a brief address to the conference. He declared California's right to follow the lead of other states in framing the land bill was unquestioned and said such action now seemed assured.

LITTLE MEAT FOR PREACHER

Vegetables and Fruits Are Better, Says Expert.

Pittsburg, Pa.—After being urged to eat a little meat and plenty of peas, beans and eggs, sixty meat-eating ministers Monday took off their coats and tried to touch fingers to the floor without bending the knees. Few succeeded, but progress was noted by a lecturer, who came here to teach Pittsburg preachers "how to get well and stay well."

"Every minister ought to eat at least two apples a day and plenty of cabbage. You must eat onions, too."

Mine Claimed 97 Victims.

Pittsburg.—Another body was taken from the Cincinnati mine of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company at Finleyville, near here, Monday, bringing the total dead to date up to ninety-seven, one of which was a rescuer. Funerals of victims continued during the day and evidences of the disastrous explosion are gradually disappearing. Investigations on the part of the federal government, the state and local authorities were started Monday.

America Over-Credulous.

London.—The Evening Star makes the following comment on Dr. Friedmann's sale of the American rights to his tuberculosis vaccine:

"Human credulity is much the same all over the world. Dr. Friedmann and his financial advisers doubtless are calculating upon the deep, widespread terror which the white plague inspires, but America appears richer and more credulous than most other countries and Dr. Friedmann chose his market shrewdly.

High Cost of Living Problem Solved.—News Item.

LEVEE BREAKS NEAR NATCHEZ

20,000 ARE HOMELESS AND FOUR PARISHES AFFECTED.

TWO TOWNS ARE IN DANGER

Break Close to Ferriday—Gap in Levee Is Half Mile Wide and Enormous Amount of Water Is Pouring Through.

Natchez, Miss.—Lower Lake St. John levee, in Concordia parish, ten miles above Ferriday, one of the strongest and soundest in the Fifth Louisiana levee district, broke Sunday morning and the Mississippi river poured its flood waters into Concordia parish with a roar that could be heard for miles.

No lives have been lost so far. The gap this evening was a half mile wide and twenty-five feet deep. The crevasse will flood Concordia, the lower part of Tensas, which lies on the north, and parts of Franklin and Catahoula parishes on the west. It will find its way back into the Mississippi through Red river, going through Lake St. John, Buckner's bayou, Tensas and Black rivers.

The water has backed up to Waterproof, twelve miles north of Ferriday, a flourishing town of 1,000, the junction point for the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern railroad, the New Orleans & Northwestern, Memphis, Helena & Louisiana and the Texas Pacific railroads. Vidalia, with a population of 2,000, just across the river from Natchez, is endangered. The one chance to save Vidalia is to fill the gaps in the railroad embankment at the rear of the town.

Approximately 20,000 persons will be driven from their homes as a result of this crevasse, which will flood a territory embracing about 900 square miles. The property damage will total several hundred thousand dollars.

$10,000,000 GAS IS WASTED

Oklahomans Will Be Taught How to Conserve Supply.

St. Louis, Mo.—It is estimated that nearly $10,000,000 is wasted annually in the failure of Oklahoma to conserve its natural gas, and the United States government has assigned J. A. Holmes, chief of the bureau of mines at Washington, to confer with the oil owners and geological department of Oklahoma, with a view to eliminating the waste. Mr. Holmes passed through St. Louis Sunday night en route to McAlester, Okla., where he will hold a conference this week.

"I am taking my asistant with me to Oklahoma," said Mr. Holmes, "and we intend to ask the co-operation of the state officials and the owners of oil wells to assist the United States government in conserving the natural gas there.'

Twenty-five Hurt in Church Row.

Uniontown, Pa.—In a dispute over which faction should take up the collection at Greek Easter services in a local foreign church, twenty-five persons were cut and bruised, several fattally, Sunday night during a free-for-all battle. The police quelled the trouble and several arrests were made.

FLIES ACROSS PANAMA.

Aviator Fowler Carries a Passenger With Him on Trip.

Colon.—Robert G. Fowler, the American aviator, made a flight across the isthmus in a hydro-aeroplane Sunday with a passenger. Fowler left Panama Beach at 9:45 a.m. He circled over Panama City and the entrance to the canal for more than half an hour ascending to a considerable altitude, and then turned in the direction of Colon. SKELETON FOUND IN TREE.

It Is Believed to Have Been Left There By the Flood.

Paducah.—The incomplete skeleton of a human was found a few days ago, lodged in a treetop about twelve miles below Paducah, near the river bank, and was buried in the county cemetery by Coroner R. L. Elley, after being examined by Dr. C. L. Burnett. The skeleton consisted of the higs, legs and feet, the upper portions being absent. The bones are believed to be those of a flood victim.

Illinois Senator Tells Head of Springfield Corporation He Is Disgrace to State and Company Should Be Driven Out.

Springfield, Ill.—After a session of the senate "white slave" commisison, Lieut.-Gov. O'Hara sent a telegram to President Wilson and another to Lieut.-Gov. Paynter of Missouri, calling their attention to the disclosures made here. The telegram to President Wilson read:

"At a hearing of the Illinois senate vice commission here, it appeared that the conditions surrounding the employment of girls at the Springfield factory of the International Shoe Company apparently were the most open to criticism of any so far discovered by this commission. The revelations were so astounding that Senator Neils Juul, a Republican, and the dean of our state senate, openly and bitterly denounced this corporation.

"As I have been informed that this corporation is supporting a lobby at Washington in opposition to your proposed tariff laws on the grounds that if certain duties are removed the girl workers in their factories will be brought into competition with the cheap labor of Europe, I believe your attention should be called to the testimony given here."

Lieut.-Gov. O'Hara's telegram to the lieutenant-governor of Missouri was as follows:

"At a meeting of the Illinois senate vice commission it developed that the girls employed in a Springfield factory of the International Shoe Company are the victims of the worst industrial conditions that have yet come before this commission. Mr. Derby, the superintendent of the Springfield factory, stated under oath that the International Shoe Company is a $25,000,000 corporation and that its executive officers are residents of Missouri.

"On behalf of Senators Juul, Tossey, Woodard and Beall, as well as of myself, constituting the full membership of our commission, I respectfully invite the co-operation of your Missouri senate vice commission in a thorough and complete investigation of the methods of this corporation."

FIVE PEOPLE BURN TO DEATH

Wives and Children of Infantrymen Are Dead at Frisco.

San Francisco.—Two women and three children were burned to death in a fire that destroyed two frame barracks occupied by non-commissioned officers of the Sixth infantry and their families at the Presidio here Sunday night. The victims were members of the family of Sergt. Schall—his wife, her mother and his three young children. Schall made a frantic effort to save his family, and when at length he was dragged from the burning building, he lost control of himself and was taken to the hospital under guard.

100 OR 120 MINERS DIE IN EXPLOSION

MINE NEAR PITTSBURG WRECKED AND IN FLAMES.

70 BODIES ARE RECOVERED

Rescued Men Can Give No Details and Say Mine Is Filled With Dead—Explosion Occurred 3,000 Feet From Mouth of Mine.

Pittsburg.—The lives of 100 miners, possibly 120, paid the toll of a disastrous explosion in the Cincinnati mine of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company at Finleyville, Pa. Over three score of workmen in the mine made thrilling escapes, crawling most of the time on their hands and knees through deadly gas fumes and over debris.

Up to 11 o'clock seventy bodies of victims had been recovered.. The bodies were located by rescuing squads of the United States Bureau of Mines, the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company and of the Pittsburg Coal Company.

As the rescuers found bodies they were carried to the entries. None of the bodies, however, was brought to the open.

Rescue work is hampered by afterdamp. Fire which followed the explosion has been completely subdued, it is said.

The coal company maintains a rescue corps patterned after the mine force of the United States goverment. Aid from the federal mining experts, it is said, was declined by the coal company.

Only a few of the miners who reached the surface could talk. Suffering from burns or fright, the miners only knew that an explosion had occurred and that a large number of men were either killed by explosion or asphyxiated by the "after-damp."

Several hours after the explosion seven foreign miners crawled from one of the entrances of the mine. All were seriously burned. They could give no connected account of conditions in the mine. They all said the "mine is full of dead people."

TRY TO DUCK SUFFRAGETTES

Police Save Women From Being Thrown Into the Serpentine.

London.—Hyde Park was again turned into a Bedlam by the suffragettes and their opponents Sunday afternoon. The women, declining to recognize the police order that no suffragette meetings were to be held in the park, appeared with a wagonette and proceeded to address a small crowd. Immediately youths commenced to gather and an attempt was made to drag the wagonette to the Serpentine, for the purpose of ducking the women.

Mounted and foot police intervened just in time to save them and the suffragettes were escorted from the park by a jeering crowd, who pelted them with turf and street refuse after they had entered a car.

FIREMEN GRANTED INCREASE

Arbitration Board Gives Decision Under Erdman Act.

New York.—Eastern railroad firemen are granted an increase of pay estimated at from 10 to 12 per cent by the award of the Erdman act arbitration board in their case. Other claims of the firemen are allowed, but the demand for two firemen on large locomotives is denied, except in case of necessity. Another request for which the firemen fought—namely, the standardization of wages, based on the weight of locomotives on drivers—was granted, although the award provides that all wages that were higher or conditions that were better than fixed in the award shall not be interfered with. This provision affects a number of railroads. The firemen were also relieved of the duty of cleaning engines.

Child Rises From Coffin.

Butte, Cal.—While members of the family and relatives were grouped about the open coffin of Mrs. J. R. Burney's 3-year-old son, listening to the funeral service, the body moved, and presently the child, clad in its shroud, sat up and gazed about the room. His eyes caught those of his grandmother, Mrs. L. H. Smith, 81 years old. The aged woman stared at the child as if hypnotized. Then she sank back into a chair, dead. The child also died.

Social Trust Formed.

Washington.—A social trust was formed by the ladies of the cabinet and Mrs. Marshall, wife of the vice-president, by which a joint cabinet reception will be held every Wednesday, instead of the individual receptions which have hitherto prevailed.

Upton Sinclair Weds Mississippian.

Fredericksburg, Va.—Upton Sinclair, the writer, and Miss Mary Craig Kimbrough, daughter of Judge and Mrs. A. McC. Kimbrough, of Greenwood, were married here.

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Keziah Coffin, supposed widow, is arranging to move from Trumet to Boston, following the death of her brother, for whom she had kept house. Kyan Pepper, widower, offers marriage, and is indignantly refused. Capt. Elkanah Daniels, leader of the Regular church, offers Keziah a place as housekeeper for the new minister, and she decides to remain in Trumet. Keziah takes charge of Rev. John Ellery, the new minister, and gives him advice as to his conduct toward members of the parish. Ellery causes a sensation by attending a "Come-outer" meeting. Ellery's presence is bitterly resented by Eben Hammond, leader of the meeting. Grace apologizes for her guardian and Ellery escorts her home in the rain. Capt. Nat Hammond, Eben's son, becomes a hero by bringing the packet into port safely through fog and storm. Ellery finds Keziah writing a letter to some one, inclosing money in response to a demand. She is curiously startled when informed of the arrival of Nat. Nat calls on Keziah, and it develops that they have been lovers since youth. Daniels remonstrates with Ellery for attending "Come-outer" meeting. Ellery is caught by the tide and is rescued by Nat. They become friends. Ellery meets Grace while walking in the fields, and learns that she walks there every Sunday. The clergyman takes dinner Sundays with the Daniels. Annabel, the captain's daughter, exerts herself to make an impression on him. She notices with vexation his desire to get away every Sunday at a certain time. She watches him through a spy glass. Nat again importunes Keziah to marry him. He says he has had a quarrel with his father, who wants him to marry Grace. Ellery asks Grace to marry him. She confesses that she loves him, but says she fears to displease her guardian. Elkanah Daniels tells Eben about the meetings between Ellery and Grace. Eben declares he will make Grace choose between him and the preacher. Grace finds him in a faint, following the excitement of Elkanah's visit. Just before he dies Eben exacts a promise from Nat and Grace that they will marry. Keziah breaks the news to Ellery and later he received a note from Grace saying she is to marry Nat, and asking him not to try to see her again. Keziah tells the story of her own marriage with a man who turned out to be a good-for-nothing, and who was reported to have been lost at sea, and of her love for Nat, whom she cannot marry because the husband is alive. Captain Nat sails for Manila to be gone two years. He says he and Grace have decided not to marry until he returns. Nat is overdue, and it is feared that he has been lost at sea. Keziah gets a letter from her husband saying he is coming back. Grace goes on a visit to relatives of the Hammonds. A vessel flying distress signals is discovered off the coast. Ellery goes with party to board the vessel. A man is found suffering from smallpox, the rest of the crew having deserted. He is taken to an abandoned shack on shore and Ellery helps nurse him. Before he dies it is discovered that he is Keziah's husband. Ellery, left alone in quarantine, is found wandering in a delirious condition by Grace. She takes him back to the shanty and sends for help. Keziah and Grace nurse Ellery, who is suffering from brain fever. The doctor and Keziah spread a report that Grace and Ellery are engaged. News comes that Nat has arrived safely in Boston. The story of the wreck of Nat's vessel comes out and a home-coming is arranged. Nat fails to appear. Keziah intercepts Nat on his homeward journey and tells him of Grace's love for Ellery. He releases Grace from her promise to him.

"What's the matter?" asked the captain.

Ellery did not answer. He read the note through and then, without a word, handed it to his friend.

The note was as follows:

"Dear John:

"I am going away, as I told you I would if he came. He is coming. Tuesday I got a letter from him. It was written at Kingston, Jamaica, almost three months ago. I can't think why I haven't got it sooner, but suppose it was given to some one to mail and forgotten. In it he said he was tired of going to sea and was coming home to me. I had money, he said, and we could get along. He had shipped aboard a brig bound for Savannah, and from there he was going to try for a berth on a Boston-bound vessel. So I am going away and not coming back. I could not stand the disgrace and I could not see him. You and Grace won't need me any more now. Don't worry about me. I can always earn a living while I have my strength. Please don't worry. If he comes tell him I have gone you do not know where. That will be true, for you don't. I hope you will be very happy. I do hope so. Oh, John, you don't know how I hate to do this, but I must. Don't tell Nat. He would do something terrible to him if he came, and Nat knew. Just say I have been called away and may be back some time. Perhaps I may. Love to all. Good-by. Yours truly,

"KEZIAH COFFIN."

The captain stared at the note. Then he threw it to the floor and started for the door. The minister sprang from his chair and called to him.

"Nat," he cried. "Nat! Stop! where are you going?"

"Goin'?" he growled. "Goin'? I'm goin' to find her, first of all. Then I'm comin' back to wait for him."

"But you won't have to wait. He'll never come. He's dead."

"Dead? Dead? By the everlastin'! this has been too much for you, I ought to have known it. I'll send the doctor here right off. I can't stay myself. I've got to go. But——"

"Listen! listen to me! Ansel Coffin is dead, I tell you. I know it. I know all about it. That was what I wanted to see you about. Did Keziah tell you of the San Jose and the sailor who died of smallpox in this very building? In that room there?"

"Yes. John, you——"

"I'm not raving. It's the truth. That sailor was Ansel Coffin. I watched with him and one night, the night before he died, he spoke Keziah's name. He spoke of New Bedford and of Trumet and of her, over and over again. I was sure who he was then, but I called in Ebenezer Capen, who used to know Coffin in New Bedford. And he recognized him. Nat, as sure as you and I are here this minute, Ansel Coffin, Aunt Keziah's husband, is buried in the Trumet cemetery."

CHAPTER XX.

In Which Mr. Stone Washes His Hands.

Mr. Abner Stone, of Stone & Barker, marine outfitters and ship chandlers, with a place of business on Commercial street in Boston, and a bank account which commanded respect throughout the city, was feeling rather irritable and out of sorts. Poor relations are always a nuisance.

Mr. Stone had "washed his hands" of his cousin, Keziah Coffin, or thought he had. After her brother Solomon died she had written to him, asking him to find her a position of some kind in Boston. "I don't want money, I don't want charity," wrote Keziah. "What I want is work. Can you get it for me, Abner? I write because father used to tell of what you said to him about gratitude and how you would never rest until you had done something in return for what he did for you."

Captain Ben Hall's kindness was the one thing Mr. Stone forgot when he said no one had ever helped him. He disliked to be reminded of it. It was a long while ago and the captain was dead. However, being reminded, he had called upon a friend in the tailoring line and had obtained for Keziah the place of sewing woman. She decided to become housekeeper at the Trumet parsonage and so notified him. Then he washed his hands of her.

But now he was compelled to soil them again. Keziah had appeared at his office, without warning, and demanded that he find her a position. "Demanded" was the proper word. Certainly she had not begged. She seemed to feel that her demand was right and proper, and his acceding to it the least he could do.

"What a fine place you've got here, Abner!" she said, inspecting the office and store. "I declare it's finer than the one you had when you first went into business, afore you failed. I wish father could have lived to see it. He'd have realized that his judgment was good, even though his investment wasn't."

Captain Hall had invested largely in that first business, the one which failed. Mr. Stone changed the subject. Later in the day he again sought his friend, the tailor, and Keziah was installed in the loft of the latter's Washington street shop, beside the other women and girls who sewed and sewed from seven in the morning until six at night. Mr. Stone had left her there and come away, feeling that an unpleasant matter was disposed of. He had made some inquiries as to where she intended staying, even added a half-hearted invitation to dinner that evening at his home. But she declined.

"No, thank you, Abner," she said, "I'm goin' to find a boardin' place and I'd just as soon nobody knew where I was for the present. And there's one thing I want to ask you: don't tell a soul I am here. Not a soul. If anyone should come askin' for me, don't give 'em any satisfaction. I'll tell you why some day, perhaps. I can't now."

This was what troubled Mr. Stone as he sat in his office. Why should this woman wish to have her whereabouts kept a secret? There was a reason for this, of course. Was it a respectable reason, or the other kind? If the latter, his own name might be associated with the scandal. He wished, for the fiftieth time, that there were no poor relations.

A boy came into the office. "There is some one here to see you, Mr. Stone," he said.

"Who is it?"

"I don't know, sir. Looks like a seafaring man, a sea captain, I should say—but he won't give his name. Says it's important and nobody but you'll do."

"Humph! All right. Tell him to wait. I'll be out in a minute."

Sea captains and ship owners were Stone & Barker's best customers. The senior partner emerged from the office with a smile on his face.

"Ah!" he said, extending his hand. "Glad to see you, Captain—er——"

"Hammond," replied the visitor. "Same to you, Mr. Stone."

"Fine weather for this time of year."

"Fine enough, Mr. Stone."

"Well, Captain Hammond, what can we do for you? Going to sail soon?"

"Not right away. Just made port, less'n a week ago. Home looks good to me, for a spell, anyhow."

"So?' Yes, I have no doubt. Let me see—where is your home, captain? I should remember, of course, but——"

"Don't know why you should. This is my first trip in your latitude, I guess. My home's at Trumet."

"Trumet?" Mr. Stone's tone changed.

"Yes. Trumet, down on the Cape. Ever been there? We think it's about as good a place as there is."

"Hu-u-m! Trumet? Well, Captain Hammond, you wished to see me, I understand."

"Yes. Fact is, Mr. Stone, I want to ask you where I can find Mrs. Keziah Coffin. She's a relation of yours, I b'lieve, and she's come to Boston lately. Only yesterday or the day afore. Can you tell me where she is?"

"Why do you wish to see her?"

"Oh, for reasons, personal ones. She's a friend of mine."

"I see. No, captain, I can't tell you where she is. Good morning."

Captain Nat was greatly disappointed.

"Hold on there, just a minute," he begged. "This is important, you understand, Mr. Stone. I'm mighty anxious to find Kezi—Mrs. Coffin. We thought, some of her friends and I, that most likely you'd know where she was. Can't you give us any help at all? Hasn't she been here?"

"Good morning, Captain Hammond. You must excuse me, I'm busy."

He went into the office and closed the door. Captain Nat rubbed his forehead desperately. He had been almost sure that Abner Stone would put him on Keziah's track. Grace had thought so, too. She remembered what the housekeeper had told concerning her Boston cousin and how the latter had found employment for her when she contemplated leaving Trumet, after her brother's death. Grace believed that Keziah would go to him at once.

Nat walked to the door and stood there, trying to think what to do next. A smart young person, wearing a conspicuous suit of clothes, aided and abetted by a vivid waistcoat and a pair of youthful but promising side whiskers, came briskly along the sidewalk and stopped in front of him.

"Well, sir?" observed this person, with cheerful condescension. "Anything I can do for you?"

Captain Nat turned his gaze upon the side whiskers and the waistcoat.

"Hey?" he queried.

"I say, is there anything I can do for you?"

The captain shook his head. "No-oo," he drawled dryly, "I'm afraid not, son. I admit that don't seem scarcely possible, but I am afraid it's so."

"Looking for something in our line, was you?"

"Well, I don't know. What might be on your line—clothes?"

The bewhiskered one drew himself up. "I am connected with Stone & Barker," he said sharply. "And, seeing you standing in our doorway, I thought possibly——"

"Yes, yes. Beg your pardon, I'm sure. No, I don't want to buy anything. I come to see Mr. Stone on a personal matter."

"He's busy, I suppose."

"So he says."

The young man smiled with serene satisfaction. "I'm not surprised," he observed complacently. "We are a busy house, Mr.—er——"

"Hammond's my name. Are you Mr. Barker?"

"No-o, my name is Prince."

"So? Silent partner in the firm, hey?"

"No-o, not exactly." Mr. Prince was slightly embarrassed. "No, I am a—a salesman—at present. Was the matter you wished to see Mr. Stone about a very private one?"

"Middlin'."

"Well, I asked because Mr. Stone is a busy man and we like to save him all the—the——"

"Trouble you can, hey? That's nice of you, you must save him a lot, Mr—er—King, was it?"

"No, Prince."

"Sure and sartin', Prince, of course.

"Listen! Listen to Me! Ansel Coffin Is Dead."

I knew 'twas connected with the royal family. Well, Mr. Prince, I'm afraid even you can't help me nor him out this time. I'm lookin' up a friend of mine, a widow lady from down the Cape. She's a relation of Mr. Stone's, and she's come to Boston during the last day or so. I thought likely he might know where she was, that's all. That would be a little out of your latitude, hey?"

"I don't know. Her name wasn't Coffin, was it?"

Captain Nat started. "It certainly was," he answered eagerly. "How'd you know that?"

Mr. Prince's complacence was superb. "Oh," he answered with condescension, "Mr. Stone trusts me with a good many of his personal affairs."

"I should think likely he would. But about Mrs. Coffin? You was goin' to say?"

"She is with James Hallett & Co., the tailors, on Washington street. Mr. Stone found a place for her there, I believe. I—er—er—superintended the carrying of her valise and— What?"

"Nothin', nothin'. Hum! Hallett & Co., tailors? What number Washin'ton street did you say?"

Mr. Prince gave the number.

"Thank you a lot," said Captain Nat, with fervor. "Good-by, Mr. Prince. Hope the next time I come you'll be in the firm. Good day, sir."

"Good day. Nothing else I can do? And you won't wait for Mr. Stone? Very good. Is there any message for him that you would like to leave?"

"Hey?" Nat had started to go, but now he paused and turned. There was a grim twinkle in his eye. "Message?" he repeated. "Why, ye-es, I don't know but there is. You just give Mr. Stone Cap'n Hammond's compliments and tell him I'm lookin' forward to interviewin' him some time. Just tell him that, will you?"

"I'll tell him. Glad to have met you, Captain Hammond."

In the workshop of Hallet & Co., Keziah sat sewing busily. The window near her was closed, stuck fast, and through the dingy panes she could see only roofs and chimneys. The other women and girls near her chatted and laughed, but she was silent. She did not feel like talking, certainly not like laughing. The garment she was at work on was a coat, a wedding coat, so the foreman had told her, with a smile; therefore she must be very particular. The narrow stairway leading up to the workshop ended in a little boxed-in room where the finished garments were hung to await the final pressing. From behind the closed door of this room came the sound of voices, apparently in heated argument. One of these voices was that of Larry, the errand boy. Larry was speaking shrilly and with emphasis. The other voice was lower in key and the words were inaudible.

"No, sir, you can't," declared Larry. "You can't, I tell you. The boss don't let nobody in there and— Hold on! Hold on!"

The other voice made a short but evidently earnest answer. Larry again expostulated. The workers looked up from their sewing. The door opened and Larry appeared, flushed and excited.

"Where's Mr. Upham?" he demanded. "Mr. Upham!"

Upham was the foreman of the workroom. At the moment he was downstairs in conversation with the head of the house. A half dozen gave this information.

"What's the matter? Who is it" asked several.

"I don't know who 'tis. It's a man and he's crazy, I think. I told him he couldn't come in here, but he just keeps a'comin'. He wants to see somebody named Coffin and there ain't no Coffins here."

Keziah's nearest neighbor leaned toward her.

"I guess it's somebody to see you," she said. "Your name is Coffin, ain't it?"

"No, no. That is, it can't be anybody to see me. I don't want to see anybody. Tell him so, whoever it is I can't see anybody. I—Nat!"

"Keziah," he said, "come here. I want you. I'll tell you why in a minute. Come!"

NEED OF CARPETS FOR ROADS

English Expert Recommends Use of an "Elastic Skin" on the Highways.

A lecture was recently delivered by a member of the board before the Royal Institute of London on "The Road—Past, Present and Future," according to Consular and Trade Reports. The lecturer said the problem was to find the best mode by which a road should be constructed so that its surface would not be broken by traffic, so that the transit might be easier for both passengers and goods, a road which would form neither puddle holes nor exude mud from vehicles and create no dust when the weather was dry.

One thing was universally recognized, that the road of the future should be a truly bound road in which, whatever kind of stone was used, the stone should be held together so that it would form a crust. The lecturer suggested that what he called a carpet or an elastic skin should be adopted as the covering.

The carpet, he thought, should be made of bituminous material mixed with sand and placed on the roads in various thicknesses, according to the nature of the traffic. It should go on in liquid form, solidifying quickly, but always remaining resilient and compressible, and so integrating with the crust of the surface below.

The advantage of such a carpet, it was said, would be to permanently protect the crust, and, just as a carpet on the floor softens the step, so would this carpet for the roads silence the noise and reduce the shock of rolling vehicles. It was admitted that the original cost of a road so laid would be more than that of a mud bound road but spreading the cost over a series of years it would probably not be so great, since the crust of the road itself would not have to be renewed.

Polish Woman Barrister.

Mlle. Miropolsky is the best known of the women barristers of France. She is of Polish origin, but was born in Paris. She took her degree in philosophy at the age of 16, was admitted to the bar five years ago, and won her first case before she was twenty-one. Children's courts and the divorce court she considers as suitable fields for the woman advocate, and she has specialized in cases affecting women.

INDUSTRIAL OUTLOOK CONTINUES BRIGHT

New York.—Dun's review of trade says:

Notwithstanding the recent moderate reductoin in trade and industrial activity, it is significant that confidence still prevails and in the west and south a spirit of optimism is manifest as to the future, largely based upon the fine crop outlook for both cotton and wheat—which contrasts with the more conservative feeling that exists in eastern centers. The work of recovery from the effects of the midwestern floods is progressing and this gives increasing relief to business. The tariff readjutsment continues to inpsire caution in the trade circles more immediately affected, but the end of uncertainty now is not far distant. Weather conditions are distinctly better and this gives an impetus, not only to building operations, but also to retail trade, and real estate transfers.

Money conditions are easier, both at home and abroad, and while there is some renewal of anxiety regarding the Balkan situation, international markets as a whole are much less disturbed. Pig iron is somewhat more active, but at lower prices. The iron and steel mills report business as fully up to normal. Textile lines show some abatement in activity. Lumber is more active. Trade in anthracite is larger. Reports from the leading western and northwestern cities are very cheerful in tone, and the advent of more settled weather has resulted in large retail activity.

Interest and dividend disbursements in May will exceed $106,000,000—a considerable increase over last year. Bank clearings this week showed a loss of 2.7 per cent. as compared with 1912. Railroad earnings in the first two weeks of April were 1.1 per cent. under a year ago, which is an effect of the floods. Foreign trade at New York amounted, during the last week to $34,600.10, against $42,738,711 in 1912.

Commercial failures this week in the United States are 301, against 310 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 46.

New York.—Bradstreet's weekly review of trade says:

Trade reports continue to present contrasts in that a line of demarcation has to be drawn between immediate and future orders. On the one hand business for current or nearby delivery is good to active, all depending on the section of the country considered, the stimulating influence being furnished by greatly improved weather conditions. Against this development must be cited the fact that there is a general disposition, except in the northwest, and parts of the southwest, to wait until tariff matters become clearer before anticipating future requirements. With conservatism manifested on that account, the controlling idea the country over seems to be for the scaling down of stocks. Under the circumstances, there is a marked tendency to shop frequently and to buy in small lots.

Lumber continues very active in the northwest. Wool and woolen goods more than any other line seem to be more strikingly affected by impending tariff changes.

Specifications on finished steel are still heavy, though the volume of such appears to be abating and it is easier to get deliveries of structural steel. New business is light. Pig iron is dull, except where urgent needs necessitates prompt buying.

Copper is quiet, but prices are firm. Money is easier.

Stock prices continue irregular. The undertone as regards bonds is a little better.

Crop reports are encouraging. Winter wheat is in excellent shape and needed rains are reported in the states west of the Mississippi.

In the south the general report is favorable as to crop progress or planting.

Wheat, including flour, exported from the United States and Canada for the week ending April 24, aggregated 3,494,924 bushels against 3,169,514 bushels this week last year.

Business failures for the week ending April 24 were 273, which compares with 248 in the like week of 1913.

Business failures in Canada numbered 21.

Bids Farewell to America.

New York.—James Bryce, on the eve of his departure for home, after six years as ambassador to the United States from Great Britain, said his farewell to the American people in an address here before the Pilgrims' society of the United States. He referred with feeling to his cordial relations with the three presidents who had been in office during his service in Washington and said he had no words to convey his sense of the kindness with which he had been received during his travels in America. Four trips across the continent and visits to every state in the Union, he said, had given him acquaintances in all sections.

NEWS BREVITIES

Washington.—President Wilson has been working so hard lately that the White House physicians have prescribed recreation and diversion as a daily necessity. The president has been going to the ball games regularly.

Making Things Even.

"Vell, Ikey, my poy," said Sol to his son, "I've made my vill and left it all to you."

"That's very good of you, father," remarked Ike, eyeing him suspiciously.

"But bless you, it cost a lot of money for the lawyer, and fees and things!"

"Ye-es," said Ike, more suspiciously.

"Vell, it ain't fair I should pay all dot, is it? So I'll shust take it of your next month's salary."

Joy of Neighborliness.

With the aid of the waves of ether, transmuted or translated into waves of sound for those who have not eyes, or into light for those who have not ears, we may find neighbors where there is greatest need, or where our noblest need is best fulfilled. Mobility, transmissibility, are they not to bring mankind nearer, if not into, the higher kingdom, even as they brought the vegetable to be an animal, to approach, and then to enter its next kingdom?—John H. Finley, in the Atlantic.

NOTICE TO DELINQUENTS.

There are some subscribers to this paper who owe for more than one year. As the postoffice regulations forbid our mailing to such at second class rates we are compelled to cut them off after this issue.

We hope they will come and pay up their dues so that the paper may continue going to them.

If on account of errors in the book-keeping any mistakes have been made as to time we will be glad to correct them when our attention is called to them.

THE BOLL WEEVIL.

It is predicted by those who study its movements that the boll weevil will be in some parts of Chilton county this year. So our farmers will do well to pay heed to the warning printed in another column. The direction there given for preparation of land will be found useful whether the pest comes or not. There is no use in getting panicstricken over the boll weevil's coming—a little intelligent work will head him off. Still, we will be all the better off if we diversify the crops so that we can live even if the cotton crop should be cut down.

TRYING TO WORK UP SENTIMENT FOR THE BOND ISSUE.

The "Mountain Creek" correspondent for the Age-Herald, with little regard for the facts in the case endeavors to show that there is a strong sentiment in the county in favor of saddling the county with a bond issue for the sake of acquiring a few miles of good roads. He says that this paper has dealt "gently" with the subject while another paper has had its columns freighted with ringing arguments for the bonds. The facts are just the reverse. This paper for some months has had in nearly every issue strong arguments against the unwise action, written editorially or by prominent citizens in every part of the county. We have dealt "gently" with the matter, inasmuch as we have allowed both sides a hearing without insulting those who were on the other side. None of the arguments brought out have ever been answered. The desirability of good roads is acknowledged by all, but no advocate of bonds has attempted to show how many miles of road could be built with the proceeds of $150,000 in bonds, nor how the roads could be kept up when $9,000 in interest must be paid annually for an extended term of years.

Some have suggested that if the money could be expended on the rural mail routes it would be sufficient. There are 25 or more rural routes in the county averaging 20 miles—500 miles. To build up these in the manner proposed would take more than $500,000. The proposed issue of $150,000 would be soon spent effecting only a profound discontent over four-fifths of the county.

The Age-Herald correspondent intimates that a "house to house" canvass is being made by advocates of the issue. If any come to your house, note well who they are and where they want the road built

Do not pay heed to the statement that no business can be carried on without going in debt. Good business, when it goes in debt is assured that the debt is for something that will last longer than the debt runs or will be productive of revenue sufficient to maintain it and extinguish it. That will not be the case with the proposed issue. It will not provide the needed system of roads; it will discourage other methods of work; it will draw largely on the county's resources to pay interest and keep up what has been done.

The county's money will go out of the county and in the end there will be nothing but the debt to show for it.

We are confident the majority of the voters of the county take this view and will bend their energies towards securing a system of home worked roads with no burden of debt.

COST OF BOND ROADS.

Blount county has voted for a bond issue of $50,000 to build roads. About fifteen miles of roads could be built with amount left to keep the fifteen miles in order. No county should attempt road building with such a pittance. It simply makes the public dissatisfied with the officers who have charge of the work, for any system they might adopt the work would be a failure.—Livingston Home.

The same would hold good for an issue of $150,000 in Chilton. Forty-five miles, or less, of road, $9,000 a year to pay, and any amount of dissatisfaction that would keep the county officials in perpetual hot water.

CARSWELL'S LIVER AID

NEW REMEDY THAT'S BETTER THAN DANGEROUS CALOMEL.

Better than Salts, Oils or Pills. and Money Back from Upchurch Drug Co., if it Does'nt Banish Constipation.

Oh! What bliss! People in Clanton have no further use for calomel or other slam bang cathartics that act harshly on sick livers. CARSWELL'S LIVER AID has the call these days. every hour in the day; its going faster than the proverbial hot cakes.

It's changing hundreds of weak, sickly, lazy and overworked livers into healthy, strong vigorous ones. It is driving poisonous waste from the body; putting an end to indigestion and all stomach misery and causing constipation sufferers to rejoice.

CARSWELL'S LIVER-AID is pleasant and harmless; it takes the place of calomel. Children can take it freely; its gentle action cleans out their little bowels in fine shape. It's a splendid remedy for sick headache, malaria and kidney troubles. Get it from Upchurch Drug Co. for only 50c a bottle. They guarantee CARSWELL'S LIVER-AID. 3

HAVE YOUR LETTER HEADS AND ENVELOPES PRINTED

Every farmer, especially those on the R. F. D's, should have his stationery printed with the number of his route and post office on it, and if possible with the name of his farm also. To encourage this we make the following One Dollar offer: We will furnish 150 envelopes and 250 sheets of note paper neatly printed as above for $1.00. We cannot mail them at that price as printed matter is unjustly deprived of the parcel post rate.

Peculiar Will Declared Legal.

A will written by a seventeen-year-old girl on a piece of brown wrapping paper, the signature almost illegible, two of the five witnesses included among the beneficiaries, and the will executed within 24 hours of death of the testator, was admitted to probate the other day by a surrogate in Brooklyn. The judge said the will was as valid as any that had ever come before him. The will was that of aged Michael Morrissey, who died in Brooklyn on November 14 last. He had been ill for more than a year. On the evening before his death he called on several of his friends and said he wanted to make his will at once, and asked that Rose Enright, seventeen years old, a parochial school graduate who lived in the house, be called. She came to the old man's bedside and wrote on the piece of wrapping paper what he dictated.

Boxing Day.

Boxing day occurs on the 26th of December, the day after Christmas, unless Christmas day falls on a Saturday, in which case Boxing day is on the Monday following. Boxing day is purely English, and is so called because on that day, throughout Great Britain, almost every person of any position is applied to by postman, newspaper boys, errand boys, tradesmen and others with whom he may have had dealings throughout the year. for "Christmas Boxes," and is small Christmas gratuities in acknowledgment of services rendered beyond those which they were entitled to claim, or any care they may have shown in doing their ordinary duty. The custom is spreading to the great cities of the United States and Canada.

End of Famous Messina Church.

The walls of the Church of San Michael at Messina, Italy, which was destroyed in the great earthquake of 1908 and has since been known as the charnel house, collapsed a few days ago. An immense quantity of bones of the corpses which had been buried there for many generations was scattered over the debris and gave it the appearance of being covered by snow. The mayor summoned the firemen, but their efforts to remove the bones of the dead were for a long time made impossible by the fact that the remaining walls threatened to collapse, and the work was continued with the greatest difficulty. The firemen eventually pulled down the charnel house entirely and finally collected the bones.

Ocean Wireless Letter.

The Telefunken Wireless Telegraph company has inaugurated what is termed "the ocean letter," a new delayed wireless telegraph service. The method is this: An outward-bound traveler on a German vessel, wishing to communicate with friends on business connections at home, writes a letter of thirty words or more, which is transmitted by wireless from the vessel on which the traveler is, to the nearest homeward-bound German vessel, where it is reduced to writing, placed in an envelope and mailed when the vessel first reaches port. The charge is $1.19 for the first thirty words and 24 cents for each additional word.

Reminder of Old Times.

A curious link with the past is to be seen in St. Bartholomew's church, Great Gransden, Hants, England. It takes the form of a huge grappling hook, which, in the days of primitive fire appliances, was used for pulling the entire thatch off the roof of a cottage in the event of fire. The shape is that of a long bar with a turned-down fork at the end, the length being sufficient for men on the ground to reach the top of the roof, and the weight so great that the strength of several men was necessary in using it.

Cake Disappeared in Mail.

With half of what had once been a fine sponge cake in her hands, an indignant woman called at the Flushing, N. Y., postoffice and demanded from Postmaster Thomas B. Lowerre the name of the letter carrier who, she said, had eaten half of the cake which was sent to her through the parcel post by a friend. What was left of the cake looked as if it had been through the Boxer rebellion. The postmaster assured the woman that her complaint would be investigated.

Time for Canning.

Mrs. Shimmerpate was surprised when she visited her husband's office with a friend, to find that the force included half a dozen girls, all in the "squab" class and all very pretty. In the course of the conversation the friend inquired: "Did you put up much fruit this season?" With a glance about the room, Mrs. Shimmerpate replied: "Not yet, but I have made up my mind to can a few peaches."—Youngstown Telegram.

Up Speaks a Gallant Turk.

Zia Pasha, the Turkish Ambassador, was dining at the Ritz the other day when the lady he had taken in to dinner, an American, interrogated him about the custom in Turkey of maintaining a harem. "Ah, madame," replied the Turk, "if all women in Turkey were like you, I am sure they would be satisfied with monogamy."—New York American.

THE COCA-COLA COMPANY, ATLANTA, GA.

Whenever you see an Arrow think of Coca-Cola.

Impressed Them.

One of those stop, look and listen political orators was holding forth in a local hall. His theme was, "The Danger That Confronts Us," and the handbills announced that his revelations would "strike terror to the soul of every patriot." A young couple, evidently lost or strayed from Berea, stopped in front of the hall, read the announcement, found out that no admission fee was charged and timidly entered. The spellbinder talked loud and fast. He recited strings of figures, used words six feet long and glibly chattered about unearned increment, economic determinism and things like that. Finally the rural stranger leaned over and whispered to his companion: "Mary, are you a-payin' attention to this here lecture?" 'As good as I kin," she answered meekly. "Are you skeered?" "I'm skeered as much as I kin understand."

Wealthy Fear Number "13."

Who are the people who believe in the fatality of the number 13? Disclaiming all such superstition for ourselves, we also fail to find it among our friends, all of whom hasten to make the conventional disavowals. And yet the London county council has just waived its rule requiring the orderly numbering of streets. Henceforth No. 13 may be omitted so as to outwit the angel of bad luck in search of his favorite number for the bestowal of malevolences. It is aristocratic London that avoids No. 13, not plebeian London. The vast East End with its squalors and miseries is indifferent to omens, possibly because its familiarity with ill-fortune has brought with it the proverbial contempt.

Will Study Wild Creatures.

A student of wild life, George Willett, will go to San Francisco to outfit for a long voyage among the group of desert islands, 1,600 miles northwest of Honolulu, where he will study wild sea birds and animals. Willett will sail to Honolulu on a government transport, and will then transfer his instruments, cameras and outfit to a revenue cutter, which will carry him to the islands. He will be accompanied by three men, who will work under his direction. Willett will make his headquarters on the island of Laysan. This island is a sandy waste, without a tree. It is the breeding ground for sea birds of beautiful plumage.

Unpicked Grapes Go to the Poor.

A curious old law, which dates from 1779, has been used to sentence the owner of a vineyard at Capestang, near Beziers, France, to a fine and costs for picking her own grapes. She was picking the grapes which had been left on the vines in her vineyard after the fall gathering, when the policeman told her that she was committing an offense against the law, as all grapes left on the vines after the harvest were the property of the poor. The court at Beziers confirmed the policeman's opinion, and the woman was convicted.

Presence of Mind.

When Sjema Kwang was a boy he was very intelligent and was remarkable for his presence of mind. One day he and some of his youthful companions were leaning over the edge of a large earthenware vessel, looking at some gold fish, which were kept therein, when one of them fell in head first and was in danger of being drowned. The other boys, being much alarmed, ran away; but Sjema Kwang took a large stone and threw it with all his strength against the jar. Thus he broke the jar and saved his playmate's life.—Chinese Legend.

SCRAPBOOKS THAT WILL WEAR

For Children, Brown Holland Is the Best and Most Lasting Material That Can Be Employed.

Scrapbooks for children are best made of brown holland. The holland should be of the right width, and when folded lengthways with the selvedges each will make two leaves. For a book take six yards of double width brown holland and cut into half-yard lengths. Buttonhole over the edges with flourishing thread, or, if liked, with a contrasting color. Fold all together and sew with stout cotton down the center, tying a piece of ribbon through to hide the stitches. Stretch the front page in a frame before fastening together, and either embroider the initials of the child or else work the word "Scraps."

These books are practically untearable and, if made in a dark color, will not show the dirt very quickly. Paste in anything likely to interest the child, or else teach her to make the pictures for herself. The making of pictures out of other pictures is a most fascinating game for the little ones.

Big brown books made of paper are practical and useful for the housewife. How often we hear people complain that there are so many delightful recipes published in the papers, but that it is a bother to cut them out, as they always disappear when wanted. A medium-sized brown paper scrapbook should be at hand, the clipping cut out and pasted in right away. It will only take a few minutes to do, but the recipe is captured for all time.

Cannot Save Buyers of Fakes.

Dr. Wakeling, the Egyptologist, tells us that it is useless to warn the tourist against the fake curio. He boys and is sold with an unfailing regularity, and hardly any imitation is too gross to deceive him. Dr. Wakeling tells us of a lady who bought a scarab from a boy who assured her that he had himself stolen it from the excavations in the temple of Aknaton. And she displayed her treasure triumphantly and always with the words, "And I am sure it must be true, for he had such an honest little face."

Witty Quip Credited to Lawson.

There is at least one Boston banker who has a measured admiration for Thomas Lawson. "He is always full of quips," says the banker. "Not long ago I attended the funeral of a millionaire financier—one of those real 'high financiers' whose low methods Lawson loves to turn the light on. I arrived at the funeral a little late. I took a seat beside Lawson and whispered: 'How far has the service gone?' Lawson, nodding toward the clergyman in the pulpit, whispered back: 'Just opened for the defense.'"

William Cullen Bryant's First Book.

One of the rarest books in the United States, there being only five or six known copies, is William Cullen Bryant's "Embargo, or Sketches of the Times; A Satire, by a Youth of Thirteen." A copy recently sold for $3,000. It was printed in 1808. Two years after its publication, the poet further signalized his precocity by entering Williams college.

Plan Reforms in New York.

With the object of making New York city a better place to live in, three hundred college graduates living in the city have banded themselves together to take an active part in all the civic, moral and physical reform movements which are instituted by the various reform associations and political parties.

Matthews, securing a certain indebtedness, default in the payment of which has been made, said mortgage being recorded in the office of the Probate Judge of Chilton County, Alabama, in Mortgage Record 121, page 332, I, E. A. Matthews, as mortgagee, will proceed to sell the hereinafter described real estate to the highest bidder for cash, at public outcry, before the Court House door of Chilton County, at Clanton, Alabama, during the legal hours of sale, on Monday, the 26th day of May, 1913, to-wit:

The following described real property lying and being situated in the Town of Clanton, in the County of Chilton, in the State of Alabama, to-wit, a certain lot or parcel of land west of the South and North Alabama Railroad, described and bounded as follows, to-wit: commencing at a point on the line of the right of way of the South and North Alabama Railroad Company two hundred and ten (210) feet south of the intersection of the said right of way and Main Street, said Main Street now being known as Second Avenue, and runing thence in a westerly direction, parallel with said Main Street, four hundred and eighty-five (485) feet, more or less, to the line of W. D. Sartor's land as said line of W. D. Sartor's land was known or existed on the 10th day of August, 1893, thence in a southerly direction, along the line of said Sartor land line, and a continuation thereof, three hundred (300) feet thence in an easterly direction, parallel to said Main Street, four hundred and eighty-five (485) feet more or less, to said right of way, thence in a northerly direction, along said right of way, three hundred (300) feet, to the point of beginning, being a part of the land which was conveyed to John Randolph by F. C. Randolph, on the 12th day of February, 1902, by a deed which is recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama, in volume 24 of Record of Deeds, on page 387. The said lot or parcel of land above described is known by the Official Map of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, and marked upon said Map "E. Y. McMorries University School." (The words Main Street wherever they occur in the foregoing description refer to the street now known as Second Avenue); and also a tract or parcel of land described and bounded as follows; to-wit: Beginning at the northeast corner of a certain lot, west of South and North Alabama Railroad, and south of and bordering on Second Avenue, marked on the Official Map of the Town of Clanton, "W. M. Wilson & Brother," and running thence east along said Second Avenue forty (40) feet, thence south two hundred and ten (210) feet, to the lot marked on said Official Map "E. Y. McMorries University School" thence West forty (40) feet, thence north two hundred and ten (210) feet to the point of beginning, and also a lot of parcel of land west of the South and North Alabama Railroad, described and bounded as follows, to-wit: beginning at the southeast corner of the lot marked on the official map of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, "E. Y. McMorries University School," and running thence west one hundred and sixty (160) feet, thence south eighty (80) feet, thence east forty (40) feet, thence south two hundred and eighty (280) feet, thence east to the right of way of the South and North Alabama Railroad Company, thence north to the point of beginning; also a lot or parcel of land west of the South and North Alabama Railroad, described and bounded as follows, to-wit: beginning at the north east corner of the lot marked on the official map of the Town of Clanton, Alabama "E. Y. McMorries University School," and running thence west thirty (30) feet, thence north sixty (60) feet to the lot of the South and North Alabama Railroad Company, thence east thirty (30) feet to the right-of-way of the South and North Alabama Railroad Company, thence south along said right-of-way to the point of beginning, and also a lot or parcel of land west of the South and North Alabama Railroad, described and bounded as follows, to-wit: beginning at the southwest corner of the lot marked on the official map of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, "E. Y. McMorries University School" and running south twenty (20) feet, thence east to within one hundred and sixty (160) feet to the right of way of the South and North Alabama Railroad Company, thence north twenty (20) feet to the south line of the said E. Y. McMorries University School lot, thence west, along said line to the point of beginning; together with all the buildings, machinery and appurtenances belonging to any, and all of the hereinbefore described tracts or parcels of land, and also a lot or parcel of land west of the South and North Alabama Railroad described and bounded as follows, to-wit: beginning at the northwest corner of the Episcopal Church, on the south side of Second Avenue, and running thence west along said Second Avenue one hundred and twenty (120) feet to the northeast corner of the Chilton Warehouse and Manufacturing Company's lot, thence south along the east line of said lot, two hundred and ten (210) feet to the Chilton Warehouse & Manufacturing Company's property, thence east along the north line of said property one hundred and twenty (120) feet, thence north two hundred and ten (210) feet to the point of beginning.

Said sale will be made for the purpose of paying in whole or in part the indebtedness secured by said mortgage.

This the 24th day of April, 1913.

FLOOD WATER IS SPREADING

WITH DESTRUCTIVE FORCE, WATERS CLAIM TOWN AFTER TOWN

OVER 5,000 HAVE REFUGEED

Estimated That Within Another Week List of Refugees Will Increase 20,000.

Vidalia, La.—The flood water from the Gibson's Landing crevasse in the Louisiana levees, 25 miles north of here, is spreading with destructive force over Concordia parish, claiming town after town in its path southward to the Red River. Hundreds of homeless persons and thousands of head of cattle are being moved from the flooded district and thus far the known loss of life in this section is confined to two negroes.

Already more than 5,000 refugees have been taken from the territory which is being rapidly inundated by the Sunday morning crevasse and within another week it is estimated that the United States army relief corps will be sheltering and feeding at least 20,000 more. There are 3,500 refugees in the relief camp at Natchez and hundreds of others are arriving on every steamer sent out by the relief corps.

Ferriday, La., a town of 1,000 people, in Concordia parish, with its railroad shops, is now covered and the water is rising rapidly. The bank of Ferriday is flooded and the water is on the first floor of many houses. Despite this and the rise in the stage, the white people will not forsake the place and those who have no second floors in their homes will occupy boxcars on the New Orleans & Northwestern tracks. This line continues to operate between Vidalia and Ferriday. Three hundred cars of live stock have been brought to Vidalia by this road in two days. From Vidalia they are ferried to Natchez.

At Clayton the water is 10 feet deep and rising. The Tensas and Black rivers have been flooded by the crevasse water and are overflowing into the eastern part of Catahoula parish, but no large towns are endangered in that section.

Vidalia, the Concordia parish seat, with a population of 2,000, began closing the gap in the trestle of the New Orleans & Northwestern railway. If the gap holds the town will not be flooded.

The people in Vidalia are taking a philosophical view of the situation and are not alarmed. As yet the water has not shown up near Vidalia, but it is nearly half way down the parish where it met the back water from Black river and a heavy rise is expected.

The gap at Lake St. John is 1,900 feet wide and about 20 feet deep, but the flow is not turbulent.

W. D. Dix and family, who lived at Vancluz plantation, near the break, and were marooned for 48 hours on a mound, were brought to Natchez on the tug Lizzie B, none the worse for their experience. The steamer Concordia brought in 110 refugees and a lot of live stock from Clayton.

Lieutenant Holliday sent 20,000 rations on the steamer Betsy Ann to points south of the mouth of Red river, and the steamer Senator Cordill carried rations to Concordia parish and Jefferson county, Mississippi. The steamer Ben Humphreys arrived at Natchez with 50,000 rations to be distributed among the refugees.

Kepes levee, near St. Joseph, is holding, but the men are compelled to make a persistent fight.

NEWS BREVITIES.

Detroit.—James Sharpe, 35 years old, was arrested here, charged with the murder of his sweetheart, Annie Collins, at Dayton, O., during the recent flood.

Sedalia, Mo.—A wage increase of 2 to 12 cents an hour for blacksmiths and increases averaging 2 1-2 cents an hour for boilermakers, machinists, machinists' helpers, painters and carmen employed on the system were granted by the Missouri Pacific railway after a conference covering seven weeks.

Mayfild, Ky.—Intimations of a probable lynching here induced the removal to Paducah Arthur Boyd, a negro, charged with detaining Mrs. Susie Vaughan, a well-known white woman of this place.

Fort Riley, Kan.—Battery C, Sixth field artillery, left here for Bliss, Tex., from telegraphic orders from Washington, D. C.

Mexico City.—An American, William B. Wofford, foreman of the Santa Rosa plantation, near Ojitlan, in Oaxaca, has been seized by what was at first thought to be a newly organized band of rebels from southern Vera Cruz.

Atlanta.—Efforts of the police to establish the identity of the person or persons who killed 15-year-old Mary Phagan and placed her body in the basement of the National Pencil company's factory here, where it was discovered Sunday morning, have so far been futile and the case is as much a mystery as ever.

ALABAMA BREVITIES.

It was stated in Mobile that the Alabama, Tennessee & Northern Railroad had been organized there with a capital of $25,000,000 to take over the Alabama, Tennessee & Northern railroad, the Tombigbee Valley railroad and the Mobile Terminal and Railway company. The company is composed of some of Mobile's most prominent capitalists.

Anxiously signaling for help was the wireless operator. He was approached by the owner of the craft. "I wish," said the latter, "that you would advise my wife, in Brooklyn, of our accident."

"Shall I tell her the engine is broken, sir?" asked the wireless man.

"By no means!" exclaimed the millionaire. "Those bald words would be discomforting to the sensitive woman. Send her a message which, while not transgressing the truth, will make her think our accident is only a trivial one. Tell her our screwdriver is broken."—Judge.

RINGWORM SPREAD ON FACE

Campbell, Va.—"I have been troubled with ringworm on the right side of my face for six or eight years. It began with just very small pimples in spots and continued to spread more every year until it covered the right side of my face. It was red, rough and in circles, and itched and burned very much. It was sore when I scratched my face and it worried me so much I couldn't keep from scratching. It looked very bad; I would hate to go out while it was on my face. Every one noticed it and some would ask what it was.

"I tried some home remedies before using Cuticura Soap and Ointment, such as ——, ——, —— and ——. I could only find temporary relief until I began to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I put the Cuticura Ointment on my face and let it stay on for about an hour and then I washed my face with Cuticura Soap. I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment for one month and I was cured." COULDN'T EXPLAIN TERRIBLE ORDEAL

Through Which She Had to Go. Everyone Who Saw Her Thought She Had No Chance.

Carrsville, Ky.—In advices from this town, Mrs. Hattie Cain says: "For 15 years, I was a great sufferer from womanly trouble, and would have to send for a doctor about every three months, and sometimes oftener.

I cannot explain to you how dreadfully I suffered at these times. I would have convulsions, and it seemed that I would die.

Everyone who saw me, thought there wasn't any chance for my recovery.

The doctor said he thought I should have an operation, but I couldn't consent to that, so he said for me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, as maybe it would help me.

I began taking Cardui, and Oh! Such a surprise it was to me! The first bottle I took, I knew it was the medicine for me, for I began to mend right away.

After taking nine bottles, my condition was perfect.

It has now been seven years since I was in such wretched health, and I can do more work, can walk and go where I please, and it doesn't hurt me.

I owe all of this to Cardui.

I have induced several of my neighbors to take it and it worked like a charm."

Give Cardui a trial for your troubles.

Old inhabitants were insisting that the climate had changed for the worse since they were boys.

No Englishman had considered it necessary to write his impressions of the United States.

May Have Cure for Neuralgia.

One never gets much sympathy for neuralgia—nor seasickness, presumably because they do not kill. But people have died from the results of seasickness and the list of those who have been driven to suicide by neuralgia would be a startling one. Now comes Dr. Rudolph Matas of New Orleans with a statement that neuralgia may be cured by injections of alcohol into the nerve ganglions at the base of the skull. This gratifying discovery justifies the hope that the triumphant progress of medical science will presently enable our physicians to alleviate headaches and colds.

MONEY HIS SECOND THOUGHT

Artist Accepted Destitution in Preference to Sale of His Precious Works of Art.

Destitute in a house full of masterpieces, penniless and unknown, an old man who began life as a chimney sweep and eventually became a sculptor, has died in a sordid lodging at Ivry, a Paris suburb. "Father Fraissard," as he was familiarly known, was born in Savoy and as a boy was employed as a sweep. Later he was apprenticed to a mason in Paris. His genius manifested itself and he became a sculptor. If he had consented to sell his works of art he would have been a rich man, but he would not part with them and died destitute. His two humble rooms were full of examples of exquisite workmanship. One, a table in black marble, has on it a chess board in African onyx, and half a dozen cups and glasses, all beautifully carved. M. Fraissard was eight years in executing this piece of work. But his greatest triumph took him twenty-two years to finish. It is a black marble table, inlaid with squares of lighter colored marble, and is covered with the accessories of various games. In the center is a chessboard; to the right and left are cards arranged in the shape of a fan. In the corners are dominoes and the cigars and cigarettes of the players, with several gold and silver coins. The materials used are porphyry, agate, onyx, malachite and lapis lazuli, and the combination of rich tones—red, black, orange, white and azure blue—produces a delightful effect. Ninety different kinds of marble were employed.

Good Evidence.

Katherine had been brought up to believe that tale-bearing was despicable, but there were times when her greedy twin strained her principles to the snapping point.

"Katherine," said her mother one day, "is it possible that you and Howard have eaten that whole bag of peppermints that I meant to take to grandmother, just because I left the bag on the table?"

"I didn't take one of them, mother," said Katherine, indignantly, "but Howard—well, I sha'n't tell tales, but you just smell him!"—Youth's Companion.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and now I am in good health."—Mrs. William H. Gill, 15 Pleasant Street, Auburn, New York.

"Doctor's Daughter Took It."

St. Cloud, Minn.—"I was so run down by overwork and worry that I could not stand it to have my children talk aloud or walk heavy on the floor. One of my friends said, 'Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for I know a doctor's daughter here in town who takes it and she would not take it if it were not good.'

"I sent for the Compound at once and kept on taking it until I was all right."—Mrs Bertha M. Quickstadt, 727 5th Avenue, S., St. Cloud, Minn.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be relied upon as the most efficient remedy for female ills. Why don't you try it?

RESINOL CURED AWFUL PIMPLES

Whole Face Covered, Now Clear.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 9, 1912. "I was troubled with two or three pimples coming out on my chin. In a week or so my whole face was covered with them. Friends advised me to use different lotions and salves. I tried them, but they did me little good, if any. I finally washed the pimples with Resinol Soap and applied Resinol Ointment before going to bed. In the morning I found the swelling gone down, and the inflammation gone from the pimples. I tried this treatment for about a week, and found that most of the pimples had disappeared. I kept the treatment up for about a month, and then my face was clear of all pimples. I have used Resinol Soap since and find that the pimples do not come back." (Signed) Walter A. Stenstrum, 54 Willoughby Ave.

If you are suffering from itching, burning skin troubles, pimples, blackheads, dandruff, stubborn sores or piles, it will cost you nothing to try Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. Just send to Dept. 12-K, Resinol, Baltimore, Md., for a free sample of each. Every druggist sells Resinol.

ALABAMIANS SEEK TO HAVE CONVICTS TAKEN FROM MINES.

To take the convicts of Alabama out of the mines and out of the hands of private individuals and corporations, was the object of a well attended and representative meeting of prominent Alabama citizens at the Morris hotel yesterday noon. No organization was formed, but such action will be taken at another meeting to be held in Birmingham, June 14. Capt. Frank S. White, Sr., presided over the meeting yesterday.

The single aim of the movement so far is to get the convicts of Alabama out of the mines and away from the control of private corporations. Nothing has been or will be announced at this time as to the next step in regard to whether the convicts shall be worked on the roads or what use shall be made of them. Unofficial indications are that the working of the convicts on the roads after the system now in vogue in Jefferson county will receive the endorsement of the movement.—Age-Herald.

TO PURGE PENSION ROLL

Montgomery, Apr. 26—Special —Examiner of Public Accounts, H. Y. Brooke has a hard task to perform, and although he has not said so, it is doubtful if he takes very much pleasure in the work in which he is at present engaged. Examiner Brooke may be said to relish any work that enables him to disclose the transactions of a dishonest official, for in doing this he is performing a service to the state and is discharging the duty incumbent upon every loyal and patriotic citizen.

But coming directly to the point, Examiner Crooke has a hard task to perform in purging the pension rolls of the state, and he declares that he will be glad when he has finished. Of course, he admits the necessity of purging the pension roll and he believes that much money can be saved the state by cutting down the list of pensioners to those who are really eligible and qualified to receive assistance from the great State of Alabama.

Still, the task is a hard one. Veterans of all degrees, widows of veterans and other beneficiaries of the state's munificence are unwilling to admit that the pension rolls should be purged, and, impelled by patriotic motives, declare that the list contains few unworthy members. and that the state could better conserve its interests by looking for revenue from other sources.

Governor O'Neal does not agree with this theory and neither does Examiner Brooke. In fact, it is doubtful if any official of the state holds a contrary opinion on the subject. For years, it is claimed, the state has paid out thousands of dollars to undesirable and unworthy pensioners, has paid out money to men and women who were able to take care of themselves, has maintained inmates at the insane hospital that could well afford to provide for themselves.

And so the pension list is being purged. It has been the idea of the governor during the two years that he has been in office and now he is putting it into execution. H. Y. Brooke has been selected for the undertaking, and Mr. Brooke is hard at work. Probably he may be engaged in the work for the next few weeks, or even longer, but he is undeterred by the fact that in certain quarters he is likely to bring upon himself the displeasure of certain persons. The governor has ordered him to perform the task and he is bending every energy toward the accomplishment of it.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

We doubt if the proportion of unworthy pensioners found will be as great as the proportion of useless and unworthy officers in the ring around the capitol, if the "purging" could be thoroughly done.

WE NEED MORE BERMUDA.

Last summer I was riding with a friend over his farm, and we passed the corn field. He said: "There is a patch of Bermude, and we have trouble with it every year, for it grows after the corn is laid-by." We rode on, and I watched the corn and said: "I notice that the best corn you have is right where that Bermuda patch is." And I have seen this time and again. Of course, it is a bother in the cultivation of the crop, but the man who practices a good rotation of crops and grows plenty of legumes will seldrm find the Bermuda a pest. Sow peas among the corn and the Bermuda will have little chance in the dense shade and will soon be shaded out. The great lack in all the South, as the Editor has said in reply to Mr. Avery, is the fear of grass and the effort to avoid a sod. All over the South the notion prevails that the land must be kept continually in cultivated crops, and there is nothing better on a Southern farm than a pasture of Bermuda grass.

On sandy soil it is easily destroyed, for I have done it in one season. I had a dense sod of Bermuda on the old Contraband Camp at Fort Monroe, Virginia, which I broke for the first time after the war. I ran a big plow under it about three inches deep and turned it over in great flakes. An ordinary horse hay-rake was then used and the masses of grass gathered up and hauled off to the salt marsh near-by. Then a spring-tooth harrow was used and more gotten out. Then the land was sown thickly to peas, and after the peas, it would take a pretty close examination the next season to find any Bermuda, and I used the land for truck crops and had no grass to contend with.

If one half the effort that is made all over the South to kill the grass was devoted to growing it, the Southern farmers would be far more prosperous, and would not allow the gullies to form, and would be making bigger crops per acre of their money crop. We should not allow gullies to form, and if the plowing was always of the best and a sod always on the land to turn for a hoed crop, there would be no gullies if the cultivation is level, but if there are gullies some one else has let form, there is nothing better than Bermuda to stop them.—The Progressive Farmer.

The Modern Aesop.

A dog, who was accustomed to over eat, held a piece of meat in his mouth as he crossed a placid stream by means of a plank. Looking in, he saw what he took to be another dog carrying another piece of meat. Snapping greedily to get this as well, he let go the meat that he had and lost it in the stream. As a result his indigestion felt much better all the rest of the day.—Life.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

What

a great improvement would be made in the condition of horses and other animals if just the proper remedy were used when they became ill or injured. If your horse could talk he would ask you not to use any external remedy containing alcohol because it stings and tortures his flesh terribly. Some liniments have alcohol and other fiery ingredients which only inflame the skin and tissue without striking down to where the pain lies. Beware of such liniments. The great humane, quick-action remedy is MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT. Made of oils, without a drop of alcohol or other torturing element, it soaks straight to the bone and muscle. It soothes the wounded parts and is comforting while the healing work is progressing. Mexican Mustang Liniment is what you want because it

Makes

your work lighter, saves your livestock from suffering and keeps them in good trim for work. For all forms of Lameness, Strains, Bruises, Cuts, Burns, Galls and Harness Sores in animals, it is safe and prompt and does not promise what it cannot perform. Mustang Liniment has been doing its wonderful healing work for 65 years. The amount of money it has saved livestock owners is incalculable. One man writes that he was about to kill his valuable horse because badly injured but Mustang Liniment made him well again. A Veterinary tells us he has used Mustang Liniment fifteen years and found it best liniment for cuts, strains, etc. And many others are enthusiastic friends of this tried and true remedy. COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION

The Chilton County Singing Convention No. 3 met at Cedar Grove Church May 3rd and 4th. The Convention was called to order by the president, prayer by J. W. Hayes. Committee on program was composed of T. C Jackson, J. W. Hayes, J. H. Scott, J. A. Rogers, W. Q. Sanders and the Secretary. Directors for the forenoon were M. V. Lawley, J. W. Hayes, T. C. Jackson, J. H. Scott and W. R. Holdritch. Then dinner, which was rich and bountiful.

AFTERNOON. Directors were John Lowery, Miss Ida Scott, A. E. Teel, J. A. Davis, J. H. Williams, J. A. Blankenship and H. Driver. Received reports from three societies, viz: Bethel, Jackson's Chapel and Waldrup's Schoolhouse. All the reports were quite favorable. The following delegates were appointed to the State Convention at Birmingham: J. H. Williams, N. A. Dobbs, J. A. Rogers, W. H. Shaw, W. R. Holdritch and the Secretary.

SECOND DAY - SUNDAY MORNING.

President Jackson presiding. Prayer by Mr. G. Hames. Directors for the forenoon were President Jackson, G. Hames of Birmingham, Vice President Armstrong, J. T. Thompson of Birmingham, M. V. Lawley, Miss Martha Thompson of Birmingham and Mr. Hattaway of Shelby. Then a service in memory of Professors White, Walker and King directed by T. C. Jackson, W. F. Armstrong and M. V. Lawley, assisted by J. H. Scott, J. H. Williams, J. W. Hayes, W. R. Holdritch, W. H. Conway, T. J. Jackson and Misses Ida Scott, Henry Lee Sanders, Lela Davis, Iris Teel, Myrtle Fleming, Sula Jones, Mrs. Hodgens, Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Littlejohn. Then Dinner, which was a bounty, free to all.

Directors for the afternoon were Miss Isabel Jackson of Birmingham, A. A. Jackson, Miss Ida Scott, J. S. Clotfelter of Birmingham, W. R. Holdritch. Adopted the following resolutions: Resolved, that we heartily thank the Cedar Grove people for the royal welcome and unstinted hospitality extended to us, and that we thank the members of the Shelby and Birmingham Conventions for their visit to this Convention and say come again. To God be all the praise for this wonderful Convention. Closing song led by the President. Benediction by Mr. G. Hames. Thus closed the most glorious session in the history of the Convention. The attendance was large. The leaders seemed at their best. The directing by Misses Thompson, Jackson and Scott was just beautiful, people were moved to tears. The memorial service was a time of quiet and reverance. The people gave marked attention. Mr. J. W. Hayes was in evidence busy all the time looking after the interest and comfort of the Convention, he filled his place well. The visitors were Messrs. Jackson, Blaine, Hames, Thompson, Clotfelter, Vines, Gains, Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. McClurg, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Fitch, Mrs. Honeycutt, Mrs. Gurnels, Mrs. Woods, Mrs. Jackson, Miss Martha Thompson, Misses Isabel and Bettie Jackson of Birmingham, Messrs. Powell, Hattaway and Kendrick of Shelby. The singing was just wonderful. From the opening to the closing the Convention was a success. The next session will be held at Bethel Church, near Coopers, on the 1st Sunday in September and Saturday before.

T. J. JACKSON, President,
Z. J. JONES, Secretary.

In the whole field of medicine there is not a healing remedy that will repair damage to the flesh more quickly than BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. In cuts, wounds, sprains, burns, scalds and rheumatism, its healing and penetrating power is extraordinary. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

CHILTON COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION

As announced, the Chilton County Singing Convention met in special session at Collins Chapel church, Sunday, May 4th.

The Convention was opened with Song by the president and prayer by Prof. M. C. Crumpton.

After which a program committee, consisting of Messrs. E. G. Cofer, J. D. Collins and Jim Mims, was appointed for the day.

The committee arranged the following program for the forenoon: James Franklin 15 minutes, Miss Eva Franklin organist; J. L. Gore 15 minutes, W. G. Culp organist; W. G. Culp 15 minutes, Mrs. W. G. Culp organist; J. L. Harris 15 minutes, Miss Genie Collins organist.

A quartette was then rendered by the Sunny South Quartet Band, composed of Messrs. M. C. Crumpton, James Franklin, Walter Littleton and C. Littleton.

After a lesson by M. C. Crumpton with Miss Lizzie Oden as organist, the Convention enjoyed more than an hour in a noon recess and most of all enjoyed the bountiful dinner which was spread by the good ladies of that community.

For the afternoon session the following program was rendered: James Franklin 15 minutes, Miss Eva Franklin organist; S. M. Yates 15 minutes, Lee Grant organist; a quartet by the Sunny South Quartet Band; Miss Carrie Dorminey 15 minutes, W. G. Culp organist.

M. C. Crumpton was then requested to sing No. 177 in "Songs and Hymns," after which a recess of 15 minutes was enjoyed.

C. N. Oden directed a lesson of 15 with Miss Lizzie Oden as organist.

A quartet was then rendered by the Quartet Band, composed of Messrs. J. W. Lowery, R. A. Smith, E. E. Smith and C. N. Oden; after which R. A. Smith directed a lesson of 15 minutes, Lee Grant organist.

After song No. 320 in "S. and H." the convention was dismissed with prayer by H. H. Mullins.

The following resolutions by the committee on resolutions, composed of Messrs. R. A. Smith, M. C. Crumpton and T. J. Littlejohn were adopted:

1st. The convention desires to thank the people of Collins Chapel community for their kindness and hospitality shown us during the day.

2nd. We also desire to thank the singers and visitors from other communities for their help and co-operation.

3rd. We also ask your prayers in this great cause that it may grow and prosper.

This was by far the best special session we have ever held, notwithstanding the number of gatherings near by on the same day.

All this goes to show the interest manifested in our convention.

Several new members were received into the convention. Let us say here that every singer of the county and all others interested in music should become a member of the convention and help in the fight for more and better music. It has already been said by those in a position to know, that the county from a musical standpoint stands second to none in the state.

The county should feel very proud of this record and strive the more for a better musical education.

The convention has done a great work and is destined to do a greater work in the future.

Don't fail to attend the annual convention at New Salem church in July, thus showing your farth by your works.

Yours for more and better music,
R. A. SMITH, Sec-Treas.
Chilton County Singing Convention.

CONCORD
SCHOOL DISTRICT 32.

Editor Union-Banner:—Please allow me space in your valuable paper to say a few words in regard to our school which closed Wednesday, April 30th; taught by Prof. Lee A. Popwell, had a very large attendance, and the pupils recited many nice recitations, and also had graphophone music which was very interesting to the people and also the pupils. We all regreted very much to part with our teacher but we hope to have him in our midst again, for he did his best to advance the pupils and aid them along in their studies.

The singing at Mr. G. W. Parrish's Sunday afternoon was enjoyed by a large crowd.

Mr. Burnie Thompson returned Sunday from Atlanta, where he has been standing examination for the Acadamy at West Point. TWO BLUE EYED GIRLS.

LOMAX.

Preaching at Jacksons Chapel Sunday was fine. The Sunday school at this place is still progressing nicely. Don't forget the box supper at Jacksons Chapel next Saturday night. We hope to have Mr. Bice of Thorsby with us that night, also Mr. Cleave Jackson. We want Mr. Jackson to speak for us again, as everybody enjoyed his speech before.

Mr. J. M. Parker and son and daughter, Essie and Neoma, are visiting relatives in Birmingham this week.

Miss Mary Parker is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ethel Traywick.

We were very sorry to hear of the death of Mr. O. Culp.

The ice cream supper at Mr. Webb Sharp's was extra fine; enjoyed by all present.

A WEDDING—TUCKER-GLASS.

Wednesday, April 30th, at the home of the bride's parents, Miss Sadera Glass and Mr. Earl Tucker were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Rev. S. Smitherman, of Randolph, performed the ceremony. The wedding was very quiet, only a few of the relatives and friends being present.

Mrs. Tucker is the oldest of Mr. G. N. Glasses's four daughters and is an estimable young lady. She has for several years been a public school teacher and has won many friends. Mr. Tucker is a rising young man of Montevallo. He has many friends there and elsewhere who wish him and his young bride much success in their journey through life. A Friend.

LIFE IN THE NAVY.

U. S. S. Rhode Island, May 1st. '13.

Editor Union-Banner:—As I have a few hours to myself I will finish my letter in regard to the Spring target practice which has been held off Cape Henry, Va. I have kept a complete log of the Spring target practice, and to make it as plain as possible I will write it up day by day.

On the 27th we were at Tangier Sound, Md. Here we sighted all guns and made final preparations for target practice. Sighted the U. S. S. Wyoming and Connecticut standing in from the southern drill grounds. We fired a salute of thirteen guns to the commander in chief, Rear Admiral C. J. Badger. His flagship returned a salute of seven guns.

Tuesday, 8th. Got underway at 10:10 a. m. and steamed to a point 8000 yards off the San Marcos (old Texas). At 11 a. m. the Delaware opened fire on the San Marcos. At 4 p. m. the Rhode Island fired three 12-inch and three 8-inch calibrating shots at the San Marcos.

Wednesday, 9th. Quarters for muster at 9:15 a. m., and then the usual long session at general quarters. At 1:30 the Yankton stood in the bay from Hampton Roads with mail for all ships. At 7 held the torpedo defense drill.

Thursday, 10th. Got under way at 8:00 a. m. for the Southern drill grounds. Anchored at 11 a. m. in Lynnhaven Roads. Boat slings give away while hoisting aboard the first whale boat, giving the men in the boat a sure enough ducking. Sent all boats to the Navy Yard at Norfolk. Fired a salute of thirteen guns in honor of Rear Admiral Winslow, and the Florida returned a salute of seven guns. At 1:00 p. m. got under way and exercised at general quarters and sub calibre firing.

Friday, 11th. Quarters for muster at 8:15 a. m. and cleared ship for Spring target practice. Exchanged mail with the Yankton at 1.15 p. m. Shifted our anchor 8000 yards. Under way at 7 p. m. and steamed in column with the Florida. Darkened ship and at 7:45 the torpedo boat targets sighted: the Florida opened fire with starboard battery, followed a few minutes later by this ship. At 8:45 sent a party to inspect the targets.

Saturday, 12th. Got under way at 9:3 a. m. Steamed in column with the Florida. Exercised at general quarters from 8 to 10:30 a. m. These drills were some strenuous!

Sunday, 13th. The Yankton arrived with mail. Everybody rested up for the big event of tomorrow. The ship's band rendered its second concert which was appreciated by all.

Monday, 14th, being cloudy and hazy. Called all hands at 4 a. m., breakfast at 5:30, underway at 6:15 and manouvered with Delaware and New Hampshire. At 7:2[illegible] a. m. sounded general quarters and commenced firing the 8- and 12-inch guns, making two port and two starboard runs. The after 8- and 12-inch gun crews did some excellent shooting, in fact all gun crews worked harmoniously and when the final scores are promulgated, no doubt but what the "Rhodie will appear well up on the list. Ceased firing and anchored at 10 a. m., [illegible]ight miles east of Cape Henry, Va.

Tuesday 15th. Made all preparations to have night torpedo defence practice. Up anchor and commenced firing the 6- and 3-inch guns. All shots seemed to be in direct line but somewhat high. Ceased firing and anchored off Cape Henry.

Wednesday 16th. Picked up targets and towed them to Lynnhaven. Upon arrival turned targets over to the tug Patuxent and then we got under way for Hampton Roads, but owing to the fog and weather we had to anchor off Cape Henry until next morning.

CARD OF THANKS.

Editor Union-Banner:—Please grant us space in your esteemed columns to express our sincere thanks to the good citizens of Clanton, as well as to our dear neighbors for their great kindness in the way of caring for and ministering to our deceased son-in-law, Mr. R. O. Culp, whom God in his wisdom called from this life on May 3rd. All that human hands could do was done for him by the most skilled physicians of the county. Mr. Culp bore his affliction with great patience, he was sick for 14 weeks and when approached as to his condition would say he felt good. He was known to get happy twice during his sickness and say Jesus was with him.

He leaves a wife, a mother, a brother and a sister and friends to mourn his decease. His remains were laid to rest in Providence cemetery to await the resurrection morn. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. W. W. Robinson. A large congregation was present.

Weep not for Owen, for we have living testimony to believe that his spirit is resting in Paradise.

Owen cannot come to us, but we can go to him by living according to holy writ. Faith in Jesus and repentance will secure each one a share.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. HUCKABEE.

IN MEMORY OF OUR BELOVED BROTHER MILTON H. MIMS.

Whereas it has pleased the Great Spirit to remove from the Hunting Grounds of his Father our beloved brother, Milton H. Mims,

Be it resolved by Waxahatchie Tribe No. 9, Imp'd O. R. M. in council, that we feel keenly the loss of a brother, a faithful chief and an honored member of all our councils.

Resolved, further, that we hereby express to his bereaved family our deepest sympathy in their sad loss. That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the local press for publication and a copy placed upon the minutes of the Tribe.

W. J. Armstrong,
J. P. Gore,
W. L. Bates, Committee.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PARDON.

Notice is hereby given that an application will be made to the Governor of the State of Alabama for the pardon of Ed Stafford, convicted and sentenced by the circuit court of Chilton county on the 25th day of May, 1912, for the offense of grand larceny, to hard labor for three years in the penitentiary.

A SURE REMEDY FOR LAZY LIVER.

Go to Alred Drug Co. for this Safe, Reliable Remedy and Get Your Money Back If it Fails.

There are very few remedies that gain the confidence of druggists as Dodson's Liver Tone does. Alred Drug Co. sells it and backs up the sale of every bottle with the money back guarantee that the price will be refunded if it fails to give complete satisfaction.

Dodson's Liver Tone costs 50 cents a bottle. It is the safest and best remedy for torpid liver, constipation, biliousness, etc., that has ever been sold in this city. It takes the place of dangerous calomel and does not lay you up as a dose of calomel often does. A bottle in the house is as good as fifty cents in the bank. If you or your family need a liver tonic you have the medicine ready. If it fails you get your money back.

Be sure you get Dodson's Liver Tone when you ask for it. There are imitations of it that may disappoint you. Alred Drug Co.

NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

A CONDENSED RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

SEVEN DAYS' NEWS AT A GLANCE

Important Happenings In All Parts of the World Summarized for the Busy Reader.

Southern.

John Galivan, a Spanish war veteran and a private in Company L of the Sevententh United States infantry, stationed at Fort McPherson, Ga., was struck and instantly killed by a Central of Georgia local in-bound passenger train in front of the army post. Galivan was a little deaf and, when he crossed the track, evidently failed to hear the train coming. When it hit him, he was hurled fully ten yards away.

Judge W. I. Grubb, of the United States court in Birmingham, Ala., passing on the procedings in which the state railroad commission fixed the passenger rate at 2 1-2 cents per mile, held that the commission had the right to fix rates and that the railroads had a way of going either into the state or federal courts for injunctions and try ing the case on merit.

Atlanta set a record for the world when the combined hosts of the First Christian and the Second Baptist Sunday schools gathered at the state capitol and moved in one gigantic procession, 7,000 strong, across the Washington street viaduct to the Auditorium-Armory for one of the most historic meetings in the history of America.

Lawrence Yerger, clerk of the board of prison trustees in Jackson, Miss., was arrested charged with being a defaulter in the sum of $14,627. Yerger is said to have acknowledged to Governor Brewer that he was short in his accounts. An Affidavit was filed against Yerger by Attorney General Ross A. Collins, alleging Yerger had, by making erasure and otherwise defacing his books, covered up receipts that had been turned into the prison office and appropriated the money to his own use.

Barricading himself in his cell, Will Thompson, who was hung at Louisville, Ga., at first stoutly refused to make preparation for the gallows. When the death summons came to him he armed himself with lumps of coal and scraps of iron he had taken from his cot, and swore that he would kill the first man who entered to take his. Sheriff Smith, with his deputies, soon forced him into submission, threating to shoot off his hands if he made further resistance.

The steamer Concordia, of Natchez, Miss., which was engaged in rescue work in the flooded sections of Tensas and Concordia parishes, struck the iron railroad bridge at Clayton, La., and sank. Eleven negro refugees who were aboard the steamer were drowned when the boat went down.

Flood water from the crevasse near Gibson's Landing, La., has covered Harrisburg, but the rise is slow. The gap is now 2,500 feet wide, according to a report by Capt. C. O. Sherrill, United States engineer, who inspected the break. Government tugs, barges and the New Orleans and Northwestern railroad took hundreds of refugees to Natchez. The United States tugs Harengo and Tunica alone transported 750 persons and 1,500 head of stock.

Representatives of Great Britain, Canada, New Foundland and Australia reached New York to open a five-day conference with 50 delegates from the United States to frame plans to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of peace among English-speaking peoples. With them were two representatives of the city of Ghent, where was signed the treaty ending the war of 1812 between Great Britain and the United States. The celebration will be held two years hence.

Mexican constitionalists at San Dimas have forced Americans there to pay ransoms of 18,000 Mexican dollars and have confiscated their arms. Official reports from Mazatlan say great unrest prevails among American residents there, as the Hureta forces are said to be insufficient to protect property.

A royal decree summons a special meeting in the Skupstina, in Montenegro, to deal with the difficult foreign situation. King Nicholas summoned all his generals into a council of war. The majority decided in fafor of the evacuation of Scutari. Therefore, the prospect of a peaceful solution is brighter.

Hauling vegetables with play express wagons, wheelbarrows and tricycles, 6,000 Spokane school children will take part in a vegetable parade in which several thousands boys and girls are causing as many backyards to blossom and produce real money.

Fourteen convicts, some of them life termers, escaped from a stockade near Largo, Fla. Guards discovered the break and headed off the rest. One bloodhound was killed during the night by the fugitives.

Contracts have been placed for the construction in Japanese yards of three dreadnaughts.

The rebel committee received verification of the report that General Trucy Aubert had surrendered to the Carrazana insurgents at Lampasas, below Laredo, Tex., The verification was brought to the border by Major Salcador Gomez, of the state forces, who says he saw the surrender of Aubert and 700 federal troops. Mutinous federal troops, which drove their commander, General Jones Inez Salazar and his faithful followers from old Casas Grandes, Mexico, are being urged to accpt formally the constitutional revolution.

The address of Secretary of the Navy Daniels before the board of trade in New Orleans was interpreted as indicating that he favored the resumption of active operations at the New Orleans naval station and at other stations which were ordered dismantled by former Secretary Meyer. He declared that he would not favor closing permanently any naval station of the country even if its operation meant the payment of only a small interest on the money invested.

After being in the courts thirty-seven years in Washington, the suit of Thomas A. Edison and others against the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph company and the suit of Jay Gould for alleged infringemnt of patents relating to quadruplex telegraphy, was ended when the supreme court dismissed the Edison appeal. The lower court held it was without jurisdiction to consider the case and the supreme court sustained that view.

Wild scenes of disorder occurred at the demonstration in Trafalager square, London, under the auspices of the free speech defense committee. The police tried to prevent speeches from the Whitehall side of the Plinth of the Nelson column and only the intervention of James Kair Hardie, socialist and independent labor member of the house of commons, who was chairman of the meeting, prevented a serious riot, As it was, the disorders, many times culminating in fisticuffs between the crowd and the police continued for almost two hours.

Assurances were given at the national palace in Mexico that before the end of the week the defensive attitude thus far maintained by the government will be abandoned and that wihtin thirty days anything having the appearance of rebel organization will be broken. It was admitted that there will remain the task of running down isolated bands. President Hureta and the war minister, General Mondragon, as well as their counselors, seemed confident that the forces of Venustiano Carranza, the rebel governor of Coahuila, and the rebel forces of Senora will be rendered practically harmless.

In Sacramento,Cal., the administration anti-alien holding bill, drawn by Attorney general Webb passed senate by a vote of 30 to 2, after nearly ten hours of debate. The only negative votes were cast by Senator Cartwright, Democrat, and Senator Wright, Republican. Governor Johnson will sign the alien bill as soon as it comes to him, reserving a "reasonable time" in which to listen to protests. "I have assured Mr. Bryan," he said, "that when the bill comes to me from the legislature I will wait a reasonable time for his protests. I cannot say how long."

Lawrence Lindbloom, a chauffeur, who is 1910 ran over and killed Joseph Weise in Chicago, was found guilty of murder and sentenced to fourteen years' imprisonment. The evidence showed he was driving about 35 miles an hour when the car struck Welse. In instructing the jury Judge Cooper said if it had been shown that Lindbloom was driving his machine in such a manner as to endanger human life they should find him guilty whether the killing was accidental of intentional.

Washington

Contempt of court judgments against Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, for their violation of a court's injunction in the noted Buck Stove and Range case were affirmed by the district court of appeals, but the jail sentences imposed were held to have ben too severe, so the court reduced Gompers' sentence from one year to thirty days, and decreed that Mitchell and Morrison should merely be fined $500 each.

Presentation by Edward T. Williams, charge de affairs of the American legation, of formal recognition by the United States of the Chinese republic was made an occasion of much ceremony in Pekin. Troops lined the streets between the American legation and the winter place. Secretary Williams drove through in a presidential carriage with an escort of Chinese troops and accompanied by the staff of the legation.

The fiscal system of the United States governing deposits of federal funds in national banks was revolutionized by Secretary McAdoo, of the treasury department, with an announcement that all government depositaries, whether active or inactive, would be required to pay interest at the rate of 2 per cent per annum beginning June 1 upon deposits of the government.

The Japanese embassy was supplied by the state department with a copy of the alien lan-owning bill passed by the California legislature and the ambassador will employ the time between now and Secretary Bryan's return to Washington in preparing a formal protest against the measure. Apparently the embassy has no hope that any word President Wilson may send after Secretary Bryan returns will influence Governor Johnson to withhold his signature from the act, so the only object of the protest will be to acquaint the American people with the Japanese contention.

IRISH VOTE SEALS FATE OF SUFFRAGE

THE MEASURE REJECTED—VOTE STOOD 266 AGAINST, 219 FOR.

LOST BY MAJORITY OF 17

Debates Prove That Militant Policy Has Done the Cause Much Harm.

London.—The fate of the women's suffrage bill was sealed by the votes of more than 50 Irish nationalists, who voted against it. The bill, whereby it was sought to enfranchise 6,000,000 women, was rejected by a majority of 47; the vote stood 266 to 219.

Whether there is any chance that the present parliament will pass a bill of more limited character may be doubted. Possibly the nationalists fear that if they allow a women's franchise bill to pass the second reading it will lead to a parliamentary struggle which would not unlikely end in dissolution of parliament before the home rule bill becomes a law.

Furthermore, the debate proved that the militant policy of the suffragists has done the cause great harm as far as parliament is concerned. The conciliation bill of last session was rejected by only a small majority compared with the Dickinson bill under discussion. Previous bills, giving some measure of enfranchisement to women, have passed the second reading although they never survived subsequent stages.

Recent police court disclosures of acts of incendiarism planned by the militants far surpassing in magnitude any heretofore attempted and the burning of St. Catherine church at Hatcham undoubtedly influenced many members to vote against the bill.

Announcement of the result of the vote was greeted by cheers from all sides of the house. The debate was characterized by intensity and brilliant speeches. The house was crowded and pervaded with an atmosphere of electrical excitement.

Neither Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, nor A. J. Balfour voted in the division. Among the ministers who voted against the bill were Premier Asquith, Reginald McKenna, Lewis Harcourt, J. E. B. Seely, Winston Spencer Churchill and C. E. Hobhouse.

Supporters of the bill included Sir Edward Grey, David Lloyd-George, Rufus Isaacs, Augustine Birrell, Sidney Buxton, C. F. G. Masterson, Sir J. A Simon and F. D. Asland.

TRIBUTE PAID UNDERWOOD

Mann Makes Pretty Speech About Alabamian's Birthday—Ovation Follows.

Washington.—A democratic-republican love feast was held in the house as consideration of the taxing provisions of the tariff bill drew to a close. The occasion was the birthday of Representative Underwood.

Minority Leader Mann said he wished to put aside partisan feeling for a time and talk personally.

He told the house that fifty-one years ago one of the ablest men in public life first saw the light of day He then congratulated the democratic party and the American people that during the fifty-one years of his life there has grown to greatness and bigness the able gentleman from Alabama, Oscar W. Underwood.

Amidst a roar of applause from both sides of the chamber Mr. Underwood thanked Mr. Mann for his congratulations.

ASSASSIN OF KING SUICIDES

Aleko Schinas Jumps From Window of Police Station to His Death.

Athens, Greece.—Aleko Schinas, who assassinated King George of Greece on March 18 at Saloniki, committed suicide by throwing himself out of a window of the police station in that city.

Schinas was a native of the town of Volo, Thessaly. He killed the king by firing point blank into his back while he was walking along the streets of Saloniki while accompanied by an aide.

Schinas gave as an explanation of the crime that in 1911 he had applied for assistance at the king's palace and had been driven away.

A few years ago the doctors examined Schinas and announced that he was dying of tuberculosis.

POLICE INSPECTORS CONVICTED

Thompson, Hussey, Murtha and Sweeney Must Pay the Penalty.

New York.—James F. Thompson James E. Hussey, John J. Murtha and Dennis Sweeney, the four demoted police inspectors charged with a conspiracy to obstruct justice, were convicted by a jury in the supreme court Only 38 minutes were taken by the jurors to reach their verdict.

GOVERNOR HOLDS LAND BILL ON DESK

WILL AWAIT WORD FROM PRESIDENT BEFORE ACTING.

HAS TEN DAYS TO SIGN BILL

Japs Are Allowed to Lease Agricultural Land for Period of Three Years, and There Is No Provision to Prevent Re-Leasing It.

Sacramento, Cal.—The California anti-alien land holding act, which passed both houses of the Legislature within 24 hours after bringing about one of the most unusual situations in the history of the nation, will lie on Gov. Johnson's desk without his signature until Secretary of State Bryan can confer with President Wilson in Washington.

This will mean a delay of nearly a week.

Gov. Johnson will wait, as he says, "a reasonable time" for whatever protests the government may make, after which he will sign the bill. He is required by law to sign or veto all acts passed up to him by the Legislature within 10 days of final passage, provided the enacting body remains in session for that length of time. Otherwise, he has 30 days.

It appeared that the Legislature would not adjourn until May 15 or later, which would require the governor to act on or before Tuesday, May 13.

There is much speculation here as to the next probable step to be taken by the government against the measure. It is generally thought, however, that President Wilson will state his objections once more to Gov. Johnson and then seek, through diplomacy, to answer the possible protests from Tokio.

Opinion as to the effectiveness of the action accomplishing its purpose, the elimination of the Japanese farmer, is divided. Until the final amendment was adopted, permitting aliens ineligible to citizenship to lease agricultural lands for three years, the measure was most drastic.

Now, however, it is asserted by many that it will accomplish little, inasmuch as it does not stipulate that the leases may not be renewed again and again.

Gov. Johnson and the Progressives regard the measure as a necesary first step in accomplishing what they believe to be the desire of the people of the state.

SCUTARI IS TO BE GIVEN UP

Montenegrin Cabinet Quits as Result of the Decision.

London.—A Cettinje dispatch to a London news agency says that the Montenegrin cabinet has resigned as a protest against the policy of evacuating Scutari.

Cettinje.—King Nicholas has accepted the resignation of the cabinet. A royal decree summons a special meeting in the Skupstina on May 15 to deal with the difficult foreign situation. King Nicholas summoned all his generals into a council of war. The majority decided in favor of the evacuation of Scutari. Therefore the prospect of a peaceful solution is brighter.

Warmer Weather.

Washington.—Warm spots in the east and frosts in the north and the Rocky Mountain country were forecasts in the weather bureau's weekly bulletin.

Wilson Goes to Church.

Washington.—President and Mrs. Wilson attended services at the Central Presbyterian Church, Third and I streets. They were accompanied by Miss Eleanor Wilson.

Vienna Is Alarmed.

Vienna.—Some of the leading journalists express consternation at the report that Italy and Austria propose jointly to march into Albania as a step likely to involve the gravest perils, with no compensating advanatges.

New Grecian Princess.

Washington.—A new princess was added to the royal household of Greece. The Greek legation received a cablegram announcing the birth of a daughter to the queen

RESCUE STEAMER STRIKES BRIDGE

TWO WHITE MEN AND THIRTEEN NEGROES ARE LOST.

SEVERAL MEN ARE INJURED

Bodies of Chief Clerk and a Passenger Lost in River—Steamer Sinks Within Five Minutes After Hitting Pier.

Natchez, Miss.—Urged on by flood waters, the steamer Concordia, a stern-wheel boat of the Royal Blue Line, owned by Capt. George Prince and Ollie K. Wilds, of Natchez, and operating in the Natchez, Atchafalaya, Black, Little and Tensas rivers trade, struck the north pier of the New Orleans and Northwestern railway in the Tensas river at Clayton Station, La., 18 miles northwest of Natchez, and sank within five minutes. Two white men and 13 negroes were drowned.

The Concordia left Natchez Wednesday with a heavy cargo to be discharged at different points for towns and landings marooned by the flood water from the Lake St. John crevasse. She was returning, and with a few white passengers and a number of negro refugees, principally from Capt. Sam Block's Mossgell plantation.

When the boat struck officers and passengers jumped on the bridge, and some into the river. Maurice Block and Julius Lemkowitz jumped on the bridge and crawled under a car loaded with iron. Block stepped out to look at the boat and was struck with a piece of timber, breaking his left arm. A dozen motor boats, with their owners, were at the bank of the river, and they rushed out at once, rescuing as many as possible.

W. E. McDougal, station agent at Clayton, witnessed the tragedy and telegraphed to Natchez. A relief train was sent from Vidalia.

Mr. Geoghegan and Chief Clerk Primm were on the deck and were not seen after the boat struck.

STAY ADJOURNED TEN YEARS

J. J. Hill Believes That Congress Could Thus Aid Countyr.

St. Paul.—Congress should adjourn and stay adjourned for ten years, in order to better conditions in the United States, according to James J. Hill, principal speaker at a meeting aimed at "boosting" the Northwest. Mr. Hill attacked congressional action, which, he said, had prevented a more rapid influx of immigration. Laws that have been passed recently are responsible for the flood of immigration to the Argentine Republic, he stated. "If we could just tie a bell on each one of our illustrious statesmen who is trying to keep workmen out of this country and adjourn congress for ten years, I believe the country would see an unprecedented period of prosperity," Mr. Hill said. "Business men then would carry on big undertaking without fear of legilative interruption."

Arbitration Is Advocated.

St. Louis.—China was congratulated by cable by the American Peace Congress on its recognition as a republic by the United States, while many speeches were delivered in support of various means to prevent needless war. The message to the new Chinese republic was framed by a committee and dispatched without formality. The principal address was by John Wesley Hill, of New York, president of the International Peace Forum, who discussed the question "The Outlook for Peace."

Horse Cars Abandoned.

New York.—The horse cars along Tenth avenue, the lower East Side and cross-town, linking New York to a by gone age, have fulfilled their purpose and are to be replaced by storage battery vehicles.

In his report to Governor O'Neal on the Tuscaloosa county jail at Tuscaloosa, Dr. William H. Oates, state prison inspector, recommended that the jail be repainted and that certain other minor improvements be made. The Tuscaloosa jail was, on the whole, found to be in good condition by Dr. Oates. The board of county commissioners have promised to follow his instructions with reference to painting the jail.

Reports on his examination of the books, accounts and vouchers of officials of Mobile county have been submitted to Governor O'Neal by Examiner of Public Accounts J. T. Gorman. Examiner Gorman reported all the books he examined to be correct with the exception of the accounts of J. A. Crane, clerk of the city court, who owed the state $23.45. Mr. Crane promptly remitted this amount as soon as the matter was called to his attention.

A special from Washington announces the nomination by the president of E. K. Campbell, of Birmingham, for chief justice of the court of claims. For several weeks it has been confidentially expected that Mr. Campbell would be nominated as one of the judges of the court of claims, but it was generally believed that one of the present judges of that body would be nominated to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the chief justice.

Probate Judge William E. Skeggs, of Decatur, says that Morgan county has found it very expensive to work convicts on the public roads. He says it cost the county about $3 a day as against from $1.50 to $2 a day for free labor. This is due, he says, largely to the fact that this county has no workhouse and that during bad and stormy weather convicts cannot be worked.
